
Brenda Butscher, Hospice executive director, said previous teleconferences have been attended by many Garrett County residents.

"The teleconferences have been excellent," she said. "Panelists are knowledgeable, topics are relevant, and it is a great opportunity for our community, hospice staff, volunteers, clergy, and families to hear valuable information from the nation's top experts in the field."

Sesno will lead the panel of noted authorities that includes Scott W. Bradley, MSW, CT, CFSP, from the Center for Life Transition and Bradley & Son Funeral Homes LLC; Kenneth J. Doka, PhD, MDiv, from the College of New Rochelle; Lorraine Hedtke, MSW, ACSW, LCSW, from VITAS Innovative Hospice Care; Patricia Murphy, PhD, APN, FAAN, from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey Hospital; Robert A. Neimeyer, PhD, from the University of Memphis; and Robert Washington, PhD, MDiv, from Montgomery Hospice.

The teleconference is produced by Hospice Foundation of America, a not-for-profit organization which acts as an advocate for the hospice concept of care through ongoing programs of professional education, public information and research on issues relating to illness, loss, grief, and bereavement.

Each year the Hospice Foundation of America presents a nationally recognized distance learning program, live via satellite and web cast, to more than 125,000 people in 2,000 communities. For more than a decade, this annual educational program has been instrumental in educating health care professionals and families on issues affecting end-of-life care, according to the foundation, according to the Hospice Foundation.

The program provides an opportunity for a wide variety of professionals – including doctors, nurses, funeral directors, psychologists, social workers, and bereavement counselors – to share and exchange ideas and obtain continuing education credits.

To register for the event persons may call Hospice of Garrett County at 301-334-5151 or 1-800-521-5252. Registration is free.

4-H Club News

RED HOUSE
by Annie Graham, reporter

The Red House 4-H Club meeting was called to order by President Jordan Skipper on February 7. Anthony Green led the pledges, Sara Brenneman, secretary, took roll and read the prior month's minutes, and Cassie Cussins, treasurer, gave her report.

There were four demonstrations given. Amanda Beckman gave her demonstration on her horse, Bandit. Jordan Skipper did his demonstration on his 2007 market steer, Speck. Kerri Skipper chose the topic of public speaking, and Randy Cussins did his demonstration on his 2006 market steer, JD.

New business included discussing awards for the upcoming Achievement Night.

The members nominated individuals for the awards of 4-H Alumni, Friends of 4-H, Club Family of the Year, and the Dr. Scott Glotfelty Humanitarian Award. The nominees will be voted on at the March meeting.

The broiler project was discussed and no members were interested in participating.

Jordan noted upcoming dates of importance. Officer training was to be held Feb. 12. All new officers were asked to attend.

A shooting event will be held at the Oakland Armory on February 18 from 3 to 5 p.m. Ski forms are due for 4-H Ski Day at the Wisp by Feb. 23 at the Extension office. The annual 4-H Achievement Night will be held at Northern High School on March 31 at 6:30. All attending should bring finger foods. Also the club will be donating a door prize, which will be determined at the March meeting. March 17 will be the Bowl for Kids' Sake from noon to 4 p.m. at Par-Matt Lanes. Youth are encouraged to participate.

The club will go bowling on March 24.

It was also announced that the July meeting will be changed from the 4th to the 11th because of the holiday.

On Dean's List

Natalie Domenick, a junior at Grove City College, has been named to the dean's list with distinction. A semester grade point average between 3.85 and 4.0 is required for this honor.

Domenick is majoring in sociology, math, and premedicine. She is a 2004 graduate of Southern High School and the daughter of Dr. Mark and Teresa Domenick of Mtn. Lake Park.

Different Approaches to Smoking Cessation

Tobacco smoking is the leading avoidable cause of many different types of cancer. Smoking may also lead to other diseases, such as emphysema, bronchitis, and stroke. Nonsmokers also may be affected by second-hand tobacco smoke, with an increased risk of lung cancer and heart disease, while children are at increased risk for sudden infant death syndrome, ear infections, and respiratory infections. Smoking cessation provides the health benefit of reducing risk of disease. The risk of lung cancer is decreased by up to 50% ten years after quitting smoking, compared to those persons who continue smoking.

Nicotine replacement therapy is often used to help smokers quit. The therapy includes the use of nicotine gum, the nicotine patch, nicotine nasal spray, the nicotine inhaler, and nicotine lozenges. It may be helpful to combine the nicotine patch with either the nicotine gum or nicotine nasal spray rather than using only one form of nicotine replacement. Bupropion (Zyban) is a prescription medication that helps to reduce the symptoms of withdrawal. Zyban may be used alone or in combination with nicotine replacement. Varenicline (Chantix) is a newer prescription medication available to help stop smoking. Chantix also reduces the symptoms of nicotine withdrawal.

Lakers Win Two In Preparation For Friday's Maryland JUCO Tourney

The top-ranked Garrett College women's basketball team defeated Harford on Saturday and Northern Virginia Community College on Sunday to improve its record to 19-3 overall and 13-1 in the Maryland JUCO.

In Saturday's action, Flodysha Peterson grabbed 20 rebounds, scored 19 points, dished out seven assists, blocked seven shots, and copped four steals to help Garrett pull off a 52-39 lackluster win over Harford.

Tegra Hillman also provided some offensive and defensive potency for the Lakers, as she scored 15 points, grabbed 14 rebounds, and dished out nine assists. Teammate Mindy Sharp finished with seven points and nine rebounds.

The Lakers led at halftime 26-16, and were able to hold on to the lead throughout the second half despite being flat. "We did come out flat, but it's nice to know that you can be off and still pull out a win," Garrett Coach Thea Garland said.

Q. Long led Harford with 13 points, and D. Hill scored 10 points.

In Sunday's game, the Lakers fought off the numbing effects of Saturday's performance to defeat Northern Virginia, 75-46, in the team's last contest before the Maryland JUCO tournament on Friday.

Once again Peterson had a big night scoring 26 points, grabbing 16 boards, and blocking seven shots. Hillman dished out 12 assists to go along with her eight points, Yolanda Anthony finished with 11 rebounds, and Shante Brickhouse had 10.

Stacy Bruce scored 28-points for Northern Virginia, and scored all of its three-point buckets.

Garrett will play Anne Arundel on Friday in the opening game of the Maryland JUCO tournament.

Five Garrett Players Score In Double Figures, But Lakers Fall To Harford

The Garrett College men's basketball team (14-10 overall, 7-9 in league play) suffered another set back as it fell to Harford, 91-70, last Saturday night on the road.

On the strength its outside shooting, Harford jumped out to a 60-33 first half lead, and despite a strong second half by the Lakers, they were never able to close a 30-point gap.

Despite the loss, five Garrett players scored in double figures. Chris Henderson and Antonio Levere finished with 12 apiece; Jerome Jack and Glen Izevbigie each had 11; and Daniel Sherman added 10. Chris Speicher and Bruce Hall were injured and did not play.

For Harford, Vann scored 26 points, Pendleton added 17, Goodwin added 14, and Smith finished with 12.

The Lakers' game with CCBC Essex was rescheduled for this Friday night at Garrett at 5 p.m. On Saturday, the Lakers will play Butler Community College at 7 p.m. in Butler, Pa. The Maryland JUCO tournament is slated to begin on next Tuesday. The tournament match-ups and scores will be announced and reported in the next edition of The Republican.

Fourth-Ranked Rams Defeat Westmar, Then Outlast Petersburg For Big Win

The fourth-ranked Southern girls' varsity basketball team defeated Westmar Saturday in a Maryland Interscholastic League game and avenged an earlier season loss by defeating Petersburg Monday night at home.

In Saturday's action, Torie Bosley and Sarah Stephens led the Rams to a 53-41 victory over Westmar following a 10-day layoff.

Bosley put up 17 points, including four three-pointers, and Stephens finished with 16 points, six rebounds, and six steals. Adrienne Yoder scored eight points, and Brittany Boyce grabbed eight rebounds.

Holly Williams led Westmar with 15 points, and Danielle McGinnis scored nine.

Westmar took a 6-0 lead to start the game, but Southern ripped off a 20-0 run on its way to piling up a 28-11 first-half lead. The Rams took a 46-28 lead into the fourth quarter, and Westmar never closed the gap.

The Southern jayvee team defeated Westmar, 39-13, as Heidi Welch scored 10 points.

In Monday's action, Sarah Stephens scored 14 points and grabbed seven rebounds to lead fourth-ranked Southern to a 40-37 win over fifth-ranked Petersburg.

The Rams led throughout the game with the exception of a one-point lead change in the third quarter. Southern jumped to an 11-point first-quarter lead, but Petersburg closed the gap, and went into the locker room at halftime trailing 23-19. Petersburg continued to battle back, and subsequently Southern led Petersburg by only one point, 32-31, going into the fourth period. But down the stretch, the Southern girls clinched the win with clutch shots from the foul line.

Shayna Sweitzer scored eight points for the Huskies, and Brittany Boyce finished with a game-high 11 boards.

Chelsie Turner scored 10 points, and Kayla Watts and Nikki Sites both scored eight apiece for Petersburg.

Southern won the jayvee game, 48-34, as Emillee Bosley and Heidi Welch scored 20 points apiece for the junior Huskies. The Southern jayvees are now 17-0.

No information was received about the Wednesday night game between Southern and Fort Hill. The Rams are scheduled to play Tucker this Friday on the road at 7:30 p.m.

OAKLAND YOUTH FOOTBALL LEAGUE (OYFL)

Elections for open positions of President and Treasurer of the OYFL Executive Board will be held on Monday, February 26, 2007, from 6-7 PM at Southern High School in the cafeteria. If you would like to nominate a candidate for either position or are interested in one of the positions and would like more information, please contact Eric Cvetnick at 301-334-1891 or 301-616-0057, or e-mail ecvetnick@verizon.net by February 19, 2007. Any nomination after the February 19, 2007 deadline will be a write-in candidate. Candidates selected for each position shall serve a two-year term which will run through February 2009.

Any card-carrying member (i.e., parent, coach, or guardian of any child who was registered last year) in good standing who is interested in voting may do so by paying $2.00 to cast a vote the day of the election. Only one member per household will be allowed to vote, and this can be either parent of a player or cheerleader that participates in the OYFL.

An OYFL Board meeting will be held from 7-9 PM following the election at the same location.

Eighth Grade Rams Lose To Keyser, But Defeat Frankfort

The Southern Rams 8th grade boys' basketball team fell to Keyser last Thursday, but rebounded to defeat Frankfort on Saturday in recent youth league games.

In Thursday's action, Keyser jumped to a 28-14 first-half lead, and the Rams were unable to close the gap in the second half as they lost by a score of 45-29.

"Keyser is a very good team; they are very fast, and I believe that's what hurt us," said Southern coach Jim Burns.

Although Keyser dominated the game in the first half, the Rams played them tough in the second period, being edged out by only two points, 17-15.

"We were proud of our guys. They never gave up," Burns said. "Keyser is the best team, and we knew that going in." Burns said that his team could do a lot of things to create problems for Keyser on a larger gym floor. "Their gym is so small and that's why they look so quick. It will be interesting when they come to Oakland and face us on our home court," Burns said.

Bryson Knox led the Rams with 12 points, and Joey Kisselovich scored 11.

In Saturday's action, the Rams rallied in the second half to defeat the Frankfort Falcons, 37-33, and improve their record to 5-3.

The Rams were behind 17-12 at the half, but slowly closed the gap and trailed 23-20 going into the fourth quarter. The Rams outscored the Falcons 17-10 in the final period to clinch the win. Three Southern players scored in double figures — Steven Elsy led the Rams with a season-high 14 points, Kisselovich added 11, and Calvin Hilliard had 10.

Southern will host Westmar this Saturday at 2 p.m. and will travel to Accident to play Northern on Sunday at 4 p.m. The Rams then travel to Mt. Savage next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m.

Southern Falls Behind Early; Rally Falls Short In 65-61 Loss To Alco

The Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team fell behind early, and its late rally fell short as fourth-ranked Allegany clinched a hard-fought, 65-61, win in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League match-up last Friday night.

Ryan DeWitt and Jordan Pacella scored 19 points apiece for Southern, but their efforts were not enough to close the gap, as Allegany built a 51-35 lead going into the fourth quarter. However, the Rams caught fire and put up 26 points in the final period, pulling to within three points of the Campers. Eleven of DeWitt's 19 points came in the last period. Jeff Stem also scored in double figures for the Rams, finishing with 10 points.

Seth Wharton led Allegany with a team-high 16 points, five assists, and three steals. Travis Dordevic had 13 points, Ryan Fouts finished with 10, and Julian Gates and Justin Fagan added nine apiece. Jeff Babich had six points, eight rebounds, and four blocked shots.

Southern is scheduled to play Fort Hill this Friday on the road at 7:30 p.m. and then return home to host Bishop Walsh next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Northern cranked up its offense, going on a 22-12 third-quarter run that put them up 45-34 with eight minutes to go. Danielle Brenneman was the third Husky to score in double figures, finishing with 10 points. Sarah Voelkel bolstered a strong defense, grabbing seven rebounds and copping four steals.

Brandy Jenkins led the Panthers with 13 points and Kris Creek added 12 points.

In Monday night's action, Megan Wiley put up a game-high 24 points and grabbed 10 rebounds in leading Northern to a 59-53 come from behind win against Westmar in the final Western Maryland Interscholastic League game for both teams.

The game was tied 10-10 at the end of the first quarter, but Westmar took a 29-24 lead into the locker room at halftime. Northern outscored Westmar 16-9 in the third period, and went into the final quarter leading 40-38. Brittany Stein and Sarah Voelkel hit clutch free throws down the stretch to help the Huskies clinch the win and improve their record to 10-10 overall and 4-6 in the WMIL.

Voelkel scored 13 points, Stein added 10, and Kasie Fratz finished with six points and six rebounds.

The Huskies were 5 of 15 from the foul line going into the fourth quarter, and 10 of 12 in the final period. Stein hit 5 of 5 from the line and Voelkel was 5 of 6.

Northern won the jayvee game, 51-22, as Adria Graham put up 21 points and Ayssa Rounds banged in 12 points and grabbed eight boards. Maggie Lewis led Westmar with 11 points.

Northern visits Frankfort this Friday and plays a make-up game with Bishop Walsh at home next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Northern Falls Behind As Mountaineers Swarm Past Huskies For 61-31 Victory

The Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team fell behind early and were never able to close the gap as the third-ranked Beall swarmed past the Huskies, 61-31, to remain in a three-way tie for first place in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League.

Beall took a 12-2 first-quarter lead, and were up at the half 29-14. In the third quarter, Northern closed the gap to within 10, but the Mountaineers' pressure defense shut down the Huskies, allowing them to take a 48-26 lead into the final quarter.

Kory Gibson returned to the lineup and led Northern with 11 points.

Chad Harris led Beall with 14 points and four rebounds. Clifton Harris scored 13 points and Corey Greig had eight.

Beall won the jayvee game, 62-33.

Northern will host Westmar this Friday at 7:30 p.m. and travel to Hancock for a Saturday night 7:30 p.m. game. The Huskies will host Tucker County next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. for the last game of their season.

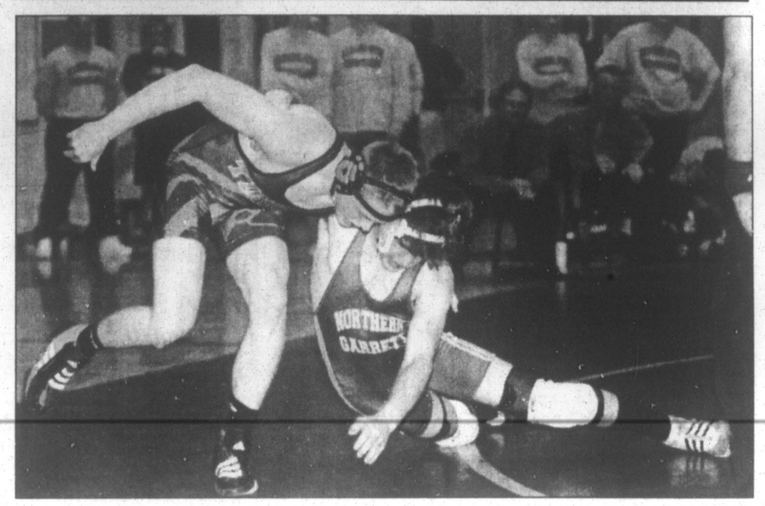
Stough Records 200th

Huskies Defeat Rams Again, Place Second In State Event



REACHING A MILESTONE of 200 team victories as the coach of the Northern High School wrestling team was Scott Stough when the Huskies defeated Hereford High School in the semifinals of the Maryland State 1A/2A Dual Meet Championships on Saturday. It was the 17th straight win this season for Stough and the Huskies, who dropped their first match later on Saturday to Rising Sun in the state dual meet finals. Stough, who is in his 14th season as the Huskies' mentor, has a record of 200-41 in dual meets. The photos at right were taken during the Huskies' match with Rising Sun. In the center photo, Northern's Jason Warnick works his way to a pin of Richard Christie of Rising Sun in the 119-pound division. Above far right, Husky Randy Wilhelm controls Austin Glessner of Rising Sun and goes on to earn a 13-5 decision in the 125-pound bout. Below, Andrew Ganoe of Northern and Kyle Barney of Rising Sun battle each other, with Ganoe emerging with a 3-0 decision in the 152-pound division. The Huskies will be the favorite in the Bi-County Tournament at Beall this Saturday. Photos courtesy of Del Carpenter.

The third time was not only a charm for the Northern High School wrestling team, as the Huskies edged county rival Southern for the third time this season last Thursday, but the win also gave the Huskies the West Regional Dual Tournament championship and launched them into the Maryland Class 1A/2A Dual Meet at Owings Mills, where they finished second only to Rising Sun on Saturday.

The Huskies handed the Rams only their third loss of the season on Thursday, as Andrew Ganoe tipped the score to Northern in the final match of the night, as he decisioned Southern's Andrew Pritts in the 152-pound division. The score was knotted at 29-29 going into that final match, and Ganoe's decision gave the Huskies a 32-29 win.

In the previous two meetings between the Huskies and the Rams – who were seeded #1 and #2, respectively, going into the regional dual meet – Northern won by scores of 28-27 and 34-27.

In last Thursday's regional clash, the Huskies nipped Smithsburg, 37-36, while the Rams (13-3) topped Beall (12-3) in the other semi-final (details of which were not received).

Getting pins for the Huskies in the squeaker over Smithsburg were Andrew Reynolds in the 103-pound division, Josh Duckworth at 110 pounds, Jason Warnick at 119, and Randy Wilhelm at 130.

Earning decisions for Northern were Adam Moranduzzo in the 135-pound bout and Brandon Opel at 171, while Brock Glotfelty (215) was awarded a forfeit.

Smithsburg pins were recorded by Alex Akers (160), Jeremy Harbaugh (189), and Dave Ridenour (285).

The final score of the match was not indicative of the likely margin of victory for the Huskies, as Coach Scott Stough purposely forfeited the final two matches (to avoid chance of injury) when he knew his team had enough team points to win.

In the third nail-biting battle of the season between the Huskies and the Rams, the only pin recorded for Northern was by Jason Doerr in the 215-pound division.

Rams getting pins were George Scheffel at 112 pounds, Josh Armstrong at 125, and Ryan Fitzwater at 189 pounds.

Huskies winning via points were Warnick, Travis Glover (130), Moranduzzo, Kory Kamp (140), Ganoe (152), and Glotfelty, while Mike Resh (160) won by injury default.

Southern grapplers winning by decision were David Stewart at 103 pounds, Daniel Carr at 145, and Justin Ratliff at 171.

The Huskies first met Hereford High School in Saturday's state dual meet, and eked out a 35-33 victory, which was Coach Stough's 200th career win as a head coach. All 200 of his victories have come as the coach of the Huskies, with his 14-season record now 200-41.

Garnering pins for the Huskies in the match were Duckworth, Warnick, Dustin Stough at 145 pounds, and Glotfelty. Winning by decision were Huskies Moranduzzo, Ganoe, and Doerr.

Getting pinfall wins for the Bulls were Jeremy Keil (140), Kevin Abel (160), Josh Asper (171), and Lewis Stiffler (285).

In the state title meet with Rising Sun, the Huskies fared well in the lighter-weight matches, winning three of four, but then managed just two more individual victories.

Huskies Jason Warnick (119) won on a pin, Randy Wilhelm (125) got a decision, and Josh Duckworth (112) was awarded a forfeit.

Ganoe later won on points in the 152-pound bout, and Glotfelty was awarded a forfeit in the 215-pound class.

Gaining pins for Rising Sun were Ethan Ulrich (103), Danny Cox (160), Richard Gumpert (189), and Chris Eroughten (285).

Despite the loss in the finals, Coach Stough was elated with his team's efforts, not only in this particular tournament, but for the entire season.

"These young men really exceeded all expectations I had for the season," the coach admitted. "I really thought we would be doing well to finish with a 9-5 or 10-4 season, with a possibility of qualifying for the regional dual tournament as a low seed. To win the regional title, then finish second in the state in the dual tourney, and win 17 matches before our first loss is way beyond what I dreamed was possible. These guys are a bunch of over-achievers, and obviously I am very proud of them."

The season is not over for the Huskies and the Rams, who will travel to Beall this Saturday for the Bi-County Tournament. The 1A/2A West Region tourney will be the following weekend, Feb. 23 and 24, and the state tournament is scheduled for March 2-3.

Top-Seed Garrett College Women Slated For First-Round Bye In Md. JUCO Tourney

The top-seeded Garrett College women's basketball team is currently scheduled to play in the Maryland JUCO Tournament this Friday night at Anne Arundel Community College, weather permitting. The Lakers drew a bye in the first round of the tournament, and will face the winner of the game between eight-seeded Frederick Community College and nine-seeded Anne Arundel College.

The Lakers entered the tournament having won the regular season championship with a record of 11-1 in Maryland JUCO league play, their only conference loss being to Frederick Community College in December.

Garrett averaged 79 points per game while holding its opponents to 52.2. The Lakers were led by 5-10 sophomore forward Flodysha Peterson, who was the league-leader in rebounding and field goal percentage, and was second in the league in scoring and third in the league with assists. In 17 games, Peterson scored 360 points for an average of 21.18 points per game. She attempted 257 shots while making 167 — a 65 percent field goal percentage. As the league-leader in rebounds, Peterson grabbed 297 for a 17.5 game average. She dished out 113 assists, averaging 6.6 per game. Teammate Tegra Hillman ranked second in the league with a total of 135 assists, averaging 7.9 per game.

Allegany College of Maryland and Hagerstown finished with 11-2 records, but Allegany is the number two seed because it defeated Hagerstown in the regular season, 65-43.

The tournament will be played at Anne Arundel Community College, Arnold, beginning this Friday and running through Sunday, weather permitting.

Timberline Resort Notes Installation Of New Ski Lift

As part of the resort's ongoing expansion program, Timberline Four Seasons Resort announced that it has opened a new surface lift which will allow significant additional uphill capacity.

The new lift is a clamp tow lift which will carry skiers and boarders some 400 feet uphill directly to the approach to the Bear Claw Terrain Park. It will allow terrain park use the area without the necessity of riding the existing chair lifts to the top of Herz Mountain. The facility will also reduce waiting time for the chair lifts.

Timberline Four Seasons Resort now has a total of four lifts, including two full mountain 1,000-foot triple chair lifts and a double chair lift at the beginners' area. The total uphill capacity at Timberline is now 5,000 skiers per hour. The announcement of the opening of the surface lift is part of the expansion plans at Timberline which have recently been announced by General Manager Tom Blanzy.

The expansion program has also included the widening of one of the resort's trails, White Lightning, which recently hosted the regional SARA Championship ski race, and an extensive western face expansion. The resort's western expansion includes the newly opened mile-long Twister Trail and Winterhaven real estate development.

Applications For Engineer Scholars Prog. Being Taken

Applications are now being accepted for the fifth annual Northrop Grumman Corporation (NYSE:NOC) Engineering Scholars competition, which will provide a total of $240,000 in college scholarships across Maryland this year to promising high school seniors interested in studying engineering.

"Northrop Grumman is pleased to once again sponsor this unique scholarship program aimed at encouraging some of the state's best and brightest students with an interest in math and science to pursue engineering-related careers," said James F. Pitts, corporate vice president and president of the company's Baltimore-based Electronic Systems sector and himself an electrical engineer.

Individual scholarships of $10,000 will be awarded by Northrop Grumman this spring to a qualified graduating high school senior in each of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City. Candidates must plan to attend an accredited college or university as a full-time student in an approved engineering program. The funds may be used for tuition, books, lodging, and meals.

A committee of Northrop Grumman employees will select the engineering scholars winners. Each applicant must be a resident of Maryland and a graduating senior in the spring of 2007 from a public or accredited private high school in the state. Applicants for the scholarship program must also meet minimum SAT and GPA requirements. The application deadline is March 31.

Informational brochures describing the scholarship program have been sent to all high schools within the state. However, to apply for the Engineering Scholars program, students must download and complete the application available on the Internet at: www.es.northropgrumman.com/engscholars.

Northrop Grumman Corporation is a $30 billion global defense and technology company whose 120,000 employees provide innovative systems, products, and solutions in information and services, electronics, aerospace, and shipbuilding to government and commercial customers worldwide.

State Of Maryland Has Yet To Produce Presence In Oval Office

by Scott Shewfelt
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Despite Maryland's history as one of the original colonies and its proximity to national power, the state has never produced an American president, and isn't expected to break the streak anytime soon.

Oh, to be sure Maryland native John Hanson did serve as president of the Continental Congress under the Articles of Confederation, but there was no executive branch, and the nation's founders basically just needed someone to run the meetings, said Charles J. Holden, history professor at St. Mary's College of Maryland.

And there was a presidential candidate or two: Former U.S. Attorney General William Wirt, born in Bladensburg, ran for the Anti-Masonic Party in the 1832 election, but sadly finished fourth. He did manage seven electoral votes from Vermont.

As for major party presidential candidates from Maryland, electoral votes are only a dream.

Although there was Vice President Spiro Agnew.

"Without Agnew's resignation, Gerald Ford doesn't become president," Holden said. "In an unflattering way, that's as close as we get."

Ford was not from Maryland, of course, but was born in Nebraska and took office from Michigan.

"The strange irony is that it (Maryland) hosts a lot of events and is often a stage prop for presidential events," said political science professor Tom Schaller of the University of Maryland, Baltimore County.

Places in Maryland have presidential appeal. For example, Brookeville served as the nation's capital for one day when President James Madison took refuge in the postmaster's home during the War of 1812.

Baltimore and Annapolis also served as temporary capitals during the Second Continental Congress and the Congress under the Articles of Confederation respectively.

Baltimore also was the destination of choice in the 19th century for Democratic National Conventions, said Zach P. Messitte a political scientist at the Center for the Study of Democracy at St. Mary's College of Maryland.

In 2008, the political conventions will be in St. Paul, Minn., and Denver, and a slew of candidates are running – from Arizona, Nebraska, Colorado, Ohio, Iowa, Georgia, Connecticut, Kansas, New Mexico, New York and Illinois, just to name a few, but not Maryland.

Presidential hopeful, Sen. Joe Biden, D-Del., does, however, take the train through Maryland on his daily commute.

The state simply isn't in position – politically speaking – to boost a candidate's chances. It is strongly in Democratic hands, holds a late primary and hasn't had presidential candidates in recent memory.

What that means, Schaller said, is "it'll probably get less attention than any other state in the union."

Regardless of its lack of presidential prowess, "Maryland has a lot of power, more power than ever before and is going to have a lot to say in this next election," said Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr., D-Calvert, citing House Majority Leader Rep. Steny H. Hoyer, D-Mechanicsville, and Speaker of the House Rep. Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., a Baltimore native and daughter of a congressman and Baltimore mayor.

Maryland often competes with neighboring Virginia, but there's no contest when it comes to presidents. Virginia, known as "the mother of presidents," is the birthplace of eight presidents.

Maryland's situation is not unique, many states have not produced presidents. Yet at the same time, small states like Vermont (Chester A. Arthur and Calvin Coolidge) and New Hampshire (Franklin Pierce), have.

A few Marylanders have been touted as possible chief executives.

Former Gov. Albert C. Ritchie attempted to parlay his state success into a Democratic leadership bid, but was soundly defeated in a crowded field in 1924 and again in 1932, Holden said.

Former Sen. Millard Tydings, stood up to President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the late 1930s for what he perceived to be an assault on the Constitution, and there was talk of him running as the Democrats' anti-Roosevelt candidate, but largely because of rumblings of war it never really gained any steam, Messitte said.

Then there's Agnew, who resigned to avoid being tried for tax evasion, in connection with bribes he received while governor.

"Had Agnew's Maryland-past not caught up to him, he would have made an attractive presidential candidate in 1976," Holden said.

How Maryland was passed by in presidential politics is a story more of timing – it's never had the right combination of factors in place to boost a nominee into the national arena.

"Maryland is like Massachusetts without the cache," said Richard Vatz a professor of rhetoric and communication at Towson University. "It's as heavily Democratic as Massachusetts is, but it just doesn't play the presidential politics game."

"There have been different formulas over time and it really comes down to population, big states have an advantage," said Harry Rubenstein, curator of political history at the National Museum of American History. "You could argue that is the nature of democracy."

Early on, Virginia and Massachusetts had relatively large populations and tight political communities. Subsequently they combined to produce the first six presidents.

Leading up to the Civil War, regional politics dominated, working against presidential candidates from border states, like Maryland, that didn't represent a clear region, Holden said.

After the Civil War, the rise of industry caused population growth and an increase in electoral votes for northern manufacturing states and Maryland was again left on the outside.

This shift, Holden said, is responsible for "all those presidents no one remembers" leading up to the turn of the 20th century, like Rutherford B. Hayes, Benjamin Harrison or James A. Garfield.

The Senate is a natural place to look for presidential candidates, but over the past 40 to 50 years, aside from Agnew, Maryland hasn't had any with national intentions, Messitte said.

"(Democratic Gov. Martin) O'Malley's the first Maryland politician in a long time who has the star qualities to be a national candidate," Messitte said.

Schaller said that if former Gov. Robert Ehrlich or former Lt. Gov. Michael Steele, both Republicans, had won in November, they would have been on the short list for vice president.

Some other young Maryland politicians have national potential, the analysts said.

Reps. Chris Van Hollen Jr., D-Kensington, and John Sarbanes, D-Towson, and state Attorney General Doug Gansler have the early prerequisites – youth, charisma, intelligence – for a presidential bid, Messitte said, adding so much has to do with timing.

"It's like the Age of Aquarius," Miller said, "everything has to come together."

IRS Takes Steps To Prevent Phone Tax Refund Abuse

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service announced recently it is taking additional steps to prevent abuse by tax preparers and help taxpayers make accurate requests for the one-time telephone excise tax refund.

Beginning last week, IRS Criminal Investigation special agents and IRS revenue agents are conducting special site visits with tax preparers across the nation to prevent inflated requests made for the one-time telephone tax refund.

"We are taking this unusual step to confront blatant abuse of this important refund program," said IRS Commissioner Mark W. Everson. "We want tax preparers to prepare accurate tax returns. If they don't, we will move swiftly to impose civil penalties and, where warranted, seek criminal sanctions."

The government stopped collecting the long-distance excise tax last August after several federal court decisions held that the tax does not apply to long-distance service as it is billed today. The IRS also authorized a one-time refund of the federal excise tax collected on service billed during the previous 41 months, stretching from the beginning of March 2003 to the end of July 2006. The tax continues to apply to local-only phone service.

The IRS has monitored telephone excise tax refund requests for potential problems since the tax-filing season opened in early January. The IRS has seen some problems with returns from tax preparers that may indicate criminal intent.

Some tax-return preparers are requesting thousands of dollars of refunds for their clients in instances where clients are entitled to only a tiny fraction of that amount. In some cases, taxpayers requested a refund in the thousands of dollars, suggesting that the taxpayer paid more for telephone service than they received in income.

In several instances, taxpayers requested a refund of $30,000 – hundreds of times of what could be reasonably expected. Some refund requests appear to be for the entire amount of the taxpayer's phone bill, rather than just the three-percent long-distance tax.

Taxpayers who request more of a refund than they are entitled to receive will have their refunds held and they may be subject to an audit.

To make the refund easier to figure, the IRS established a standard refund amount, based on personal exemptions, ranging from $30 to $60. If taxpayers have phone bills and other records, they can request the actual amount of excise tax paid. Though using the standard amount is optional, it is easy to figure and approximates the eligible amount for most individual taxpayers, a spokesperson said. Persons only have to fill out one line on the return, and they do not need to present proof to the IRS.

At the same time, the IRS issued a new reminder today for taxpayers who are not filing for the refund even though they may qualify. In early returns filed this year, more than one-third of early filers did not request the telephone tax refund. Other taxpayers are making mistakes when requesting the refund. The IRS encourages taxpayers to see if they qualify for the telephone tax refund and to make sure they fill out tax returns accurately and completely.

The best and most reliable information on this refund, the spokesperson said, can be found in the Telephone Excise Tax Refund section on the front page of IRS.gov, the tax agency's web site. Taxpayers can download forms, find answers to frequently-asked questions, and link to participating private-sector Free File partners offering free electronic-filing services.

Maryland Teachers Tell Senators They Need Salary, Funding Boost

by Esther Nguonly
Capital News Service

Teachers are still overworked and underpaid, two Maryland educators told senators Thursday, despite various improvements in school programs and implementation of new classroom strategies.

Although policies initiated with the No Child Left Behind Act have helped Maryland schools focus attention on students who need it, more funding and better teacher training are necessary to continue improvements, they said.

The No Child Left Behind Act is a 2001 law designed to boost performance in primary and secondary education by emphasizing accountability through yearly progress reports, standardized testing and parent involvement.

Geometry teacher Alana Dale Turner of Easton High School in Easton and Principal Kimberly Johnson of Briggs Chaney Middle School in Silver Spring testified Thursday before the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee on the reauthorization of the act.

Data analysis has improved dramatically in their schools, both said, allowing educators to assess student performance and identify individuals and areas needing attention.

However, Turner said more money is needed to provide salary incentives for teachers to ensure quality instruction.

Teachers who achieve National Board Certification should get federally-funded compensation, said both Johnson and Turner.

However, to Turner's knowledge, no teachers at Easton High School are certified.

"There's not that much to draw them into the classroom anymore," she said. Turner works with a staff of about 80 in a 1,200-student school.

Johnson knows of three teachers pursuing certification in a staff of about 75 at Briggs Chaney Middle School.

"Teachers are overwhelmed," said Johnson. Class sizes are larger at her 934-student school, and teachers must already do a great deal of additional work outside of the classroom.

"They are doing after-school programs. They are doing Saturday-school programs. They are working to capacity at this point," she said.

Sen. Barack Obama, D-Ill., brought up the difficulty of identifying exceptional teachers from teachers with problems and asked how strategies could be changed to ensure that all teachers perform well.

Teachers must be better prepared for entering the classroom, Johnson said, especially since there is a huge disconnect between what teachers are taught in training and what they are asked to do in the classroom.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., discussed the challenge of meeting special education student needs.

While some special education students are taking general education classes, Johnson said, more support is needed to make sure those students are fully integrated into the school system.

Access to the Internet, special tutoring programs and computerized exercises have helped increase test scores for students.

In one case, those programs helped a special education student who had had trouble with math, but with the help of visual aids and practice programs on his laptop, was able to excel and move to more advanced geometry, said Turner.

All of Easton's 300 freshmen are given a laptop to use during the school year, with the goal that all students will have one by 2009.

However, Sen. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., called support for special education "one of the greatest unfunded mandates of all time."

Students with reading, math or speech deficits or any form of learning disability must be presented with the same rigorous curriculum as other students, Johnson said.

Turner agreed, but said that more money was needed to pay for additional special education teachers.

"It's all a big cycle."

Cigarette Tax Could Save Hospital

by Sharahn Boykin
Capital News Service

ANNAPOLIS – Grantey Adams fears he will lose his job and have to relocate if Prince George's Hospital Center closes.

Adams, a psychiatric nurse and member of the hospital's health care worker union, also fears for his patients. Many of them have come to the hospital after another hospital closed, he said.

"It's very stressful," Adams said.

The county-owned hospital – the largest in southern Maryland and major source of health care for Medicaid patients – is struggling financially. Many of its patients are either uninsured or can not afford to pay their bills.

Money from the county has helped keep the doors open, but the situation is still precarious. So on Thursday, hospital workers, Prince George's legislators and the General Assembly's Legislative Black Caucus joined health care groups to begin an effort to have money from a proposed $1-a-pack increase in the cigarette tax used to help the Prince George's Hospital and other financially struggling hospitals in the state.

They were joined by one of the most powerful legislators in Maryland.

"One of the things that many working men and women are loosing sight of is the fact that they can have access to affordable heath care," said Michael E. Busch, D-Anne Arundel, the speaker of the House of Delegates.

The effort, led by Sen. Verna L. Jones, D-Baltimore, would siphon $10 million a year over four years in funds for struggling hospitals. "I think that the monies that are going to be raised will help to deal with uncompensated care which is the larger issue," Jones said.

Despite opposition from two of the state's most powerful Democrats, Sen. President Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr., D-Calvert and Prince George's, and Gov. Martin O'Malley, Jones said she doubts the governor would veto "this type of bill."

About 80 health care union members, dressed in purple t-shirts that read "1199 SEIU," attended the news conference to hear about the proposal that could save their jobs. The hospital employs 1,500 union members, according to Quincey Gamble, a spokesman for the union.

"As health care workers we see every day the deadly effects of smoking on the patients that we care for, and we believe the cost of a dollar per pack of cigarettes is not a huge cost to save the lives of so many of our children who will never begin smoking if we raise the price," Gamble said.

Even though the proposal does not specifically name Prince George's Hospital, lawmakers and lobbyist confirmed that they expect to use the money to keep the hospital open.

"I don't know the financial situation of other hospitals, but I can tell you it definitely applies to Prince George's Hospital Center," said Glenn Schneider, executive director of the Health Care for All Coalition, in an interview. "Clearly we need to salvage this hospital, keep it afloat, so people can get the care that they need."

Proponents emphasized that the money for struggling hospitals was contingent on the cigarette tax.

"This can happen if we get the full dollar increase," said Vincent DeMarco, president of Health Care for All Coalition.

The hospital was temporarily rescued from its financial woes with $5 million from the Prince George's County Council recently.

But the money came with conditions. Dimensions Health Care Systems, which manages the hospital, had to agree to work with a management consultant, create a county-approved cost savings plan and reserve a number of the seats on the company's board for county council members.

Man Handed

May. He pleaded guilty in December, and sentencing was postponed until this week.

In other Circuit Court news this week, Sallianne Abes Summerville, 49, Oakland, was sentenced on Monday in three cases. In the first two cases, the judge reimposed sentences for violation of probation that total more than eight months' incarceration in the Garrett County Jail.

Summerville was then sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail, to be served consecutively, for distribution of her prescription medication.

The distribution charge resulted from the investigation into the overdose death of an Oakland man last April. Officers with the Gar-rett Bureau of Investigation determined that the day before the man was found dead, persons including Summerville had visited his residence and shared various medications with him, according to the state's attorney.

Summerville pleaded guilty to the offenses in December, and sentencing was postponed for a pre-sentence investigation report to be completed.

In an unrelated case, Krystle Rose Hewell, 20, Terra Alta, W.Va., pleaded guilty in the Circuit Court on Monday to possession of marijuana. Sherbin then sentenced Hewell to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail and suspended all but five days of the sentence.

Hewell had been charged by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force in August after marijuana plants were located and seized in the Bethlehem area of Garrett County. Surveillance conducted pri-or to the seizure showed Hewell assisting two others in tending to the plants, said the state's attorney.

In other court news, Joel Justin Uphold, 27, Oakland, pleaded guilty to felony theft. Sherbin then sentenced him to one year in the Garrett County Jail and suspended the sentence in favor of supervised probation.

Uphold was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies, who determined that Uphold was the person who entered an Oakland area business last July and removed various items of sporting goods. When Uphold was developed as a suspect and contacted by the deputies, he admitted to the theft and returned the property that was located at his residence, noted the state's attorney.

THE Garden Patch

by Master Gardener Suzanne Carol

BRING IN THE BUTTERFLIES

Plans for your coming spring garden should be well under way, and what would a garden be without butterflies? It will take very little effort on your part to attract these beautiful little dancing fairies. Also, many plants that attract butterflies also attract hummingbirds, so you get two for one.

Butterflies have many interesting behaviors which make them really fun to watch. After a rain, for example, you might see them "puddling," that is, sucking fluids from wet soil to obtain water and salts. On cool sunny mornings, they often bask on a rock to warm their muscles enough to enable them to fly. Many males are territorial and will chase other males away while they are trying to attract females, and females often have elaborate routines for choosing where to lay their eggs. They are active as soon as the temperature gets above 60°.

Most butterflies winter in the same areas where they spend the summer. Monarchs are the only truly migratory butterflies. They can migrate as far south as Mexico, returning in the spring. It takes several generations of monarchs to make the trip to their "overwintering" grounds in Mexico and California. The monarchs that migrate into the area in the spring are 2nd and 3rd generations that "overwintered" in Mexico and California.

Creating a Butterfly Garden

Your butterfly garden can be any size, from a window box to a portion of your yard to a wild untended area on your property. You can include native plants, cultivated species, or both. Butterflies feed on nectar so good sources of this food will attract them to your garden. Be sure to include flowers that bloom at different times during the season so that your garden provides nectar from spring through autumn. Garden shops, county extension offices, books, magazines, and the Internet can help you figure out when and what to plant. DO NOT USE ANY PESTICIDES OR INSECTICIDES. They kill butterflies, too.

My absolute favorite plant to attract butterflies is the butterfly bush. It is easy to grow – just plant it and give it a little water. It comes in many colors and smells wonderful. An added treat is that it will also attract hummingbirds. Once in flower, it is not unusual to see 10 to 25 butterflies on it at the same time, depending on its size. Some other plants that are known to attract butterflies are the black-eyed Susan, mist flower, globe amaranth, lantana, Mexican sunflower, pentas, purple cornflower and summer phlox.

The butterfly garden should include a wet area. You can use a saucer-type or pie-plate-type container. Put sand gravel (like in a fish tank) in it and fill it with water just to the top of the gravel. If you want to get fancy, many garden shops, nurseries, etc., sell butterfly baths. They're just like bird baths only very shallow. Butterflies like to perch on trees and shrubs so dogwoods, wild cherry and redbud are good choices for your garden. Large rocks, strategically placed, provide good resting and sunning spots for the butterflies, and they lend beauty and diversity to your garden.

Scent and color are important to attract butterflies. They have sensors for smell and taste in various places on their bodies, but most smell with their antennae or forelegs. Butterflies perceive shapes only at close range but can see more color than humans, so you want to plant a variety of flowers. The best color combination is yellow, mauve and lavender. Purples and reds are also good colors to select.

Butterflies pay less attention to humans than birds, so you can sit nearby and watch without disturbing them. If you wear bright colors, they may even mistake you for a nectar source and visit you up close!

DCL Lions Club Schedules Annual Cardboard Box Derby For March 17

The annual Deep Creek Lions Club Cardboard Box Derby will be held Saturday, March 17, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Bear Claw Tubing Park in McHenry, as part of Wisp Resort's "Beachin' Weekend." Derby design judging will take place at 1:30 p.m., with the race slated for 3 p.m. Admission for spectators is free.

"Our event is growing each year. Our 2006 derby had 35 entries and 107 kids or adults riding in the boxes," said Ed King, event coordinator. "Our long-range goal is to make this family event – which is very popular with local children and businesses – a much larger event, possibly as big as the Deep Creek Lake Dunk."

Race participants are currently being sought. Individuals of all ages may enter for a minimum $20 donation. The cost for businesses is a $150 minimum. Proceeds benefit the Lions Cub Blind Skiers and other local Lions programs. On-site registration will be available at 1 p.m. on derby day, but pre-registration is strongly encouraged.

Rules for the event are as follows:

•Boxes may be constructed only of cardboard, tape, and string.

•Decorations, painting, and flags are permitted and encouraged.

•Push-off at start by a non-rider is permitted.

•There is no limit on the number of passengers or size of box.

•Participants are asked to remove boxes/remnants at finish of race.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the first-, second-, and third-place winners in design and speed categories in both the individual and business divisions. Money will also be presented to the first-, second-, and third-place winners in the Judges' Choice category. Additionally, each person who makes it down the hill will receive a pin stating, "I did the Deep Creek Lake Lions Cardboard Derby."

A limited number of T-shirts featuring the derby mascot, a lion, will be available for purchase during the event. Music and balloons will also be a part of the festivities.

"This really is a spectator event," King said, noting that people of all ages enjoy seeing the cardboard creations fly down the hill and/or fly apart.

"It's quite a sight to see," he said, and encouraged both local residents and visitors alike to attend the event.

The Deep Creek Lions Club coordinates and executes the derby. Other sponsors this year include Rob Michael of State Farm Insurance, Jonathan Kessler of Smiley's and the proposed Aqua Mountain Resort, and the Wisp Resort, which provides the Bear Claw Tubing Park for the event.

For more information or entry forms, persons may call Jean Remmy at 301-387-8585 or Mary O'Neil at 301-616-7512, or visit on-line at wispresort.com. Entry forms are also available at the Ski and Ride School desk on the lower level of the Lodge at Wisp Resort.

IT'S CARDBOARD BOX DERBY TIME AGAIN! – Participants are currently being sought for the 2007 Lions Club Cardboard Box Derby, slated for Saturday, March 17, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Bear Claw Tubing Park, McHenry. See story. Pictured is Nina Bounds of Deep Creek Design Studio with a 2006 entry, which won first place for creativity in the business division of the competition.

YRWA To Meet, Discuss Garrett Development Plan

The Youghiogheny River Watershed Association (YRWA) will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m. in the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology building at Garrett College. The facility is directly behind the dormitory.

Members will discuss the Garrett County Comprehensive Development Plan. The YRWA is in the process of making recommendations to the local planning commission on the county's effort to update the plan. The recommendations include the following:

1. Include provisions that will control impervious surfaces and the runoff of pollutants from them.

2. Provide for improving and increasing vegetated riparian buffers.

3. Encourage the purchasing of easements and development of conservation plans for farms, forest land, riparian area, and wetlands, and increase funding for them.

4. Strengthen and provide for greater enforcement of storm water management and sediment regulations.

5. Establish performance standards for the protection of water quality in developments and tie increased development to increased staf-fing of regulatory agencies.

6. Establish impact fees on new development as one means to fund performance standard enforcement.

7. Include a TMDL implementation plan (Total Maximum Daily Limit) for streams with impaired water quality as listed by Maryland Department of the Environment.

The YRWA is a local organization working to maintain and improve the water quality for all aspects of life. For further information, one may call Edgar Harman at 301-334-4018.

Strategic Planning Meeting Slated At Oakland Library

The Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County will hold a strategic planning meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 27, from 3 until 5 p.m. at the Oakland Library. The public is invited to be a part of this planning process.

"To qualify for state capital funding," explained REL director Cathy Ashby, "the library is required to develop a new strategic plan, which will cover 2008 to 2012. This plan will serve as a blueprint for the provision of services and materials to the citizens of Garrett County."

The meeting will begin with a discussion of the Landon Boal Foundation and an overview on the Garrett County Comprehensive Development Plan. Environmental Resources Management (ERM) is the county's consultant on the project.

"Citizens and library staff attending the meeting will be asked to contribute to the planning process by describing their vision of future library service in Garrett County," noted Ashby.

The planning meeting will start at 3 p.m., and Clive Graham, ERM project manager, will begin his presentation of the Garrett County Comprehensive Development Plan at 4 p.m.

For additional information about the plan, persons may visit co.garrett.md.us/PlanningLand/Planning-Zoning/Planning.aspx, or download a copy of the plan from the Ruth Enlow Library web site at relib.net.

Any questions concerning the meeting may be directed to Ashby at 301-334-3996, ext. 102.

ALL AGES STORY-HOUR HELD AT LIBRARY – The Grantsville Library holds an All Ages Story-Hour every Friday from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. Amanda Kasecamp, pictured, serves as the children's specialist at Grantsville and welcomes children to this weekly event, which includes stories and special activities, as well as guest appearances at times by people in the community. Kasecamp, originally from Frostburg, started working at the Grantsville Library last summer. She holds a bachelor of arts degree in history and English literature from Washington College. For additional information, persons may call the Grantsville Library at 301-895-5298.

Garrett Col. Slates PowerPoint Course

A one-session crash course on Microsoft PowerPoint will be offered on Friday, March 2, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Garrett College.

Students will learn the advantage of using PowerPoint as a quick and innovative tool for speaker notes, handouts, slides, and other presentations for personal use, the board room, or classroom.

For more information or to register, persons may contact Kista Wilt at 301-387-3069 or at kwilt@-garrettcollege.edu.

The class is an offering of the Continuing Education and Training Division of Garrett College.

Classes On E-Bay Slated In McHenry

A three-session class on "Buying and Selling on E-Bay" will be offered on Thursdays beginning March 1 and continuing through March 15 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Garrett College, McHenry.

Students will learn how to buy and sell online, create attention-getting titles, upload photos, and safeguard their financial transactions online.

For more information or to register, persons may contact Kista Wilt at 301-387-3069 or at kwilt@garrettcollege.edu.

This class is an offering of the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College.

Daffodil Days Order Deadline Is Next Thursday

The American Cancer Society is reminding area residents that the last day to place an order for Daffodil Days is Thursday, Feb. 22. Daffodils and "Bear and a Bunch" products will be delivered the week of March 12-18.

This long-standing fund-raising campaign celebrates the society's mission to eliminate cancer as a life-threatening disease by offering daffodils to donors in appreciation of their contributions.

A bouquet of 10 fresh-cut daffodils or pot of mini daffodils are available for $10. For a $25 donation, persons will receive a bunch of daffodils and a special Boyds™ Bear, Hugh R. Hope, designed exclusively for the American Cancer Society.

"I encourage everyone to help paint our community yellow with daffodils this spring to show our support of the American Cancer Society's Daffodil Days and to help prevent cancer, save lives, and diminish suffering from the disease," said Sue Evans, chairperson of Garrett County's 2007 Daffodil Days campaign. "Everyone from school children to corporate CEOs has the power to make a difference for cancer patients and their families. By giving daffodils, we also have the power to give hope."

She intends to exceed the $5,400 raised in Garrett County last year to help defeat cancer.

Dollars raised through the Daffodil Days campaign will help the American Cancer Society fund cancer research, provide up-to-date cancer information, and education, advocate for public health policies that benefit the community, and provide services that improve the quality of life for patients and their families.

For more information about Daffodil Days or to place an order, persons may call the American Cancer Society at 301-722-2145 or e-mail tennat@cancer.org.

NOTICE
GARRETT COUNTY TAXPAYERS!

According to the laws governing my office (Section 14-808/Tax Property), the Tax Collector must advertise and sell properties for delinquent County, State, Town and/or taxes due to other taxing agencies.

Delinquent notices were mailed Feb. 1, 2007. We have included all taxes on the property as required by law. However, only delinquent taxes (2005-2006 and prior years) must be paid to avoid a tax sale on the property. Also, personal property taxes for 2003-2004 and prior years are delinquent and become a lien on the real estate (Section 14-808). (If you are involved in a bankruptcy proceeding, please contact our office as soon as possible). TAX BILLS MAILED JULY 2006 ARE NOT DELINQUENT!

According to legislation (Annotated Code 14-809), the county collector shall proceed to advertise and sell any real property located in any municipal corporation in the county on which municipal corporation taxes are delinquent. Unpaid amounts for municipalities or other taxing agencies were shown at the bottom of the notices. After March 2, all delinquent town taxes must be paid at the County Tax Office in order to guarantee collection of additional costs.

Property taxes may be paid at the Tax Office with Discover Card Only. Also, we accept payments by credit card on-line. To pay by credit card, call 1-800-2PAY-TAX or visit www.officialpayments.com (Use Jurisdiction Code 3014). There is a nominal fee charged for this service. Cards that can be used are: VISA, MASTERCARD, DISCOVER and AMERICAN EXPRESS.

The annual tax sale will be held in May 2007. Additional fees for attorney costs will be assessed after March 2, 2007. Please contact our office for the correct figures. After approximately April 6, 2007, additional fees for advertising will be included in the total amounts due.

If you should have questions or if we can be of assistance to you, please do not hesitate to call anytime between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Petty to interrupt season for TV gig

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Daytona Beach, Fla. The exit strategy for one of NASCAR's most popular drivers is starting to come to light. Kyle Petty, 46, announced last week that he has agreed to step out of his No. 45 Dodge for five races this summer and be in the TNT broadcast booth as an analyst.

He'll comment on one additional race — at Infineon Raceway — from behind the wheel of his car.

Petty, who has been racing since 1979 and has eight poles, eight victories and 51 top-five finishes in 785 career starts, said he plans to do what comes naturally to most race drivers — tell it like it is.

"Race drivers in general are pretty honest about stuff," he said. "They don't mince words very much — unless it's three or four days later — and they don't mind calling each other out."

He said most drivers don't mind being called out by a journalist, especially one who's been behind the wheel just weeks before.

"It makes you think about it when you get called out on things," he said. "You don't want to pull the wool over people's eyes all the time."

He said it will be especially difficult for drivers to deceive him this summer as he calls a stretch of races from June 10 at Pocono until July 15 at Chicagoland.

"I will have been in that car last week," he said. "I know what the Car of Tomorrow is like. I know what the new Goodyear radials are like. I know what the new shock packages are like. Hopefully I can bring a lot of that to the booth."

He said he plans to put an up-and-coming young driver, or a recently unemployed veteran, in his car for the races he'll miss.

It will be the first time since the formation of the Cup series that a Petty hasn't been a regular competitor.

But unlike other veterans, Petty doesn't seem to be struggling with the big retirement decision as his career winds to a close.

"Maybe I am at that place in my life where [broadcasting] is something I'm interested in doing," he said. "Maybe it's the perfect fit to make that transition from driving into a different role."

He said that the reason he has kept driving full time as long as he has is because he felt his Petty Enterprises team needed him to, especially after his son Adam, who was set to become the team's future driver, was killed in a racing crash in 2000.

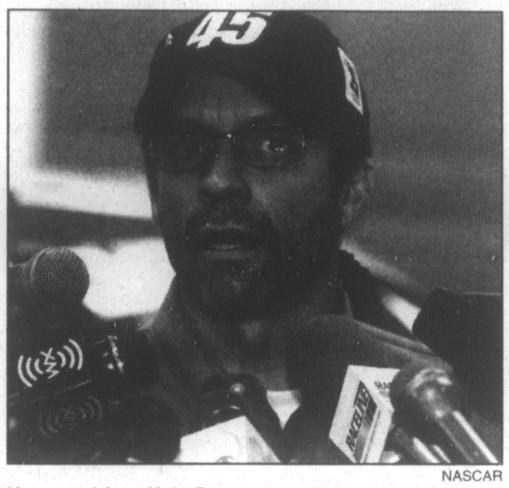
"I really felt like I needed to be in the car to keep Petty Enterprises moving in the right direction," he said.

But now that veteran crew chief Robbie Loomis is running the shop and veteran Bobby Labonte is driving the team's flagship No. 43 and other proven mechanics are in his employ, Kyle Petty can once again focus on what's best for him.

"I know it sounds bizarre because we've been so uncompetitive the last five years, but I want to win races before I get out of this thing," he said.

"I'd like to just focus on driving the race car for a couple of years, not worry about the business side of it, just give it everything you've got every time you get in that race car, just like it's the last race you'll ever run.

"I think that's where I'm at."



NASCAR

Veteran driver Kyle Petty soon will take a turn behind the microphone instead of being in front of it. The driver of the No. 45 Dodge said a mid-season stint in the broadcast booth might be the "perfect fit to make that transition from driving into a different role."

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some key storylines heading into the Daytona 500.

The Cinderella story

The pole run for the Daytona 500 became another chapter in the Cinderella story of David Gilliland and in the ongoing turnaround of Robert Yates Racing.

Gilliland, an unknown this time last year, won the pole for the Daytona 500 in his first try, and he did it for the Yates team, which was in disarray for most of last season.

Ricky Rudd, who came out of retirement to drive the No. 88 Yates Ford vacated by Dale Jarrett, took the outside pole, giving the veteran Yates his fifth Daytona 500 pole and his second sweep of the top starting spots for the sport's premier race.

"This is the best day we've had in a while," Yates said on Sunday. "It's as good as back in the day, or better."

Gilliland, who was hired to drive the No. 38 vacated by Elliott Sadler, said it's better than he has ever had it.

"I couldn't ask for anything more as a rookie coming to Daytona for the first time," he said.

Rudd said the early season success is due to the cooperation between his team and Gilliland's.

"I've been there before where you worked harder to beat your teammate than you did others, and it's not supposed to be that way," Rudd said. "I'm really pleased with what we've got going on right now."

Junior's demands

Dale Earnhardt Jr. has cleared up any doubts about what he wants in the way of a contract with his car owner and stepmother, Teresa Earnhardt. Earnhardt Jr. wants controlling ownership of Dale Earnhardt Inc., the company founded by his late father and now run by Teresa.

Reaction from the garage indicates that Earnhardt Jr. is so popular that he can get whatever he wants, either from DEI or some other team when his current contract expires at the end of this year.

EARNHARDT JR.

"He is the most popular driver; he has been successful," Kevin Harvick said. "He deserves the respect ... of being a grown man and not being treated like he is 15 and somebody's stepson."

Harvick said it's in the best interest of the entire sport for Earnhardt Jr. to be in a good working environment, whether it's at DEI or Richard Childress Racing or somewhere else.

"Absolutely I would welcome him as a teammate. But in the end, I think everybody wants [Earnhardt Jr. and DEI] to try and work it out. ... The situation is he is our sport's most popular driver, and he needs to have a good, stable condition and everything going how he needs it to go because he is the figurehead of what we do. We are all here to support him and do what he needs to make his situation the best."

Hard tire, slow go

It seems that a new harder right tire supplied by Goodyear could result in some subpar competition on the track. Or at least that's the opinion offered by top drivers after Saturday's Budweiser Shootout.

"I expected the racing to be closer than it was," said Shootout winner Tony Stewart. "Why do we have a harder tire on the right side this time?"

The answer seems to be that Goodyear wants to be sure that the right front tires don't blow out and send drivers slamming into the wall.

That puts the emphasis on having a car's chassis tuned to perfection, according to Jeff Burton.

"[The Daytona 500] is going to be a very, very big handling race," Burton told reporters at Daytona. "It's going to mean everything."

Tire compounds, and a rough racing surface at Las Vegas Motor Speedway have NASCAR and Goodyear officials searching for a different tire compound for that newly repaved track. In the meantime, a 13-gallon fuel cell — down from the normal 18 — has been mandated for the upcoming UAW Daimler Chrysler 400 at Las Vegas.

Toyota's disappointing start

Toyota's debut in NASCAR competition has been less than spectacular. Dale Jarrett drew the pole for the Bud Shootout but never led a lap and finished 18th. Brian Vickers, the only other Toyota driver in the field, led two laps but finished eighth.

In pole qualifying for the Daytona 500, the fastest Camry was the No. 00 of David Reutimann, who was 15th. Jarrett was 50th of the 61 drivers who ran against the clock, and Vickers was 45th. Michael Waltrip qualified 25th fastest, but his qualifying efforts were under a cloud of suspicion after NASCAR officials discovered a possible performance-enhancing substance in the intake manifold of his No. 55 Toyota.

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE: A look at some of the people who shaped the sport

'Tiny' delivered huge win for Woods at Daytona

Fuel strategy lifted Lund in '63 thriller

Mention the 1963 Daytona 500 to old-time NASCAR fans and you'll get a two-word response — "Tiny" Lund.

The story of that race is legendary. DeWayne Louis "Tiny" Lund initially wasn't supposed to be in the winning Wood Brothers Ford that year at Daytona. That ride belonged to Marvin Panch. But 10 days before the race, Panch wrecked a Maserati during a sports-car race at Daytona, and Lund was one of the bystanders who pulled him from the burning wreckage — a feat that earned Lund a Carnegie Medal of Honor and a ride in the Woods' No. 21.

But for most of that Speedweeks, it looked like a Chevrolet would wind up in Victory Lane at the end of the 500.

Chevy-driving Rex White, the 1960 champion of the Cup series, said the best chance he ever had of winning the sport's biggest race was in '63.

"All the Chevys were fast," White said. "Fords were suffering from a lack of horsepower, compared to the Chevys."

When the race started, White's No. 4 ran like the wind, but a leaking head gasket in his powerful engine became his undoing. Still, even after making an unscheduled pit stop to add water to his radiator, he stormed back into the lead, passing Lund and others with ease.

"I passed Tiny a couple of times," White said. "One time I just motored by him. He couldn't even catch the draft."

White's leaking gasket eventually relegated him to a 14th-place finish.

Lund, on the other hand, was able to make up for his lack of speed with the brilliant pit strategy of his team, led by Glen and Leonard Wood.

The Woods devised a gas-mileage strategy that worked to perfection.

"We knew we could run 42 laps on a tank of gas," Leonard Wood recalled last week. When a caution flag flew just shy of the 100-mile mark, the Woods knew they could finish the race with just four more stops if they pitted every 40 laps or so.

The team never even changed tires to save time on pit stops and instructed Lund to draft with other drivers and save fuel.

Wood Brothers

Tiny Lund playfully lifts Rex White following Lund's improbable victory in the 1963 Daytona 500.

Toward the end of the race, the leaders, one by one, began running low on fuel and making pit stops.

"We knew we had it then," Wood said. "It was just a matter of when they came down pit road."

When Ned Jarrett stopped for gas with eight laps to go, Lund took the lead and never looked back. But the Woods had one last worry.

"We were wanting Tiny to draft and save fuel, but with about 10 laps to go, he began dicing it up," Wood said. "But he had plenty of gas, and it was a big win for us."

White said he was as happy as anyone with the storybook finish.

"I was glad to see Tiny win the race, and I was happy for Glen and Leonard Wood," White said.

Lund, a short-track specialist, won four other times on NASCAR's elite circuit and raced on and off in Cup until 1975 when he was killed in a crash at Talladega Superspeedway.

The five-foot-three-inch White remembered the six-foot-five-inch Lund as being hard on equipment on the track but also as a fun-loving prankster who loved to fish and hunt.

"Tiny was like an overgrown kid," he said.

DAVID GILLILAND

Daytona 500 polesitter David Gilliland, driver of Robert Yates' No. 38 Ford, is embarking on his first full-time season in Nextel Cup and already has run second in the non-points Budweiser Shootout at Daytona. He met last week with reporters, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to discuss racing and good fortune.

Q. How much has your life changed since getting a Nextel Cup ride?

A. "It's changed in every way you could imagine, but it's definitely gotten a lot busier. I just don't get to spend as much time at home with my family as I'd like, but it's busy. I've got a part-time Busch deal I'm doing now, too, as well as a full-time Cup ride, so I'm learning a lot and that's what I need to do. I feel that the position I need to put myself in is to be able to learn as much as I can. That's my first and foremost goal."

Q. Have you bought an airplane or a motorhome?

A. "I bought a motorhome, but it's not as fancy as the rest of them. I was just talking to my motorhome driver last night about how you could need more, but I'm just saving a little bit. Like I said, first and foremost is I want to make sure I can stay here."

Q. Where were you a year ago when Speedweeks began at Daytona?

A. "I was working 15-18 hours a day in our Busch shop in Statesville [N.C.] trying to build race cars to run a 15-race Busch schedule. We did a good job on those cars and were able to win at Kentucky, and it's just snowballed from there. Originally with our Busch deal — the 84 car last year — our original plans were to come to Daytona and when we couldn't, I was heartbroken. Billy Wilburn was my crew chief and he said, 'This is a place that when you come here, you want to be 100 percent prepared,' and we wouldn't have been. But now, with [crew chief] Todd Parrott on our Cup side, I feel that we're every bit 100 percent prepared, so I'm excited and we'll see what we can bring out of here."

Q. Does racing in Nextel Cup meet your expectations?

A. "Yeah, it does. It's a lot busier. The biggest thing that caught me off guard was the off-season. I figured we'd have a little bit of an off-season, but I was busier during the off-season than I am in the racing season. As I talk to more and more drivers, they say they're all like that. I don't think I went more than two weeks without being in a race car the whole off-season. It was more like usually every week we were in a car, testing the Car of Tomorrow and Busch tests and Cup tests. It was very busy, but I feel really prepared to get the season started right now."

Q. How do you like the Car of Tomorrow?

A. "I like it. We've been making some great strides and big improvements on our program. I'm looking forward to that Bristol test and really see where we are."

Q. How does having the veteran Ricky Rudd for a teammate help you?

A. "It's a very positive addition for Robert Yates Racing and myself. I've leaned on him and gotten more out of him in the month or so that he's been here than I've ever got out of anybody else ever helping me. I'm just very surprised at how open he is to helping me. As a rookie, I can't tell you how much it means, like when you go to a test somewhere and you get out of the car and you can go straight to someone like Ricky and ask him a question and have it answered right then and there."

Q. Are you ready to win the Daytona 500?

A. "I'd like to think so. [The Budweiser Shootout] was my first race here and I learned a lot and I'm very, very thankful that we had that race ... I've learned a lot of what I need to tell [Parrott]. Our communication has come a long way, so we're excited and we feel like we've got a race car good enough to win the 500. I just need about 495 miles of experience and then we'll go for it the last five miles and try to do it."

HOSPICE DIRECTOR ADDRESSES ROTARY CLUB – Brenda Butscher, 18-year director of Hospice of Garrett County, spoke to the Oakland Rotary Club last Thursday afternoon. Hospice serves the terminally ill and their families with licensed nursing care, home care aides, spiritual counseling, physical therapists, a social worker, and bereavement services. The Oakland Rotary Club donated $500 to agency last October in memory of the late Willard F. Elliott, a life-time Rotary member. The Oakland Rotary Club meets every Thursday at 12:15 p.m. in the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Community Room in Oakland. "[Our] motto, 'Service Above Self,' is evidenced in [our] sponsoring and fundraising events, which benefit the local, state, and international community," said an Oakland Rotary spokesperson. For more information about the Oakland Rotary Club, persons may call Tom Carr at 301-245-4004. For membership inquiries, one may call Mike Bello at 301-533-3242. Named USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Jason Friend, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. Jason will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Jason, a student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest, and aptitude.

Jason is the son of Todd and DeLeta Friend.

General Assembly Proceedings Now Available Online

In its continuing tradition of keeping Marylanders up to date on the inner workings of Annapolis, Maryland Public Television (MPT) has added Maryland General Assembly proceedings to its roster of on-demand videos. This coverage will be available around the clock at www.mpt.org/gap.

"This service brings the important work of the General Assembly into the homes of our citizens at a time of their choosing and lets them see for themselves how the business of the state is carried out," said MPT president and CEO Rob Shuman.

MPT will continue to air Maryland General Assembly proceedings on MPT and MPT Select-Digital. Online video of Maryland General Assembly proceedings will be posted within 48 hours of original broadcast.

For more information on MPT, persons may visit online at mpt.org.

Comp. Franchot Offers Tax Tips

Working to ensure every Marylander is informed and prepared to meet this year's Tuesday, April 17, tax deadline, Comptroller Peter Franchot this week offered a few reminders for state taxpayers. The comptroller stressed the timely and user-friendly iFile system, a free online service provided by the state.

"Our first order of business at the comptroller's office is to provide excellent customer service to the taxpayers of Maryland," said Franchot. "I encourage everyone filing a Maryland tax return this year to use iFile, the state's free Internet filing system. It's safe. It's fast, and it's convenient. iFilers get immediate confirmation that their returns are accepted, which means that taxpayers getting a refund this year can expect it direct deposited within 48 hours."

Beginning in 2007, taxpayers who electronically file their 2006 state return by the April 17 deadline, have a balance due, and choose direct debit or credit card payment, will have until April 30 to pay the balance in full.

Additional tips for making tax time easier include:

•Check, then re-check, bank account/routing numbers before submitting tax returns.

•If paper filing is a must, print clearly. Don't use pencil.

•Make sure to include all required forms and documents (e.g. W-2s), and don't forget to sign the paper return.

Always use caution before obtaining refund anticipatory loans.

For more tax help or to check refund status, persons are invited to use the comptroller's toll-free phone line, 1-800 MD TAXES, or visit the comptroller's web site: www.marylandtaxes.com

Kevin Dodge To Discuss Winter Tree Identification With Native Plant Society

The Western Mountains Chapter of Maryland Native Plant Society will hold its regular meeting at the Appalachian Laboratory in Frostburg on Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 7 p.m. The guest speaker will be Kevin Dodge, director of the Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology Program at Garrett College.

Dodge will give a presentation called "Bark, Buds, and Bundle Scars: Winter Tree Identification." His program will begin immediately following the regular business meeting. The public is welcome to attend.

For many, recognition of different kinds of trees is easy during the summer when the leaves are present, but becomes much more daunting after the leaves fall. Dodge's presentation will help people become more comfortable with identification of trees during the winter.

After introducing the features of trees most useful for winter identification, he will demonstrate how to use a combination of characteristics to identify some of the more common deciduous trees of the region during the winter months.

Since 1987, Dodge has worked at Garrett College, where he is professor of wildlife and biology. He teaches various courses in natural history and ecology, including wildlife biology, dendrology, herbaceous plant identification, herpetology, and general ecology. His courses emphasize field experience, and many classes include field trips to other parts of the mid-Atlantic/Central Appalachian region.

Dodge's past research focused on habitat use by wood warblers on Isle Royale National Park, Michigan, and the impact of gypsy moth-induced habitat change on forest birds in eastern West Virginia.

At Garrett College, Dodge and his students have studied the breeding biology, habitat use, and fall migration of northern saw-whet owls since 1991. (Dodge is pictured above with one of the owls.) He also studies the impact of acid mine drainage and its mitigation on wetland plants and animals.

The professor is actively involved in natural resources issues in Garrett County and the surrounding area. He is a member of the Savage River State Forest Citizens' Advisory Board, the Youghiogheny River Watershed Association, and the Allegheny Highlands Conservancy.

He lives in Bittinger with his wife Carolina and their daughter Rhiannon.

The Appalachian Laboratory is located at 301 Braddock Road near Frostburg State University. Parking is available in front of the building.

The Maryland Native Plant Society uses education, research, and community service to increase awareness and appreciation of native plants and their habitats leading to their conservation and restoration. Membership is open to all who are interested in Maryland's native plants and their habitats.

Preserving Maryland's natural heritage, increasing knowledge about native plants, and helping to further the society's mission are its goals. MNPS sponsors monthly meetings, workshops, field trips, and an annual fall conference. For more information, persons can visit mdflora.org

The Western Mountains Chapter has formed to expand the efforts of MNPS on the Allegheny Plateau and ridge and valley physiographic provinces of the central Appalachians. Residents of western Maryland, nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia, and anyone else interested in learning more about and conserving the native plants of this region are invited to join.

For more information, persons may contact Cheryl Lough at 301-616-7983 or cklough3@yahoo.com, Liz McDowell at 301-895-3686 or info@elkridge-natureworks.com, or visit the chapter web site at mdflora.org/chapters.

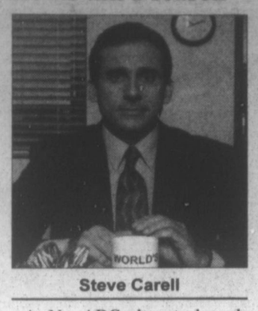
'The Office' is open for its third season

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Steve Carell

Q: I recently watched the DVD set of season two of "The Office." Is there going to be a third season? –Tierney Roper, Evanston, Wyo.

A: If you're referring to the Americanized NBC version of the sitcom, starring Steve Carell, the third season is what the network currently is airing Thursdays. If you're asking whether the third season will come to DVD, we're sure it will, eventually; past experience suggests it'll probably happen toward fall, when the fourth season of the show will begin (NBC has picked it up for another year).

Q: I love the new show "Men in Trees," which is set in Elmo, Alaska. Can you tell me where it is filmed? –Nancy Roy, Adams, Mass.

A: Anne Heche's ABC show is shot in the Vancouver area of British Columbia, principally in Squamish.

Q: I was an immediate fan of the young actress who starred in the "My Girl" movies, but I hadn't seen her in anything else over the years until I spotted her in a recent "Law & Order" episode. What has she been up to? –Julie Pittluck, Wauconda, Ill.

A: Anna Chlumsky took time away from acting to pursue a degree in international studies from the University of Chicago, which she received in 2002. She now resides in New York, and while her recent guest shot indicates she is resuming her acting career, she also has worked as a researcher for the famed restaurant guide Zagat. The Chicago native also has finished an independent film titled "My Sweet Misery."

Q: One of my favorite shows is "Dancing With the Stars." Do we have to wait until fall to see another new season? –Pat Hurt, Milwaukee

A: No. ABC plans to launch the latest round of the series March 19, and Monday will remain the new night for the competition episodes. The weekly results show now will air on Tuesday.

Q: I liked watching "Little House on the Prairie" and "The Waltons." Are the actors Dabbs Greer and Will Greer brothers? They look like they could be. –Debbie Johnson, Youngstown, Ohio

A: No. The actor who played the grandfather on "The Waltons" was Will Geer, not Greer.

Q: My wife and I like game shows, and we were watching "Show Me the Money" – hosted by William Shatner – but it seems to have disappeared. Will it ever come back, or has ABC decided to pull the plug on it? –Kuy Kuykendall, Richmond, Texas

A: The network did remove the show from its schedule, and the timing was interesting, since it happened shortly after an announcement that additional episodes had been ordered. At this writing, there were no plans to bring it back.

RAM Notes

AFTER PROM MEETING

The next meeting to plan the 16th annual after prom event will occur on Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 7 p.m. in Room 1171 at the high school. All SHS parents are encouraged to attend.

RAM GEAR

New sweatshirt styles and long-sleeve tees are on sale in the school store. Those interested may stop by during the school day to pick up "Ram Gear" before the next big game. Sweatshirts are $23 and long sleeve tees are just $15.

SGAA MEMBERSHIPS

Help student athletes as they compete by obtaining an SGAA membership. SGAA memberships are only $5 and will get anyone into one home athletic event free. The membership supports an annual senior scholarship as well as three sports award assemblies. The SGAA table can be found at the next home event.

TALENT SHOW NEEDS SPONSORS

Southern High School will host a talent show on Saturday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. on the school stage. We are currently seeking prizes in the form of gift certificates, etc., from local businesses. Admission to the talent show is $5. The proceeds help to fund this year's musical, The Pirates of Penzance. Persons interested may contact Erin White at 301-334-9447 for more information or to donate a prize.

GERMAN EXCHANGE PROGRAM

There will be a meeting for all families involved in the SGHS/Germany Exchange on Wednesday, March 7, at 5 p.m. in Room 1236. Persons with questions may contact Mrs. Doyle at 301-334-9447.

ELKS SCHOLARSHIP

Applications for the Elks Vocational Scholarship are now available. Persons interested in obtaining a scholarship application may contact Robin Spiker in Room 1208 or e-mail her at rspiker@sh.ga.k12.md.us. Applicants do not have to be related to an Elks member to receive this scholarship.

THE RAMPAGE

Southern High School's creative arts magazine, The Rampage, will begin accepting submissions for the spring edition. Poetry, short stories, song lyrics, digital photography, artwork, and creative writing are acceptable to submit. For submission guidelines, person should see Mrs. Henline in Room 1227.

YEARBOOKS

Yearbook orders and payments are due by April 1. Any parent wishing to contact Josten's concerning his/her child's yearbook order should call 1-866-282-1516 or contact Maria Zumpano at the school. A limited number of extra yearbooks will be available at time of distribution.

PHOTOS REQUESTED

The yearbook staff needs photos of students and teachers in and out of school. Any student with photos for the yearbook are asked to upload them to the yearbook web site at: https://portal.jostens.com/login.asp with the login 1104175 and the password rams. Students may also save pictures to a CD and drop then off to Ms. Zumpano in Room 1250.

JOE CORBY PIZZAS

Business and computer science students who are going on the spring New York City trip are selling Joe Corbi Pizza and Cookie Dough to help raise funds for the trip. Anyone interested in ordering may contact a participating student or Laurie Walker at 301-334-9447.

FUTURE BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA

Hannah Gnegy, Rose Jackson, Nick Crabtree, and Andrew Sauder will attend the 2007 Future Business Leaders of America conference from March 22 through 24 in Hagerstown. Hannah and Rose will compete in Multimedia Development, and Nick and Andrew will compete in Website Development. Students will also have the opportunity to attend numerous leadership and teambuilding workshops. Two Southern students will also serve as voting delegates in the regional and state officer elections.

2006 YEARBOOKS FOR SALE

There are still a few of last year's yearbooks for sale. Any student who missed the opportunity to get one should contact Maria Zumpano at 301-334-9447 or mzumpano@sh.ga.k12.md.us. Current students can stop by Ms. Zumpano's room, Room 1250, to purchase one. The cost is $54.

SKILLS USA TEAM

The Skills USA team consisting of Jonathan Hamilton, Anthony Steyer, Robert Keiper, and Eric Tichnel competed in the regional team works competition at the Allegany Career Center. The team placed second in the contest. They will be participating in the state contest to be held in March.

MARYLAND SUMMER CENTERS

Gifted and talented students are encouraged to apply for one or more of the Maryland Summer Centers sponsored by the Maryland State Department of Education. Most applications must be postmarked by April 15, while the fine arts centers have earlier deadlines and may require an audition. Summer centers are also available for students at the elementary and middle school levels. Listed below are the summer centers offered for high school students. More information may be obtained by visiting the Guidance Office or the following web site: www.marylandpublicschools.org/summercenters. Financial assistance is also available.

•Center for the Fine and Performing Arts at Salisbury University in Wicomico County, for grades 7-12, July 8-21, $700 for a two-week residential program plus a $25 materials fee. Application deadline: April 6.

•Upper Chesapeake Center for the Arts at Washington College in Kent County, for grades 7-12, July 21-28, $375 for 8-day residential program. Application deadline: April 13.

•Center for Environmental and Estuarine Studies at University of Maryland, Horn Point, in Dorchester County, 9th graders can apply, July 22-27, $335 for one week residential program.

•Center for Law and Government at University of MD School of Law in Baltimore City, 9th graders can apply, July 16-20, $100 for one-week non-residential program.

•Center for Future Engineers: Robot Design at Frostburg State University in Allegany County, for grades 9-12, July 15-20, $375 for one week residential program.

HELP WITH FAFSA

A Garrett College representative will be in the Guidance Office on Tuesday, Feb. 20, and Wednesday, Feb. 21, from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. Mrs. Sincell will be in the Computer Lab, Room 2206, during mini period. Help with FAFSA and scholarship applications will be offered on Wednesday, Feb. 21, and Thursday, Feb. 22.

PLANNING GUIDE

Parents interested in viewing the '07-'08 Student Education Planning Guide before their student schedules for the '07-'08 school year may pick up a new guide in the Guidance Office or view it electronically on the Board of Education web site: www.ga.k12.md.us. It is under "Secondary Education" and then "Student Education Planning Guide." Students can also find the course catalogue on the school web site by going to "Students" and clicking on "Student Educational Planning Guide."

CYNTHIA MORGAN MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

This scholarship will award $500 to a high school senior who will be a first-generation college student planning to pursue a degree in a medical-related field. Eligible applicants must be residents of Maryland and planning to attend a Maryland post-secondary institution. Applications are available in Guidance or online at www.cemsfund.com. The deadline is Feb. 25.

MASONIC CHARITIES OF MARYLAND

A $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to one Garrett County high school senior to be used toward expenses at an accredited two-year or four-year college or technical school. This requires completion of essay application and a transcript. The criteria that should be included are: public service and extra-curricular activities, student resume, scholastic achievement, recommendation from high school, and need for financial assistance. The deadline is March 1.

OAKLAND MASONIC GRANT APPLICATION

A $500 scholarship will be awarded to one graduating senior of Southern Garrett High School. Applicants are evaluated on the following criteria: applicant's resume, scholastic achievement, need for financial assistance, participation in extra-curricular activities, and high school recommendation. The deadline is March 1.

JACK AND DOROTHY SMOUSE SCHOLARSHIP

A $1,000 scholarship will be awarded to two Southern Garrett High School seniors who are on track to graduate. Applicants must be planning to pursue post-secondary education or training in a trade, preferably in a healthcare related area. Priority will be given to students who are completing the Allied Health course requirements, but students planning to pursue any career in the health field are encouraged to apply. The application includes an essay written by the student describing financial need and including a statement about why he/she is deserving of this award, indicating school and community involvement, volunteer and work experience. The deadline is March 22.

WOODMEN OF THE WORLD SPENCER W. GRAHAM SCHOLARSHIP

Southern High School seniors who are members of the Woodmen of the World may apply for this scholarship. The deadline is March 31.

NORTHROP GRUMMAN COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP

A scholarship of $10,000 will be awarded to a graduating high school senior in each of the 23 Maryland counties and Baltimore City. The funds are to be used for tuition, books, lodging, and/or meals at the institution of higher education of the recipient's choice. Applicant qualifications are: must be a Maryland resident, must be a graduating senior of a public or accredited private high school in Maryland, must plan to attend an accredited college or university as a full-time student in an approved engineering program, must have a minimum composite SAT score of 1700, and must have a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.5. The deadline is March 31.

GARRETT SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT

Two recipients will be awarded $1,000 scholarships to use at an accredited college or university toward the full-time study of an agricultural or natural resources related degree. Applicants must have a GPA of 3.0 or higher. A one-page essay is required. The deadline is April 1.

SYCAMORE SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM

At least one $2,000 scholarship will be awarded a high school senior who is a female and who plans to pursue a degree in engineering at an accredited college or university. Applicants must have at least a 3.0 cumulative grade point average and must submit the application form, an essay, two professional references, and an official high school transcript. The deadline is April 2.

GARRETT COUNTY RETIRED SCHOOL PERSONNEL ASSOCIATION MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

A $250 scholarship will be awarded to a Garrett County high school senior who plans to major in teacher education at an accredited college or university. Applicants need to write a 1/2- or 1-page essay describing his/her career goals and why the applicant is deserving of the award. Applications need to be turned in to Guidance by April 15.

EPILEPSY FOUNDATION IRA ROSENZWOG SCHOLARSHIP

The Epilepsy Foundation of the Chesapeake Region will award the Ira Rosenzwog Scholarship to a high school senior with epilepsy who wishes to attend a 2- or 4-year college or university or technical school. Applicants must: have letter from a physician documenting the student has epilepsy, write an essay, be a resident of Maryland, and document financial need. The deadline is April 20.

ANGIE M. HOUTZ MEMORIAL FUND

Given in memory of Angie Houtz, a Naval analyst, killed in the Sept. 11, 2001, terrorist attack at the Pentagon. The $3,000 scholarship will be given to a student who plans to attend a Maryland two- or four-year public college. Eligible candidates must have at least a 3.0 GPA. Selection will be based on academic achievements and community service. Interested seniors should download the application at: www.angiemhoutzmemorialfund.com or angiefund@yahoo.com. The deadline is April 30.

GARRETT COMMISSIONERS SCHOLARSHIP

Garrett high school seniors graduating in 2007 who are planning to enroll at Garrett College will receive financial assistance for tuition and fees from the Garrett Comissioners Scholarship. Applicants must complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), preferably by March 1, the Garrett College application for admission, the Guaranteed Access Grant (if financially eligible), and the Commissioners Scholarship Application. The deadline is May 1.

SOUTHERN GARRETT HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP

Two Southern Garrett High School seniors will receive a scholarship in the amount of $1,000 each per year for four years, providing a minimum GPA of 2.5 is maintained. Criteria for selection includes: financial need, at least a 75% GPA, a plan to attend a 4-year college or university, school and community activities, academic and career goals, and a 250-word essay addressing the statement: "What Southern High School means to me." The deadline is May 1.

EDUCATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS SCHOLARSHIP FOUNDATION

A minimum of 61 awards, ranging from $1,000 to $6,000, will be distributed to students based on GPA and SAT/ACT scores, involvement in school activities, and financial need. The deadline is May 15.

"Smart Choices" Session Slated At Judy Center

A resource management session called "Smart Choices" will be held at the Overlook Judy Center in Oakland on Monday, March 12, from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Participants will learn to develop a family spending plan, track expenses and income, learn ways to save money on food, and sample a low-cost recipe that can be made at home.

The class is free, and free child care is available at the location. "Smart Choices" will be taught by Abbi Kifer, registered and licensed dietitian from the University of Maryland Cooperative Extension, Food Stamp Nutrition Education Program.

Space is limited, so interested persons are advised to telephone Nancy Fazenbaker at 301-334-4211 by March 7.

THE FOUNDATION OF FREEDOM

Around Presidents' Day, we remember those founding fathers who built the foundation of our democracy and gave us our legacy of freedom. George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Abraham Lincoln come to mind, for they were the leaders who laid the plans and determined and upheld the principles upon which our nation was founded. Although he wasn't a president, Martin Luther King, Jr. also was an important part of the heritage of freedom. In honor of those who gave us freedom, we can continue to sustain and strengthen that legacy.

How can we uphold our freedom? The Bible tells us that though mankind changes, God's Word never changes. This is our spiritual foundation. The Lord's foundation remains unblemished by time, and it keeps us strong and free. In 2 Corinthians 3:17 it says, "Now the Lord is the Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lord is...there is freedom."

Worship each week. Keep your spiritual foundation strong, for each stone must be sturdy if the foundation of freedom is to stand.

he Joys of Virtuosity

It is almost always more enjoyable to do something that we do well rather than something at which we fail miserably. Whether playing a sport or a musical instrument, the better we get at it, the more pleasure we usually derive from the activity. But this doesn't mean that we have to be virtuosos. Not everyone can play the cello like Yoyo Ma or play tennis like Venus Williams. The good news is that it doesn't really matter how well we play. What gives most of us satisfaction is that we are getting better. When we start to learn something new, the learning curve is steep, and so we see rapid improvement, which generates a lot of satisfaction. After a while however, we inevitably hit a plateau, where it requires considerably more effort to improve. These plateaus are the tough spots where we have to persevere and redouble our efforts. We will be rewarded, but it takes time and effort. Therefore, we should remember the old adage: that if it's worth doing; it's worth doing right. And, since many activities take years to perfect, it may be best to also tell ourselves that if it's worth doing, it's worth doing poorly when we're just starting out. We should just do it with the aim of getting better at it! In all toil there is profit, but mere talk tends only to want.

Tropical Indian Plant May Enhance Memory

Bacopa monnieri is a plant that grows in India and other tropical areas. While the plant produces a fruit, the leaf of the plant is the part used in most medicinal preparations. The plant has been used in Ayurvedic medicine for centuries. Traditionally, bacopa has been used to treat anxiety, seizures, and to enhance memory. It has also been used as a tonic for the heart, lungs, and digestive system. The plant contains numerous active constituents. It is thought that Bocasides A and B inside the plant are responsible for its memory enhancing effects. Bacosides A and B are antioxidants, which protect brain cells against free radical damage. Bacopa has been shown to improve learning in laboratory animals.

More studies are needed to further examine the effects of bacopa in humans. One typical dose of bacopa is 100mg three times daily (standardized to contain 20% bacosides A and B per dose). No side effects have been reported. Bacopa should not be used by women who are pregnant or breastfeeding. Finally, bacopa may affect the levels of certain drugs (calcium channel blockers, thyroid hormones, and phenytoin).

Pet Rabbits Grow Long in the Tooth

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I have a 6-year-old dwarf rabbit that lately has been having some dental problems. We have been feeding her lots of vegetables instead of the hard food that she has trouble with. "Daisy" is getting better now, but she lost a lot of weight. Can you recommend a type of food or vegetable that would help her regain that weight? — A Reader, via e-mail

DEAR READER: Dental problems are, sadly, quite common in pet rabbits. This is partly because of the type of diet they are fed — often just hard pellets advertised as providing complete nutrition. The trouble with these pellets is that they crumble easily in a rabbit's chew-friendly jaws, providing little challenge and no variety.

A rabbit's teeth grow continuously throughout its lifetime. Normally, the constant growth replaces bone ground away by constant gnawing on a variety of tough vegetation. In the absence of good gnawing material, the teeth keep growing and many different dental issues appear.

Pet rabbits should see a veterinarian at least once a year, and the vet should check their teeth every time. Owners must also observe their rabbit for signs of possible problems, such as improper tooth alignment (when at rest, the rabbit's incisors can touch the teeth below, but the cheek teeth should not), lumps appearing on the bottom edge of the jawbone, or protruding eyes. Discharge from the nose, excessive tearing, dropping food out of the mouth, and reluctance to eat are also warning signals.

For Daisy, consult her veterinarian about the best diet to encourage healthy weight gain. During her recovery and when she is healthy again, make sure that she has lots of fresh vegetables — carrots (with tops), fresh leafy greens and all the grass hay she wants — to chew on every feeding time in addition to her pellets. A fresh tree branch (make sure it has not been sprayed with chemicals) will give her something to grind down her teeth between meals.

Also, visit the following Web site for information on fresh diets for pet rabbits: www.rabbit.org.

Q. I have a couple of really old pictures and would like to find out how much they are worth. Do you know where I can take them? — Ginny, Apopka, Fla.

A. Even though your letter is rather vague, I assume you have older photographs. Some images are quite valuable; others are not. To find out the value of your images, you should consult an expert. Larry Goldheim is an appraiser who specializes in vintage photographs, daguerreotypes, tintypes and stereo views. He might be able to help you. Contact him in care of Be-Hold, Inc., 78 Rockland Ave., Yonkers, NY 10705; behold@be-hold.com; and www.be-hold.com.

Q. I have some old coins from the 1950s and '60s, an assortment of Avon bottles and about a dozen Beanie Babies. I am interested in selling them and wonder who I can contact. — Sue, Tulsa, Okla.

A. Unfortunately, you seem to have the trifecta of collectibles that are difficult to sell. Although your coins probably aren't old or rare enough to be of much interest to a dealer or serious collector, there is a good reference book that should help you determine current values: 2007 North American Coins & Prices edited by David C. Harper and available from KP Books (888-457-2873).

The market for Avon bottles is sluggish at best. I suggest you monitor eBay to see what they are selling for in Internet auctions. Beanie Babies were a fad and in great demand a number of years ago, but as interest waned, prices plunged. They will be extremely difficult to sell.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On Feb. 24, 1836, Texas Colonel William Travis sends a desperate plea for help for the besieged defenders of the Alamo, ending the message with the famous last words, "Victory or Death." Only 32 men responded to Travis' call for reinforcements. On March 6, the Mexican army stormed the Alamo, and Travis, Jim Bowie, Davy Crockett and about 190 of their comrades were killed.

• On Feb. 19, 1847, the first rescuers reach surviving members of the Donner Party, a group of California-bound immigrants stranded by snow in the Sierra Nevada Mountains. Eighty-nine people had set out from Springfield, Ill., the previous July. Only 45 of the original party reached California.

• On Feb. 21, 1885, the Washington Monument is dedicated in Washington, D.C. The monument remains today, by District of Columbia law, the tallest building in the nation's capital.

• On Feb. 22, 1923, the 1 millionth Chevy is produced. Chevrolet began when William Durant hired Louis Chevrolet, a Swiss race-car driver and star of the Buick racing team, to design a new car to challenge the success of the Ford Model T.

• On Feb. 25, 1938, Miami's first drive-in movie theater opens. Admission was 25 cents per car and 25 cents per individual, with no car paying more than $1. The drive-in craze would peak in 1963, when 3,502 theaters were in operation across the country.

• On Feb. 23, 1954, a group of children from Arsenal Elementary School in Pittsburgh, Pa., receive the first injections of the new polio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk. Globally, there are now roughly 250,000 cases of polio each year, mostly in developing countries.

Strange BUT TRUE
By Samantha Weaver

• You might be surprised to learn that the United States Postal Service once actually delivered children as well as letters. In 1914, a 2-year-old boy was sent from Oklahoma to Kansas — and the postage paid was only 18 cents.

• One C. Merton Tyrell once described the Pentagon as "a place where costs are always rounded to the nearest tenth of a billion dollars."

• When he died in April 1910, an 80-year-old man named Valentine Tapley had the distinction of possessing the longest beard in the world. He was afraid that after his death someone would turn grave-robber in order to steal the 12 1/2 feet of whiskers, so in his will he specified that his body be sealed up in an especially sturdy tomb to prevent such a desecration of his corpse.

• Those who study such things claim that a sneeze was once recorded as traveling 103.6 mph.

• You might not remember this, but a microwave oven was actually commercially available as early as the 1940s. As you might imagine, however, it wasn't terribly practical — it was 6 feet tall and weighed 750 pounds.

• A study conducted by two economists last year demonstrated a correlation between appearance and criminal behavior. Their study of 15,000 people aged 18 to 26 indicated that the less attractive a person is, the greater the chance that he or she committed a crime.

• Angkor Wat, the largely overgrown temple complex in Cambodia (you might remember it as the scene of some of Lara Croft's adventures in the film "Tomb Raider"), is the world's largest religious structure, covering 22 acres and rising to a height of 213 feet.

A POLAR BEAR ATTACK ON MARSH HILL? No, don't worry. These two young Friendsville residents, Rileigh Lowdermilk, front, and Laura Boyer are just enjoying an evening of tubing at the Bear Claw Snow Tubing Park. The weather was perfect for tubing during the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad's recent Family Fun Night. The event featured half-price snow tubing for children of all ages. "There was a total of 206 tubers who braved the weather and participated in the fun," said a squad spokesperson. "Free hot chocolate and hot dogs were served to everyone present. The evening was a huge success thanks to the help of the tubing park employees and the Wisp." Approximately 300 people attended the event. Photo courtesy of Lucretia Sines.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Army Pvt. Mark T. Thomas has arrived in Iraq as part of a troop rotation or augmentation in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. U.S. soldiers from various active Army, National Guard, and Reserve units serve with their own unit detachments or other units assigned at Camp Liberty, Camp Taji, or other forward operating bases in the Iraqi theater of operations.

Members from all branches of the U.S. military and multinational forces are also assisting in rebuilding Iraq's economic and governmental infrastructure, and training and preparing Iraqi military and security forces to assume full authority and responsibility in defending and preserving Iraq's sovereignty and independence as a democracy.

Private Thomas is an all-wheeled vehicle mechanic normally assigned to the 512th Maintenance Company, Mannheim, Germany.

He is the son of Jack L. and Tammy R. Thomas of Humberson Road, Friendsville. He is a 2005 graduate of Northern Garrett High School.

U.S. Air Force Airman Jeremiah R. King has graduated from the Aerospace Propulsion Apprentice (turboprop/shaft) Course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

He is a 2006 graduate of Southern High School and the son of Brenda L. King, Swanton, and the late Reid King.

The course is designed to train students in the removal, disassembly, inspection, and repair of aircraft turboprop and turboshaft engines with hydraulically operated propellers, controls, and accessories.

King also received instruction in operating principles, engine change, adjustments and conditioning of turboprop and turboshaft engine systems, including electrical and ground safety practices and equipment fundamentals, and use of technical publications and proper documentation of maintenance forms.

King will be assigned to the 377th Mission Support Squadron, Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque, N.M.

U.S. Air Force Airman Jasmine R. Scheffel has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

She is the daughter of George and Anita Scheffel, Oakland, and is a 2005 graduate of Southern High School.

During the six weeks of training, the airmen studied the Air Force mission, organization, and military customs and courtesies; performed drill and ceremony marches; and received physical training, rifle marksmanship, field training exercises, and special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

AURORA/EGLON

HARSH BIRTH

Mark and Jenny Harsh of Oakland announce the birth of their first child on Feb. 4, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The little girl weighed 5 pounds, 12.7 ounces at birth. Her chosen name is Abbi Lynn.

Maternal grandparents are Darlene and Jerry Reams of Oakland. Paternal grandparents are Robert and Bonnie Harsh of Eglon.

BOLYARD BIRTH

Jameson Scott Bolyard was born Feb. 8, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital to Jeremy Bolyard and Kathryn Reall of Gorman. The little boy weighed 8 pounds, 7 ounces at birth.

His maternal grandparents are Sue Reall of Gormania and the late "Butch" Reall. The paternal grandparents are Dayton and Betty Bolyard of Eglon. Virginia Bolyard of Eglon is a paternal great-grandmother.

LENTEN SERVICES

Union District begins the celebration of Lent with Ash Wednesday, Feb. 21, services at St. John's Lutheran Church, Red House. Services begin at 7:30 p.m. and the host church provides special music. Everyone is invited.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY

A surprise celebration of her 70th birthday is planned for Carolyn Wiles of Brookside on March 4 from 2 until 4 p.m. at the Aurora fire hall. The family invites all friends and relatives to come help her celebrate.

STRUCTURE FIRES

On Tuesday, Feb. 6, fire in the basement burned through the bathroom floor and damaged joists in the basement of the home of Mary Kawalkoski at Aurora. There was reportedly other damage, mainly from smoke and water, to the upstairs, and in the basement.

On Tuesday night, another fire damaged a machine shed and its equipment at the Ron Wotring farm near Aurora. The damage was confined to this building. Destroyed in the blaze were two tractors, a round baler, and other equipment including a 4-wheeler.

VALENTINE CELEBRATION

A Sunday carry-in dinner at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren was in observance of Valentine's Day. It included games and a photo session.

HUBBARD BIRTH

Born Jan. 26 to Rick and Melody Hubbard of Canal Fulton, Ohio, was a 7-pound, 3-ounce girl who has been named Abigail Mae.

Maternal grandparents are Erwin and Mary Stemple of Stemple Ridge, and a maternal great-grandmother is Arlene Stemple, also Stemple Ridge.

Abigail is the couple's first child.

SUESKI BIRTH

Their first child was born Feb. 7 at Monongalia General Hospital to Malinda and Jesse Sueski of Hambleton. The baby weighed 6.6 lbs. at birth and has been named Jayden Eugene.

Maternal grandparents are Harold "Jim" and Sue Mayne of Aurora. A great-grandmother is Virginia Martin, also of Aurora.

CEOS TO MEET

The Aurora CEOS will meet Tuesday, Feb. 20, at 11:30 a.m. at Melanie's Restaurant. Members are asked to wear something red in observance of Heart Health Month.

OTHER MENTION

Area residents traveled to Morgantown on Saturday for the WVU-UCLA game. This was also 4-H Saturday, with many members and families in attendance.

Making a business trip to Charleston on Feb. 12 were John and Steve Parsons of Aurora.

The Family of

would like to express our thanks for all the food, donations, visits and prayers at our time of loss.

A special thank-you to all relatives, friends, and family, Dennett Road Elementary School, Southern Middle School, Railey Realty, Swanton Community Center and Burdock-Durst Funeral Home.

A very special than- you to all of Andrew's little friends.

Christine Tizon And Brian Carlson Are Married In August Ceremony

Christine Alma Tizon and Brian Paul Carlson were united in marriage on August 26, 2006. The double-ring outdoor ceremony took place at the Belmont Country Club in Ashburn, Va.

The ceremony — which included traditional Philippine candle, veil, and cord ceremonies — was officiated by Rev. John W. Hoffmann. Music for the ceremony was provided by a harpist.

The bride is the daughter of Reynaldo and Edna Tizon of Sterling, Va. The groom is the son of William and Sandra Carlson of Oakland.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a strapless gown of ivory and champagne silk satin.

The maid of honor was Maria Roncal, cousin of the bride. Serving as bridesmaids were Crystaline Tizon, sister of the bride; Natalie Carlson, sister of the groom; Karina Roncal, cousin of the bride; and Isabelle Leveugle and Lauren Zelakiewicz, friends of the bride.

The best man was David Gurzick, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Christian Tizon, brother of the bride; and Scott Blythe, Aaron Chorpenning, Devin Pratt, and Jorma Tuomisto, friends of the groom.

After the ceremony, a cocktail hour was held in the historic manor house, followed by dinner and dancing in the ballroom. The groom wore a pina barong tagalog (the traditional men's formal wear of the Philippines) for the reception.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the parents of the groom at McCormick & Schmick's Seafood Restaurant, Reston, Va.

Out-of-town guests attended from California, Colorado, Florida, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, and Toronto.

The couple honeymooned in Thailand and the Philippines. They now reside in Herndon, Va.

The bride is a graduate of Marshall High School in Falls Church, Va. She graduated from Randolph Macon College, Ashland, Va., with a degree in arts management and minors in art history and accounting. She is employed by America On Line, Sterling, as a senior financial analyst.

The groom is a graduate of Southern High School, Oakland. He graduated from Frostburg State University with degrees in computer science and accounting and minors in Spanish and business administration. He earned a master's degree in information systems from George Mason University, Fairfax, Va. He is employed by LaFarge, Herndon, as the senior applications architect.

St. Peter's Church Schedules Lenten "Big Fish" Dinners

St. Peter the Apostle Catholic Church has slated its annual Lenten "big fish" dinners for each Friday during Lent except Good Friday. Dinners will be served Feb. 23 through March 30 from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. in the parish hall located at 208 S. Fourth S., Oakland.

The menu will include an eight-ounce haddock fillet with cheese on a deluxe roll, french fries, cole slaw, stewed tomatoes, homemade dessert, and drink.

The cost is $7 for adults and $4.50 for children under 12 years. Carryouts will be available.

For more information, persons may call the church office at 301-334-2202.

Free Soup Dinner Set To Raise Funds For Mission Trip

A free soup dinner is to be held at the Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department on Tuesday, Feb. 20, from 5 to 7 p.m. A variety of soups will be prepared by the Bittinger Lutheran Parish youth.

The dinner is being held in conjunction with a fundraising project. Bittinger Lutheran Parish youth will be taking donations for a variety of "Gifts in a Jar."

The money raised will go toward a mission trip that the youth group plans to take in July to help aid the Hurricane Katrina relief effort. Marvin Beckman will be speaking about his recent trip to the hurricane stricken area.

Entries Being Sought For '07 MEDA Awards

The Maryland Economic Development Association (MEDA) is seeking submissions for the 2007 MEDA Awards, which will recognize the outstanding achievements of the association's members in 2006.

"This exciting awards program will bring well-deserved recognition to economic development organizations and leaders throughout the state of Maryland," said MEDA president John Savich.

The awards will be given in the following areas:

- Economic development project or program
- Economic development redevelopment project or program
- Economic development overall marketing campaign
- Life member
- Hall of fame
- Volunteer of the year

The law firm Miles & Stockbridge P.C. has signed on as the presenting sponsor for the 2007 MEDA Awards.

"MEDA's partnership with Miles and Stockbridge will enable us to better recognize the exceptional economic development projects that are created every year throughout the state," explained Linda Vassallo, CEcD, chair of the MEDA Awards Committee.

Deadline for submissions is March 16. Judging for the awards will be conducted by economic development professionals who will follow specific criteria in each area. The award winners will be announced at MEDA's 2007 annual conference at Rocky Gap Lodge and Golf Resort in Allegany County in June.

For more information about the awards, including eligibility requirements and submission guidelines, persons can visit the MEDA web site at medamd.com and click on "Awards."

MEDA's goal is to enhance the knowledge and skills of its 460 members and encourage partnerships and networking among those committed to bringing jobs and investment to Maryland.

Since 1961, MEDA has operated as a nonprofit organization of economic development professionals, whose members promote the economic well-being of Maryland and work to improve the state's business climate, according to a spokesperson for the association.

NEW CHURCH OFFICERS ELECTED AND INSTALLED – New officers were installed on Sunday, Feb. 4, at Trinity United Church of Christ, New Germany, by Penn West Conference Rev. Alan McLarty. Ed Shunk and Cindy Fisher were installed as elders, and Carol Humberson, Juanita Beachy, and Kathy Shaffer were installed as deacons. Those who were reaffirmed in their positions on the church's consistory include Rita Hummel Crowe, president, and Mary Alice Broadwater, Pete Kamp, John Livengood, and Jim McKenzie. Pictured above, front row, from left, are Fisher, Beachy, Livengood, and Shaffer. In the back row are Humberson, McKenzie, Rev. McLarty, Broadwater, Hummel-Crowe, and Shunk. Pete Kamp was unavailable for the photo. The ordination and installation followed Trinity's regular Sunday services, which are currently held at 11 a.m. at the Twin Churches in New Germany. Beginning on March 4, services will be moved to 9:30 a.m.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

A free soup dinner is to be held at the Bittinger fire hall on Tuesday, Feb. 20, from 5 to 7 p.m. Come out on this Shrove Tuesday to enjoy a variety of delicious soups prepared by the Bittinger Lutheran Parish youth. The dinner is being held in conjunction with a fundraising project, in which the Bittinger Lutheran Parish youth will be taking donations for a variety of "Gifts in a Jar." The money raised will go toward a mission trip that the youth group plans to take in July to help aid the Hurricane Katrina relief effort. Marvin Beckman will be speaking about his recent trip to the hurricane stricken area at 6:30.

I sometimes get angry at our previous generations who ripped holes in the ground to dig coal. I saw some pretty big strips when I used to go for horse rides on "Little Joe." I imagine our future generation will have to cope with the damage that we caused their home (Earth). So serious is the damage that it may make life questionable for our great-great-grandchildren, or maybe our grandchildren will suffer from global warming and declining water supply. They will consider us very selfish.

I even worry that our unwise lifestyles may affect my own daughters' lives. Even more scary is the re-emerging of nuclear war threats.

The five children of my parents, Bob and Ruth Glotfelty, produced 10 children. That is to qualify as zero population growth, which is only due to my two younger brothers who are childless. Then we have thousands of children worldwide who die every year from hunger and war. I don't think the saying "the survival of the fittest" is altogether true, but the only reason our children are just lucky to have been born in America. Even the poorest children of the ghetto in our big cities have a much better chance to have enough food than a child in Africa or Asia, where every drop of water is precious. My brother Scott found this so true when he was in Africa, and this is one of the main reasons we had a well built there in his memory.

Here in America, even in Bittinger, we allow primary farmland to be used for housing developments. When will we ever learn!? One thing, our farm here in Bittinger will never be developed, as my mother and father saw the need to have it put in the Land Preservation program that never allows the land to be developed. Many of our connecting farms are also in this program.

I don't know whether our light snowfall this winter is due to global warning or not, but in the West people are very concerned that they didn't get enough snow in the mountains to provide enough water for California. Even here in Garrett County our precipitation eventually flows to the Metro area. What if many urban dwellers try to migrate to here to get water? We are not immune to the larger environmental problems. The question of the effect of wind turbines on our mountains would harm the scenery and migrating habit of birds is frivolous compared to the need to reduce our use of fossil fuels.

I saw a delightful piece of summer in deep freeze in a clump of deep red autumn joy blossoms peeking out from a snowdrift.

A couple of days of temperatures above zero took the crunch out of our snow. It changed the skiing to perfect conditions. I am glad. Today (Tuesday) being a snow day for the school kids found Darryl and Elliot Glotfelty and Scotty Bass volunteering their time at the Wisp, helping the blind skiers who are here to enjoy a day of skiing. With the snow and wind this morning it was a good day until the snow turned to sleet. I understand we are in for more snow tonight, so tomorrow will probably will be another snow day for the kids. All reports are that this is a major snowstorm. I hope it will be our last big one for this winter.

Marci Glotfelty's father, George Farmer of Baltimore, died Friday. "Pop," as his grandchildren Robbie, Blakely, Elliot and Darryl knew him, made the trip from Baltimore to Bittinger many times so he could share in the lives of Marci and her children. A memorial service will be held in Bel Air this Friday. He was not just a holiday grandfather.

It is horribly sad that my daughters and their cousins did not have a chance to know their Glotfelty grandfather, my father Robert. No man loved children more than he did. He was also a great father to older children, even when we were young adults.

I remember one scene that says everything about my dad. He had to drive a tractor during a bad snow storm to Brenneman's Store, and even though he was not a big fan of dogs as pets, our beagle followed him down the road. He picked "Sport" up and let him ride with him on the tractor back home.

That winter was a real Bittinger winter. Our roads were closed and only tractors could drive on them. Then it was not just a handful of drifts, but the snow cover was solid. The big drift between our house and our barn used to get 10 feet high. We could dig a snow cave big enough that we could stand upright. That drift was so solid and firmly packed from the wind, we could walk across it. It was just like climbing up a big hill.

This snow that we are having is just perfect for skiing, and it is also perfect for our favorite winter activity, tobogganing

On Sunday morning I made the journey to go to church, but I found my car locked and my key wouldn't open it. My daughter tried to no avail. I had an extra key in the ignition, but if you couldn't get inside it was no good. However, I did have another set of keys and finally got my car opened. It was too late for church by then and I suffered big time from the wind chill temperature.

Although the snow on my deck and ramp was too slippery for walking, it was perfect for cross-country skiing. I called cousin Courtney for him to get out his skis, but he told me that I ruined cross-country skiing for him when he got his first set of skis and I took him out in a howling blizzard. He still remembers that. But you can cross-country ski in pretty cold weather without being too cold, as long as you cover all your bare skin and the exercise keeps your body warm.

It is upon us, but it is the least favorite holiday for me (Valentine's Day). No other holiday makes one sadder than when you are not involved in it. I don't have a Valentine and no one will get me candy or roses. In 1996 Claire came home after school carrying a dozen red roses and I thought she was carrying them in to me from their father. What a shock it was that my fifth grader got the roses and I did not. But I still have in memory a Valentine Day's gift of two dozen pink roses during my college days. It is funny that I can't remember what vessel I put them in. A large vase is not something commonly found in a dorm.

Since my computer was blown up by a lightning bolt, I can't even do the last resort to find a lover. They promise to create a personable profile. I can do that for myself. What I want is a man with brains, well-educated, good looking, and compassionate. Ha, Ha. If you can't tell this paragraph was intended to be humorous than you probably lack one essential trait, which is a sense of humor. Obviously, I may have too high standards for a semi-disabled, middle-aged woman. But I always aim high and see where the arrow will fall.

I heard a newscaster state that it is almost time to file your taxes and almost time to plant your garden.

Hello in Heaven to you!
Your family loves and misses you so much!

"Who you'd be today"

Sunny days seem to hurt the most
I wear the pain like a heavy coat
I feel you everywhere I go
See your smile, I see your face
I hear you laughing in the rain
Still can't believe you're gone

It's not fair you died too young
Like a story that had just begun
God knows how I miss you
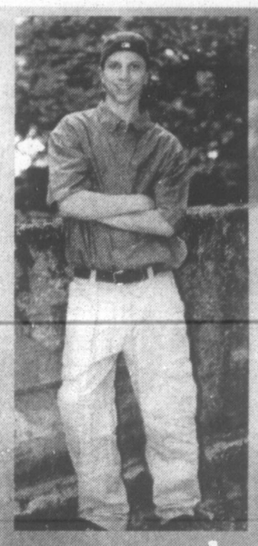
All the pain that I've been through just knowing, no one could take your place
Sometimes I wonder who you'd be today

Would you see the world?
Would you chase your dreams?
Settle down with a family?
I wonder what you would name your babies
Sunny days seem to hurt the most
I wear the pain like a heavy coat
The only thing that gives me hope
Is I know, I'll see you again someday.



Miss and Love you very much. Happy 25th Birthday

Maryland Farmers Ruminate About Requiring Identification Of Animals

by Hallie C. Falquet
Capital News Service

HAVRE DE GRACE – The calf barely flinched as Bob Tibbs clipped a bright, yellow tag through the newborn's ear.

The beef cattle farmer and National Charolais Association president has tagged and tracked his animals for 30 years, using his own system as well as the association's, but that may soon change as the United States Department of Agriculture attempts to bring all farmers in line with the National Animal Identification System.

"It's critical to create the map so if there is some sort of disease outbreak, we can locate the animals in an area," said Marilyn Bassford, coordinator for the NAIS for the state of Maryland.

While she said that "the registering of premises is vital," the NAIS will remain voluntary.

The program has two steps: first, to register the premises (any plot where agricultural animals are raised, held, or boarded), and second, to register all individual animals that leave the premises. The registration numbers are then entered into a database to create a national tracking system of all agricultural animals, including livestock, swine, poultry, and horses.

In the event of a disease outbreak, such as the equine herpes virus in Laurel last year, the infected animal could be traced to its origin much faster than today.

"I think that from the standpoint of maintaining the integrity of the food supply it's important to know where all the livestock are being produced," said NAIS registered beef cattle farmer Scott Barao, executive director of the Maryland Cattlemen's Association.

Maryland is concentrating on premise registration only and has 1,300, or 16 percent, of premises registered, ranking the state 23rd nationally.

There is no timeline in place to begin the implementation of individual animal registration.

Although once a premise is registered, Bassford said, animals can be tagged through NAIS if desired, but she recommends holding off until that part of the program is completely set to go.

Tibbs has not registered his farm for just that very reason. Even though the cost of registering the premise is free, he doesn't want to have any part of it until he's sure the system won't change.

"You have to spend all the money on this thing, and what happens if five years from now they say we're going to tag in the left ear and not the right ear?" he said. "Then I have to go back through and redo it all."

Sue DuPont, spokeswoman for the Maryland Department of Agriculture, recognizes that the initial changes in the program led to the uncertainty of farmers like Tibbs, but, she said, the changes have all been made and the position of the federal government is now "pretty solid."

The cost factor comes in once the farmer moves to the step of registering individual animals. At that point, it depends on the type of industry the farmer is in as to what the total investment will be.

In addition to the cost of a tag, which can run from $2 for cattle up to $15 for horses, there is also the cost of the scanning equipment and the time spent inserting and scanning all the tags.

While cows and horses can be tagged individually, a dispute over the tagging of poultry has ruffled the feathers of farmers like David Smith of Springfield Farms in Sparks.

"I think it's absolutely ridiculous," Smith said. "If I had a thousand chickens and I had to have a chip in each and every one of them, it would require me to invest tens of thousands of dollars in equipment. That's not right for a small farm."

In a year, Smith has approximately 7,000 chickens and 1,000 turkeys. Maryland poultry and related products ranked 16th among states in a 2005 report from the United States Department of Agriculture, for a total of $58.1 billion.

The livestock and poultry industries are not the only agricultural operations hesitant to join the NAIS.

Cheryl Edelen of At Last Farm LLC in Aquasco has not registered her horse facility yet, but does have a similar tracking device in her year-old Labrador retriever, Pearl.

She does not use a radio frequency chip in her horses, either, saying more testing needs to be done on smaller animals like Pearl before moving to the bigger ones.

Perhaps an even greater hurdle for advocates is the refusal to give up private information.

"Just simply on the surface it may look to people like another government intrusion in their business, DuPont said, "but once you dig past the surface, the true purpose is protecting animal health and protecting business."

All private business and individual information required for the registration is protected from dissemination under federal law, said Ben Kaczmarski, spokesman for the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service based in Riverdale.

Beef cattle farmer Ned Sayre didn't have a problem registering his farm with the NAIS because the information needed was identical to information he provided to a farm bill and cost share program. But he does have some colleagues in the feed lot business who are averse to the program for fear of giving up their privacy.

It's important for them to maintain "the security of that information in the event there was an outbreak and it went into the public record," Sayre said.

Bassford knows she faces a tough crowd as she strives to register all of Maryland's agricultural premises, but said the benefits of the program will overcome the opposition.

"When asked how to eat an elephant," she says, "well, one bite at a time."

2007 Grazing Conference Set In Morgantown

The largest and most comprehensive grazing conference to be held in this part of the country this year will be held at Lakeview Resort in Morgantown, W.Va., on March 9 and 10.

"The organizers of this event have pulled together a fantastic set of speakers for the 2007 Appalachian Grazing Conference," said Willie Lantz, Garrett County Extension educator.

The program will feature such topics as forage quality, stocking rates, and watering systems, among others. The conference will cover all species of animals, with specific topics planned for beef cattle, dairy cattle, sheep, goats, and horses.

Speakers will be from all backgrounds, including local producers, Extension specialists, private companies, and well-known regional producers. There will also be a trade show with over 25 vendors.

One of the main speakers will be Kit Pharo, who is a Colorado cow/calf producer. Pharo's goal is to increase profits while improving the land and his family's lifestyle.

"He has some very unique and innovative management ideas and philosophies that differ substantially from traditional ways of thinking," Lantz said.

Another featured speaker will be Troy Bishopp. His family operates a 500-acre grass-finished beef, stocker calf, and dairy heifer operation near Deansboro, N.Y. The family also raises egg layers and a flock of registered Alpine goats. Bishopp is passionate about the virtues of pasture-based agriculture, family farms, and locally grown food.

Gregory (Dale) Neufeld of Meadowbrook Farm in Towanda, Pa., is a dairy farmer with knowledge about managed grazing and pasture management, the use of different composts on grazing land, and seasonal dairying to reduce labor and production costs. Neufeld has also explored solar watering systems and pastured poultry. He has met with grazers and dairy farmers in Pennsylvania and New York, and has presented at several regional conferences.

The presentations of both Bishopp and Neufeld are being sponsored by Northeast Sustainable Agriculture Research and Education (SARE), which is a branch of USDA.

Complete conference and registration information is available online at www.wvca.us, or persons may contact the Extension office at 301-334-6960. The cost for the two-day conference is $75 for those who are registered by March 1. The registration fee covers meals, breaks, and conference materials. Anyone wishing to stay over at Lakeview Resort may make reservations by calling 800-624-8300.

According to Lantz, a few scholarships are available that will help with the cost of the conference. The Garrett-Preston Rural Development Coalition has six $50 scholarships that will be applied directly to the registration cost. Interested persons should contact Lantz or Cheryl DeBerry at the Garrett County Extension Office for more information.

Crop Insurance Deadline Noted

Maryland farmers are reminded that the final date to apply for crop insurance on most insurable spring-planted crops for this year is March 15, according to the Raleigh Regional Office, USDA Risk Management Agency.

Current policyholders likewise have until March 15 to make any changes to their existing contracts. Crop insurance provides protection against losses due to natural perils like drought, hail, wind, and excessive moisture.

The March 15 sales closing date applies to corn, forage seeding, fresh market sweet corn, fresh market tomatoes, grain sorghum, oats, processing beans, processing sweet corn, processing tomatoes, soybeans, and tobacco.

The deadline is the same for Adjusted Gross Revenue-Lite, a whole-farm plan that offers revenue protection based on the average farm income for the past five years.

Farmers may also want to inquire about revenue plans such as Crop Revenue Coverage and Indexed Income Protection that offer protection against market price declines for crops like corn, grain, sorghum, and soybeans.

In addition, low-cost group plans such as the Group Risk Plan and Group Risk Income Protection are also available in many counties for corn, forage production, and soybeans.

Producers are strongly urged to contact a local crop insurance agent as soon as possible for premium quotes and more details.

For a list of crop insurance agents in each area, persons may contact their local USDA Farm Service Agency office or log on to the Risk Management Agency web site at www3.rma.usda.gov/tools/agents/.

A LESSON IN EDUCATION!

If you're a parent, or plan to have children, then you already understand the advantages of a good school system. Any real estate agent will also tell you that a home in a good school district is a gem when it comes to resale value.

As you scope out locations for your next move, there are some basic barometers for judging the quality of education near your home. Begin by checking out test scores. There are standard tests for grade school, as well as the ACTs and SATs in high schools. All you have to do is ask for the results.

Closely tied to test scores is school attendance. High attendance ratings indicate good teachers as well as supportive parents. Also look into the student-teacher ratio, usually the lower the better. You might also inquire about the average number of years those teachers have been in the classroom.

Another huge aspect of education, especially in high schools, is athletic performance. Your athletically inclined student may be eyeing sports scholarship opportunities, so those schools with very strong programs may be more appealing.

Educating yourself about local schools before you make your move can pay off handsome dividends, not only for your children but also for the appreciation in the home you choose. Resale value increases in tandem with the quality of area schools, so do your homework!

GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS IN GRANTSVILLE – The health and growth of small business was the topic of a recent seminar in Grantsville led by Casey Willson of the Maryland Small Business Development Center (MDSBDC). Members of the Greater Grantsville Business Association took the opportunity to attend the free session and learn about options available to them through the MDSBDC, which is based at the University of Maryland. Willson, the retail industry manager for the statewide network, offers his services to interested business owners, also meeting one-on-one to explore growth options. To learn more about the GGBA, persons may visit grantsvillemd.com. Information on the SBDC is available at mdsbdc.umd.edu.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
6098 Maryland Hwy.
Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated June 10, 2005, and recorded in Liber 1132, Folio 412 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $116,000.00 and an original interest rate of 7.875% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

FEBRUARY 27, 2007, AT 3:00 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $12,000 in the form of cash or readily available funds acceptable to the Trustees required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Town of Friendsville will conduct a Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on Community Development and Housing Needs, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application for Kendall Trail/River Waterway Improvements which the Town of Friendsville proposes to submit to the State on or before the February 28, 2007 deadline for same. The hearing will be held at the Friendsville Town Hall at 6:30 p.m. on February 20, 2007.

Citizens will be furnished with information including but not limited to:

• The amount of CDBG funds expected to be made available for the current fiscal year;

• The range of activities that may be undertaken with CDBG funds;

• The estimated amount of the CDBG funds proposed to be used for activities that will meet the national objective of benefit to low and moderate income persons and meet the national objective of benefit to low and moderate income persons, and;

• Proposed CDBG activities likely to result in displacement and the unit of general local government's anti-displacement and relocation plans required under 24 CFR 42.325.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's CDBG Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

1. Give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income of equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;

2. Aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;

3. Meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

The State of Maryland's allocation of federal funds for the fiscal year 2007 is estimated to be $30,750.00.

Efforts will be made to accommodate the disabled and non-English speaking residents with days' advance notice to Karen S. Benedict, Clerk, 301-746-5919.

Friday, February 16, 2007
At the hour of 11:00 a.m.

in the Rotunda of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, in the Town of Oakland, Maryland, offer for sale, and sell at public auction to the highest bidder, all that lot or parcel of real estate and the improvements thereon, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 5, Garrett County, Maryland, which is more particularly described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000.00) by cash or certified funds is required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within ten days of final ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County. Interest to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the note rate from the date of sale to the date funds are received in the office of the Trustee. In the event settlement is delayed for any reason, there shall be not abatement of interest. Real estate taxes to be adjusted as of the date of sale. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. Cost of all documentary stamps, transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be borne by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale forward. Purchaser agrees to pay the Sellers' attorneys at settlement, a fee of $295.00 for review of the settlement documents, and an additional fee of $295.00 for review of any motion which may be subsequently filed with the Court to substitute a purchaser herein.

If the purchaser shall fail to comply with the terms of the sale or fails to go to settlement within ten days of ratification of the sale, the Trustee may, in addition to any other available legal remedies, declare the entire deposit forfeited and resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. In such event, the defaulting purchaser shall be liable for the payment of any deficiency in the purchase price, all costs and expenses of resale, reasonable attorney's fees, and all other charges due and incidental and consequential damages. The purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property. If the Trustee cannot convey insurable title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be the return of the deposit. The sale is subject to post-sale confirmation and audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of his deposit without interest.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Artlcle 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Northern Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full Resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

RESOLUTION NO.: R2007-02 (ANNEXATION NO. 01 - NORTHERN ANNEXATION AREA)

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Northern Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Highland Engineering & Surveying, Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Northern Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 7 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying north of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning for the same at a calculated point on a line of the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland and on the western limits of the US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits of US Route 219 North 32°00'47" East 1981.65 feet to a point, 588.57 feet along a curve to the left, said curve having a radius of 5699.58 feet and a long chord of North 29°03'17" East 588.31 feet to a point, North 26°05'47" East 1172.93 feet to a ½" capped rebar, set, hereinafter referred to as an IPS, thence four courses through lands of Glotfelty Farm Partnership (Liber 639, page 597) North 64° 23'52" West 492.43 feet to an IPS, North 25°36'08" East 225.00 feet to an IPS, North 64°23'52" West 505.70 feet to an IPS North 25°36'08" East 617.49 feet to an IPS on a line of lands of MD State of Game and Inland Fish Commission (Liber 197, page 436), thence with said lands North 56°23'26" East 543.07 feet to a 5/8" rebar found, hereinafter referred to as an IPF, thence two courses with lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 711, page 470) South 51°46'11" East 362.86 feet to an IPF, North 24°51'19" East 204.45 feet to an IPF, thence with other lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 555, page 371 and Liber 590, page 714) South 63°13'37" East, passing through an IPS on the western limits of said US Route 219 at 381.11, crossing said US Route 219 in all 441.11 feet to a point on the eastern limits of said US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits South 26°05'47" West 2598.62 feet to a point, 594.76 feet along a curve to the right, said curve having a radius of 5759.58 feet and a long chord South 29°03'17" West 594.50 feet to a point, South 32° 00'47" West 1885.84 feet to a point, thence with the aforementioned Corporate Limits. North 63°30'35" West 60.28 feet to the beginning, containing 33.795 acres, more or less, as shown on a Plat of Northern Annexation Surveyed for the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland dated December 2006 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Plat Case DKM 2.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONING

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 5th day of February 2007.

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 5th day of February 2007.

ROBERT E. WATSON
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, which shall include a public hearing on the zoning of the property, on the 19th day of March 2007, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Bernard Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

RESOLUTION NO.: R2007-03 (ANNEXATION NO. 02 - BERNARD ANNEXATION AREA)

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Bernard Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Mountain View Engineering & Surveying Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Bernard Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying northwest of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a six-inch diameter concrete monument with a bronze disc stamped "TOWN OF OAKLAND, TOWN CORNER," found at the end of the twenty second line of the description of ROUTE 219 NORTH ANNEXATION (RESOULTION NO.: R99-02, AS CORRECTED IN RESOLUTION R99-09), filed and recorded June 17, 1999, by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, in the northwesterly right-of-way limits of US Route 219 at the southeasterly corner of an easement for Parcel 82 granted in Liber 774 at folio 587; thence, two courses with said limits of US Route 219, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, South 50°08'22" West, 83.34 feet to a PK Nail (set) in payment; thence, South 48° 39'43" West, 555.11 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser (Liber 513 at folio 425); thence, with the northeasterly lines of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser and Thomas D. & Nancy F. Kight (Liber 282 at folio 155), North 53°11'20" West, 190.23 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set); thence, North 21° 47'04" East, 325.39 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC (Liber 1087 at folio 414 and Liber 1040 at folio 279); thence, with the southeasterly lines of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, North 48° 49'52" East, 151.18 feet to a ½ inch rebar (found); thence, South 40°55'57" East, 85.77 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 44°44'14 East, 112.00 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 54°23'37" East, 81.51 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence South 51°20'00" East, 252.57 feet to the beginning, containing 4.03 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
FRIENDSVILLE, MD 21531

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Walter Augustine and Katrina Glotfelty, dated February 6, 2004, and recorded in Liber 1026, folio 309 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on March 5, 2007, at 10:00 a.m.

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $8,000 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within 10 days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE. If purchaser fails to settle within the aforesaid ten (10) days of the ratification, the purchaser agrees to pay the Sub. Trustees' attorney fees of $750.00, plus all costs incurred, if the Sub. Trustees have filed the appropriate motion with the Court to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed with the Court in connection with such motion and any Show Cause Order issued by the Court and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper or Order by certified mail and regular mail sent to the address provided by the purchaser and as recorded on the documents executed by the purchaser at the time of the sale. Service shall be deemed effective upon the purchaser 3 days after postmarked by the United States Post Office. It is expressly agreed by the purchaser that actual receipt of the certified mail is not required for service to be effective. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sales price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid from the forfeited deposit. In the event of resale the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property regardless of any improvements made to the real property. Interest is to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate of 11.75% per annum from the date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event that the settlement is delayed for ANY REASON WHATSOEVER, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and or HOA dues and all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis including sanitary and metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted to the current year and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss from the date of sale forward. The sale is subject to post sale audit by the Noteholder to determine whether the borrower entered into any repayment/forbearance agreement, reinstated or paid off prior to the sale. In any such event the Purchaser agrees that upon notification by the Sub. Trustees of such event the sale is null and void and of no legal effect and the deposit returned without interest. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or good and marketable title, or the sale is not ratified for any reason by the Circuit Court including errors made by the Sub. Trustees, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without any interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 to the Seller's attorney at settlement for review of the settlement documents.

All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues whether incurred prior to or after sale, shall be borne by purchaser. Taxes, if any, to be adjusted to date of sale. Cost of all documentary stamps and transfer taxes and all other costs incident to the settlement shall be borne by the purchaser. If applicable, condominium and/or homeowner association dues and assessments that may become due after the time of sale will be the responsibility of the purchaser. Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 at settlement to the seller's attorney, for review of the settlement documents. If the Substitute Trustees are unable to convey insurable title or a resale is to take place for any reason, the purchaser's sole remedy in law or equity shall be limited to the refund of the aforementioned deposit. Upon refund of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect, and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Substitute Trustees. (File No. 50213-05)

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT

Notice is hereby given that G & S COAL COMPANY, INC. 21557 Maryland Highway, Bloomington, Maryland 21523 has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The operation is to be located near Swanton, Maryland. The proposed operation occupies a 46 acre tract on the east side of Maryland Route 38, 2.0 miles north of Kitzmiller, Election District 13, Garrett County; 582,500 N / 185,000 E. Access to the site is from Pee Wee Road, 1.0 mile east of the intersection with Maryland Route 38.

Surface and mineral of the area to be mined is owned by Luke Paper Company, 300 Pratt Street, Luke, Maryland 21540. The permit area is located within the US Geologic Survey Kitzmiller, MD 7.5 minute quadrangle, the boundaries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the pond will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines) Office, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532 during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan Jr., DUGAN ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section 301-689-6405. A public hearing will not be held on this activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons list regarding this application, will be received until April 1,2007 by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532.

Future notices about this application will be provided by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

SCOUTS

Otterbein U.M. Church honored Boy Scout Troop 57 of Swanton during Sunday's church service. There were four Scouts and three leaders present. A history of Scouting was given by Carl Lee and Lawre Virts. Anyone interested in becoming a Boy Scout is invited to contact Carl Lee or Lawre Virts.

ASH WEDNESDAY

Otterbein United Methodist Church will hold an Ash Wednesday service on Feb. 21 at 7 p.m. All are welcome.

DINNER

The Swanton Community Center will hold a free food and fellowship dinner on Tuesday, Feb. 27, 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. All are welcome.

PERSONALS

Mike and Rhonda Sweitzer are new parents of twin boys, born Saturday at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The boys have been named Michael John and Steven Wade Sweitzer. All are reportedly doing well.

Guests last week of Mary June Harvey, Monday through Thursday, were her granddaughter and baby son, Ellida and Warren Bernard, Warrenton, Va. Mary June's granddaughter and family, Ellisa, Mike, Emily and Mickey Woodbrey, Shepherdstown, W.Va., came Friday and stayed through Sunday. Brian and Sandy Schofield, Bittinger, joined them all for dinner on Sunday.

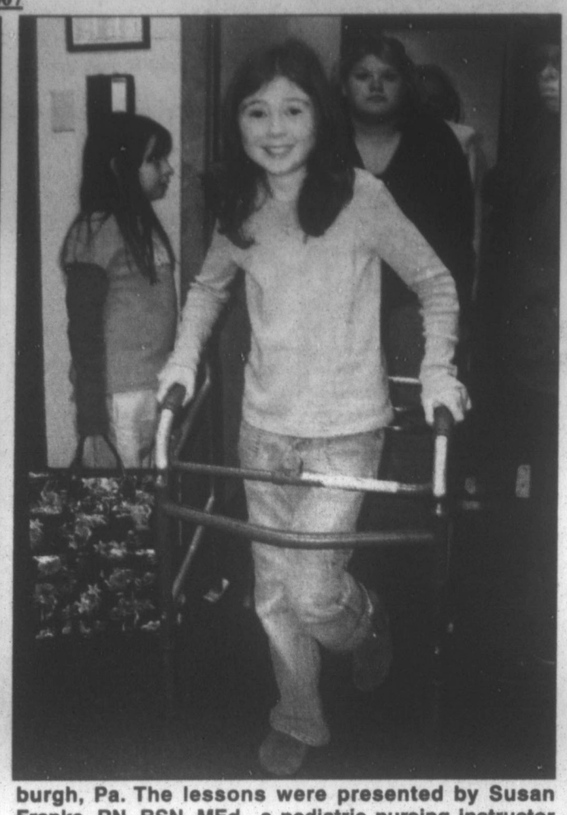
BIRTHDAYS, ANNIVERSARIES

Among those celebrating birthdays this week are Sara Sweitzer, Ray Sweitzer, Hunter Riley, and Andy Anderson.

A wedding anniversary is being observed by David and Mary Lou Wilson.

DEATH

Former Swanton resident Betty Lou Merrill Lazzelle, 82, died Feb. 10 at Mon Pointe Continuing Care Center, Morgantown, W.Va. She was the daughter of the late Newton and Sinclair McCrobie Merrill of Swanton. She is survived by her son, Charles "Chuck" Lazzelle and family of Morgantown. Her funeral was held Monday at Fred L. Jenkins Funeral Home, Morgantown, with Rev. Ernest Frymyer officiating. Burial was at Pleasant Hill Cemetery.



GIRL SCOUTS LEARN ABOUT DISABILITIE – More than 70 girls from various Garrett County Girl Scout troops attended Disabilities Day to learn what it is like to have arthritis, a vision impairment such as glaucoma or cataracts, a hearing impairment, stroke, immobility, a learning disability, asthma, and food allergies. The event was held recently in Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Community Cervices Center. The girls also learned about bully prevention and participated in some self-esteem activities. The Scouts were divided into four groups to receive age-appropriate lessons, and they earned a badge called "What if I Couldn't." While the girls in the various groups waited for their session they made more than 142 cheerful cards that were taken to homeless people in Pittsburgh, Pa. The lessons were presented by Susan Franke, RN, BSN, MEd., a pediatric nursing instructor at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. She has developed programs for children and adults that focus on disability awareness, bully prevention, and boosting self-esteem. She has also developed a pediatric pain model using teddy bears. Her children's programs have received awards from the Pittsburgh Public School System and a commendation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations. For more information, persons may visit Franke's web site at hugsandbears.com. Pictured at left is Jian Travis getting a hug from Franke, who is sporting a bear hat and sweatshirt. Comprehensive Plan Meetings Set At Garrett College

The Garrett County Planning Commission has scheduled two separate public information meetings for Monday, Feb. 26, and Tuesday, Feb. 27, at Garrett College from 7 until 9 p.m. each evening. The purpose is to solicit public comments on the 2008 Garrett County Comprehensive Planning process.

The Monday session will be held in the college auditorium and is intended to be a visioning meeting to provide citizens with the opportunity to express their opinions and views on future growth and development in Garrett County.

"The Planning Commission encourages citizens to express their opinions not only on how they vision Garrett County 25 years in the future, but more importantly what goals, objectives, and policies should be established to realize that vision," said a commission spokesperson.

The Tuesday evening meeting will be held in Room 224 of the college's Continuing Education building. This session will feature a presentation by Environmental Resources Management, the county's planning consultant, on water quality data for the Deep Creek Watershed. A growth analysis and the associated impacts future growth may have on the water quality will also be presented.

The Comprehensive Plan is the primary policy document used by the county to ensure "healthy" future growth and development. The plan is widely used and referred to by multiple state

FAREWELL, YOUR HONOR – Residents of Garrett County, and many others who live well beyond the borders of the county, were shocked upon learning of the sudden death of Fred A. Thayer III, community leader, businessman, and retired judge of Garrett County's Circuit Court. Judge Thayer collapsed Friday afternoon at Deep Creek Lake and was later declared dead at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. In the photo above, pallbearers carry the casket into St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland after it was transported there by Oakland Volunteer Fire Department personnel on the antique fire apparatus known as "Old #1." Thayer was a retired member of the OVFD. An honor guard of Garrett County Sheriff's Office personnel stood at attention, and leading the procession inside the church was the Garrett County Pipes and Drums, an organization of which Thayer was one of the founders and first pipe major. Thayer is survived by his wife Diane, son Frederick IV (Rick), and two grandchildren. Photo by John McEwen.

Crellin School Wins National Award; Students Will Travel To White House

A local elementary school has been named one of only 10 recipients of a national award from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

Crellin Elementary School will receive the Presidential Environmental Youth Award for the region that consists of Maryland, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Delaware, and Washington, D.C.

Crellin's fifth grade students will travel to Washington, D.C., later this spring, where they will accept the award and represent all of the students, parents, community organizations, and local and state agencies who have assisted in the school's winning restorative project development.

In the nation's capital, the students D.C. this spring, where they will

Garrett Co. Law Community Grieves Judge Fred Thayer's Sudden Death

"This is probably the greatest loss the bar association and the legal leadership in this county will have suffered. Ever."

These were the words from the bench of Judge Ralph M. Burnett of the District Court for Garrett County upon the sudden death of Judge Frederick A. Thayer III, who passed away Friday of heart failure. "Very few understand the wisdom and the strength of Judge Thayer," Burnett said.

The sentiment is being echoed throughout the Garrett County Courthouse, as Thayer's peers, nearly all of whom refer to him as a mentor, grieve his sudden death.

"This is a loss not just for Garrett County, but the whole state," said David Martin, clerk of Circuit Court, who worked with the judge for 30 years. "In court, he was stern, no nonsense, and always fair. He treated the court staff with complete respect, and we were, basically, in awe of him. What a great mind.

Parasite Discovered; DNR To Reduce Trout Production At State Hatcheries

Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) Fisheries officials announced today that trout production at two state rearing facilities will be reduced by approximately 20 percent this year, due to the discovery of the parasite known to cause whirling disease at the previously uninfected facilities in Garrett County.

In order to reduce the possibility of the parasites' spread, the 80,000 infected fish at the Bear Creek Rearing Station near Accident were destroyed, and the facilities were sanitized to eradicate the parasite. In addition, the trout will be destroyed in another privately owned hatchery used by the state in southern Garrett County.

Bear Creek raises approximately 150,000 young trout it receives from other hatcheries, but this year Bear Creek employees observed the young 3-month-old trout swimming in odd swirling patterns. The behavior pattern fit the symptoms caused by the whirling disease parasite Myxobolux cerebralis, according to a DNR spokesperson said.

McCLIVE CHOSEN TO PAINT UNIQUE "ROAMING" BUFFALO – Former Garrett Countian Rebecca McClive was one of 25 selected artists to design a scene and paint it on a nearly life-size buffalo, which this summer will "roam" the streets of West Yellowstone, Mont. The project, sponsored by West Yellowstone Economic Development (WYED), is titled "Where the Painted Buffalo Roam." With a launch date of June 2, the 25 cow buffalo will be arranged on the streets of the historic western town, and then will be moved to other locations for the next three years. See story on today's arts page. McClive, shown below as she creates her scene, is a former resident of the Deep Creek Lake area and now lives in West Yellowstone.

Illegal Operation Of Snowmobiles To Be Monitored

Sheriff Gary Berkebile reminds snowmobile enthusiasts that improper operation of snowmobiles often results in tragedy. Except for perpendicular crossing of a road, snowmobile operation on any road is illegal.

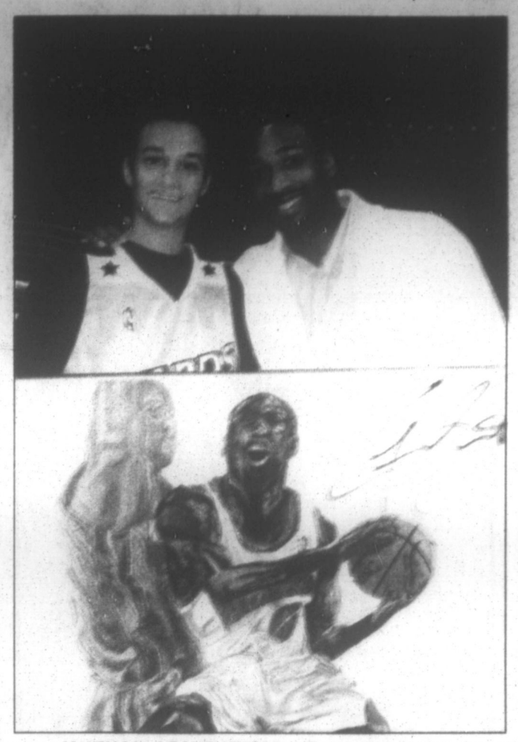
Operation of a snowmobile with a breath alcohol level exceeding the legal limit, on or off the roadway and even on private property, constitutes a driving while under the influence/intoxicated offense.

Operation on the private property of another person without their permission may also constitute trespassing.

The Garrett County Sheriff's Office employs non-traditional enforcement tactics in continuing efforts to apprehend violators and prevent snowmobile tragedy.

"Anytime we get a significant snowfall, especially after a mild period like we had early this winter, the citizen complaints of illegal snowmobile operation increase dramatically," notes the sheriff.

"We understand the enjoyment that is derived from the operation of a snowmobile, and we encourage the lawful enjoyment. Enthusiasts however, are reminded that we will continue to make every effort to apprehend and prosecute those individuals who insist on operating outside the law."



MUTUAL ADMIRATION – A young artist from Garrett County and a young athlete from the Washington Wizards admire one another's talents, and were able to express that to each other at a recent basketball game in Orlando, Fla. David Higdon, a 1999 graduate of Northern High School and a 2005 art graduate of Frostburg State University, is a fan of Wizard Gilbert Arenas, and created the painting of him shown above. He took the canvas to the game with the hope of having it autographed. David and a friend were able to get the attention of Arenas's manager, who was so impressed with the work that he arranged for a meeting between the two. After signing the artwork, Gilbert asked David if he could buy the painting, and David said he would accept Gilbert's jersey as payment. Gilbert agreed, signed the jersey, and the trade was made. David was shown on television during the exchange, and several of his local friends saw the spot. Gilbert then asked David if he would do another painting of him, and so the young artist, who is employed by Disney in Orlando, is now working on the commissioned piece. David is the son of Shirley and David Higdon, Hoyes.

Trooper Injured When Cruiser Struck By Truck

A Maryland state trooper was injured when his police cruiser was struck in the rear by a pickup truck while he was parked along the shoulder of Interstate 68 investigating a traffic accident at 2:53 p.m. Sunday, according to a police spokesperson.

Cpl. Scott Anderson, 41, was taken to Ruby Memorial Hospital, Morgantown, W.Va., following the accident, which occurred at the nine-mile marker in the eastbound lane, where he was sitting in his parked police car with his emergency lights activated while investigating an earlier single-vehicle accident. The driver in the single-vehicle accident, Frank Villareal, 25, Fort Stockton, Texas, was sitting in the cruiser when the car was struck in the rear by the truck that

Esteemed Circuit Court Judge Fred A. Thayer Dies Suddenly Friday

Judge Frederick A. Thayer III, 73, Oakland, died suddenly on Friday, Feb. 16, 2007. Thayer, who served as judge of the Circuit Court of Garrett County for nearly 20 years and was a well-known civic leader, was walking with a group of people in the Thousand Acres area near Sky Valley when he collapsed Friday afternoon. Vigorous attempts at resuscitation were made, and he was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital. There, after further lifesaving attempts failed, he was pronounced dead.

Born April 29, 1933, in Oakland, he was the son of the late Frederick A. Thayer Jr. and Elisabeth Pearce Thayer.

After graduating from Oakland High School in 1951, he attended the College of Wooster, receiving a bachelor of arts in history in 1955. He then attended Duke Law School, graduating in 1958.

Judge Thayer returned to Oakland in 1958 and began his legal practice. He was appointed state's attorney for Garrett County in 1962, serving in that capacity until

IT'LL BE AN 'ICE DAY FOR A DUNK this Saturday, Feb. 24, as one can see by this photo of the law enforcement "ice ranger" volunteers cutting away foot-thick slabs (yes, they really are a foot thick) for the ninth annual Maryland State Police Deep Creek Dunk. The annual, bone-chilling event supports Special Olympics Maryland, which will host the annual winter games at Wisp, Feb. 25 to 27. Organizers report that the dunk and the winter games will involve record-breaking numbers of participants, both dunkers and athletes. For a minimum of $50 in donations, dunkers will take a quick and invigorating dip into Deep Creek Lake behind Uno Restaurant, located at 19841 Garrett Highway. Registration for the event will open at noon, and the dunk will follow at 2 p.m. All proceeds from the event will benefit the 10,000 Special Olympics Maryland athletes who train and compete in 28 different sports throughout the year, all at no cost to themselves or their families. If you're not dunking but wish to see a great spectacle, there is no charge to watch. Dunk supporters who can't be there in person can still watch it live by logging on to www.honi-honi.com and clicking on "webcam." The day of activities will also include music by DJ Jonny Rock, a wacky costume contest, live remote by WKHJ 104.5 FM, and the awarding of prizes for top fundraisers and the top team. Oakland Woman Sentenced For Six Different Violations In District Court

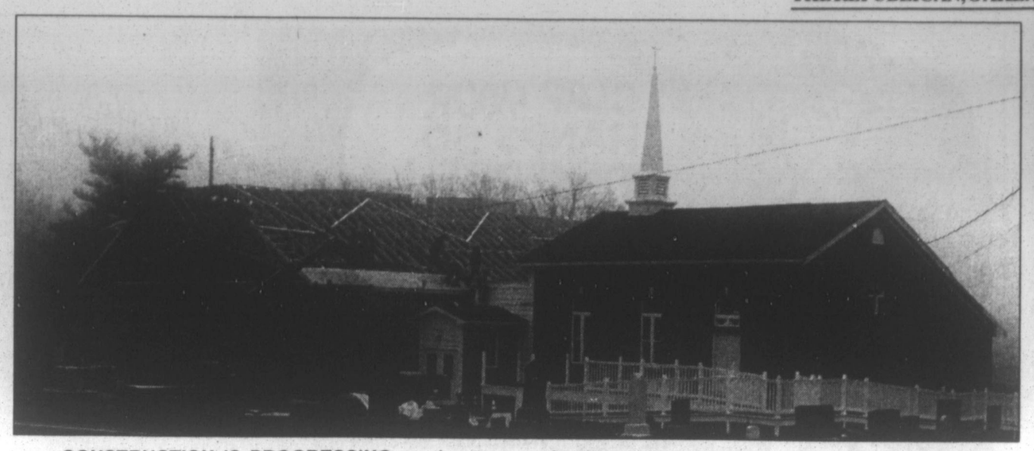
In recent District Court news, Christina Dawn Shafer, 22, Oakland, pleaded guilty to theft of property of less than $100 in value and was handed a 90-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, and two years of supervised probation. Shafer confessed to stealing a set of car keys in December belonging to a 1999 Ford Taurus owned by the Garrett County Health Department that was later reported stolen, according to court documents.

Shafer, also known as Christina Dawn Kisner, appeared before the court in five other separate cases. In the first of those five cases, Kisner pleaded guilty to the theft of property less than $500 in value and was handed a one-year jail term of which six months was suspended. In addition, Kisner was ordered to pay Wal-Mart approximately $152 in restitution after Kisner stole a Sony car stereo from the Oakland store in October.

In the second case, Kisner pleaded guilty to inhaling a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) and was given a 6-month jail sentence, all of which was suspended, and two years of unsupervised probation. According to court records, a police investigation determined that Kisner had been inhaling 3M Dust Remover, a noxious substance containing difluoroethane that causes intoxication, inebriation, excitement, and dulling of the brain and central nervous system.

In the third case, Kisner pleaded guilty to second-degree assault and received a one-year jail term of which six months was suspended, and two years of supervised probation. The assault charge stemmed from an incident at the Oakland Family Dollar Store in which the manager attempted to prevent Kisner from leaving the store after having seen her hide four DVDs in a baby carriage. The manager locked the front door and confronted Kisner, who then pushed the victim against the door and grabbed her face in an attempt to shove her out of the way, according to court records. The police arrived on the scene to discover the four DVDs that Kisner had concealed. The four DVDs were valued at $40. The state's attorney did not prosecute Kisner on the charge of theft of property less than $100 in value.

In the fourth case, Kisner pleaded guilty to the theft of property less than $500 in value and was handed a six-month jail term, all of which was suspended, and two years of supervised probation. According to court records, Kisner entered the dwelling of her stepfather without his permission, and stole $85 in cash and 10 gallons of gas worth $25. The incident occurred in November when the defendant's stepfather was away from his home for an extended period of time.



CONSTRUCTION IS PROGRESSING on the new sanctuary at Mt. Zion United Methodist Church, located along U.S. Route 40 near Finzel. Ground was broken last year, and completion is currently scheduled for mid-summer. One of the biggest proponents of the project has been the church's oldest member, Zeola "Zip" Robeson, who is pictured below with Rev. Dan Agnew, pastor of the church. Born in 1911, Zip served as a teacher in the Grantsville and Route 40 school areas for 41 years, and has remained active in the church and her community. "The inclement weather keeps her away in winter, but she attends every Sunday faithfully otherwise," a church spokesperson said. "The congregation looks forward to seeing her smiling face each Sunday, and she says she can't wait to see what has been accomplished on the church from week to week."

In the fifth case, Kisner was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the possession of marijuana after the police found the residue of marijuana and seeds wrapped in a cellophane bag in Kisner's room.

In other court news, Justin Matthew Tardio, 25, Howell, N.J., pleaded guilty to CDS possession of marijuana and received a probation before judgment (PBJ), a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except for two days, one-year of unsupervised probation, a $200 fine, and 30 hours of community service.

Portier Quatrell Jones, 18, Baltimore, pleaded guilty to second-degree escape and was handed a 90-day jail term, all of which was suspended, and one year of unsupervised probation. Jones and two other young men escaped from Backbone Mtn. Youth Center, Swanton, and were picked by the police up on the shoulder of Maryland Route 135.

The following cases were not prosecuted by the state's attorney:

Richard Eggleston, 34, Oakland, was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of failing to pay regular wages after allegedly firing an employee and withholding the person's paycheck in October.

Barabara Lynn Whitacre, 42, Mtn. Lake Park, was not prosecuted for the charges of writing a bad check for less than $500 and the theft of property of less than $500 in value. The defendant was accused of stealing gas and merchandise from Short Stop in September.

Jermaine Timothy Lawson, 18, Grantsville, was not prosecuted for the charge of second-degree assault, which stemmed from an unprovoked youth-to-youth assault in the Meadow Mtn. Youth Facility in October. Lawson allegedly struck the victim in the face with a closed fist

Two Injured When Driver Fails To Yield To Oncoming Car

A 19-year-old Oakland resident and his passenger were injured when he allegedly turned his vehicle into the path of an oncoming car Friday at 9:30 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

David Thomas Reams, 19, was attempting to turn left from Mayhew Inn Road and pulled into the path of an oncoming vehicle traveling south on Route 219 operated by Michelle Renee Lilja, 41, Sykesville.

Reams and his passenger, Rachel Ann Sweitzer, 17, were taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where they were treated for injuries and released.

Reams was charged with failure to yield to oncoming traffic on left turn.

Dump Truck Hits Car Near Keysers Ridge

An International dump truck with a snow plow crashed into a Dodge Neon as its driver attempted to turn left off Route 40 into a gas station parking lot just east of Route 219 at approximately 3:10 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

John Menges, 43, Grantsville, was traveling east on Route 40 in his 1986 dump truck while following a Dodge Neon driven by Michale Reed, 41, Fairmont, W.Va. When the Dodge slowed down in the roadway, Menges swerved his truck to the left, crossing the double yellow line, and collided with the Neon as Reed attempted to make a left turn into the parking lot of the Citgo gas station, the police said.

Reed was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Northern Rescue Squad and released. Menges was charged with negligent driving.

W.Va. Woman Arrested And Cited For DUI

A Garrett County sheriff's deputy was traveling westbound on Hutton Road Saturday night near the area of Old Crellin Road where he began following a vehicle operated by Samantha Dawn Taylor, 34, of Terra Alta, W.Va.

The deputy observed the driver make several traffic infractions and performed a traffic stop on the vehicle.

Taylor did not perform sobriety tests to the deputy's satisfaction and was placed under arrest. She was charged with failing to drive right of center, driving without current tags, driving under the influence, and driving while intoxicated.

She was transported to the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, where she was cited and later released.

GBI Warns Local Residents Of Phone Scam

The Garrett Bureau of Investigation is warning local residents of a possible phone scam that is targeting families of high school students.

A local resident, who is a parent of a child preparing to take the SAT test, received a phone call from a company indicating that study material for the child's exam was "on the way." The suspect caller continued and advised the resident that in order to "secure the material" he must provide a credit card number.

The Garrett County resident reported to the GBI detective that neither he nor his child had requested any such study material, and after becoming suspicious, called the police.

The GBI is warning all area residents to use extreme caution in providing any person or company any type of bank or credit card information when requested by a caller.

Car Collision On Interstate Injures Three

Three people were injured in a two-car collision while traveling east on I-68 near the Casselman River at approximately 5:35 p.m. Monday, according to the Maryland State Police.

Police investigators said that Chester T. Fiedor, 59, Berlin, Pa., was traveling in his Nissan Titan truck in the right (slow) lane, when he switched lanes and struck a Chevrolet Tracker that was traveling in the left (fast) lane along side the truck. The collision caused both vehicles to cross through the snow-covered median, overturn, and come to rest in the westbound lanes of I-68.

The driver of the 2003 Chevy Tracker, Kristina M. Raye, 28, Keyser, W.Va., and her passenger, Janice Marie Raye, 56, Piedmont, W.Va., along with Fiedor, were transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital, where they were treated for non-life-threatening injuries.

Fiedor was charged with negligent driving.

The Grantsville Fire Department and the Northern Rescue Squad assisted the Maryland State Police at the scene of the accident.

Man Charged With DUI After Crashing Vehicle

Local police officers charged an Oakland man with driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) after he crashed his car through a picket fence and fled the scene of the accident at approximately 2 a.m. Sunday.

The Oakland City Police arrived at East Pennington Street to investigate the crash after being notified that the driver of the car had fled the scene on foot. A description of the driver was obtained, and the police were able to apprehend the man a short time later.

Jeromy Shawn Baker, 30, was charged with DUI, DUI per se, driving while impaired, failure to remain at the scene of an accident, and failure to control vehicle speed to avoid a collision. Baker was released from the Garrett County Detention Center after posting a $5,000 unsecured bond. Deputies from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office assisted the Oakland Police in the investigation and the arrest.

To Our Patients and Friends:

As most of you know, we travel to Honduras once and sometimes twice a year volunteering our time as part of the medical team for CAMO (Central American Medical Outreach). CAMO brings lifesaving medical education, supplies, equipment, and capital improvement projects to impoverished regions of Central America. This year, we will be leaving February 23, 2007 and will be returning March 23, 2007.

We want to thank each person who in any way, shape or form has helped with raising money, donating equipment, medical supplies, candy, toys, backbone for moving and storing of equipment, and especially your time. We and the poor people of Honduras greatly appreciate all your efforts. CAMO raises money all year long to assist with many projects and in providing transportation of donated equipment and supplies to Honduras. If you would like to donate money, which is tax deductible, please contact my office at 301-334-1034.

If any patient of Dr. Fridkin or Dr. Alvarez has an emergency, please proceed to the Emergency Department at Garrett County Memorial Hospital or call the hospital at 301-533-4000 to speak with the covering surgeon or speak with your family physician. Our office staff will be available periodically throughout this time at 301-334-1034.

Paid Paramedics Needed...

When retired judge Fred Thayer collapsed to the ground last Friday afternoon, a 911 call for help followed almost immediately. In the meantime, those present performed CPR in a gallant and desperate attempt to revive him. To them it seemed to take forever for the squad to arrive. Sadly, all efforts were in vain.

There were a couple things working against the Southern Rescue Squad at the time, and they are beginning to become more and more of a problem as time goes on. Those problems are a lack of personnel and the geographical size of our county.

Now before any mistaken conclusions are drawn, this column is in no way a criticism of the rescue squad. For over 30 years this all-volunteer organization, as well as the Northern Garrett squad, have provided outstanding emergency medical services to the county. They have helped tens of thousands of people; they have saved many lives. They must battle the elements, respond at all hours of the day and night, and cope with the pain and loss that sometimes accompanies the work they do. They must train and retrain, certify and recertify. And for all of this, they receive no pay whatsoever.

Both squads have tried hard to recruit new members. But the time commitment is enormous, and there just don't seem to be enough people willing to make that commitment.

Thus, it is time for county government to provide funding for the employment of some paramedics for our rescue squads. We suggest the hiring of five paramedics for each squad, who would work hand in hand with the volunteers. Two of the paid personnel would be on duty at all times, and the volunteers would continue to serve as they have in the past. This is a common arrangement at many fire and rescue organizations in the state. It virtually guarantees a response time of less than two minutes whenever there is a call for help.

To the county commissioners' credit, they know this is a problem, and among their plans for funds raised by the proposed gaming ordinance (which was shot down) was to provide additional funding to local emergency service organizations. The gaming ordinance was a bad idea, but thanks to good fiscal management on the part of the county (and thanks to our Deep Creek Lake property owners), we are not poor. Somewhere the commissioners should be able to come up with what we estimate to be about a half-million dollars to fund the hiring of 10 paramedics.

We also want to make it clear that a more rapid response for Judge Thayer would have probably made no difference whatsoever in the outcome of this tragedy. But it will make a difference in many other calls for help in the future. This would be a prudent move by our county commissioners, and perhaps they could even do this in honor and in memory of Fred Thayer, who was truly one of Garrett County's finest, brightest, most outstanding citizens of all time.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Garrett County lost one of its most illustrious citizens on February 16. Fred Thayer was my personal friend and judicial colleague, but he was much more than that. He was an extraordinarily diverse human being, not merely a good lawyer and prosecutor and a great judge. He cared deeply about his county and this state, and his many accomplishments included many matters that had nothing to do with the law.

He wore his Scottish ancestry well, and was a pioneering player of bagpipes in Garrett County. His funeral was electrified when his body was escorted to the altar to the sound of bagpipes and drums.

He loved Deep Creek Lake and, until last year, enjoyed the pleasures of a house on its shores. His love of the lake did not stop there. I recruited my friend to join the board of directors of the Property Owners' Association of Deep Creek Lake and, after joining the board, he succeeded me as its president. Fred and I worked closely together on the state's purchase of the lake, the sale of surplus buffer strip land to adjoining property owners, and amendments to state law that created the present review board.

Fred died doing work for the public good. He was with me at a meeting on POA business when he collapsed in my arms, a moment that I will never forget. It will take a long time for me to overcome my feelings of inadequacy that we could not revive this giant of a man.

Fred was a person whose personal interests were extremely broad. He was a Mason, a volunteer fireman, a hunter, a bank board member, a successful real estate investor, a bridge player and, consistent with his ancestry, a devotee of an occasional drink of Scotch whiskey which he always took "neat" (no mixer or water and little or no ice cubes). He also loved the opera, and frequently traveled to Pittsburgh to satisfy his thirst for classical opera.

Most of all, Fred enjoyed universal respect, and returned it to others. He had the unique ability to relate well to natives of Garrett County as well as those who do not call it their home county, but nevertheless call it a home away from home. Fred bridged that gap with ease, and enjoyed the universal respect of all. I loved him like a brother, and he will be sorely missed.

To the Editor:

Garrett County has lost a courageous, shining light in the passing of Judge Frederick Thayer. Fred and his wife Diane were intimately involved in the betterment of Garrett County.

A prodigious wordsmith and legal mind, Judge Thayer could have continued and excelled in private law practice. He not only felt the call of public service, but rose to be a judicial stalwart and bedrock for the Garrett County quality of life. Judge Thayer embodied Garrett County ethics and morals, in spite of a downstate tidal wave of urban law practice that does not match Garrett County norms. Judge Thayer never had one of his decisions overturned by a higher Maryland court.

Judge Thayer also distinguished himself as a director of First United Bank and Trust. Working through First United, the community saw many employed and countless dreams come true through the bank's financing. Joining Fred in many other community endeavors were his wife Diane, son Rick, and his wife Karen.

My life was made better because of my friendship with Fred and the Thayer family. Fred Thayer will be greatly missed.

Sincerely,
Gary Ruddell

You know, I believe that if the American people would realize that the war in Iraq cost 300 million dollars today, 300 million dollars yesterday, and will cost 300 million dollars tomorrow (and more each day thereafter), the troops would soon be coming home.

I just read the cover stories of last week's Republican regarding the county roads dept. update meeting. Once again, it seems the county taxpayers are again asked to help "subsidize" the Wisp resort by building a road to the top of mountain with taxpayer money. How ironic it was a short time back when the county also helped foot the bill for the "subsidized" low-cost housing that was put in place to allow "low-paid" workers to live close to the Wisp.

I continue to ask myself what good reasons there are to staying in this county, let alone continuing to have my taxes used to help keep the Wisp afloat. Things just keep getting curiouser and curiouser.

To the Editor:

I am so disgusted with all the media coverage on the death of Anna Nicole Smith. Why in the world is there so much press coverage on her? We have had 3,000+ deaths of our brave military in Iraq who have paid the ultimate sacrifices for their country and they receive a mere mention in the news. However, a person who apparently slept with every man who came into her life over the last couple of years has been in the headlines every single day explaining what is being done about her 5-month-old baby, when her body is being embalmed, where she is going to be buried...enough!!!

The answer is quite simple – put the child in a loving home where she can grow up in a wholesome environment, and bury Ms. Smith and be done with it. We do not need to hear about her will and all the fighting over her money. I am sure this is happening among families all the time, but it is not anyone's business but those affected. And it certainly is not news!! The average American is probably facing a crisis of some kind at any given time, but you do not hear about it on a TV broadcast! America wants to hear the real news – things that will touch our hearts and keep us updated on things that affect our lives!

Rest in peace, Anna. Hopefully the novelty of your death will wear off soon and we can get some peace as well.

To the Editor:

In my opinion, most folks in Garrett County, probably won't go out on a cold winter's night to attend something called a planning meeting and I doubt that many will write a letter to John Nelson, but that doesn't mean they don't care about their rights as private property owners.

I suspect that Mr. Nelson and at least two of his bosses – our county commissioners – already know very well how the overwhelming majority of our citizens react to attempts to enact laws that would take away those rights!

Only a few years ago hearings for the expressed purpose of gauging public opinion on this issue were held in Grantsville and at Garrett College. You should have seen the people at Grantsville rise up in anger when Mr. Nelson himself revealed under questioning that his zoning inspectors could enter your home with search warrants if necessary, to check to see if you are running a business there!

For the record, about 70 people attended that meeting and all but one were against zoning. At the Garrett College meeting of the 108 who came, only four were for it.

Facing those results, no government, especially a local government, could have ignored such a one-sided opinion, and so far our elected officials have abided by the people's wishes. I think they know that we expect them to continue to do so.

As to my vision for Garrett County's future, I'd hope to see:

A local government that concerns itself more with controlling its spending and less with trying to force more controls on its citizens.

A local government that thinks long-term planning means putting some money away each year to pay for the next landfill and not drawing lines on a map to tell you whether or not you can have a home business.

And finally, a local government that realizes, and by the way, the proposed gaming ordinance hearing was another great example, that when they have to, the good people of Garrett County still know how to stand up and say that we have one thing above all to protect here, and it's called freedom!

A World Without Black People

by Abdul Fattah Nun

This is a story of a little boy named Troy, who woke up one morning and asked his mother, "Mother, what if there were no black people in the world?"

Well, his mother thought about that for a moment and then said, "Son, follow me around today and let's just see what it would be like if there were no black people in this world. Now, go get dressed and we will get started."

Troy ran to his room to put on his clothes and shoes. His mother took one look at him and said, "Troy, where are your shoes? And those clothes are all wrinkled, son, so I must iron them." But when she reached for the ironing board, it was no longer there, because Sarah Boone, a black woman, invented the ironing board in 1892 and Jan E. Matzelinger, a black man, invented the shoe lasting machine in 1891. (He also invented a mechanism for distributing tacks in 1899 and a nailing machine in 1896.)

Troy was a sight – wrinkled clothes, no shoes, and his mom's hair was a mess since she did not have the benefit of the 1910 hair care inventions of Madam C. Walker, who is also the first black female millionaire.

Mom told Troy, "Let's do our chores around the house and then take a trip to the grocery store." Troy's job was to sweep the floor. He swept and swept. When he reached for the dust pan, it was not there because Lloyd P. Ray, a black man, invented it in 1897. So he swept his pile of dirt in the corner, and left it there. He then decided to mop the floor, but the mop was gone because Thomas W. Stewart, a black man, invented the mop in 1893. Troy yelled to his mother, "Mom, I am not having any luck."

"Well, son," she said, "let me finish washing these clothes and we'll prepare a list for the grocery store." When the wash was finished, she went to place the clothes in the dryer, but it was not there because George T. Sampson, a black man, invented the clothes dryer in 1892.

Mother then asked Troy to get a pencil and some paper to prepare the grocery list for the market. Troy ran for the pencil and paper, but noticed the pencil lead was broken. So he looked for a pencil sharpener, but he was out of luck because a black man, John L. Love, invented it in 1897.

So his mother reached for a pen, but it was not there because a black man, William Purvis, invented the fountain pen in 1890.

Troy and his mother decided to try to remember what groceries they needed and so they headed to the market. When Troy opened the door to leave the house he noticed the grass was as high as he was tall. Of course, a black man, John Burr, invented the lawn mower in 1899.

They made their way over to their car and found that it just wouldn't go. You see, a black man, Richard Spikes, invented the automatic gearshift in 1932.

Now it was getting late so they walked to the market to get their groceries. But when at the market she looked for the milk, eggs, and butter, she noticed none of these were cold, because a black man, Frederick Jones, invented the first automatic refrigerator system for long haul trucks in 1929 (and later developed an air conditioning unit for military field units).

When Troy and his mother got home, she wanted to store the milk, eggs, and butter, but couldn't find the refrigerator, because it was invented by a black man, John Standard, in 1891. So they just left the food on the counter and wondered why it was taking so long for Troy's father to come home.

Gregory, Troy's father, worked on the 20th floor and usually took the elevator, but he was out of luck since a black man, Alexander Miles, received a patent for it in 1887. So Greg walked down the steps to the lobby, and looked for the letter drop, but he couldn't find it since it was invented by a black man, Philip Downing, in 1893.

As Greg left the office building he looked for the bus he usually took, but he was again out of luck since its precursor, the electric railway trolley, was invented by a black man, Elbert R. Robinson, in 1893.

When he finally got home, Greg could hardly see his family because he found Troy and his mother sitting at the kitchen table with their heads in their hands. He asked, "Why are you sitting in the dark?"

Why, indeed! Because in 1881 a black man, Lewis Howard Latimer, invented a method of making carbon

MIGHT AS WELL RIDE

Tuesday, Feb. 13, was a day for goodbyes for my family. My great aunt Polly Hanst was eulogized that morning in one of the most beautiful funerals I've ever attended. Then later, after a harrowing drive in the raw weather to Morgantown, we said goodbye to my husband's father, Jim McEwuen. It was a day of contemplating life and its brevity and its meaning, a day of hugging and well-wishing, a day of friendship and, yes, a day of tears.

The two important people to whom we bade farewell had a few things in common. I would have never linked them before, but since they both left this planet almost at the same time, some connections leapt out. Polly lived her life, right up to the last few weeks, filling it with rich experiences, trying things, learning, enjoying a good laugh. She was a feminist before the time of feminists, and always felt that a good marriage was one between two equal partners. She adored young people. In fact, I think she gathered her strength from them, riding on the wave of their enthusiasm and excitement. She and I both worked on the Oakland Sesquicentennial Celebration in 1999, and I interviewed her for our souvenir book. What I liked the best about her comments was that these celebrations in and of themselves aren't really all that important. What's important is the sense of community that grows from the planning of such things, the inspiration and contributions of people who might otherwise never be able to offer their creativity. I loved that. To me, that angle showed her wisdom — to avoid putting too much stock or feeling in a supposed milestone, but to more deeply understand that it is the folks involved who are important, and to find joy in seeing others inspired. She was wise indeed. And anyone who knew her — and that translates, I'm sure, into the thousands — also knew what a light she was on this Earth, how her interest in everyone but herself made her a charismatic beacon of friendship. People wanted to be with Polly. What in the world is better than that in this hard life?

My father-in-law was a quiet and friendly man. He was crazy about amateur radio and was a "ham" for more than 50 years. With that hobby, he served so many people, volunteering for MARS (Military Amateur Radio Service) for 40-plus years, which meant that for those decades, Jim worked to help people communicate from all over the world. Keep in mind, this was all before e-mail. He helped link families with their loved ones serving the country in some foreign land, relaying important messages like "It's a girl" or "I'm safe and I love you." With his radio skills, he helped with ARES (Amateur Radio Emergency Service), too, assisting in the coordination of rescuers in times of tragedy. He rose to the level of captain in the Civil Air Patrol, and became very involved in assisting in the prediction of high waters in West Virginia after the devastating flood in 1985. All of this effort, care, work — it made life easier for others. That's something to consider. More recently, he and my mother-in-law Alice threw caution to the wind and traveled to Scotland, not once but twice. Jim was thrilled to see the land of his forebears, and the two of them hiked over hill and dale and through very tall grasses to find the ruins of the McEwen Castle, a definite high point in their lives. (And yes, that's why John spells his name without the "u." McEwen is the original spelling, and Jim, also an avid genealogist, wanted at least one of his four kids to start spelling it that way early on. John was the one kid. So there's the answer to that.) Jim was a veteran of WWII, too, serving in much of Europe, and he graduated from West Virginia Wesleyan with a degree in chemistry (which we forgot to even mention in his lengthy obituary last week!). When he was in his 70s, he wrote an autobiography so that his family would know more about him and his adventures, although he never boasted. He was sick only for the last few months, and, just before he died, he told his family he had enjoyed his life. Very much.

To me, he was kind and gentle, and always interested in what our boys were up to. He went quietly about his business, still participating regularly in the ham "net" even up until the last months of his life. It is nearly obsolete now, with the explosion of the Internet and e-mail, but it is still useful, and Jim stayed on top of it should his expertise ever be needed again. He adored his wife, always proud of her and pleased with his family. He taught continuing education classes, Intro to Computers, for years in Morgantown, retiring just last May from that post, with students sad to see him go. He filled his life with all sorts of things, and in that, I see the parallel with Aunt Polly.

We didn't ask to be here on this planet. ("Oh, please let me be a human, please please please! I want a toe to stub! In fact, I want 10! I want to have my heart shattered into pieces, to taste homemade strawberry ice cream, to suffer through a standardized test, to jump in a cold pool on a hot day! Oh, come on! Please!" I don't recall asking any of that. Do you?) But we are here, through some vast mystery that no one really understands. We can opt to do just about anything, including doing nothing with this life. We can waste away on the couch watching other people have lives on television. We can complain about everything and never do anything to fix it, or we can worry about the small stuff so much that the big stuff all goes flying by until we're too old to grab it. But Polly and Jim, they lived it. They got on that bike and rode it for all it was worth. Up and down the mountains, through creeks, and right over cliffs a few times — and they crashed sometimes. And suffered real pain and intense grief. But they always got back on and tried a new path. With new paths come new ruts, yes, but also new views and more thrills. Riding is much better than sitting, or watching other people ride, or complaining about too many hills, or being too fearful of crashing to even get on the bike. We're here. And, like Polly and Jim, we might as well ride. For now, let's take on a few mountain passes in their honor, how about?

Local Woman Sentenced For Burglary, Theft

A Grantsville woman pleaded guilty in two cases in Garrett County Circuit Court last week. Kristian Rose Bittinger, 23, pleaded guilty to fourth degree burglary and to theft. Related charges in both cases were dismissed upon her plea.

Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Bittinger to three years in the Division of Corrections in the first case and to one year, concurrent, in the second case. That entire sentence was suspended, and Bittinger was placed on probation.

Bittinger was charged in July by Maryland State Police, who determined that she had entered into the homes of family members and removed various items, including prescription medication, noted the state's attorney.

In other court news from last week, Jeffrey Hewell, 45, Terra Alta, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana. Sherbin sentenced Hewell to one year in the Garrett County Jail. Ten months of that sentence were suspended, and Hewell will be on probation after he serves his jail sentence. A fine of $500 was also imposed.

Hewell was arrested and charged in August after officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant in the Steyer Mine Road area and seized 22 marijuana plants. While conducting surveillance during the investigation, officers determined that Hewell was one of three persons seen tending to the plants. Co-defendant Krystal Hewell also pleaded guilty last week and served a jail sentence. The third co-defendant's case remains pending in the Circuit Court.

In other court news, William Michael Helbig Jr., 35, Oakland, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol. The judge sentenced him to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail and assessed a fine of $500. Fifteen months of his sentence was suspended, and he will be on probation after he serves the remaining three months in the Garrett County Jail.

Helbig was arrested and charged in June by Garrett County sheriff's deputies, who observed his vehicle stopped in the roadway in the Pleasant Valley area with the driver apparently asleep at the wheel. Helbig was awakened by an officer who observed signs that he was under the influence. After beginning a series of field sobriety tests that Helbig could not complete, he was arrested, said the state's attorney.

In other news, Michael Lee Paugh, 35, Rowlesburg, W.Va., pleaded guilty in Circuit Court last week to driving under the influence per se. He was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail, with six months of that sentence suspended. Paugh will be on supervised probation upon his release from jail.

He was arrested and charged by Garrett County sheriff's deputies in July after he was observed riding a motorcycle without a helmet and speeding along Garrett Highway. The officer pursued the motorcycle onto the Ben DeWitt Road and observed additional traffic violations before the driver, later determined to be Paugh, stopped. After failing to complete field sobriety tests, Paugh was arrested and charged.

DC DUNK OFFICIALS SAY "THANKS!" – Special Olympics Maryland and the Maryland State Police donated two cold water survival suits to the Natural Resources Police (NRP) and a new snowblower to Uno Restaurant yesterday for their help in making the annual Deep Creek Dunk possible. This Special Olympics fundraiser takes place behind the restaurant, along the shores of and in Deep Creek Lake. Uno's has donated the use of its snowblower over the years so that officials could clear the snow off the frozen lake prior to the Dunk. NRP officers also donate their time by acting as lifeguards to protect the dunkers when they plunge into the frigid water. "We are so embraced by this community every year, we want to take the opportunity to give something back and say, 'thank you,'" said Tom Schniedwind, executive vice president of sports marketing for Special Olympics Maryland. Pictured, left to right, are Lesley Porter, Maryland Park Service; Will Gallagher, Mike Cooper, Brian Friend, and Walt May of the NRP; Greg Shipley, Maryland State Police; Bill Ingram, Uno's owner/manager; Schniedwind; Sarah Milbourne, Md. Park Service; and Mark McMillian, NRP. The 9th annual Deep Creek Dunk will be held this Saturday, Feb. 24, at 2 p.m.

Community Action Awarded Funding To Help Homeless

More than 5,300 programs throughout the nation will receive nearly $1.4 billion in funding to help homeless people, U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary Alphonso Jackson announced Tuesday. Of that funding, the Garrett County Community Action Committee will receive three grants totaling $211,822. Awards for Maryland total more than $38 million.

The HUD grants will support a record number of local programs, providing critically needed emergency shelter, transitional housing, and permanent support for more than 150,000 individuals and families, according to a HUD spokesperson.

"These grants will support thousands of local programs that are on the front lines of helping those who might otherwise be living on our streets," said Jackson. "Whether it's a single man living with a mental illness or a family struggling to give their children a roof over their heads, this funding is quite literally saving lives."

Since 2001, HUD has awarded approximately $9 billion in funding to state and local communities to support the housing and service needs of homeless persons and families. Next year, President Bush is proposing a record level of funding to house and serve homeless persons and families.

The FY 2008 Budget seeks more than $1.6 billion through HUD's Continuum of Care and Emergency Shelter Grant programs.

"The homeless must not become invisible or marginalized, Jackson added. "Our response tells us much about our humanity as a people and a nation. When our fellow citizens literally need shelter from the storm, or a meal, or counseling, or help to regain their footing in life, we must be there to respond."

HUD's funding is provided in two ways:

•HUD's Continuum of Care programs provide permanent and transitional housing to homeless persons. In addition, Continuum grants fund important services including job training, health care, mental health counseling, substance abuse treatment, and child care.

More than $1.2 billion in Continuum of Care grants are awarded competitively to local programs to meet the needs of their homeless clients, according to the spokesperson. The grants fund a wide variety of programs from street outreach and assessment programs to transitional and permanent housing for homeless persons and families.

Half of all Continuum funding awarded Tuesday, nearly $618 million, will support new and existing programs that help to pay rent and provide permanent housing for disabled homeless individuals and their families.

•Emergency Shelter Grants provide funds for homeless shelters, assist in the operation of local shelters, and fund related social service and homeless prevention programs.

HUD is awarding $160 million in Emergency Shelter Grants that are allocated based on a formula to state and local governments to create, improve, and operate emergency shelters for homeless persons. These funds may also support essential services including job training, health care, drug/alcohol treatment, childcare, and homelessness prevention activities.

By helping to support emergency shelter, transitional housing and needed support services, Emergency Shelter Grants are designed to move homeless persons away from a life on the street toward permanent housing.

"For six years, ending chronic homelessness has been one of President Bush's national goals," said the spokesperson. "Research indicates that approximately 20 percent of all homeless persons experience long-term or chronic homelessness. These studies conclude that this hardest-to-serve population utilizes more than half of all emergency shelter resources designed to assist homeless individuals and families. By shifting the federal emphasis toward meeting the needs of the most vulnerable homeless persons, more resources become available for those who experience situational homelessness."

Joshua Guy Damron, 22, Kitzmiller, was not prosecuted for charges of first-degree burglary, theft of more than $500 worth of property, and fourth-degree burglary. The defendant had been accused of allegedly stealing a number of construction tools in September from the victim's rental property in Kitzmiller, which included a table saw, a Craftsman chain saw, a Black and Decker drill, a pack of screw drivers, a hammer, a pipe wrench, 20 fishing poles, a $350 scooter, and a 357 magnum.

Susan Jo Schmidt, 44, Greensburg, Pa., and her father, Stanley Howard Schmidt, 69, Swanton, were not prosecuted for charges of second-degree assault stemming from a domestic incident in July.

DUI AND DWI

Brian Ray Gibson, 34, W.Va., failed to appear for his court date for charges of driving under the influence of alcohol (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI). A new bond was issued for a total of $20,000.

Sharod Sam Baer, 23, Pa., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine of which $200 was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. Baer was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of DUI.

Edward L. Butler Jr., 40, Pa., pleaded guilty to DUI per se and was handed a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine of which $100 was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. Butler was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of DUI and DWI.

Nicholas Alan DeWitt, 18, Md., was not prosecuted for charges of DUI, DUI per se, and DWI.

The court issued a bench warrant and set a new $10,000 bond for Joshua David Andrews, 25, Md., when he failed to appear for his court hearing.

Benjamin John Shafer, 32, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a 60-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended except 14 days, a $500 fine, and two years of supervised probation. Shafer was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Robert Louis Elburn, 30, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI per se and received a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine, one year of supervised probation, and 40 hours of community service. Elburn was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of DUI and DWI.

SCHOOL BUS VIOLATIONS

Kenneth Eugene Fike, 45, Md., pleaded not guilty and was found not guilty for the charge of failing to stop for a stopped school vehicle with alternately flashing red lights.

Audrey Reyna Kight, 62, Md., pleaded guilty to the charge of failing to stop for a stopped school vehicle with alternately flashing red lights and was handed a PBJ, a $100 fine, and 20 hours of community service.

WILLIAM B. MEAD

William Baird "Bill" Mead, 42, of Front Royal, Va., and a part-time resident of Oakland, passed away Sunday, Feb. 18, 2007, at Garrett Memorial Hospital in Oakland.

Born March 17, 1964, in Cleveland, Ohio, he was a son of Robert C. & Amy Mead of Wheeling, W.Va.

Surviving in addition to his parents are his wife, Julia (Bosley) Mead; a son, William Baird Mead Jr., at home; and an unborn son due in the spring.

Also surviving him are two brothers, Robert C. Mead Jr. of Wheeling and Charles P. Mead III of Oakland; his in-laws, Jim and Betty Bosley of Old Fields, W.Va; two sisters-in-law, Jody Bosley Morgan of Denver, Colo., and Karen Mead of Wheeling; a brother-in-law, Jeff Morgan of Denver; two nephews, Westen Mead of Wheeling and Jack Morgan of Denver; and one niece, Caitlin Mead, also of Wheeling.

Bill was a 1983 graduate of Canisius High School in Buffalo, N.Y., and a 1987 graduate of Davis and Elkins College in Elkins, W.Va. During his high school years he competed on the New York State ski team and played varsity soccer. He was fond of saying that he was the first Presbyterian to make "All-Catholic."

While at college he was a member of the school's nationally ranked soccer team and later became a founding member of FOSS, Friends of Senator Soccer, at D & E. He also served as a ski instructor at Timberline in Canaan Valley, W.Va.

After graduation Bill began his business career as a realtor in McHenry. He gravitated to mortgage banking as an originator at Buckeye Savings Bank in Bellaire, Ohio and remained in the mortgage industry throughout his career working in offices from Morgantown, W.Va., to Northern Virginia to Front Royal and Winchester, Va., and most recently as branch manager for SunTrust Mortgage in Martinsburg, W.Va.

In addition to being an avid skier, Bill loved golf, hunting, fishing and NASCAR. He was a fan of the "20" car, among others, and in some respects resembled its driver.

Friends will be received on Friday, Feb. 24, from 2 to 4 and 6 to 8 p.m., at the Fraley Funeral Home, Moorefield, W.Va.

A service will be conducted on at the Moorefield Presbyterian Church on Saturday at 1 p.m., with Katherine Jackson, C. Thomas Rhyne, and Rachel Crumley officiating.

Interment will follow at the Olivet Cemetery, Moorefield.

Memorials may be directed to the American Diabetes Association, P.O. Box 1131, Fairfax, VA 22038-1131, or the Albert Leatherman Scholarship Fund, P.O. Box 653, Moorefield, WV 26836.

Condolences to the family may be left at Bill's obituary at www.fraleyfuneralhome.com .

DON'T FAIL THIS TEST!

Many homeowners are growing increasingly concerned about the emerging "buyer's market." The biggest mistake a seller can make is to overprice the home in those circumstances. Trying a higher asking price in order to "test the market" can be disastrous, because by the time the seller adjusts his price down, the home has become "old inventory." At that point, buyers often overlook the older listings, assuming something is amiss regarding the price or the condition.

The goal of every seller should be to get a deal within the first few weeks of listing, when the property is "fresh" and buyers will be most interested. Price your property accordingly by comparing its value against similar homes in your area. Comparing listing prices is a good place to start, but the most critical figures will be the prices for which homes have already recently sold.

The real lesson to be taken is an age-old one that holds during any market conditions: Homes that are priced correctly sell for their asking price. Price your home according to what the market will bear, and allow the real estate agent to get the word out.

You'll find that an agent's experience and expertise make all the difference during these more challenging conditions. Now is not the time to enter the field without representation. Don't "test the market," test your agent!

If you'd like to buy or sell a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

S. RUSSELL WRIGHT

S. "Russell" Wright, 92, of Accident passed away Thursday, Feb. 15, 2007, at Cherry Hill Assisted Living in Accident, where he has resided since January of 2004.

Born June 9, 1914, in Glade Farms, W.Va., to the late Simon Peter and Blanche (Messenger) Wright, he grew up with his brothers and sisters on a farm. Russell was also preceded in death by his beloved wife Edna in 2001; three half brothers, Cleophas, Leman and Arley Wright; two half sisters, Estelle Teagarden and Viola Cole; a brother, Werlie Wright; two sisters, Ethel Oakman and Jessie Griffin; and a grandson, Michael Wright.

He attended Potomac State College for a short time before marrying Edna Blanche Humberson in 1935. They had five children.

Russell and Edna settled in Friendsville in 1939. There he had a creamery route and worked as a coal miner and truck driver before opening Yough Cash Feed Store, where shoes and groceries were also sold.

In 1958 Russell became a driver for Motor Cargo and Consolidated Freightways in Akron, Ohio. After retirement, Russell and Edna divided their time between West Palm Beach, Fla., and Accident until 1996.

Russell was a member of Woodmen of the World and the Teamsters Union. He was a member of the Hoyes United Methodist Church. An avid sports fan, he especially enjoyed playing golf with "Charley's Angels" in Oakland.

Russell is survived by a sister, Esta Selby of Friendsville; three sons, Gordon Wright and wife Hazel of Hoyes, Lambert and wife Dotty of New Castle, Pa., and Delmos and wife Leeanne of Palm Harbor, Fla.; two daughters, Delores Shade and husband Thomas of Frederick and Elsie Rabago and husband Dr. Leo of Mt. View, Calif.; 12 grandchildren, Vickie Hall of Huntington, Bradley Wright of St. Leonard, Rhonda Buckler of Huntington, Chris Wright of Crofton, Greg Wright of N. Woodmere, N.Y., Pam Louderback of Campbell, Calif., Thomas Shade of Parkville, John Shade of Sykesville, Daniel Rabago of Los Gatos, Calif., Dr. James Rabago of Merced, Calif., Peter Wright of Billings, Mont., and Andrew Wright of Elyria, Ohio; and 21 great-grandchildren.

Friends were received at the Newman Funeral Home, Friendsville, where a service was conducted on Sunday, Feb. 18, with the Rev. Samuel Wachter officiating.

Interment was in Blooming Rose Cemetery.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.newmanfuneralhomes.com.

(Paid Obituary)

W. CLYDE TEETS

W. Clyde Teets, 54, of Oakland died Tuesday, Feb. 13, 2007, at his home.

Born on Aug. 20, 1952, in Oakland, he was a son of the late Orval C. Teets and Emmaline E. (Savage) Teets. He was also preceded in death by one sister, Norma Nair.

He was a truck driver.

He is survived by one sister, Rhonda K. Evans; and one brother, James C. Teets, both of Rising Sun.

Friends were received at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was held on Tuesday, Feb. 20, with Rev. Donald Matthews officiating.

Interment was held in the Pleasant Valley Cemetery.

ELEANOR C. HEISTON

Eleanor C. (Shreve) Heiston, 71 of Walterboro, S.C., and formerly of Oakland, died Tuesday, Feb. 20, 2007, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born on Nov. 1, 1935, in Oakland, she was a daughter of the late Gilbert and Lillian (Miller) Shreve. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Clinton Leroy Heiston, in 2000.

She was a former bartender, housekeeper, and employee of Bausch & Lomb and Dulles International Airport.

She is survived by three daughters, Ellen Evans, Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., Cheryl Burnsworth, Ridgeville, S.C., and Tammy Snyder, Gormania, W.Va.; one sister, Alice Spankler, Bigleyville, Pa.; and five grandchildren.

Friends were received today, Feb. 22, at the Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m., with Rev. Paul Snyder officiating.

REV. DELBERT O. HANLIN

Rev. Delbert O. Hanlin, 81, of Leesburg, Ind., died Sunday, Feb. 18, 2007, at Lakeland Rehab and Healthcare Center, Milford, Ind.

Born on Oct. 27, 1925, in Mt. Storm, W.Va., he was a son of the late Clarence Hanlin and Maude Cosner. He was also preceded in death by his wife, Hilda M. (Stouter) Hanlin, on Sept. 23, 2006; and one brother, Paul Hanlin.

He was a graduate of Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va., Bethany Theological Seminary, Chicago, Ill., and Kent State University, Ohio.

He was a retired Brethren minister, a forest ranger, and a B&B Railroad brakeman. He also was the president of the Louisville Ministerial Association, Louisville, Ohio.

He was on the board of directors of Kiwanis International and president of Fulton County Migrant Association. He also was a counselor for youth and adults on Skid Row, Chicago, Ill.

He is survived by one sister, Jessie Bobo, Mt. Storm; one daughter, Carol Hanlin, Leesburg; one son, Earle Kelly Hanlin, Leesburg; five grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; and three step-grandchildren.

Friends were received at Locust Grove Brethren Church, Mt. Storm, where a service was held today, Feb. 22, with Rev. Owen Stoltz and Rev. John Walker officiating.

Basagic Funeral Home, Petersburg, W.Va., was in charge of arrangements.

Interment was held in Locust Grove Cemetery.

Memorials may take the form of contributions to the student scholarship fund of Manchester College.

STUDENTS RECOGNIZED AT GRANTSVILLE – Partners After School at Grantsville coordinators recently announced their January selections for Student of the Month and Most Improved Student. The Most Improved Student was Bobbi Lapp (above, left), who is a fourth grade student at Grantsville Elementary. She was chosen for showing outstanding improvement in all subjects and for having perfect attendance. Cara Bauermaster (above, right) was named Student of the Month. An eighth grade student at Northern Middle School, Cara was chosen because she has had perfect attendance, has her planner every day, has great behavior, and made the honor roll. Partners After School at Grantsville is sponsored by Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., 21st Century Learning Grant, and Grantsville Collaborative Supervision And Focused Enforcement (CESAFE).

KENNETH R. MARTIN

Kenneth R. Martin, 88, of Grand Haven, Mich., formerly of Oakland, died Saturday, Feb. 17, 2007, at his home.

Born on Feb. 10, 1919, in Oakland, he was a son of the late Owen U. and Leola (Schlossnagle) Martin. He was also preceded in death by four brothers, Darrell Owen Martin, Charles Junior Martin, Guy Edward Martin, and Pfc. Edward Lawrence Martin; and one sister, Ruth Averal Campbell.

He was a member of the Loch Lynn Church of God, and for many years he worked as a mail carrier for the U.S. Postal Service and was a former barber. A U.S. Army veteran of WWII, he received the Bronze Star and Purple Heart.

He is survived by his wife, Hazel V. (Hoffman) Martin; one daughter, Louise Cannon, Grand Haven; one son, Kenneth Martin, Frederick; two sisters, Hazel Kelley, Hagerstown, and Gladys Warnick, Cresaptown; two brothers, Bill Martin, Port Orange, Fla., and Harry Lee Martin, Oakland; four grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Friends will be received at Stewart Funeral Home, Oakland, on Friday, Feb. 23, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m., where a service will be held on Saturday at 11 a.m., with Rev. Ivan Ackerman officiating.

Interment will be in the Pleasant Valley Cemetery, Oakland.

Military honors will be accorded at the funeral home by members of various veterans' organizations in southern Garrett County.

WILLARD C. KEIFER

Willard Clyde Keifer, 77, of Elk Garden, W.Va., died Wednesday, Feb. 14, 2007, at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Born Feb. 27, 1929, in Mona, W.Va., he was a son of the late Charles F. and Martha (Nash) Keifer. He was also preceded in death by two brothers, Ralph C. Paul Keifer and Alvie Keifer.

Surviving him are his wife, Edith (Dignan) Keifer; three sisters, Eleanor Carlile, Wiley Ford, and Elizabeth Humbertson, Cumberland; and a brother, Charles Keifer of Elk Garden.

He was a retired Navy veteran, serving in the Korean conflict and Vietnam War.

Friends were received at the Burdock-Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, where a service was conducted on Saturday, Feb. 17, with the Rev. William McCallister officiating.

Interment was in the Bayard Cemetery, Bayard, W.Va. Military services were accorded at graveside by various veterans' organizations.

Memorials may take the form of contributions to the Mount Storm Fire Department and Ambulance Service.

SHARON L. BOSLEY

Sharon Lee Bosley, 51, of Oakland died Tuesday, Feb. 20, 2007, at the Union Memorial Hospital in Baltimore.

Born on March 21, 1955, in Oakland, she was a daughter of the late Buck and Dessie (Sims) Tasker.

She is survived by two sons, D.J. Bosley of Maysville, W.Va., and Jerry Bosley of Moorefield, W.Va.; one daughter, Stacey Pinner of Lakeland Fla.; five brothers, Roger Tasker of Cross Timbers, Mo., Daniel Tasker of Elk Garden, W.Va., Steve Tasker of McSherrystown, Pa., Ronald Tasker of Mtn. Lake Park, and David Tasker of Oakland; one sister, Ramona Schmidt of Swanton; and five grandchildren.

Friends will be received at the David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Kitzmiller, Friday, Feb. 23, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m., where a service will be held on Saturday at 11 a.m., with Rev. George Tichinel officiating.

Interment will follow in the Mt. Zion Cemetery.

The Family of David Glass

would like to express our thanks for all that was done when David passed on to be with his Savior.

We especially want to thank the Southern Rescue Squad for going that extra step; also the Deep Creek Fire Company and Maryland Minerals.

Also, a special thanks to the three pastors that conducted David's service.

Thank you all for the visits, calls, food and all the donations given in David's memory.

Most of all, for the prayers for the family. We will never forget each and every one's kindness & thoughtfulness.

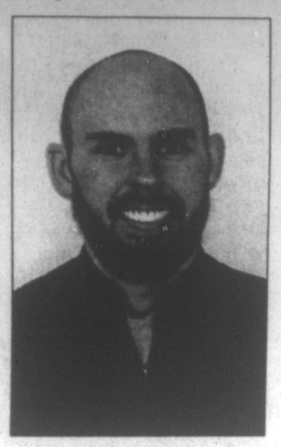
Dr. Hieronimus Joins GC Health Department Staff



Dr. Jason P. Hieronimus is now seeing patients at the Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center. Hieronimus joins other local dentists Dr. Thomas Gregory, Dr. Lindsay Rhodes, and Dr. Henry Weibking, as well as RDH Cindy Heselbach, in providing care in the Dental Care Center.

Hieronimus will primarily be seeing patients who are children and pregnant women through the Maryland Children's Health Program (MCHP). A 2004 graduate of the West Virginia University School of Dentistry, he has had a variety of experience in the dental field, most recently at Davis Dental.

The Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center has won numerous public health awards for providing access to care for pregnant women and children and very low income adults.

"Our program relies on local dentists who are in private practice to meet the oral health needs of the community," said Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer. "We are really fortunate to have such a wonderful group of dentists and a supportive medical community."

Dr. Hieronimus lives in Oakland with his wife Mia. He is active in Pleasant View Baptist Church, where he has participated in local and foreign mission work.

"We are really happy to live here," Hieronimus said. "It is a great community, and I am glad to be able to be given the opportunity to provide dental care through the Health Department."

To make an appointment at the Dental Care Center persons may call 301-334-7660.

M & T DONATES LAND – The Garrett County Board of Education recently received a donation of .26 acre of land from M & T Bank to benefit Grantsville Elementary School. "Our primary reason was to improve or enhance the elementary building for the residents of Garrett County and to support our long-term relationship with the board of education and be a good community partner," said Dave Worthing, vice president of government banking at M & T. Garrett County Superintendent of Schools Dr. Wendell Teets noted that the lot will be used for additional parent and visitor parking at the school, and the sloped area facing the bank will also be landscaped. Pictured above, from left, are Jim Thomas, director of facilities for the Garrett County Board of Education; Teets; Reco Collins, M & T Bank relationship manager; Bonnie Sines, assistant vice president and manager of the Grantsville branch of M & T; Worthing; Barbara Baker, Grantsville Elementary School principal; and David Upole, senior financial consultant of M & T Securities. 4-H Club News

SHEPHERD'S FLOCK
by Kevin Maust, reporter

The Shepherd's Flock 4-H club met on Feb. 9 at Lacie Berkebile's home. Lacie is the leader for this newly formed 4-H group.

After initial introductions, prayer, and the 4-H pledge, officers were elected. The results were: Zachary Garrett, president; Amy Berkebile and Justin Maust, co-vice presidents; Drew Berkebile, secretary; Derrick Maust, treasurer; Kevin Maust, reporter; and Amy Berkebile and Emory Garrett, song leaders.

Nancy and Lacie Berkebile had sugar cookie dough prepared, and the group rolled out and baked cookies.

Lacie also gave a tour of the many animals on her farm, which included newborn pigs and young goats.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 9.

Named USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Katelyn Gnegy, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. She will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Katelyn, a student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest, and leadership qualities.

Katelyn is the daughter of Daniel T. and Mary E. Gnegy.

Check it out! STUFF TO DO!

Featuring events that build assets in youth and promote community involvement:

FRIDAY, FEB. 23

- Scrapbook Gathering, Kitzmiller Community Building, beginning at 6 p.m. Bring a snack to share and your scrapbooking supplies to this free gathering. Everyone is welcome to share design ideas and techniques with other enthusiasts. (301-334-7730)
- Oakland and Mountain Lake Park Youth Recreation, Oakland Armory, 6 to 8 p.m. Activities such as basketball, volleyball, dodge ball, and crafts are available for area youth ages 5 to 18 years each Friday evening through April 6. Youth under 11 years must be accompanied by an adult. Attend seven evenings with good behavior for a fieldtrip invitation. No preregistration required. Persons need to simply sign in upon arrival. (301-334-7730)

SUNDAY, FEB. 25

- Sled Riding Party, Accident Town Park West, 2 to 4 p.m. The Accident Community Planning Group will host this free afternoon of sledding, refreshments, and door prizes. Everyone is welcome. (301-334-7730)

MONDAY, FEB. 26

- StoryTails, Ruth Enlow Library in Oakland, 4 to 5:30 p.m. StoryTails helps children develop confidence in their reading skills as they read to a friendly dog. Dogs love the attention and don't mind if their reader makes a mistake. Each child will have a dog to read to for 15 to 20 minutes, with the dog's handler sitting nearby to give reading assistance if needed. For more information, persons may call 301-334-3996, ext. 115 or 117.

TUESDAY, FEB. 27

- Southern STEAM meeting, Southern Garrett High School cafeteria, 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. All Southern Garrett High School students are welcome to participate in planning events with this Student Tobacco Elimination Among Minors chapter. (301-334-7730)

SATURDAY, MARCH 3

- KidStuff Creative Dramatics, Our Town Theatre along Center Street in Oakland, 10:30 a.m. through noon. Youth in kindergarten through 5th grade are invited for creative dramatics activities, including movement, stories, acting, art projects, and puppetry every other Saturday through Mar. 31. A modest donation is appreciated and pre-registration is required. Parents should call 301-334-5640 by Thursday, March 1.

West Virginia

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

WEATHER REPORT

Charles Trembly, Terra Alta's weather expert, has reported that until the first of February, the area received 73 inches of snow. However from the 1st until the 16th, 32 inches have fallen, not including the snowfall this past weekend.

The coldest temperature so far has been recorded as 8 below on the 5th and 6th of this month. Several areas around town reported as low as 12 below.

TABI RAFFLE

Raffle tickets for three hog halves are now on sale at Gregg's Pharmacy. Proceeds from the raffle will benefit Terra Alta Betterment Incorporated (TABI), The drawing will be held on March 5 during the regular TABI meeting. There are three chances to win the three halves of Buckwheat Festival hogs.

COUNTRY MARKET

A planning meeting for the Garden Fresh Country Market will be held on March 8, 7 p.m., at the Terra Alta town hall. The session will also involve training individuals how to accept senior coupons at the market.

All producers interested in participating or customers with comments are welcome. The group will welcome to the area Steve Vortigern of Round Right Farms, who sells organic produce. He will join the farmers' market this year.

BASEBALL SIGN-UP

The Terra Alta Youth League Baseball will soon hold registration for the season. There are divisions for boys ages 4 to 16 and girls ages 4 to 18. The cost is $25 for the first child, $20 for the second child in the household, and a maximum of $50 for a family. Sign-ups will be held at the town hall on Wednesday, Feb. 28, from 6 to 8 p.m.; Friday, March 2, from 6 to 8 p.m.; Thursday, March 8, from 6 to 8 p.m.; and Saturday, March 10, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Anyone interested in coaching or volunteering in any other role may also sign up at that time. Questions may be directed to JR at 789-5890 or Tony at 789-5303.

LIBRARY NEWS

Hide by Lisa Gardner and Step On a Crack by James Patterson, both in large print, have been donated to the Terra Alta Public Library by Carol Burdick and are on the new shelves. Trouble and Sunstroke, both by Jesse Kellerman, and Sisters by Danielle Steele were given in memory of June Frazee by Steve, Donna, Stephanie, and Stacy Sypolt.

The memorial dedication for Megan Lantz that was scheduled at the library had to be postponed because of weather conditions. It has been rescheduled for Sunday, March 18, at 3 p.m. at the library. The Christmas In the Mountains parade in Terra Alta was dedicated to her, and monetary donations were to be used to purchase books in her memory for the library. The public is invited and welcome to attend the commemoration event.

Larry and Carol Burdick and Milton Crum have donated several books that vary from reference books on horses, cookbooks, military, and the West Virginia mine wars. Donna Carney donated the three volume set of Preston County Graves by Janice Cale Sisler. Other patrons donating reading materials have been Cindy Cramer, Becky Cope, and Lawrence Sypolt.

FAMILY SAFETY DAY

The Terra Alta/East Preston Parent Teacher Organization (TA/EP PTO) will host a Family Safety Day on Saturday, March 17, from 1 to 3 p.m. This event will be held in the school commons area and cafeteria. There will be a variety of stations including school/bus safety, internet safety, fingerprinting, fire safety, and health issues. This event is open to the public.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICES

The Arts

McClive's Artistry To Adorn Streets Of W. Yellowstone

Rebecca McClive, a former resident of Garrett County now living in Fort Collins, Colo., was one of 25 artists recently selected to paint a nearly life-size fiberglass buffalo for the "Where the Painted Buffalo Roam" art project in West Yellowstone, Mont. (See photos on page A-1.)

The cow buffalo, all 25 of them, will "roam" the sidewalks of West Yellowstone beginning on June 2. Reminiscent of buffalo that wandered the streets of the western town in days gone by will be fiberglass 3-D canvases adorned in bright colors by artists from three states.

The theme of the art is focused on Yellowstone National Park, Historic West Yellowstone, and Native Americans, McClive said. Many artists submitted their ideas to the West Yellowstone Economic Development (WYED) Buffalo Roam Committee, and 25 artists were eventually selected and awarded contracts.

"These unique and beautifully adorned cow buffalo will truly 'roam' each spring for three years as they are moved from one sponsor to another for three summers," the artist said. "It is rumored that a crop of calves will be arriving on Mother's Day, 2008."

In the fall of 2009, the Buffalo Roam art will be sold to the highest bidder, she noted.

"Nearly 4 feet high and 8 feet long, these buffalo will be an impressive sight to the over 2 million visitors who visit the area yearly," McClive said. "A pictorial of the finished buffalo art and a Buffalo Roam map will be available so visitors can photograph and learn of the artists' concepts and themes."

The intent of the project is to increase appreciation for art and at the same time for the themes being represented.

"The gestation period of a normal buffalo is 8 months," McClive said, "but ours take a little longer (one year), like most works of art."

The concept began in June of 2006, and the grand unveiling will be on the West Yellowstone Museum lawn on June 2.

McClive was asked to paint the buffalo in the Collective Gallery, where she is represented in downtown Fort Collins. She said she considers it a great honor to have been selected and it will be a boost for her art career.

Prints will be available of each of the scenes she has painted on the buffalo. More of her work is available for viewing at www.rebeccamcclive.com. She is also a signature member of the Worldwide Nature Artist Group, and her work can be seen at www.nature-artists.com/rebecca_mcclive.asp.

Asbury Choir To Perform In MLP

The 43-member Asbury College Concert Choir will perform at Faith Evangelical Free Church in Mtn. Lake Park on Thursday, March 22, at 7 p.m. The performance is part of the choir's six-state spring break tour, March 17-25.

Asbury College is located in Wilmore, Ky., 20 minutes south of Lexington. Founded in 1890, the college is a private, residential, liberal arts institution.

Our Town Theatre To Hold Auditions for The Crucible

Arthur Miller's play The Crucible will be presented at Our Town Theatre in April, and auditions will be held on March 4 from 2 to 5 p.m. and on March 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. The auditions will take place in the basement of the theatre, which is located along Center Street in Oakland.

Twenty-one roles are available, according to Jane Avery, director, including five parts for young women in their teens or early 20s. There are also numerous roles for men and women, ages 20 through 70.

For more information, persons may contact Avery at 301-334-5640, ext 3.

Reservations For Grace And Glorie Now Available

Grace and Glorie, a two-woman play, will be presented at Our Town Theatre in Oakland on March 8 through 10 at 8 p.m. and on March 11 at 2 p.m. Directed by Lynne Elmlinger and starring Erin Peacock and Kieran Cannistra, the play takes place in a cabin in the Blue Ridge Mountains of Virginia.

"Grace Stiles, a feisty old woman who is suffering from terminal cancer, plans to die at home. Just out of the hospital, Grace has no use for city-bred Glorie Whitmore, the hospice volunteer assigned to care for her. This poignant comedy offers easy laughter and engaging dialogue on marriage and children, religious faith, and the courage to carry on," Elmlinger said.

Written by Tom Ziegler and produced through a special arrangement with Samuel French Inc., the play treats the issue of death reverently, Elmlinger said, yet there is humor found in the conflicts Grace and Glorie face.

Our Town Theatre will donate the ticket and refreshment sales from one performance (whichever show garners the most money) to Hospice of Garrett County.

Reservations can be made by calling OTT at 301-334-5640, ext. 1. This production is funded by the arts councils of Garrett County and the state of Maryland.

"Art Is Elementary" Exhibit On Display At Garrett Gallery

"Art Is Elementary" is the title of a new exhibit of artwork by children currently on display at the Gallery of the Garrett County Arts Council in Oakland. The public is invited to a reception for participating young artists on Saturday, Feb. 24, from 1 to 3 p.m.

"This exhibit is an engaging celebration of color, design, and texture," said Steve Schlosnagle, executive director of the arts council. "A view of the world through the eyes of a child fires your imagination. It melts your heart and warms your soul."

The exhibit consists of 61 original works of art created by students attending 10 Garrett County elementary schools: Accident, Bloomington, Broad Ford, Dennett Road, Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Route 40, Swan Meadow, and Yough Glades.

Local teachers contributing student work to the exhibit include Diane Bateman, Melinda Bishoff, Carolyn Collen-DuBose, Sharon DiGioia, Bonnie Frederick, and Jennifer Vitez.

Art Is Elementary will be on display through March 3. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Additional information about the children's exhibit and the Feb. 24 public reception is available by calling the Garrett County Arts Council at 301-334-6580 or by visiting the council's web site at www.garrettarts.com.

Dies Suddenly

1974. In 1977, he was appointed a judge of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, becoming chief judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland in 1983. He retired from the bench in 1996.

In addition to his 31 years of public service, he was active in the business community. He served as a director of First United Bank and Trust from 1963 through 1976 and from 1996 through 2006. With his cousin, R. Thomas Thayer Jr., he developed real estate in the county, including Sky Valley, Four Hooppole South, and the Thayer Center.

Judge Thayer was a volunteer fireman for the Oakland Fire Department for a number of years. In 1972, he became the first chairman of the Garrett County Planning Commission and joined the Maryland Public Television Community Advisory Board in 1979. Also in 1979, he organized, with Charles P. "Chip" Evans, a bagpipe band, the Garrett Highlanders. Judge Thayer served as pipe major until 2001.

In 1998, he was appointed a director of the Property Owners Association (POA) of Deep Creek Lake Inc., and was elected president of the POA in 2001. He was Past Master of Oakland Lodge 192, AF & AM, and a member of the Ali Ghan Shrine and the Royal Order of Jesters.

He is survived by his wife, Diane Senior Thayer; a son, Frederick A. Thayer IV and wife Karen; and grandchildren Rebecca C. Thayer and Frederick A. Thayer V.

Friends were received at the Burdock-Durst Funeral Home, Oakland, on Monday, and a funeral was held Tuesday at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, with the Rev. Chip Lee officiating. Interment was in the Oakland Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Matthew's Episcopal Parish, Garrett County Memorial Hospital, the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, the Garrett College Pipes and Drums, or the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

To Reduce

The whirling disease parasite was introduced into the eastern United States from Europe in the late 1950s and is currently known to exist in 24 states. It was first discovered in Maryland in 1995 in the North Branch Potomac River. Although harmless to humans, the parasite can be fatal to trout and is particularly harmful to rainbow trout. Once infected, the parasite attacks the fish's skeletal tissue, resulting in severe internal damage and causing it to exhibit the erratic "whirling" swimming behavior for which the disease is named.

To reduce the likelihood of spreading the spores of the organism, DNR is asking anglers not to move caught fish from one stream to another, not to discard carcasses in the stream or on the stream banks, and to remove mud from boots and equipment before moving from one stream to another.

Given the loss of production at these sites, Maryland will be ramping up production at other hatcheries and rearing stations, and augmenting stock with the purchase of certified disease-free fish. Therefore, while stocking rates will be reduced for the 2007 spring season, the angling public should see little or no difference in fishing success in Maryland streams.

Spring stocking updates and further information on whirling disease and ways to prevent its spread can be found at www.dnr.state.md.us/fisheries.

More information will be forthcoming pending an investigation by the DNR and other experts.

Comm. Grieves

continued, "he was hardly ever wrong. Truly. His rulings were hardly ever reversed. I'm sure you could count on one hand the number of times that happened in his entire career."

His presence was known in courtrooms across the state of Maryland.

"Judge Thayer was a great lawyer and a very fine judge," said retired Chief Judge Joseph H.H. Kaplan of the Circuit Court for Baltimore City. "But more importantly, he was a true gentleman and very decent human being. Of all the judges I have known, and I've been practicing for 30 years, he is up near the very top."

Burnett said his influence on the area's law community was monumental.

"He taught the local bar association the meaning of personal integrity, the meaning of honor, and the meaning of honesty," Burnett said. "His death will be significantly felt because it leaves a void in leadership which all of us must now fill as attorneys. It comes as a shock, not only because of his young age, but because none of us who followed his leadership ever expected to outlive Fred Thayer," the judge said, alluding to the life-threatening illnesses suffered by Circuit Court Judge James Sherbin, Martin, and himself. "I know I did not, considering my own circumstances."

Lisa Thayer Welch, state's attorney for Garrett County, worked for Thayer when she was the family law master.

"In that role, he was always thorough and prompt in his responses," Welch said. "And since he retired, he remained such a part of the legal system here. We could always just count on him for being around for court cases. He always made himself available, both as a judge and to offer general counsel. He knew so much about the history of the legal community here. He will be greatly missed."

Attorney Leonard Eiswert said he has appeared in front of many judges, but never one more knowledgeable or more fair.

"When Fred was going to be sitting for the case, everyone knew it would be fair," Eiswert said. "Fred was always very kind to me, a guy anyone would look up to. When I found out that he passed away, I felt like my uncle had died. He was a great guy and there will be no filling of those shoes for a long while, if ever."

Tim Miller, the supervisor of the circuit court office, said the court staff always knew a case would be properly handled when Judge Thayer was on the bench.

"He was just an excellent judge. He commanded respect because he knew his job and performed his job in an excellent manner," Miller said. "Many people who saw him on the bench thought he was always stern. But he had a wonderfully personable side. He had lots of interests, and was very down-to-earth. He liked to talk with us and laugh with us. He had the jolliest laugh in the courthouse."

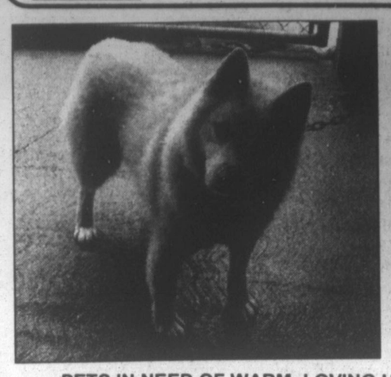
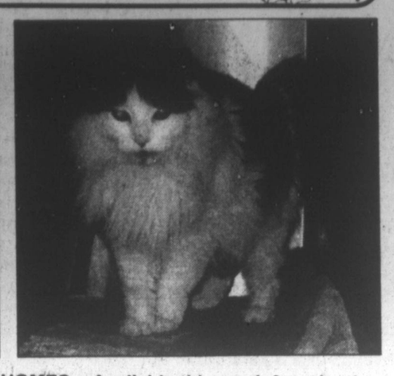
Adorable Adoptables





PETS IN NEED OF WARM, LOVING HOMES – Available this week for adoption at the Garrett County Animal Shelter is a spitz mix that is described by a Humane Society spokesperson as a being "nice girl." But she likes to chase small animals, so she needs a home without any other pets. Local animal welfare officials recently found her tied outside a residence without any shelter to keep her protected from cold weather. Also available for adoption is a longhaired female cat. "Look how beautiful this cat is," said the spokesperson. "She is so pretty, we can't believe that she was found wandering outside the shelter. She may have been dropped off, but we don't know." Spay/Neuter Awareness Month is approaching, but discount vouchers will not be given out at the shelter until March 1. The coupons will then be given out on a first-come, first-served basis, noted the spokesperson. Those who need assistance before that date may contact PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety) and Humane Society members. "The only way to keep the shelter from being 'full' most of the year is to have your pets spayed or neutered, as there is just not enough homes for them all," said the spokesperson. For more information, persons may call the shelter at 301-334-3553.

World Without

filament for the incandescent electric light bulb, which was installed in New York City, London, Montreal, and Philadelphia by the Maxim Weston Electric Company. (Latimer was then hired away to work for Thomas Edison from 1884 until 1917.)

And Troy's mom was also despondent because, without any light bulbs (due to the lack of filaments), Troy had an accident in the dark. He fell and cut himself and lost some blood, but Troy's mother realized that in a world without blacks she could lose her son since it was a black scientist who received his medical doctorate in 1940, Dr. Charles Drew, who first successfully developed techniques for separating, preserving, and storing blood, after which he founded the world's first blood bank. (Dr. Drew's advanced research in the vital field of blood plasma helped save countless lives during World War II.)

After Greg took this message in, he felt like he was going to have a heart attack, but Troy's mother advised Greg to "get a grip" since there would be no help for him, in that it was a black doctor, Dr. Daniel Hale Williams, who first performed open heart surgery at Provident Hospital on July 10, 1893. (Dr. Williams was also the only Afro-American charter member of the American College of Surgeons, and he started the first Afro-American hospital with 12 beds.)

So, if you ever wonder, like Troy, where we would be without black people, it's pretty plain to see we would still be in the dark!

Named USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy recently announced that Claire Elise Bishop, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. She will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Claire, a student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, interest, and leadership qualities.

Claire is the daughter of Joseph and Deanna Bishop.

Garrett Wins Last Two Regular Season Games, Then Pulls Upset In Md. JUCO

The Garrett College men's basketball team finished its regular season with a pair of wins over CCBC Essex last Thursday and Butler Community College on Saturday, and then defeated Howard Community College in its opening game of the annual Maryland JUCO Conference Tournament.

In Thursday's action, Antonio Levere scored a team-high 24 points and snatched nine rebounds to lead Garrett over CCBC Essex, 73-66.

Levere scored most of his points in the first half. When Levere cooled off in the second half, Jerome Jack, despite early foul trouble, scored all of his 10 points. Dale Taylor also got 12 points for the game.

"We didn't shoot well," said Garrett coach Dennis Gidson, "but Levere was too big and strong on the inside for them to stop."

For Essex, Patterson and Kennedy finished with double doubles — Patterson scoring 25 points and grabbing 12 rebounds, and Kennedy netting 16 points and snatching 12 boards.

Garrett led at halftime, 47-33, but Essex pulled to within five points with four minutes left in the game. A three-point bucket by Jack put the Lakers up by eight, and Garrett held the lead down the stretch for the win.

In Saturday's action, Jack scored a game-high 34 points to lead Garrett to a 94-77 win over Butler on Sophomore Night in McHenry.

The Lakers jumped to an early 11-0 lead, and Jack scored the first nine points of the game. Butler closed the gap to six on several occasions throughout the game, but Garrett would pull off another run to shut down the threat. Three other Lakers scored in double figures — Dale Henderson with 15, Chris Speicher with 12, and Daniel Conway with 11.

Butler had four men score in double figures: Keith Wynn hit 20, Kevin Scott poured in 19, Cory Dody added 18, and Ryan Ziacik had 14.

Garrett finished its regular season with a record of 16-10 overall and 8-9 in Maryland JUCO conference.

GARRETT WINS FIRST IN MARYLAND JUCO

The twelfth-seeded Garrett College men's basketball team peaked at the right moment as it whipped fifth-seeded Howard Community College 92-70 in the first round of the Maryland JUCO Conference Tournament Tuesday night at Howard.

Jerome Jack scored a game-high 18 points, and led a balanced offensive attack as five Lakers scored in double figures, including Antonio Levere with 15, Daniel Conway with 17, Derrick Sherman with 11, and Hrvoje Muhek and Glen Izevbigie with 10 apiece.

Garrett led 48-36 at halftime, and outscored Howard 45-34 in the second half to avenge an earlier season loss.

For Howard, Ronald Mann scored 17 points, and T.J. Odunlani and Luther Landry added 13 apiece.

Garrett played a very physical game, according to Garrett coach Dennis Green. The Lakers defense controlled Howard's outside shooting by limiting them to just three-threes.

Garrett will now face the winner of the Hagerstown-Catonsville match-up at 1 p.m. on Friday at the site of the higher seeded team. Garrett will not play at home in the tournament.

Defending champion Cecil is top-seeded. The Seahawks won the regular-season title, finishing with a perfect 17-0 mark. They are ranked No. 1 in the NJCAA Division II with a 24-2 record.

If Garrett wins its Friday game, it will advance to the semifinals on Saturday, then on to the championship game on Sunday.

THE MIRACULOUS LAKERS – The Garrett College women's basketball team continues to set the bar higher as its season advances. The Lakers won the Maryland JUCO championship last weekend, and then stunned Potomac State College Tuesday night, ending its 17-game winning streak with a 72-55 victory. Garrett is scheduled to play in the Division II Women's Region XX Basketball Tournament beginning this Thursday at Prince George's Community College. (See separate story.) Players, left to right, are Lauren Byers, Yolanda Anthony, Flodysha Peterson, Shante Brickhouse, Chelsea Woolfolk, Mindy Sharp, Shekeya Mervin, Tegra Hillman, and Brittney Jackson.

Peterson's Three Triple Doubles Lead Garrett To Md JUCO Championship

Flodysha Peterson put on a basketball clinic last weekend as she finished with triple doubles in each of three games in leading the top-seeded Garrett College women's basketball team to the Maryland JUCO Tournament championship at Anne Arundel by defeating Frederick Community College on Friday, CCBC Dundalk on Saturday, and Hagerstown Community College on Sunday.

In Friday's action, Peterson scored 21 points, grabbed 19 rebounds, and blocked 11 shots to lead Garrett to a 76-56 second-round win over Frederick in the first day of the tournament to avenge its only conference loss of the regular season.

To go along with Peterson's sensational night, Brittney Jackson put up a game-high 25 points and Tegra Hillman had nine assists and five steals.

In Saturday's game, Peterson finished her second triple triple of the tournament by scoring a game-high 29 points, grabbing 23 rebounds, and blocking 15 shots in leading Garrett to a 65-46 win over Dundalk. Peterson also copped eight steals and five assists.

Garrett led Dundalk by only two points at halftime, 27-25, but pulled away in the second half to win by 19. Hillman and Jackson had big games for the Lakers as each finished with a double double — Hillman by scoring 13 points and hauling down 14 rebounds, and Jackson by putting in 10 points and snatching 14 rebounds.

R. Shelly scored 15 points for Dundalk, and T. Lathe had 11.

In Sunday's championship game, Peterson ramped up her game again, scoring 26 points, retrieving 24 rebounds, and blocking 14 shots to lead Garrett to a 71-57 win over the second-seeded Hagerstown Hawks. Peterson also had seven steals and five assists.

Garrett jumped to an early first-quarter lead but had to overcome some early second-quarter trouble before finding the groove. Peterson had help from Jackson and Yolanda Anthony, who scored 17 points apiece. Jackson also grabbed nine rebounds. Hillman led the Lakers with eight assists and helped on the inside by grabbing 14 boards.

S. Kane led the Hawks with 21 points, and J. Robinson added 14.

"I am really proud of what my players accomplished this weekend," said Garrett coach Thea Garland. "Its great for the players as well as the school."

Garrett Women Muscle Their Way To Stunning 72-55 Win Over Potomac

The Garrett College women's basketball team muscled its way to a stunning 72-55 upset win over Potomac State College, snapping its 17-game winning streak Tuesday night at Garrett.

Flodysha Peterson was a formidable defensive force as she grabbed 30 rebounds, blocked nine shots, and copped six steals. Offensively, she scored 12 points and dished out six assists.

POTOMAC STATE (55)

Halftime - Garrett 34, Potomac State 26.
Three-point goals - Potomac State 2 (Washington 1, Lambert 1), Garrett 0. Totals fouls - Potomac State 23, Garrett 8. Fouled out - Henderson (Potomac State).

Tegra Hillman led a balanced Laker attack with 17 points; Yolanda Anthony scored 15, and Brittney Jackson put up 14. In addition, Anthony added eight steals and Hillman dished out eight assists.

Potomac State, 25-3, and No. 5 in the Division II national poll, fell behind 34-26 at halftime, and was never able to close the gap. Ellesse Washington scored a team-high 15 points; Katie Lambert dropped in 12 and Lauren Gilbert added 10.

"This was a good win for us," said Garrett head coach Thea Garland. "We're both entering the Region XX Tournament now and Potomac State is the number-one seed and we're number two. So this was a good test for us. Potomac State is a very good team."

Garrett will play Friday at 7 p.m. in the Region XX Tournament against either Southern Maryland or Frederick. (See separate story for more information.)

Flodysha Peterson Named To 2006-2007 All-Maryland JUCO First Team

Flodysha Peterson, the 5-10 sophomore forward phenom from Garrett College, was named to the 2006-2007 All-Maryland JUCO Women's Basketball team.

Peterson, who led the Garrett College women's basketball team to the 2006-2007 Maryland JUCO championship, finished the recent Maryland JUCO tournament with triple doubles in each of three games in leading her team to wins over Frederick Community College, CCBC Dundalk, and Hagerstown Community College.

Peterson, who was the league-leader in rebounding and field goal percentage, was also second in the league in scoring and third in the league with assists. In 17 games, Peterson scored 360 points for an average of 21.18 points per game. She attempted 257 shots while making 167 — a 65 percent field goal percentage. As the league-leader in rebounds, Peterson grabbed 297 for a 17.5 game average. She dished out 113 assists, averaging 6.6 per game.

Teammate Tegra Hillman was named to the All-Maryland JUCO second team. Hillman ranked second in the league with a total of 135 assists, averaging 7.9 per game.

In addition to Peterson, Ashley Loper, Cecil Community College, Christina Barnes, CCBC Dundalk, Deniese Campbell, Frederick Community College, and Leah Gonzalez, Allegany College, were named to the first team.

Along with Hillman, Jamie Robinson, Hagerstown Community College, Tiffany Edmundson, Prince George's Community College, Avis Ovoss, Anne Arundel Community College, and Brittany Vines, College of Southern Maryland, were named to the second team.

Garrett's Mindy Sharp was given honorable mention.

Garrett Women's Basketball Team Set to Play In Region XX Tourney

The second-seeded Garrett College women's basketball team is scheduled to play in the Division II Women's Region XX Basketball Tournament beginning this Thursday at Prince George's Community College. The winner of the regional tournament will progress to the national tournament in Phoenix, Ariz., March 14-17.

Garrett is slated to play the winner of the Thursday's match-up between seventh-seeded Cecil Community College and tenth-seeded Harford Community College. Game time is set for this Friday at 3 p.m. If Garrett wins, it will play the winner of Friday's match-up between third-seeded Hagerstown Community College and sixth-seeded Allegany Community College of Maryland this Saturday at 2 p.m. The winner will then advance to play in the championship game this Sunday at noon. All Division II games will be played at Prince George's Community College in Prince George's County Potomac State is the number-one seed, having a perfect 8-0 record against all teams in the tournament. Garrett, the number two-seed, has a 10-2 record against all other teams in the tournament.

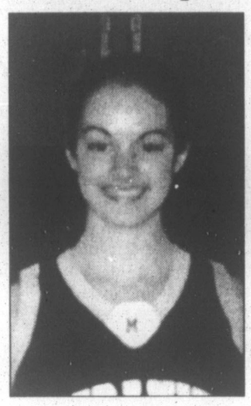
All-Region nominations are due to Jo Ann Todaro by Wednesday, Feb. 21. The Region XX women's basketball coaches' meeting is scheduled for Sunday, March 4, at 10 a.m., followed by the Region XX women's basketball All-Star game.

Robbin Gregg Key Player On McDaniel Squad



Playing a significant role in the outstanding success of the women's basketball team of McDaniel College, Westminster, this season has been Robbin Gregg, a former standout player for Southern High School.

Gregg, a 2004 graduate of Southern and a member of the Maryland state 1A championship team her senior season, scored a career-high 13 points Sunday to help the Green Terror defeat Franklin & Marshall, 86-72. It was the final regular-season game for McDaniel, which is currently ranked 21st in the nation.

It was also the 19th straight win for the Green Terror, which is now 23-2. McDaniel will host the 2007 Centennial Conference women's basketball championship tournament, set for this Saturday and Sunday at the Gill Center.

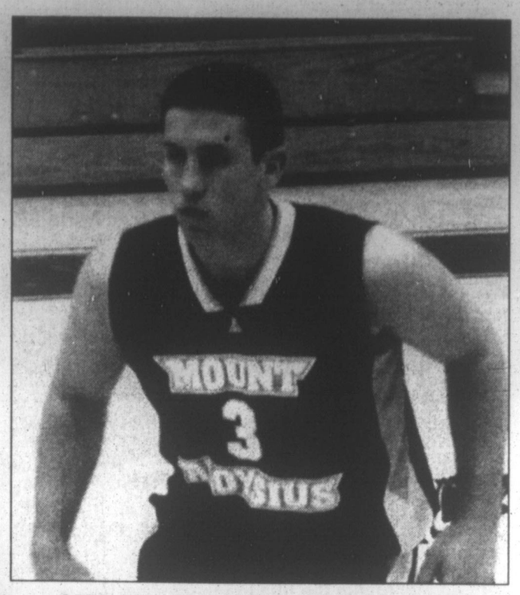
In Sunday's win over Franklin & Marshall, Gregg finished with "perfect" stats, going 5-for-5 from the field, with one three-point bucket, and she was 2-for-2 at the foul line.

For the season, Gregg has scored a total of 122 points, for an average of just under five per game. She has hit nine three-point shots, and is averaging just over 74% from the foul line. She also has 53 assists and 29 steals.

The 5-4 junior guard is the daughter of Fred and Carol Gregg, Oakland.

The top-seeded Green Terror, which is 17-1 in the conference standings, will host the winner of Wednesday's first-round game between Gettysburg and Ursinus in Saturday's first semifinal at 1 p.m. Dickinson will square off against Muhlenberg in the day's other semifinal, slated to begin at 3 p.m.

The championship game will tip off at 2 p.m. Sunday.



SETS COLLEGE HOOPS RECORDS – A.J. Bender, a former Southern Garrett High School basketball standout, recently concluded his collegiate basketball career in record-breaking fashion. Bender has played the point guard position for the past four years for Mount Aloysius College, a member of NCAA III and the Allegheny Mountain Collegiate Conference. Bender recorded 14 assists for the Mounties in a game versus the University of Pitt-Greensburg on Jan. 31 to set a record for most assists in one game since Mount Aloysius became a NCAA Div. III competitor. He then set the college's all-time career steals record with 166, shattering the old mark by 19 steals. During his senior season, he finished first in the AMCC conference in steals with 74 (2.96 pg), and also led the conference in the assist-to-turnover ratio (+2.04) category. He finished third in the conference in assists with 110 (4.4 pg), accumulating 248 assists in his four-year career. Also in his senior season, Bender scored 165 points (6.6 pg), hit 29 three-pointers, and shot 71% from the foul line. In high school, Bender played for Coach Tom Bosley's 2002 Area championship team, and as a senior he helped lead the Rams to the 2003 region finals and WMIL championship. He is the son of Lisa and Dave Bender, Mtn. Lake Park.

Garrett College To Hold Seminar On Wild Turkeys

Garrett College will offer a one-day seminar, "Wild Turkeys: A Study of the Behavior and Ecology of the Largest North American Game Bird," on Saturday, March 24, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Grantsville Senior Center.

This seminar is designed for outdoor enthusiasts who would like to learn how to better approach observing and hunting wild turkeys. The history of the wild turkey in North America will be discussed, as well as the restoration of turkey populations after their near extinction in the 1800s.

Bob Eriksen, supervising regional biologist with the National Wild Turkey Federation, and Bob Long, wild turkey and upland game bird biologist for the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, will present the seminar.

They will cover the vocalizations of these very social birds, present information on the natural history, reproduction and life cycle of wild turkeys throughout their range, discuss diseases and parasites affecting the birds, and describe their food habits.

Hunting techniques, regulations, hunting safety, calling, and habitat management will also be discussed.

McBEE DOES IT AGAIN – Wyatt McBee, who recently placed first in the West District Hoop Shoot by sinking 24 of 25 shots, repeated his remarkable performance in the boys' 12- to 13-year-old category in the state hoop shoot on Saturday at Whittier Recreation Center in Frederick, and once again took home the first place trophy. McBee, who represents Oakland Elks Lodge #2481, now advances to the regional hoop shoot contest that takes place on Saturday, March 17, in Frederick. Inadvertently, four local winners in the West District Hoop Shoot were not mentioned last week. In the 8- to 9-year-old category, Alexandra Miller and Matthew McCullough earned 5th place finishes. Miller hit 6 of 25 shots and McCullough hit 14 of 25. In the 10- to 11-year-old category, Megan Fitzwater placed 4th and Matt Myles placed fifth. Fitzwater hit 10 of 25 shots and Myles hit 11 of 25.

BI-COUNTY CHAMPS IN ACTION — The Southern Rams and Northern Huskies were dominant in this year's Bi-County Wrestling Championships, hosted Saturday by Beall High School, as the Garrett County grapplers won 10 of the 14 individual weight division titles. As a team, the Rams captured first place, while the Huskies finished third. These photos, taken by Del Carpenter, are of nine of the 10 champions during their title bouts, the only one inadvertently missed being that of Southern's Justin Ratliff, a reigning state champion, who won the title in the 160-pound division. In the photo directly above, Southern freshman George Scheffel is in the process of pinning Beall's Glenn Johnson to win the 103-pound division. Above center, Jason Warnick of Northern works his way toward a decision win over Justin Nichols of Fort Hill to take the 119-pound division crown. Above right, SHS Ram Daniel Carr controls Shawn Bennett of Fort Hill en route to a technical fall win and the title in the 140-pound division. Below left, Husky Dustin Stough rolls Austin Persons of Allegany and goes on to record a decision victory in the 145-pound final. Below center, Southern's Sean Sisler prepares to pin David White of Fort Hill to win the title in the heavyweight division. Below right, Northern's Andrew Ganoe tangles with Devin Brown of Allegany in the 152-pound final and ultimately earns a decision. At bottom center, 215-pound Brock Glotfelty of Northern earns riding time and eventually pins Bryan Oates of Fort Hill to win a championship. In the third-from-top photo at far right, Southern's Josh Armstrong ties up and ultimately pins Jacob Appel of Fort Hill to win the title in the 125-pound division. At the bottom, far right, Brandon Opel of Northern works his way to a point victory over Allegany's Garrett Christ in the 171-pound division final.

Ram Grapplers Win Bi-State Tournament; Huskies Third

Amassing 182 team points, the Southern High School wrestling team captured the team championship of the Bi-County Tournament, hosted by Beall High School on Saturday.

The win was particularly significant for the Rams and Coach Dave Taylor, as county rival Northern, which defeated the Rams three times this season and came into the Bi-County event undefeated in the regular season, finished in third place with 158.5 points. Host Beall placed second with 168 points.

Fort Hill finished fourth with 114 points, followed by Allegany with 63 and Westmar with 35.

Twelve of the Rams and 11 Northern Huskies qualified for the West Region 1A/2A championships, set for this weekend at North Hagerstown High School. The top eight finishers in each weight division at the regional level will advance to the state meet, which is set for March 2-3 at College Park.

The Rams won five individual titles at Saturday's Bi-County, two second places, three third places, and two fourth places.

Northern grapplers also had five individual champi-onships, one runner-up, three third-place finishes, and two fourth places.

Capturing individual titles for the Rams were George Scheffel, Josh Armstrong, Daniel Carr, Justin Ratliff, and Sean Sisler.

Scheffel, a freshman, won the 103-pound title by pinning Glenn Johnson of Beall in the final bout. Armstrong was the champion in the 125-pound division when he pinned Jacob Appel of Fort Hill. Carr recorded a technical fall over Shawn Bennett of Fort Hill to claim the title in the 140-pound division. Ratliff, a defending state champion, pinned Shane Chambers of Beall in the championship round of the 160-pound class. Sisler recorded a pin of David White in the title bout of the 285-pound division.

Southern's runners-up were freshman David Stewart, who was edged on points, 7-6, by Ryan Clark in the championship round of the 112-pound class; and sophomore Jordan Skipper, who lost a narrow, 11-9 decision to Beall's Steven Whetstone in the 135-pound final.

Garnering third places for the Rams were Josh Arnold, who pinned Westmar's Dave Cowan in the consolation round of the 119-pound class; Nicholas Brant, who recorded a 4-2 decision over Dillon Appel of Fort Hill in the consolation of the 130-pound division; and Cory Reckart, who out-pointed Garrett Lewis of Beall, 8-6, in the 145-pound consolation.

Also qualifying for the regional tournament for Southern were Ryan Fitzwater (171) and Nick Farmer (189), who both finished fourth.

Individual champions for the Northern Huskies were Jason Warnick, Dustin Stough, Andrew Ganoe, Brandon Opel, and Brock Glotfelty.

Warnick recorded a 9-5 decision over Fort Hill's Justin Nichols in the 119-pound final. Stough, a sophomore, decisioned Austin Persons of Allegany, 7-3, in the title round of the 145-pound division. Ganoe eked out a 5-4 win over Devin Brown of Allegany to win the 152-pound championship. Opel defeated Allegany's Garrett Christ on points, 6-2, to win the crown in the 171-pound division. Glotfelty, a current state runner-up, pinned Fort Hill's Bryan Oates in the final of the 215-pound division.

Northern's Travis Glover was the runner-up in the 130-pound division losing on points to Aaron Patterson of Beall in the final.

Placing third for the Huskies were sophomore Josh Duckworth, who pinned Westmar's Josh Beckner in the 112-pound division; freshman Adam Moranduzzo, who recorded a 12-1 decision over Bill Weisenmiller of Fort Hill in the 135-pound division consolation round; and Jason Doerr, who won a 6-2 decision over Southern's Farmer in the 189-pound consolation.

Finishing fourth and thus also qualifying for the regional tourney were Huskies Randy Wilhelm (125) and Kory Kamp (140).

The Rams and the Huskies captured 10 of the 14 individual division titles. The other four spots were all won by Beall wrestlers: Ryan Clark (112), Aaron Patterson (130), Steven Whetstone (135), and Noah DeVore (189).

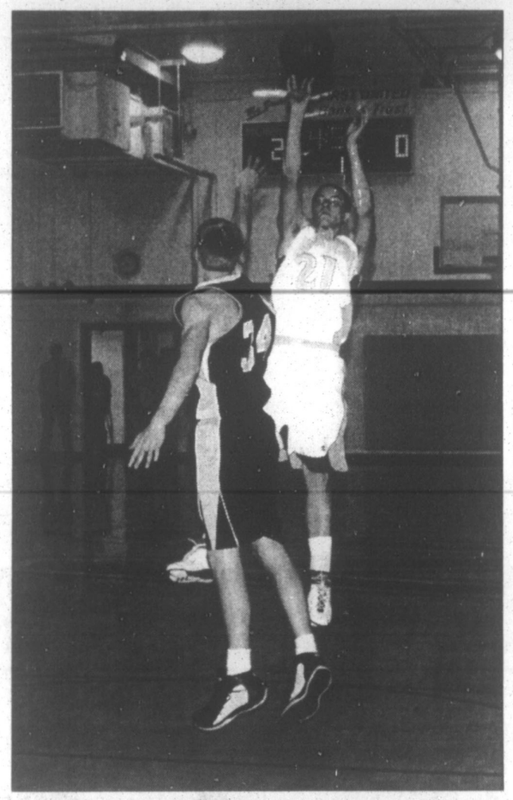
A FURIOUS COMEBACK FALLS SHORT – In its last regular-season home game against Tucker County, the Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team staged a furious fourth-quarter comeback that fell short and left the Huskies with a 63-56 loss. Pictured above, Lucas McMillan (#14), who scored 14 points, receives a pass from teammate Dan Miller (#14). Below, Kory Gibson (#21), who scored a team-high 17 points, launches a fall-away jump shot from the foul line. Northern dropped to 9-13, and will play at Westmar in the first round of the Maryland 1A West Region playoffs. (See separate story for additional information.) Photos by John McEwen.



Huskies Take Westmar, 59-42, Then Fall To Hancock And Tucker County

The Northern High school boys' varsity basketball team defeated Westmar Friday night, lost a heartbreaker to Hancock on Monday night, and fell to Tucker County on Tuesday night.

Kory Gibson hit three three-pointers on his way to scoring 19 points and leading the Northern to a 59-42 win over Westmar in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game Friday night.

Lucas McMillan added 13 points in helping the Huskies to a 25-point first quarter.

"We shot the lights out in the first quarter, and made four threes right off the bat to set the tone," Northern head coach Paul Edwards said. Once the Huskies were in the fourth quarter, they worked for the shots they wanted, he added.

Westmar was led in scoring by Sammy Brackett's 16 points and Jamie Stowell's 12.

The Northern jayvees won their game as Thomas Holtschneider scored a game-high 15 points.

In Monday night's action, Northern's furious, fourth-quarter rally was a little late and a little short, as the Huskies dropped a heart-breaker to Hancock by the score of 69-67.

Despite Kory Gibson's 22-point, six-rebound performance, Hancock's Steven Beaver and Josh Unger did better by combining for 69 points. Unger scored a game-high 31 points, hitting 10 field goals and 9 of 17 from the foul line. Beaver put up 24 points, including three-three pointers.

Northern jumped to a 17-11 first-quarter lead, but the Panthers outscored the Huskies 24-15 in the second quarter to take a 35-32 halftime lead. The Panthers continued to pull away from Northern by going on a 15-8 third-quarter run. Down by 10 points with eight minutes to go, the Huskies started to close the gap, falling short by two points in the final seconds.

Lucas McMillan was second to Gibson in scoring for Northern with 16 points. Dan Miller added 11, and Roland Fisher finished with five points and seven rebounds.

In Tuesday's action, Northern staged a furious fourth-quarter comeback, but could not close the gap, as it lost to Tucker 63-56 in its final regular-season game.

Tucker took a 15-9 first-quarter lead, and was up 34-28 at the half. Tucker outscored the Huskies 15-7 in the third period to take a healthy 49-35 lead into the fourth quarter. Trailing by 15, the Huskies rallied to within five points, but stalled their efforts to clinch their 10th win of the season.

Gibson led Northern with 17 points, and McMillan dropped in 14.

Eric Wamsley scored a game-high 24 points for Tucker, and L.J. Gravelle finished with 18.

Northern dropped to 9-13, and will play at Westmar in the first round of the Maryland 1A West Region playoffs. (See separate story for additional information.)

was driven by Adam Teach, 19, Walkersville.

Teach was traveling east on I-68, and as he approached the parked police car he tried to stop, but his truck started to slide on the snow-covered pavement and crashed into the rear of the police car, pushing it into the median, according to Sgt. W.L. Mowbray of the McHenry Barrack.

Police Sgt. D.W. Broadwater said that the heavy snowfall combined with Teach's attempts to avoid the collision were factors in the crash. The police car was totaled, and Villareal was transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Northern Garrett Rescue Squad.

Teach was charged with failure to reduce speed to avoid a collision and speed greater than reasonable for the conditions.

As I prepare for my second season in kart racing, I would like to look back to last year and thank the many people that made my dream to race a reality:

My parents Rick and Tanya, who believed in me even when I was black flagged and the nights that I didn't win, my sisters Kristen and Erin for going to the track and watching me go in circles, Grandma Sandy and in memory of Grandad Allan DeWitt whom I numbered my car after (58), Nana Pam and Pappy Squeek from Blue Star Bar & Grill, Hazelton WV, Pappy Dale and Rod, "Go Marines," Eric and Dorothy Sisler with Deep Creek Dock Works, McHenry, who gave me the start that I was hoping for!!!! Richie Marple, RAM Trucking, Oakland, thank you for setting the standards and watching me in a thrilling victory, and to Railey Realty for trusting in me as an individual!

Thanks to Nature's Own Landscaping, McHenry, Westmar Builders, McHenry, Jim's Brick, Oakland and Café 24 in Ohio.

A special thanks to Randy Murphy and Steve Cowgill for showing me that the spirit of racing and that having fun continue as you grow older!!! Thanks to Mike and Dylan Lewis for helping in setting up the kart, and to Tom Hardesty for having parts in a pinch. Thanks to Jim and Traci Redmond from Mountain Top Kartway, located off Foxtown Road near Bittinger, MD, for giving all of us a place to race, and most important a place to learn from our mistakes, responsibilities, team work and to have a place to come with our family and bond!!!

I have currently been working on this year's sponsorship and would like to thank Funland Go Karts and Miniature Golf located at Deep Creek Lake for coming aboard our team. I look forward to getting started in April, being that I placed second last year in points and know that there is room for improvement. We changed our color from red to a camouflage body with bright orange numbers. So look for the camo/orange #58 and meet me in the winner's circle!!!

Thanks, Chris Layton #58

Northern Falls To Frankfort And BW In Last Two Season Games

The Northern High School varsity girls' basketball team lost to second-ranked Frankfort last Friday, and then fell to Bishop Walsh Wednesday night.

In Friday's game, the Falcons crushed Northern, 62-28, in a game in which the Frankfort's four-year starter, Jenn Cessna, broke her older sister's all-time scoring record with a follow-up bucket in the final seconds of play.

Cessna's last-second shot gave her 19 points for the game and 1,430 career points, one better than Julie Cessna's 1,429 total.

Two other players for the Falcons scored in double figures — Lindsay Adams with 14 and Randi Bartlett with 10.

League-leading scorer Megan Wiley of Northern was held to 14 points, three points below her average.

In the final game of the season, Northern lost to Bishop Walsh for the second time this season by a score of 57-50.

Wiley recorded a double double for the Huskies, scoring a game-high 18 points and grabbing 10 rebounds. Brittany Stein added 12 points and Danielle Brenneman had eight.

Kelly Smith led Bishop with 13 points and 14 rebounds. Charma Harris put up 12 points, and Charissa Kelly added 11 to help Bishop Walsh (12-13) to its third straight win.

Bishop Walsh was up 12-10 after the first quarter, and led 26-24 at halftime. At the end of the third period Bishop Walsh led 40-36, and was able to hold on to the lead in the fourth quarter to clinch the win.

Northern won the jayvee game 37-25 to finish with an 11-7 season record. Justine Harvey scored 23 points and grabbed 11 rebounds to lead the Huskies.

Northern will host Fort Hill on Saturday at 7 p.m. in the first round of the Maryland Class 1A West Region playoffs. See separate story for additional information.

Maryland Class 1A West Region Playoffs To Begin This Weekend

The Maryland Class 1A West Region high school varsity basketball playoffs begin this weekend. The third-ranked Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team will host the sixth-ranked Allegany Campers in the first round of the playoffs on Friday, Feb. 23, at 7:00 p.m. Also in the first round, the fifth-ranked Northern Huskies will travel to play fourth-ranked Westmar on Friday at 7 p.m.

If Southern defeats Allegany, it will play second-ranked Beall in the semifinals on Monday, Feb. 26. The semifinal winners will meet on Wednesday, Feb. 28, in the championship playoff game.

If Northern defeats Westmar, it will face top-ranked Fort Hill in the semifinals on Monday, Feb. 26. The winner will move on to play for championship on Wednesday, Feb. 28.

In the west section of the Maryland Class 1A West Region Playoffs for girls, the top-ranked Southern High School varsity girls' basketball team has a bye in the first round. The third-ranked Northern Huskies will host sixth-ranked Fort Hill on Saturday, Feb. 24.

If Northern defeats Fort Hill, it will travel to play the second-ranked Allegany Campers in the semifinals on Tuesday, Feb. 27. If the Huskies win, they will play for the championship on Thursday, March 1.

The Southern Rams will face the winner of the Beall Westmar first round game. If the Rams win their semifinal match-up, they will play for the championship on Thursday, March 1. The site for the championship game will be determined at a later time.

The winners of the east region and west region will play for the region championship on Saturday, March 3. The site of the game will be determined at a later time.

SOUTHERN ENDS REGULAR SEASON ON HIGH NOTE – The Southern boys' varsity basketball team ended its regular season with a convincing 59-30 win over Bishop Walsh Tuesday night. Southern's huge lead allowed Coach Pacella to go to his bench. Pictured above, senior guard Martin Ryan (#25) gets into the action as he launches a 10-foot jump shot from the key, while juniors Ryan Sellers (#32) and Rett Rhodes (#44) look on. Southern Crushed By Top-Ranked Fort Hill, Then Whips Bishop Walsh

Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team dropped its 12th game of the season to top-ranked Fort Hill on Friday, then rebounded to take down Bishop Walsh on Tuesday.

In Friday's action, the Fort Hill Sentinels earned a tie for the Western Maryland Interscholastic League championship, their first since 2001, by scoring an impressive 82-54 win over Southern.

Jordan Brooks took control of the game, scoring 32 points and grabbing 12 rebounds. Brooks hit five three-pointers. The victory gave the Sentinels (19-2 overall, 8-2 WMIL) their eighth straight win since losing to Allegany on Jan. 19, and avenged an earlier season January loss to the Rams.

Currently, the Beall Mountaineers are 7-2 and the Allegany Campers are 6-2. For Beall to move into a tie for the championship with Fort Hill, it must defeat Allegany next Tuesday night. If Allegany wins, it must then defeat Westmar in order to tie the Sentinels for the championship. Of course, if Allegany defeats Beall but loses to Westmar, then Fort Hill would become the outright champions.

Fort Hill jumped to a 23-17 first-quarter lead, then outscored the Rams 17-5 in the second quarter to take a 40-23 halftime lead. Southern was unable to close the gap as Fort Hill outpaced the Rams in the third and fourth quarters, 19-16 and 23-16, respectively.

For Southern (8-12, 5-5), Tim Reams put up 12 points and Jordan Pacella added nine.

In addition to Brooks's 30-plus point performance, Zac Blank scored 16 points, Steven Iser had 10, and Ryan Brooks had nine.

In Tuesday night's game, Southern jumped to an early lead, then cruised to a 59-30 win over Bishop Walsh, as four Rams players — Jeff Stem, Reams, Pacella, and Erik Cussins — scored 10 apiece. Ryan DeWitt scored nine points and grabbed eight rebounds, and Pacella dished out six assists.

Valja Milosavljevic led Bishop Walsh with nine points.

Southern was up 18-4 after the first quarter, then went on a 19-2 second-quarter scoring spurt to take a 37-6 halftime lead.

Southern will host the Allegany Campers in the Maryland Class 1A West Region boys' basketball first-round playoffs this Friday at 7:00 p.m. (See separate story for additional information.)

The Rams are selling "Ram Rally Towels," and are asking that all fans show their support by bringing a "Rally Towel " to the game playoff game on Friday. Towels may be purchased at the school store and will be available at the door.

Southern Defeats Fort Hill, 56-33, Draws First-Round Bye In Playoffs

Adrienne Yoder recorded a double double, scoring 15 points and grabbing 10 rebounds to lead the Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team to a 56-33 win over Fort Hill in a Western Maryland Interscholastic League game Saturday afternoon.

With the victory, the Rams improved to 17-3, and moved into second place in the WMIL with an 8-2 record. Fort Hill fell to 2-17 overall, and 1-10 in the WMIL.

Besides Yoder, three other Rams players scored in double figures. Kerry Conroy and Shayna Sweitzer scored 11 points apiece and Brittany Boyce had 10. Conroy and Sweitzer each had five assists, and Conroy copped five steals.

Lindsey Fisher led the Sentinels with 15 points, and Leann Greise scored seven points and grabbed 10 rebounds. Becky Miller hauled down nine rebounds and scored four points.

The teams were tied 9-9 at the and of the first quarter and Southern took a 22-20 halftime lead. The Rams went on a 16-6 third quarter run, and led 38-26 going into the fourth quarter.

Southern won the jayvee game 41-25 as Brittany Slagle scored 10 points for the Huskies.

Southern has a bye in the first round of the west section of the Maryland Class 1A West Region playoffs. The top-ranked Rams will face the winner of the Beall Westmar first-round game. (See separate story for additional information.)

Laker Baseball Team To Open Season This Week In Richmond

A three-day, six-game tournament beginning this Friday in Richmond, will open the 2007 campaign of the Garrett College baseball team, marking the 30th anniversary of GC baseball.

This season also marks the first back-to-back recruiting classes in the three-year tenure of Laker coach Eric Hallenbeck.

The Lakers will try to finish a season with a record of over .500 for the first time since the 2000 campaign, when they recorded a mark of 25-18 and were runners-up in the region.

With 11 returning players from a year ago, eight transfer players, and what appears to be a solid freshman group of recruits, Coach Hallenbeck foresees "an exciting season."

"We have some real experience back this year," he said. "Over the past two seasons I had a total of 12 sophomores. But this year alone we have 16, with 13 of them getting a lot of playing time last year.

"The time is now for us to get our program turned around," he continued. "We have received a strong and much appreciated commitment from the college, which was helping us fund a new indoor baseball facility, clubhouse, jayvee program, and additions to the coaching staff."

The coach said that for all of these reasons, he believes that the 2007 team will record more wins than did other Laker teams in recent years.

One concern of Hallenbeck is the lack of experience on the pitcher's mound, where only two starters are back from last year.

"We will go only as far as our pitching will take us," he said, "but we have five newcomers who are looking to crack into our rotation. All of them at times threw the ball well in the fall, so I think once they get some real innings under their belts, we will be fine."

Among the team's strengths is overall speed, which Hallenbeck says is the best he has seen so far at Garrett.

"I think we will hit the ball well, and defensively we are solid," he said. "We like to play an aggressive style of ball, so we will need for our pitching staff to keep games close for that style to work for us.

"I feel good about our team chemistry," he said. "With a couple breaks here and there, we will be in the thick of things."

Following this weekend's tournament, the Lakers are scheduled to play 10 doubleheaders on the road before finally opening their home season on March 24.

Cystic Fibrosis Ski Race Nets $1,435 For CFF

The fourth annual Cystic Fibrosis Ski and Snowboard Race, held at the Wisp ski area on Saturday, involved 70 racers between the ages of 3 and 64 on a giant slalom course on Squirrel Cage. The event raised $1,435, 100% of which will go directly to the CF Foundation and will be used to find new treatments and for research toward a cure for the disease.

Cystic fibrosis is a genetic, currently incurable disease that affects over 30,000 in the U.S. Nearly 1,000 children are diagnosed with this disease on a yearly basis.

Sponsors of the race who donated prizes were: High Mountain Sports, Ski North (Wexford, Pa.), Honi-Honi Bar, Pittsburgh Pirates, Rudy's at Wisp, Brenda's Pizzeria, Garrett College Bookstore, Schneider Downs (Pittsburgh), Underwater Wear Inc., the Pittsburgh Steelers, Santa Fe Grille, Black Bear Tavern, Baltimore Orioles, and the Baltimore Ravens.

Organizers noted appreciation to Jeff Verszyla from KDKA TV in Pittsburgh for being the guest announcer, the Wisp, and to Greg Rouse and his team, who helped with setting the race course.

Following are the top finishers in each age group.

Wins Award

spend three days participating in ceremonies and activities. Included is an EPA Luncheon and Awards Ceremony, a bus tour of the D.C. monuments, meeting with various dignitaries to share a display of their project, and a trip to the White House to meet President George Bush.

The fifth grade students wrote persuasive letters to their principal encouraging her to nominate them for the PEYA. In those letters they reflected on their role in the development of the Environmental Education Laboratory (EEL), discussed what they have learned about the environment, and why the project was such a good idea.

Dr. Dana McCauley and fifth grade teacher Mrs. Becky Sanders compiled the letters and submitted the names of each fifth grade student, as part of the Crellin Corps of Discovery, for the award.

Crellin Community "Corps of Discovery" is a dedicated group of students, community members, organizations, and local, state, and federal agencies that are committed to protecting the natural resources of their community and engaging students to provide meaningful learning opportunities.

Corps of Discovery has successfully garnered support from over 12 organizations and over $175,000 in grant funds and cooperative agreements to restore Snowy Creek, which runs adjacent to the school, from acid mine drainage damage.

Their vision was to maximize their opportunities and utilize the stream restoration project as an educational tool for the students, community, and county. The majority of this vision will be realized in spring 2007, with the completion of a wetland boardwalk for better access to a variety of ecological communities.

Throughout the year Crellin students participate in activities that enrich their knowledge of Maryland's watersheds. Because the school is found along Snowy Creek, which flows into the Youghiogheny River, students have unique outdoor learning opportunities.

Through an integrated environmental education approach, students are gaining first hand experience and knowledge about ecological principles such as watersheds, acid mine drainage (AMD), historical natural resource uses, biological and chemical stream monitoring, riparian buffers, and wetlands. Additionally, Crellin has adopted "green" practices such as water conservation, recycling, and reducing waste.

"These intimate experiences have created a sense of responsibility and stewardship that will transfer to any watershed in which they come in contact," commented McCauley. "Our project will continue to engage parents and community members, which leads to raised awareness and increased knowledge in watershed issues."

The EEL at Crellin Elementary is an outdoor classroom created in conjunction with a stream restoration project to address AMD seeps on the property located behind the school. It has been designed with student learning in mind by Joby Tasker, Deep Creek Design Studio, after meeting with community members and school personnel who shared their vision with him.

Components of the AMD restoration project, such as restoring the riparian buffer with native vegetation and constructing AMD treatment ponds, have allowed teachers to incorporate school curriculum outside the school walls and provide meaningful hands-on learning experiences on site.

Teachers are working with environmental and content specialists from Garrett College, Canaan Valley Institute, Maryland Department of Natural Resources and the Youghiogheny Watershed Association to create age-appropriate lessons that correspond to the Maryland curriculum.

In the past four years students have participated in three summer science camps at Crellin Elementary. These camps focused on exploring the schoolyard habitat by planting a native butterfly garden, building bat boxes, exploring the riparian area, stream restoration, and chemical and biological testing to determine stream quality.

Students have also worked with Oglebay Institute biologists on identifying ferns and collecting data on crayfish. In the fall of 2005, fifth grade students collected baseline data on newly planted native trees in the EEL using grade-appropriate math and measurement skills.

These data will be gathered annually to help track the progress of the restoration project. During all these experiences students have documented their learning in journals and through the creation of presentations.

SHS Class Of 1957 Planning 50th Reunion

The Southern High School graduating class of 1957 will have its 50th year reunion on Aug. 4. The planning committee for this celebration has met several times and is now in the process of gathering information to update the yearbook, a spokesperson said.

All class members who have not responded to the questionnaire for the yearbook update are encouraged to do so as soon as possible.

The planning committee is also seeking help in locating the following class members: Donald Grubb, Lowell Kessel, Anita Sleeth, and Alice Hefner.

For more information, persons may contact Cathy Sanders at 301-334-4580 or Mary Harvey at 301-334-2619.

Luncheon Honors Grant's Service At Garrett Memorial

Rev. John Grant was recently recognized at the annual Chaplaincy Recognition Luncheon, where he stated, "I really enjoy visiting the patients at Garrett County Memorial Hospital." He was honored for nearly 40 years of continuous service to GCMH.

"The chaplain's program is integral to the work we do," says Don Battista, president and CEO of GCMH. "It's a chance to evangelize to patients who may not otherwise have an opportunity."

A native of Garrett County, Grant left the area for a stint in the Army Air Force during World War II. Upon being discharged, he attended West Virginia University, where he earned a degree in engineering before attending the seminary in Philadelphia, Pa. and graduate school at the University of Pennsylvania.

Upon his return to the area, Grant began volunteering at GCMH in 1970 as part of his ministry at St. John's Episcopal Church in Deer Park. He continued his service at GCMH when he was invited to join the Hospital's Chaplaincy Program, which was formally created in 1985. "I've been with it ever since," he explains.

After spending 20 years as pastor at St. John's Episcopal Church, Grant officially retired in 1990, but he continues to visit patients at GCMH on a regular basis.

"Our patients are so fortunate to have caring individuals like Rev. Grant making visits to the hospital," commented Kathy Greaser, director of volunteer services at GCMH. "The chaplains are an important part of the healthcare team that cares for our patients every day."

Today, the Garrett County Memorial Hospital Chaplaincy Program consists of nearly 30 members representing most local denominations.

For more information on the chaplain's program or to become a volunteer, persons may contact Kathy Greaser at 301-533-4178.

In Loving Memory of Pauline Lewis
Feb. 8, 1921 - Feb. 27, 2006

You were a precious gift from God above, so much beauty, grace and love.
You touched our hearts in so many ways, with smiles and hugs on all our good and bad days.
We will ever cherish each stitch your hands did make,
a lasting memory that life can never take.
You heard God's whisper calling you home for His own,
but you didn't want to go and leave us alone.
You loved us so much that you held on tight,
'til all your strength was gone and you could no longer fight.
So you gave your hand to God and quietly drifted away, knowing that we will all be together again one day.
We will cherish your memory and let it live on.
your legacy of love and sacrifice we pray to carry on.
As each day passes we know we're never apart, for every time we think of you, you'll be right in our heart.

We love you and miss you,
Your loving husband, Lawrence;

THE GREY SQUIRREL has never been considered among the intellectual giants of the animal kingdom, unless, of course, one is referring to their unmatched skills at figuring out how to obtain sustenance out of a bird feeder. In this endeavor they seem to know all the tricks. This fellow was photographed at the feeder of Willie Rissell in the Turkey Neck area of Deep Creek Lake, chomping away on bird seed via the drain holes in the bottom of a seemingly secure, rodent-proof feeder.

THE IMPORTANCE OF MOUTH GUARDS

by Cynthia Heselbach, RDH
Garrett County Health Department

While the shopping list for children's sports may seem endless and costly, there is one inexpensive item that should not be overlooked. When picking out the proper baseball glove, soccer cleats, and apparel, make sure that your list includes an appropriate mouth guard.

A mouth guard is a flexible piece of plastic that fits over the upper teeth to protect them from injury when a person is playing sports. An athlete is 60 times more likely to injure his teeth when not wearing a mouth guard. Mouth guards should be worn for any sports-related activities that may pose a risk of falls or contact with other players or equipment, which includes non-contact sports such as gymnastics and skateboarding.

Sixty percent of facial injuries occur during sports practice. Those who play football, lacrosse, and hockey are generally required to wear mouth guards. Surprisingly, the oral injury rate for football players is lower than for all other sports, including women's basketball, because the players are required to wear mouth guards. Basketball and baseball account for nearly half of all sports-related mouth injuries.

There are three types of mouth guards to choose from. A stock mouth guard is sold in sporting goods stores in varying sizes and is held in place by simply biting down. The "boil-and-bite" mouth guard is the most common and can also be found in sporting goods stores. These are softened in boiling water and then formed to fit the mouth. Finally, a dentist can make a custom-made mouth guard; although these are the most expensive, they are also the best for preventing oral injury.

When choosing a mouth guard, make sure that it is flexible, durable, comfortable, and resistant to tears. It should fit properly, not obstruct breathing or speaking, and be odorless and tasteless. A good mouth guard should also be easy to clean.

Remember that a mouth guard is much less expensive and a lot less painful than to repair a broken tooth. More than 200,000 injuries are prevented each year by wearing appropriate mouth protection.

For more information about children's dental health, please contact the Garrett County Health Department's Dental Care Center at 301-334-7660.

Garrett College Business Intern Program Begins

A business internship program was started at Garrett College last week, with eight students working in various departments at the college and at the visitors center of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

The focal points of the internship included: Accounting/Finance/Management; Human Resources; Facilities Management; Information Technology; and Marketing. The internship program is a required course for students majoring in the Business Management Associate's of Applied Science program. Classes started in January with two weeks of career preparation, including writing and evaluating resumes, and interview preparation and practice.

Students were first interviewed by college and chamber personnel, and then assigned to their internships. They are expected to give biweekly electronic feedback on their experiences and learning.

Participants will work 90 hours during the semester, and at the end of this period, students will prepare and present what they learned, what they liked and didn't like, and how the internship is applicable to their respective career paths.

Mike Kilgus, Garrett College dean of administration and interim director for the Business and Information Technology Department, developed the internship program with Judy Carbone, Garrett's coordinator of career services and global education, in an effort to link coursework taken at the college to real-life business environments.

"The goal of this program is to link the coursework these students have taken at Garrett to real business environments," said Kilgus. "This internship allows the student to not only learn the theory, but also to put the theory into practice and ultimately graduate with real-world business experience on their resumes – a necessity when seeking professional business positions."

Kilgus and Carbone hope to expand the internship to willing and interested local businesses in the county. Ideally, these students may find their career interests and positions in Garrett County based on performance in their internships.

"The chamber of commerce is pleased to be part of this new initiative by Garrett College," said Charlie Ross, president and CEO. "Education to ensure a better future for Garrett County's young people is one of the chamber's priorities.

"Mike [Kilgus] spoke at the chamber's membership retreat two years ago about the possibility of starting this type of study, and members expressed interest in such a program," he said. "Now it is a reality. We want our interns to enter the workforce with the necessary fundamentals to be successful, as well as improve their knowledge of the business world and have more confidence in their abilities."

Soup Sale Slated At Senior Center

The Mary Browning Senior Center will hold an "all-you-can-eat" soup sale fundraiser on Friday, March 2, from 4:30 to 7 p.m.

Soups offered will be cream of potato with bacon, vegetable beef, Manhattan clam chowder, red pepper, cream corn chowder, and bunkhouse chili. The cost is $6 and includes a complimentary tossed salad, choice of cornbread or dinner roll, dessert, and a beverage.

Carry-outs will be available by the quart for select soups for $4. All proceeds benefit the Garrett County Meals on Wheels Program.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 135.

GCSI Elects Founding Board Of Directors

While meeting in Oakland on Saturday, Feb. 10, the acting board of directors of the Garrett Charter School Initiative Inc. (GCSI) nominated and elected 11 members to its founding board of directors.

The founding board members are Natalie Atherton; Kimberly A. Connaughton, president; Katherine Dubansky; Erin Gambetta; Kristiann Germain; Robin Good; Keela Pfaff, secretary; Elyzabeth Savage; Carolyne Stolzenfels; Matt Taylor, vice president; and Carla Tesar.

GC CHARTER SCHOOL ELECTS FOUNDING BOARD OF DIRECTORS – Garrett Charter School Initiative Inc. (GCSI) was established in 2005 by parents interested in starting a charter school to provide Garrett County residents with an alternative educational option for their children. GCSI recently elected 11 members to its founding board of directors. Pictured above, clockwise from center, are: Natalie Atherton, Robin Good, Kimberly Connaughton (president), Kristiann Germain, Carolyn Stolzenfels, Keela Pfaff (secretary), and Matt Taylor (vice president) holding son Cooper. See story for details.

Originally created as a parent cooperative in 2005, the GCSI sought to increase available educational choices offered to county residents and their children. The parent cooperative decided to establish a charter school, which by definition is a free, public school open to all students.

The Garrett Charter School will initially address the needs of the county's primary grade students. With emphases on academics, character, and applied knowledge, as well as on the arts, humanities, and environmental stewardship, the GCSI will seek to capitalize on and amplify Garrett County's many strengths, noted a spokesperson.

Among these strengths are Garrett County's sense of community. With the direct involvement and input of parents, teachers, and volunteers, the charter school seeks to become a setting for active, applied, and relevant learning for its students.

GCSI is seeking parents, educators, and community partners who are willing to help with this endeavor.

For more information interested persons may call 301-616-9693 or visit GCSI's web site at www.garrettcharterschool.org.

Real Estate Sales Course Scheduled At Garrett College

"Real Estate Principles and Practices for Salespersons" will be offered beginning March 26 at Garrett College in the Center for Community and Continuing Education. The course will meet on Monday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 9:15 p.m., and Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. through May 5. There is no class on April 7.

The instructor will be Nancy J. Trotta, who is an associate broker, sales manager, and educator with Railey Realty. Trotta has 19 years of real estate experience and has taught this course for the college since 2002.

Classes are designed to prepare individuals for the Maryland Real Estate Examination to become licensed real estate salespersons. The course meets the requirements of and is approved by the Maryland Real Estate Commission, according to a college spokesperson.

Topics to be covered include principles of real property, the landlord-tenant relationship, rules of agency and listings, transfer of title, title insurance, appraising, finance, human rights and community relations, basic mathematics, disclosure, and hazardous substances. License law, regulations, and ethics will be stressed throughout the course.

The deadline for registration is March 15. For information on the cost or to register, persons may call Kista Wilt at 301-387-3069, or stop by the Garrett College Continuing Education and Workforce Development office, McHenry campus.

Area On Aging Schedules Day, Multi-Day Trips

The Garrett County Area Agency on Aging has scheduled its day and multi-day trips for 2007. A trip to the Mountain Playhouse in Jennerstown, Pa., to see Steel Magnolias is slated for Friday, June. 15. The package includes transportation, matinee performance, and lunch at Green Gables Restaurant.

A "factory tours" trip is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 21. This package includes transportation, tours of the Fenton glass art factory in Williamstown, W.Va., and the Lee Middleton doll factory in Belpre, Ohio, and lunch at DaVinci's Restaurant.

A two-night, three-day trip to Niagara Falls is also slated for Nov. 28-30. The package includes transportation, hotel accommodations on the Canadian side of the falls, meals, a visit to Casino Niagara and the Imax Theatre, and Niagara Fall's "Festival of Lights" spectacular.

For pricing and more information on the trips or to reserve bus seats, persons may call Leona Lavin at 301-334-9431, ext. 139, or 888-877-8403.

Local Residents On Governor's "Green Bag" List

Gov. Martin O'Malley submitted a list of 145 "green bag" nominations to the Maryland Senate last Friday for state boards and commissions. The list includes local residents Lois A. Martin and Paul L. Kolb, who have been nominated for reappointment to the Garrett County Board of Elections.

O'Malley's list also includes nominees for the State Board of Contract Appeals, the Maryland Stadium Authority, the University System of Maryland Board of Regents, the Morgan State University Board of Regents, and the Workers Compensation Commission.

"I am proud to nominate these outstanding candidates to fill key posts in Maryland's state government," said O'Malley. "We have worked hard to compile a diverse list of individuals from across our state to help make government work again for the people of Maryland."

The term "green bag" derives from the historical green satchel that is used once every year to bring the gubernatorial nominations to the Senate. When not in use, the bag is stored at the Maryland State Archives. It is state tradition that a senior member of the governor's staff delivers the "green bag" to the Senate.

This year, appointments secretary Jeanne Hitchcock delivered the bag to Senate President Pro Tem Nathaniel J. McFadden.

"On behalf of Governor O'Malley and Lt. Governor Brown, it is my honor to present the Maryland Senate with this year's green bag appointments," Hitchcock told McFadden. "I know that every one of these nominees will work hard to move our state forward."

Among the 145 nominees are Allegany County sheriff David A. Goad, who is being nominated to the Maryland Police Training Commission; Fred Puddester, Maryland Stadium Authority; Otis Rolley III, Maryland Stadium Authority; Congressman Elijah E. Cummings and Kweisi Mfume, Morgan State University Board of Regents; C. Thomas McMillen, James L. Shea, and Orlan M. Johnson, University System of Maryland Board of Regents; and Patricia G. Adams, Kimberly S. Ward, and Jeffrey T. Weinberg, Workers Compensation Commission.

A full list of nominees is available online at gov.state.md.us/pressreleases/070216b.html.

Introduction of new car in Cup could yield changes in Busch Series

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Daytona Beach, Fla.

NASCAR's Car of Tomorrow, which will be phased in this season in Nextel Cup, has few fans in the Cup garage, but there are plenty who like it on the Busch Series side.

That's because longtime Busch drivers and owners believe the introduction of the car in the Cup circuit at Bristol next month will spur an exodus of powerful Cup teams from the Busch Series, where they have dominated the racing in recent seasons. In the past two years, Cup teams and drivers, using the Busch Series primarily as a testing ground for their Cup efforts, have won all but three races and both championships.

But with the Car of Tomorrow coming into the Cup Series on a limited basis this season — and not in Busch — there won't be nearly as much information gained by the Cup teams. That could lead to greater chances for Busch teams and drivers to win.

"I think it'll make all the difference in the world," veteran Busch crew chief Ricky Pearson said. "I don't think you'll see a lot of Cup drivers over here trying to learn something."

But that doesn't mean the Busch Series immediately will return to the days when it had its own identity and wasn't regarded as something of a "knock-off" Nextel Cup. The problem then could become a shortage of cars at some events.

"I won't be surprised if there are some short fields because of so few Busch owners," Pearson said, citing the disappearance during the years of one Busch Series owner after another.

Of the 51 entries for last Saturday's Orbitz 300 at Daytona International Speedway, all but eight had direct ties to Nextel Cup teams. The top 12 finishers were full-time Cup drivers, and 13th-place Scott Wimmer races for Richard Childress Racing, which fields three Cup teams, including one for Orbitz 300 winner Kevin Harvick.

Pearson, whose driver Brent Sherman finished 21st in the Orbitz 300 — it was the best of the teams with no direct Cup affiliations — said NASCAR should have placed limitations on the participation of Cup drivers and teams in Busch races before the series got so one-sided.

"If drivers are in the top 35 in points in the Cup series, they shouldn't be allowed to have a guaranteed spot over here," he said. "Let them race for the 13 spots [behind the 30 that are locked in based on owner points]. That's enough Cup drivers over here. Let 'em race their way in."

NASCAR spokesman Kerry Tharp said officials are reluctant to place limitations on Busch participation because they don't want to deny fans a chance to see their favorite drivers, most of whom are Cup regulars.

The conversion to the new Car of Tomorrow in the Cup Series could have ramifications for the Busch Series.
NASCAR

Surprisingly, Kyle Busch said there should be some limits, even though he races competitively in both series.

"[NASCAR] needs to come up with a rule that states how many races we can run," he said. "Make it 10 races. Let us pick the 10 races, and in those races we have to fight to get in the show. If we're not fast enough, we don't deserve to be in the race."

Busch said he and other Cup drivers double-dip race in Busch to learn tricks about the tracks and the tires so they'll be faster in their Cup cars.

He said racing in the Busch Series is "90 percent learning for Cup car, 5 percent fun and 5 percent money."

David Green, a veteran Busch Series veteran and the circuit's 1994 champion, is hoping a new TV package will help NASCAR's No. 2 circuit establish its own identity.

"We're all hopeful that with the new TV deal with ESPN2 that we can paint a picture week-in and week-out that's all about the Busch Series owners and drivers, and oh, by the way, we do have Cup drivers over here," Green said.

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some key story lines as the Cup Series heads to California.

Out of the shadows

In winning the Daytona 500, Kevin Harvick took one more step away from the long shadows of the late Dale Earnhardt.

Harvick, who took over the flagship Chevrolet at Richard Childress Racing after Earnhardt's death in 2001, drove for the past six years with Earnhardt's longtime sponsor, GM Goodwrench, on his car.

But this year, he's racing under the yellow colors of Shell, the new sponsor of his No. 29 Chevy.

But he said that despite the change in car color and sponsor, it's still the people behind the scenes who make race cars into winners.

"No matter what the colors, GM Goodwrench and Dale Earnhardt and Richard [Childress] are the people that got RCR to the point that it is today," Harvick said. "Things change and sponsors change, and we had to move forward. But winning is what makes the shadow less, and being successful on the race track and making things happen."

But he said he doesn't ever want those shadows to completely disappear.

"None of us ever want to get rid of anything that ever happened at RCR," he said.

Empty seats

There's a good chance there will be thousands of empty seats for Sunday's Nextel Cup race at California Speedway, but there's plenty of debate about what the problem could be and how to fix it.

NASCAR Chairman Brian France said NASCAR track owners are selling more tickets than ever, but there are empty seats because NASCAR has added events in the Southwest.

"We've added a lot of events there," France said, citing second races being added at Texas, California and Phoenix. "That's a lot of supply coming online in just two or three years of time. It takes a little while to absorb that."

Tony Stewart, a NASCAR driver who owns three dirt tracks, said California Speedway's ticket-selling shortcoming is because "they don't have me promoting it."

"There is so much stuff out there entertainment-wise you have to go out and sell your product," he said. "It's not like you build it and they will come. You have to go out there and convince these people that your show is better to go to than what somebody else has."

But he acknowledged that California historically hasn't been a strong racing market.

"There are not a lot of dirt tracks there," he said. "I'm not sure the interest in racing is as high out there as it is in the Midwest, the East Coast or the Southeast."

Crackdown aftermath

NASCAR took a public-relations hit last week, with story after story about teams cheating, but many feel that the sanctioning body has come out looking OK.

"I think it's been a bad week for our sport," driver Jeff Burton said. "We should be talking about how competitive the racing is going to be."

But he doesn't blame NASCAR and its officials.

"I'd like to believe they're just trying to make sure the sport is fair," he said. "For our sport to be what it needs to be, they need to police it."

Foreign appeal

Juan Pablo Montoya, the Colombian Formula One driver who is making an unprecedented move to NASCAR, seems to be going out of his way to win over fans and media.

Montoya has been gregarious with media members he hardly knows. He sometimes walks through the fan paddock by himself, something most NASCAR stars rarely do.

NASCAR fans, from all appearances, have taken an immediate liking to him, too. At least he thinks so.

"The fans have been great to me," he said. "It's amazing to see. I think it's a cool thing. It's something I didn't expect as much of."

He theorizes that NASCAR fans, most of whom are interested in the technical aspects of the sport, appreciate the way he's shown respect for NASCAR racing, which some people consider inferior to the open-wheel circuit he left.

"I think, generally, all of the fans have respected me a lot, because I really respect their sport," he said. "It's great how passionate they are."

He said that unlike Formula One fans, many NASCAR followers stay in motorhomes at the tracks and soak up the entire experience.

"That's something in Europe fans can't do," he said.

HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE

A look at some of the people who shaped the sport

Dale Inman a role model for crew chiefs

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

When it comes to NASCAR crew chiefs, there have been some crafty ones through the years. Leonard Wood led the Wood Brothers in their heyday. Ray Evernham helped make Jeff Gordon a star. Harry Hyde spearheaded the effort for Tim Richmond and others. Chad Knaus has been an integral part of Jimmie Johnson's success, and Greg Zipadelli has done the same for Tony Stewart.

But none have had the success that Dale Inman has enjoyed through the years. He has a series-leading eight championships — seven with his first cousin Richard Petty and another with Terry Labonte. Most of Petty's 200 victories came with Inman as crew chief.

Cox News Service

Today, Inman is still in the Nextel Cup garage, but his duties aren't as stressful. At age 70, he works as a consultant for Petty Enterprises. He stands off to the side at the tracks, carefully observing the Petty team and the competition throughout the weekend. He's not directly involved in the preparation of the cars, either in the shop or at the track.

He said the duties of crew chiefs have changed dramatically from the days when he and a crew of six prepared Petty's cars and Inman drove the hauler to tracks across the nation.

"When I was a crew chief, I had to work," he said. "It's altogether different today. It's the same 500-mile races today, and you have to figure the fuel mileage, the tire wear, but there's more for the crew chiefs to look out for."

Inman said that some things haven't changed. It still takes a combination of old-school racing knowledge and the use of the latest technology to lead a winning team.

"The crew chief should be the smartest one on the block," he said.

Inman said that although he's not on the front lines anymore, he still enjoys the atmosphere of the NASCAR garage.

"I enjoy being at the race track, seeing the people, the cars, the workmanship that goes into it," he said. "I just don't like the travel."

He said that of all the races he ever won as a crew chief, including seven Daytona 500s, the one that stands out was the Motor Trend 500 at Riverside, Calif., in 1969.

"It was our first race with Ford after we'd been with Chrysler for so long," he said. "That stands out pretty big for me."

Catching up with …

BRIAN FRANCE

NASCAR Chairman Brian France met with members of the media, including Rick Minter from Cox News Service, at Daytona International Speedway last week to provide NASCAR's state of the sport.

On teams getting caught cheating at Daytona: "You can expect, with 120 cars, thousands of rules that are out there, that some teams are either going to intentionally cross the line or inadvertently cross the line. Either way, it's our job to protect the integrity of the sport. … Now whatever it takes ought to be measured. … You've still got to have the punishment fit the crime as well as be a deterrent. So we'll balance that. But as these penalties or as these infractions become more frequent, you will see us undeniably step up the punishment."

On whether the Car of Tomorrow will offer fewer opportunities for teams to try to circumvent the rules: "We think so. … I think the Car of Tomorrow should go a long way, and there ought to be less room to have any confusion. I do think the Car of Tomorrow is going to allow us a chance to have less gray area than there is today."

On whether NASCAR will be racing in the New York City area within the next 10 years: "I hope so. Obviously there's been a setback in the Staten Island situation that [International Speedway Corp.] was trying to develop. As they told me, they certainly have not given up on the New York market.

"They're hard at work trying to figure out the next opportunity there. It's important to the sport to be in New York City, for obvious reasons. I don't want to put a timeline on it. It's a very difficult project."

On whether NASCAR has reached a plateau: "I don't think we've plateaued at all. I think we had a lot of things that were coming in '07, that are coming right now, that weren't there in '06. We had obviously some TV partners that had other priorities at the time, rather than us, once those decisions were made. It was reasonable for us to assume we were going to sort of cycle around here."

NASCAR
NASCAR Chairman Brian France addresses numerous issues with reporters last week at Daytona International Speedway. He indicated the sport is strong and poised for growth.

On whether NASCAR will make significant changes to the Car of Tomorrow in midyear if the car does not meet expectations: "We'll make changes if we think they can be helpful right away. They may be small changes you won't really hear a lot about. But we'll make those changes."

On the growth of the sport — new Fortune 500 companies coming in — on one hand and a decline in TV ratings on the other: "My view on television ratings … we look at a little bit longer cycle or window than maybe you would think we would. TV ratings, depending on story lines, and other competing things that are going around, are going to go down and up a little bit. We don't get too hung up on it. We went down a little bit.

"We look over a long period of time — two, three, four, five years — trending the right way. You're going to have two steps forward, one step back occasionally."

Please Attend this Seminar

How often do we receive notices of opportunities to attend special seminars? You've probably seen those glossy, colorful brochures. How about "Peace through Meditation", or "Up the Corporate Ladder with Yoga"? Juggling countless activities between home and work keeps us moving. We all seek to better our performance and stay calm and composed under all the pressure.

Keep the faith…literally. In Isaiah 26:3-4 we read, "You will keep in perfect peace him whose mind is steadfast, because he trusts in you." As we go about performing our daily tasks, we can be enveloped in a special serenity when we carry our faith in God with us.

Secular seminars are indeed valuable to our personal and professional well being, but remember to take advantage of the spiritual "seminar" at your house of worship each week. It will bring you peace.

Wrestling With God: Jacob and Job

In the 32nd chapter of Genesis, there is an intriguing account of a wrestling match between Jacob and God, or possibly an angel of God. Jacob wrestles with God all night long, and at dawn, Jacob is told that he shall henceforth be called Israel, for "you have striven with God and with many men, and have prevailed" (Genesis 32.28). While the import of this story isn't altogether clear, it is clear enough that Jacob's striving with God is seen as a good thing. Another Old Testament figure who struggles with God only argumentatively, his case against God is a pretty good one. By God's own admission, Job is the most upright man on earth, and yet, God allows Satan to take everything from Job, including his property, his family and even his health, over a wager with Satan. And thus Job calls God to account for this. The very fact that the Book of Job is in the Bible seemingly attests to the fact that God admires those who would question and challenge Him.

The standard, "pious" interpretation of the Book of Job is that Job never questions his faith in God, but patiently endures the many afflictions sent his way. However, careful reading of this challenging book actually reveals that the majority of the book is devoted to Job challenging God's justice, and as it were, wrestling with God. Sometimes, our prayers can be a challenge to God -- and God is alright with that. He's certainly big enough to handle any challenge.

Therefore I will not restrain my mouth; I will speak in the anguish of my spirit; I will complain in the bitterness of my soul.

-- R.S.V. Job 7.11

Carnitine Improves Mental Function

Carnitine is a substance that is produced naturally in the liver and kidneys from various amino acids. It is found in almost all body cells. There are several forms of carnitine, including L-carnitine, acetyl-L-carnitine, and propionyl-L-carnitine. Carnitine is essential for the production of energy in the body. It transports fatty acids into the cell, where they are used to produce energy. Carnitine also aids in the elimination of metabolic waste products from the cells. Most healthy people make enough carnitine to meet the body's needs. However, some people with genetic or medical disorders (chronic kidney disease) may need carnitine supplementation.

There is some evidence that carnitine improves mental function in older adults with mild cognitive impairment and Alzheimer's disease. Nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, stomach cramps, and a fishy odor have been reported with carnitine doses of 3 grams per day. Some seizure medications have been reported to reduce carnitine concentrations, but no consequences of these lower concen-trations have been reported.

'King' hasn't given up its throne just yet

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Kevin James

Q: I heard that "The King of Queens" is in its final season. CBS showed only a few episodes and then stopped. Are they going to finish the show? –Lisa Ratka, Hamburg, N.Y.

A: Yes. The show has been displaced again by the return of "Jericho" to Wednesdays, but starting April 9, Kevin James' comedy will move back to Mondays to wrap up its run. That was the plan at this writing, anyway; the network had given no indication of renewing it for another season.

Q: Do you know if "Hell's Kitchen" is going to return for another season? –Barb Chrisman, Glen Ellyn, Ill.

A: If you're a fan of Chef Gordon Ramsay, you have dual reasons to be happy. Not only is the third season of the competition "Hell's Kitchen" in production for airing this spring on Fox, he's also prepping a second show for the network – "Kitchen Nightmares," in which he'll visit restaurants that are in trouble and try to turn them around.

Q: Will the second season of "Twin Peaks" ever be released on DVD? –Chris Byrne, Lorain, Ohio

A: Yes, and reasonably soon. Paramount Home Video plans to issue year two of producer David Lynch's offbeat series in a single set April 10.

Q: There was a television program featuring two women who lived across from each other in the Bronx, N.Y. Each morning, they opened their windows and proceeded to discuss their respective families and problems. One of the women would call out, "Yoo-hoo!" Do you know the name of the series and when it was aired? –Joan Thompson, Pottstown, Pa.

A: It was Gertrude Berg's classic sitcom "The Goldbergs," which originated as a radio program before it made its television debut on CBS in 1949. It stayed there until the summer of 1951 – after its sponsor abandoned the show because co-star Philip Loeb had been blacklisted – then NBC picked it up at the start of 1952 (with a different male lead) and continued it until the fall of 1953. Then it got another life on the DuMont network for several months in 1954, and it had its final stand as a syndicated show during the 1955-56 season.

Q: Please tell me the name of the show that was hosted by Robert Stack some years ago. –Sherwood Gray, Sparks, Nev.

A: That would have been "Unsolved Mysteries," which proved a successful enough franchise to be picked up by CBS in 1998 after it had aired for a decade on NBC. Several of the cases examined on the series were turned into separate TV movies by NBC; some of those films still turn up often on Lifetime, which also ran the original series for quite a while.

New "Lifesaving" Posters Available From Red Cross

The Western Potomac Chapter of the American Red Cross announced this week that new posters have arrived that depict the revised steps for lifesaving CPR and choking emergencies.

Restaurants, kitchens, schools, child and adult care centers, human service agencies, churches, businesses, etc. will find these posters helpful, noted a Red Cross spokesperson.

The posters are printed on stock paper and are approximately 11 inches wide and 21 inches long. Each poster is dual sided, with English on one side and Spanish on the other.

Posters are $2 each and can be purchased at the Western Potomac Chapter, 400 Cumberland Street, Cumberland.

For more information, persons may call 301-722-1760 or e-mail redcross@-allconet.org.

Tawes Award Nominations Being Sought

Nominations are now being accepted for the "2007 Tawes Award for A Clean Environment" – named in honor of the late J. Millard Tawes, Maryland governor (1959-1967) and first secretary of the Department of Natural Resources. The award is co-sponsored by the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE) and the Maryland Petroleum Council.

"The award nominees are on the front lines of making a positive change in Maryland's environment," said acting MDE secretary Shari T. Wilson. "They've rolled up their sleeves and set an example for all of us who want to see real, lasting accomplishments that benefit their communities and all Marylanders."

This annual statewide environmental recognition program seeks to involve youth, adults, and private and public organizations in the restoration and protection of Maryland's many natural resources and attractions. Nominees may be any individual, civic, community, or non-profit entity that has demonstrated outstanding efforts to enhance Maryland's environment over a period of time or with a single project.

In 1976 the first Tawes Award was presented in the late governor's hometown of Crisfield. Through the years, award recipients have ranged from Boy Scouts, emergency response personnel, and environmental activists to elementary and secondary schools, and beautification and ecology groups.

Entries are divided into two categories – youth (individual or organizations with members under 21), and adult (individual or organization).

The James B. Coulter Award will honor former Maryland Secretary of the Department of Natural Resources James B. Coulter, and recognizes a government employee who goes "above and beyond" his/her duties in efforts to improve Maryland's environment. Activities or projects may include, but are not limited to recycling, ecology, animal habitat, community and stream clean-up, and conservation.

Winners, runners-up, and their guests will be honored at an awards luncheon to be held on May 21 at Quiet Waters Park in Annapolis. A panel of judges chooses the Tawes Award winners and runners-up.

Last year's winners were two students from Severna Park High School, High School Leadership Institute; Barry Gabler of Harford County; and the Maryland Cooperative Extension Howard County Master Gardeners, which is a group of 140 volunteers.

For more information or a nomination form, persons may contact the Maryland Petroleum Council office at 410-269-1850 or MDE's office of communications at 410-537-3003. E-mail requests may be sent to maryland@api.org. The deadline for submissions is April 12.

SEVEN WAYS TO JUMP START YOUR WEIGHT LOSS

Some diet strategies are effective, but boring, such as minimizing portions or drinking more water. Stay inspired to lose weight by trying new things. These seven surprising calorie-cutting tricks get results and keep boredom at bay.

Choose labor intensive snacks

Research has shown that our brain needs at least 20 minutes to register fullness. By choosing nuts that require cracking, or grapefruit or oranges that need sectioned, or edamame that needs shelling out, all require to you slow down and enjoy your foods.

Have an appetizer

As long as your pre-meal pick is low-cal and contains a lot of water (like soups) or fiber (like salads), it will help you eat less overall. Just be careful to watch for high-fat salad dressings, croutons, and cheese, which add lots of extra calories. Or try ordering two appetizers instead of a meal; the portions sizes are much friendlier.

Buy smaller dishes

Research has shown that eating on downsized plates may help you consume less. Try using smaller dinner plates, and soup bowls, and use juice glasses when you are consuming beverages other than water to keep your portions smaller.

Eat more produce

Instead of thinking of a diet as a way to limit your intake, think of it as an opportunity to eat more vegetables that is. You can't go wrong with waist-friendly, 40-calories-per-serving vegetables.

Have your cake, but have your broccoli too

Balance every treat with a serving of vegetables. You will likely be too full for second helpings.

Try something new once a week

People don't usually overeat unfamiliar foods. Instead, they deliberately taste the new item bite by bite. By doing this you are reacquainting yourself with the pleasure of eating, which is very important especially when you trying to eat less. Try an exotic fruit or a vegetable or entrée prepared in a different way. Remember, variety is the "spice of life."

Make an accomplishment list at the end of each day

By keeping a food journal, this helps you keep track of what is and isn't working in your diet and acknowledge when you are successful. This will eventually lead to more success.

Computer Courses Slated At Northern Outreach Center

Garrett College's Continuing Education and Workforce Development division has scheduled two hands-on computer courses at the Northern Outreach Center in March. They are Computer Skills II and Microsoft Word I.

Computer Skills II will be offered from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on March 6, 8, and 13. This course is designed for individuals who wish to ob-tain additional skills and knowledge of basic computer operations.

Topics to be covered include Windows operations, files folders, accessing Internet web pages, and e-mail.

Microsoft Word I is scheduled from 6:30 to 9:45 p.m. on March 27, 29, and April 3 and 5.

This course will introduce students to processing various types of documents and how to edit, assemble, format, sort, and save them. How to create graphs and tables will also be discussed.

A prerequisite on Introduction to Computers or a working knowledge of the computer is required.

For additional information or to register, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

GILBERT SPEAKS TO GOVERNMENT CLASSES – Suzanne Gilbert, a 2002 graduate of Southern Garrett High School, spent Friday, Feb. 2, enlightening students from her former teacher Dave Bender's classes. Gilbert addressed both AP government classes and contemporary problems classes on the economic, political, and demographic nature of the current health care crisis in Maryland. She answered student questions about possible solutions to the problem of nearly 800,000 uninsured residents in Maryland and about her own career path experiences and goals. She is a 2006 Phi Beta Kappa scholar of McDaniel College, and is currently pursuing her MSW at University of Maryland School of Social Work and MPH at Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health. She is serving as a resident intern at Health Care for All Coalition of the Maryland Citizen's Health Initiative doing community organizing and political advocacy. Though she says she loves living in Baltimore, she looks forward to returning to Garrett County as a professional dedicated to promoting healthy and sustainable rural development. Pictured above, left to right, starting with the first row are: Stacy Sanders, Gilbert, Kim Stephens, Jordan Schwinabart, and Samantha Griffin. In the second row are: Jennifer Donham, Shayna Sweitzer, and Melanie Eaton. In the third row are: Matthew Jordan, Torie Bosley, and Brittany Morgan.

Military Family Support Group Meeting Slated

The local Military Family Support Group will hold its next meeting Wednesday, Feb. 28, at 6:30 p.m. at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren.

The group is available for all persons in the area who have a family member currently in the armed services, regardless of branch. This includes family members of active duty, reserve, and guard soldiers.

Persons attending next Wednesday's meeting are asked to use the parking lot entrance in the original building this month. There will be numerous topics addressed that provide assistance in dealing with deployment issues. Refreshments will be provided.

For more information, persons may contact Mel and/or Cathy Menker at 301-334-5906.

Garrett College Slates "Investing For The Future"

Garrett College will offer a course titled "Investing for the Future" on four consecutive Wednesdays, beginning March 7 from 6 to 9:15 p.m. at the Northern Outreach Center, Grantsville.

Jason Sweitzer, an investment executive with PrimeVest Financial Services of First United Bank and Trust, will instruct the class.

This class is designed to help students better understand what investing is and concepts that are important to being a successful long-term investor.

"You'll also find the information you need to know if you want to start developing an investment plan that suits your needs," said a college spokesperson. "And you'll learn how a fi-nancial professional can help you implement and monitor your investment."

For additional information or to register, persons may contact Terry Beachy, Northern Outreach Center coordinator at 301-895-4700 or tbeachy@garrettcollege.edu.

DEPUTY PRESENTS PROGRAM TO HOMESCHOOLERS – Deputy Aaron Wilson from the Garrett County Sheriff's Office explained his role as a police officer to children and parents at Oakland Library's HomeSchooler program recently. He brought along the items that he uses in his line of work, such as a laser gun, protective vest, gas mask, radio, and laptop computer, and talked about the significance of each one. "It is important for you to know your address and your phone number," he stressed to the children, and made sure they know to call 911 in an emergency. "Never be afraid of a police officer, fireman, or anyone with the rescue squad," he reassured them. The audience was an attentive one, with many questions for Deputy Wilson. "If you want to be a police officer," he added, "the best thing to do is stay out of trouble when you are young." The next HomeSchooler program at the Oakland Library will be held on Friday, March 16, at 1 p.m. and will include a tour at the Garrett County Historical Society Museum. For more information, persons may call Dorene Rogers at 301-334-3996, ext. 115. A complete listing of HomeSchooler activities can be found on the library's web site at relib.net.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

It was not because I did not do my homework that I didn't get to church on Sunday. One of my favorite movies, South Pacific, was on the movie channel. I fell in love with that old show when I was in the seventh grade at Northern High School. They did an excellent production of it, and it was a very big event for the school and community. The atmosphere was as exciting as in a packed house of a Broadway hit show. It was a big job for student performers and required hard work of athletes, band members, and the director, Lucille Sines, an English teacher, advisor of the student newspaper, and director of the chorus.

They say if you have a hard job to get done then look for someone already too busy for it, because they are in demand because of their energy and abilities. That gang of busy and talented people put together one of the finest theatre productions that I had ever seen, including some great performances with the University Theatre at the University of Maryland, many local productions, and some hit Broadway shows. I fell in love with live theatre when I saw that production of South Pacific.

However, that is not the reason I did not go to church, as the almost foot of snow we had gotten practically buried my car. Sunday looked like a real winter blast, and if the winds continue to blow, it will be once again "no school in Garrett County." Of course, Monday is Presidents' Day, so I guess the kids are scheduled for a day off anyway.

A better is use of Presidents' Day would be for the kids to have school and learn about the long list of past presidents. Of course, there were some scandals with many of our presidents. Thomas Jefferson was the first I remember, for having a baby by one of his slaves. Another fine statesman, FDR, had a long-term affair with one of his staff people and, of course, JFK wasn't any angel. But would we be better off without these three presidents? I don't think so, but America's appetite for scandals is sickening.

A couple hours ago I thought the weather was pretty bad, with snow and lots of wind, but now it is a true howling blizzard. I can barely see my row of big pine trees about 20 yards from my house. I feel very sorry for anyone that has to be out in this storm.

Cousin Courtney told me that I took him out on brand new skis in weather like this. It ruined skiing permanently for him. I don't know what I was thinking, but I have to assume we left the house in a peaceful spell and then after going maybe one-eighth of a mile the storm hit. I don't think in weather like this I would have taken a rookie out in it. January weather at one time drove me to look for a job away from here for two years.

The early part of this winter was very mild, but it saved all its "punch" for now. What a "punch" it is, and it is on my personal list of winters with the worst weather. I think it is called "payoff." It has been around zero degrees with 50 mph wind from the north, varied amounts of snow, and the wind picking up plenty of snow and placing it where we do not want it. There are very few people I would venture to go out with today. Native Garrett Countians probably think that this nightmare weather has to improve, as it could not get any worse. My Claire expressed a desire to climb Mt. Everest, but a couple hours out in this weather could change her mind.

Monday was a perfect winter day with no falling snow, no wind, almost a cloudless blue sky, and warmer in the 20s. When I was 13 I tried to write a description of our perfect winter. I thought it was too much of a cliché to describe the sparkling snow that was covered with diamond cuts. It looks like a giant dropped a pocket full of tiny diamonds across our field. What about the sky? Yes, it is robin egg blue.

If the weather forecasters are correct, we are in for a February thaw. I forgot who told me that we would be in the high 30s and higher on February 23. So enjoy the snowy view while you can. According to Channel 11 news, 40-degree high is normal for this time of year. I hate to think what a sloppy mud mess we will have when all this snow melts. On the other hand, it is not unusual for Garrett County to get a big snow in April. Since this wasn't a regular winter, maybe this year the snow will stop by the first day of spring in mid-late March.

If I remember correctly, it was on January 31, when I was a young kid, that the B52 bomber went down off Westernport Road. I remember the search parties had pretty bad conditions in their search of the airmen. That crash had a huge impact on the whole world. It was a very stormy, winter night. My mother ran across one of the memorial stones for one of the men along the stream, Poplar Lick in the New Germany area.

I saw a gang of children along Mosser Road busy tunneling through a big drift. It was a perfect day for snow games. It brought back old memories. The day was not too cold or windy. The Wisp slopes were covered with skiers.

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish youth group got together on their day off Monday to work on soup for a free dinner on Shrove Tuesday. They previously made up some fruit jars filled with mixes for cookies, muffins, etc., that they will be selling to help pay for their trip this summer to Louisiana to help with work to get New Orleans back on its feet again. They are planning on a trip this summer. Lowell Leitzel from Oakland is going to speak on his trip to New Orleans with a group of other Lutherans from the area.

Zion Lutheran Church will host the first midweek Lenten service this Wednesday night. On February 28, Emmanuel will host the second service, with St. John's hosting on March 7. The soup and bread meals will be served at Emmanuel and St. John's, beginning at 6 p.m.

By the way, if anyone wonders what church homework is, here is the answer. Members of Emmanuel Lutheran received a Bible verse to make a devotional book from their response. I assume that means you are supposed to write what the verse means to you. My verse was Psalm 27, verse 1: "The Lord is my light and salvation, whom shall I fear? The Lord is the stronghold of my life, of whom should I be afraid?"

I wrote how important it is for people to have a safe place to take refuge, like a strong fort or stockade to guard from the dangers of enemies. I picture God's fort looking like Fort Frederick near Hancock, a beautiful, elegant, stone fort dating from the French and Indian War.

One of the things that modern humanity has lost is the fact that God still provides refuge and help to them. Matthew Arnold wrote in his poem "Dover Beach," "Oh lover, be true to each other, because the world so lovely has no help in trouble or refuge, it really is a darkling plain where ignorant armies clash by night." Matthew Arnold mourns the decline of the comfort from believing in all-powerful God. Inside the safe haven God provides us, He shed life-giving light. I hope his light will grow new healthy sprouts in my trouble filled life.

I quote "Dover Beach" from memory so it probably

What To Do About Strains and Sprains

Excess physical exertion may lead to sudden pain and swelling around muscles or joints. Stretching too far or slowing down abruptly are two possible causes of strains and sprains. A sprain occurs when a ligament is stretched or torn. The normal function of a ligament is to connect bones and help stabilize joints and prevent excessive movement. A collision, such as with another person during a sporting event, or a rapid change in direction are common causes of sprains. Ankles, knees, and wrists are frequent locations where sprains may occur. In contrast, a strain is caused by the stretching or tearing of muscle. An acute strain occurs when a muscle stretches abnormally far, or suddenly powerfully contracts. A chronic strain may result from overuse of a muscle over time. Strains are also commonly referred to as pulled muscles. Back injuries and pulled hamstrings are examples of common types of strains.

If a strain or sprain is mild, over-the-counter pain relievers such as ibuprofen or acetaminophen may be prescribed. Ice should be applied to the affected area as soon as possible to help reduce swelling. If the injury is severe, a brace or splint may be applied to limit mobility of the affected area. In the case of a ruptured muscle or torn ligament, surgery may be necessary.

STUDENTS & STAFF

Paw Prints is recognizing students who improved their grades by 10% from the first grading term to the second of the 2006-07 school year. Students from grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 were selected at random to receive McDonald's gift certificates as our sign of recognition for improving their second term grades. The winning students are: Bradley Rodeheaver, Helen Owens, Jason Wilburn and Dustin Arnold. These students should stop by the Counseling Center to pick up their rewards. The names of other students who achieved this goal are posted on the Paw Prints bulletin board in the main lobby.

SENIORS

Garrett County Commissioners Scholarship forms are now available in the Counseling Center. Seniors planning on attending GC may stop in the Counseling Center to pick up a copy of this form and an informational brochure.

TEEN TALENT SHOW

This is the last week to get your application for Garrett County's Best, "The Ultimate Teen Talent Show." The Teen Talent Show competition will be held Friday, March 16, at 8 p.m., in the Garrett College Auditorium. Winners will receive $100 cash prizes. The competition is open to Garrett County students ages 13 to 19. Categories are: singing, dancing, instrumental, drama and variety. Again this year, there will be a "Battle of the Bands" competition. Applications are available in the school office or online at www.artsandentertainment.org The deadline for application is Friday, Feb. 23.

WIN A TRIP TO SPACE CAMP

Any student who is interested in science and space exploration is encouraged to write a 1,500-word essay about space to win a trip to Space Camp, held July 15 to 20 in Huntsville, Ala. Any student from grades 7 through 12, may go online to enter the Air Force Association Space Camp Essay Contest. Application may be revised and edited until the final submission deadline at 4 p.m. Pacific Time on March 30. Winners will be notified by May 15. To register online, persons may go to www.nimblenet.com/afa/public/profile.aspx?M=NU&NMBLRN=1; start a new application from the Action Menu; enter essay title; confirm school and add teacher's e-mail address. Applicants then must enter a 1,500 word essay on one of the two topics for his/her grade level, review, and then submit application. Students are then to print out a release form by returning to the Action Menu. After the release form is signed by student and parent, it is to be mailed or faxed.

is not 100 percent accurate. I am not sure I did it right, but I tried my best. No, I didn't do my best because I was rushed. I misplaced my assignment paper. It sounds like something coming from my former students, but I did it and handed it in on time. My students didn't realize that I am familiar with all kinds of excuses because I used them when I was in school, but by the time I was in college, I delivered, even in a rush.

In one of my art history classes I learned a paper was due that day, so I ran back to my dorm and composed a paper on my typewriter. I got back to the classroom before the class was over, so I handed it in just in time and believe it or not, I got a B-plus on it. I never rush when I write this column because I start it a week before the deadline.

Lenny Poholsky went to Greensboro, N.C., to watch Torrey's college play Frostburg State University. Greensboro won two games, with Frostburg winning one. The snowy weather kept Sally and Ferne Beachy home.

Ruth DiPaolo got a clean bill of health from her pneumonia and is starting to go again. She was content to stay in with her little dog "Pippy" and watch the snow fly outside the windows.

A memorial service for Marci Glotfelty's father, George Farmer, was held Thursday at a historic church in Rock Spring. His twin grandsons, Darryl and Elliot, played a selection of hymns on their guitars before the service. Marci was very happy to see her late mother's family and felt it was more like a reunion than a funeral service. Of course, Rodney, brother Barry from Frederick, Carol and Emma Bass, and Maddy and Lesa Whittemore from Bittinger, and grandchildren Robbie and Blakely Glotfelty from College Park attended the service.

I am looking forward to spring because I am very eager to see whether the cactus plants that Sally Schwing planted survived the winter. I assume it was lucky we had so much snow when it really got cold. The snow probably insulated it, keeping it at a cozy 32 degrees. I am also hoping my hollyhocks appear with lots of volunteers.

Although I hate most of modern technology, it is wonderful to be able to reach and keep in touch with my college daughters via their cell phones. I am very reluctant to go anywhere in my car without mine since I can't walk to get help if something goes wrong with my car or if I get stuck in the snow. Spring will make my life less difficult, as it will be for many more Garrett County residents.

It looks like I am going to survive this winter. I survived a divorce and I beat the odds of survival of an aneurysm, which kills 95 out of 100 people. I do whatever I have to do to survive, because I am a survivor. People think they could do better with the cards I have been dealt, but I doubt it. Right now the job at hand is to survive this lonely night, but I did it before and I am not ready to give up.

Rep. Bartlett Bucks Delegation, Votes No On Iraq Resolution

by Scott Shewfelt
Capital News Service

WASHINGTON – Rep. Roscoe Bartlett, R-Frederick, stood alone Friday as Maryland's sole House member to vote against the Iraq resolution.

The House of Representatives voted 246-182, with six not voting, in favor of the nonbinding resolution, designed to showcase the lack of support for the Bush administration's Iraq policy.

In a statement, Bartlett said, "I cast my no vote, not because I believe the surge will be helpful, but rather because I believe that a yes vote will send the wrong message to our enemies and might send the wrong message to our troops."

Rep. Wayne Gilchrest, R-Kennedyville, questioned President Bush's Iraq strategy and was [illegible] 17 Republicans who [illegible]d in favor of the resolution, calling it "a step forward in the right direction."

"This is one of those [illegible] everyone knows [illegible]own to every member's conscience," Gilchrest said in a statement. "I voted for this resolution for the troops, because we can't continue to gamble their lives on a policy that I feel is headed in the wrong direction.

"This resolution is not a retreat from Iraq," Gilchrest said. "If our young men and women are brave enough to go into Iraq and Afghanistan, then we as members of Congress must be brave enough and informed to start a dialogue in Damascus, in Tehran, in the entire region, to hasten peace."

The fewer than 100-words resolution, introduced by Reps. Ike Skelton, D-Mo., Tom Lantos, D-Calif., and Walter Jones, D-N.C., contains two parts. The first pledges support to those serving, or who have served in Iraq, and the second disapproves of Bush's Jan. 10 announcement to deploy more than 20,000 additional troops to Iraq.

Nonbinding means the resolution does not bind the Bush administration to follow a specific course of action.

Adam Sheingate, a political science professor at Johns Hopkins University, said he doubts any of the members feel their votes will influence Bush's course of action.

"Just because it is nonbinding doesn't mean it doesn't have political effect," said University of Maryland political science professor Ronald Walters. "It draws a line in the sand."

"It's more important for individual members to be heard by their constituents," Sheingate said. Both Republicans and Democrats get a chance to go on the record.

Each of the 435 members of Congress was given five minutes on the House floor to express his or her views.

"The Bush administration has been wrong about this war from the beginning, and it is wrong again now," said Rep. Chris Van Hollen Jr., D-Kensington, during his floor speech.

"Some say that this resolution is merely symbolic," said Majority Leader Steny Hoyer, D-Mechanicsville, in a statement. "To them, I simply say that the bipartisan expression of the will of this House, when it mirrors the views of the vast majority of Americans, cannot be casually ignored."

Hoyer's displeasure with the current Iraq strategy was echoed by fellow Democrats.

"We cannot allow more to be asked of our soldiers now if their mission is not clear," said Rep. Elijah Cummings, D-Baltimore, in a statement.

"This president does not acknowledge the depth of past mistakes, and his plan does not provide a new strategy for success," Rep. Albert Wynn, D-Mitchellville, said in his speech. "The American people deserve better."

Strategy, or lack of it, was a common theme from the Maryland delegation, as was the sacrifice of the troops.

"The only people sacrificing in this war are the troops and their families," said Rep. C.A. Dutch Ruppersberger, D-Cockeysville, in a prepared statement.

Rep. John Sarbanes, D-Towson, echoed Ruppersberger as he pleaded on the House floor to "bring our troops home to their families, to their communities, and to a nation that stands humbled by their sacrifice."

The simple language used in the resolution is "a little bit of a public relations battle between the Democrats and Republicans," Sheingate said.

Simple language can help achieve a majority, while making it look like a bipartisan effort, but with tighter language a vote would likely fall on party lines, said Sheingate.

Last week in a pen-and-pad session for reporters, Hoyer said Republicans would have an opportunity to introduce a substitute alternative measure, but that never materialized. The resolution was also initially supposed to be a joint effort between the House and Senate, but whereas and therefore clauses were cluttering the question and getting in the way of a straightforward answer, Hoyer said on "Meet the Press."

"This vote sends a message that this Congress is going to limit American involvement where it can," said Walters, adding that the votes on the supplemental appropriation bill, the appropriation bill, and the defense authorization bill carry more weight.

The Senate will vote Saturday on its lengthier Iraq resolution.

Capital News Service reporter Patricia M. Murret contributed to this report.

Garrett County SKIES

By Dr. Bob Doyle
Frostburg State Planetarium

MARCH 2007 SUN – As March opens, the sun is in the star group Aquarius, where it stays through March 11. Early on the 12th the sun enters Pisces, where it stays through April 18. (These dates are quite different from those used by astrologers, as their dates go back 2,500 years and don't consider the actual start group boundaries.) The amount of daily sunlight in March grows by more than an hour; there is 11.3 hours on March 1 versus 12.6 hours on March 31 (for Oakland). Sunrise in Oakland on March 1 is 6:51 a.m.; sunrise on March 31 is 7:03 a.m. Sunset times advance from 6:10 p.m. at the start of the month to 7:40 p.m. as the month ends. (The reason for the big jump in sunset time and scarce change in sunrise time is our shift to Daylight Time on March 11.) During March the sun's peak height at midday changes from 43 degrees to 54 degrees. In the morning, stars begin to fade away around 6 a.m., while the evening stars first appear between 7:30 p.m. (early March) and 8:30 p.m. (late March).

MARCH 2007 MOON – On March 1, the nearly full moon appears near the planet Saturn. On March 3, there is a total lunar eclipse where the moon passes through the Earth's shadow. As the moon rises just after 6 p.m. the moon will appear greyish or orange, as the only light then reaching the moon has come around the Earth's shadow. Your best chance of seeing this eclipse will be from a place with a flat eastern horizon. Just after 7 p.m. the left side of the moon will start to emerge out of the shadow. By 8:12 p.m., the moon will be free of the Earth's deep shadow. By 9:26 p.m., the moon will be free of the Earth's partial shadow, shining as brightly as any full moon. In the southern dawn sky, the crescent moon will appear near the very bright planet Jupiter on March 11 and 12. The moon will return to the western dusk as a slender crescent appearing near the brilliant planet Venus (below on the 20th and above on the 21st). On March 25, the evening moon appears half full, offering the best views of its craters through binoculars. On March 28, the moon again appears near the planet Saturn.

THE BRIGHT PLANETS IN MARCH 2007 – Our five nearest planetary neighbors appear as points of light that shine steadily, unlike the bright night stars that twinkle. Venus shines low in the western dusk as a brilliant point of light setting more than two hours after sunset. The planet Saturn appears above the sickle of Leo in the eastern evening sky. The bright planet Jupiter can be seen low in the southern dawn sky, to the left of the pinkish star Antares of the Scorpion. The dull planet Mars may be seen very low in the southeast about 45 minutes before sunrise, far to the left of bright Jupiter.

ASTRONOMY ACTIVITIES IN MARCH – The FSU Planetarium's March presentation is "Springtime on Other Planets," with free public presentations on March 4, 11, and 18 at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. There will be 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. tours of the Compton Exploratorium's mammal display on these same Sundays. The planetarium is in Room 302 of Tawes Hall near the middle of the campus. Tawes Hall is near the Clock Tower, the Lane Center, and the Performing Arts Center. Call 301-687-4270 for road directions to the Planetarium. You can also visit the planetarium's web site at http://www.frostburg.edu/planetarium.

Dr. Doyle writes this column for beginners who would like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards. To ask questions or get a free brochure or sky charts, persons may call the FSU Planetarium at 301-387-4270 and press 4. Doyle hosts "Sky Watch," a brief program on days of the week and sky sights that airs weekday evenings just before 9 p.m. on WFWM at 91.9 FM in western Garrett County and 96.3 FM in the Oakland area. Doyle's e-mail address is rdoyle@frostburg.edu.

Rounds Named To Dean's List

Steven Rounds, a 2004 graduate of Northern High School, was named to the dean's honor list for the fall 2006 semester at George Washington University's Elliott School of International Affairs.

After studying abroad in Argentina for a year in 2004 in conjunction with Rotary International, Rounds attended Dickinson College for a year before transferring to GWU in Washington, D.C.

He is working on a double major in international affairs, concentrating on contemporary culture and society, and in Spanish language and literature. He is also working on a minor in socio-cultural anthropology.

In addition to studying in Washington, D.C., Rounds works at the Peace Corps Headquarters, where he is involved with the domestic programs, chiefly the World Wise Schools Program.

He is the son of David and Sharon Rounds, Grantsville.

Green Named USAA Winner

Lacey Green, Accident, was recently named a United States National Leadership and Service Award winner by the United States Achievement Academy. Her name will appear in the academy's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Lacey is a student at Northern Middle School, and is the daughter of Ann and Lee Green, Accident.

The academy selects USAA winners based on their standards of selection. Criteria include academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, and dependability.

4-H Club News

GARRETT HOOFPRINTS
by Christine Welch

The Jan. 8 meeting of the Garrett Hoofprints 4-H Club was called to order by president Lara Schad. Jessica Simson led the pledge of allegiance and the 4-H pledge. Fourteen members were present, plus two new members: Chelsea Kling and Amber Kling.

The officers who were elected at the December meeting began in their new positions. They are Lara as president, Cari Zbel as vice president, Kelsey VanSickle as treasurer, Anna Tressler as secretary, and Christine Welch as reporter.

Members volunteered the months in which they will give their presentations.

Re-enrollment forms were completed for members who didn't fill them out in December.

A time was decided to leave for the Horse Expo in Timonium the weekend of Jan. 20-21.

Members voted to meet in the middle of the summer and near the end of the year to work on records books.

Club members voted to work at a craft show at the Pleasant Valley Community Center on April 21. Leader Brenda Wotring will have more information on this at the next meeting. Members are also asked to help recruit craft people to have booths at the show.

Guest speaker Lisa Welch gave a presentation on parliamentary procedure and how to run a meeting.

Monthly activities and programs for the rest of the year were discussed. At this time, they will be a DVD on horse safety in February; competing in Horse Bowl and a mini clinic in March; helping at the craft show, the Walk for Hospice, and doing a trail ride in April; hosting a fun show in May; hosting a show in June; visiting the Days Inn Farm in July; participating at the fair in August; hosting a fun show in September; having a trail ride in October; having an equine dentist speak in November; and holding a Christmas party in December.

The club voted to have a 50-50 raffle as the only fundraiser this year, other than the three shows and the craft show.

The Volunteer Training Course was scheduled at the Extension Office on Feb. 1 from 1 to 3 p.m., and at Garrett College on March 6 from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. for any adults who want to volunteer to help a 4-H club.

KITZMILLER NEWS

APPRECIATION

Simon and Friends note appreciation to all who supported their Relay for Life dinner on Feb. 17.

CASH BASH

The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department will hold a Cash Bash on Saturday, March 17, at the Elks Lodge in Oakland. Ticket price is $25. Tickets are on sale now and may be purchased from Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department members. Persons may contact one of the KVFD chiefs to check availability of tickets. They are Shawn Nesselrodt at 301-453-3178, or Tom Davis at 301-453-3500.

EVANGELIST TO SPEAK

Rev. Lee Robertson invites everyone to come hear evangelist Gayle Brostowski speak at the Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church March 2,3, and 4, at 7 p.m. each evening. She will also be speaking at the Sunday morning worship service on March 4 at 11 a.m.

BENEFIT DINNER

Kitzmiller churches, the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department, and the Kitzmiller VFD's Ladies Auxiliary are holding a benefit dinner in support of Richard Armstrong, a member of the department, and his family. Armstrong was injured while serving in the U.S. Army years ago and recently had to undergo surgery related to that injury. He has been unable to work since June, is currently confined to a wheelchair.

The dinner will be held Saturday, March 3, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Kitzmiller fire hall. The menu will consist of ham, potatoes, soup beans, corn bread, dessert, and drink. The cost of the dinner will be $6 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

The community is urged by organizers to come out and support this fireman and veteran, as well as his family, during their time of need.

BIRTHDAYS

Among Kitzmiller residents celebrating birthdays this week are: Tim Hardesty, George Junkins, Mindy Lucas, Destiny Claywell, Cheyenne Evans, Dennis (Chip) Tasker, Mary Smith, Lillianne Tomkins, Ainsley Brantner, Louise Bray, Stacey Burrell, Rebecca Lake, Carol Stewart, Allen Roberts, Jillian Inglese, and Albert Moon.

Free CPR Class Offered By ARC

In observance of National American Red Cross Month, the Western Potomac Chapter is offering a free CPR class on Monday, March 26, from 6 to 10 p.m. at the ARC office in Oakland, 12 S. Third Street.

Class size will be limited to 15 participants on a first-come, first-served basis for new certifications only. Advance registration is required.

A minimum of five participants is required. If the minimum requirement is not met, then anyone who is registered will have the option to take the same class within 30 days at no charge.

For more information or to register, persons may call 301-334-3810.

175 Red Run Road, Oakland, MD 21550-7800

By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from Louis Wesley Strosnider III to Angela Blythe, Trustees, bearing the date of October 19, 2004, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 1073, folio 352, and at the request of the party secured thereby, default having occurred in the terms and conditions thereof, one of the Substitute Trustees having been substituted for the Trustees named in said Deed of Trust, will sell at public auction in front of the premises known as Red Run Lodge located at 175 Red Run Road, Oakland, Maryland, on March 9, 2007, at 11:00 a.m., all the property described in said Deed of Trust, the Loan Agreement dated October 19, 2004, the Security Agreements dated October 19, 2004, and the UCC Financing Statements, recorded among the aforesaid Land Records in Liber 1073, folio 587 and in Liber 0479, folio 2264 (collectively, the "Loan Documents").

The property, which includes all of the right, title and interest, if any, of Louis Wesley Strosnider III, or those claiming under the aforesaid grantor(s), in and to the land and all buildings and improvements thereon, and all fixtures, machinery, furniture, equipment, tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances and other property interests, and all personalty used in connection with the land of every kind and nature whatsoever, and owned by the aforesaid grantor(s) as may be located in, on or about the land on the date of the sale and that are subject to the Loan Documents (collectively, the "Property").

The real estate is identified as follows: Tax Parcel I.D. Nos. 18-034379. The real estate is improved by a commercial restaurant, bar, and bed and breakfast with eight bedrooms on the shores of Deep Creek Lake.

Terms of Sale

The Property will be sold in "AS IS, WHERE IS" condition, without recourse. Neither the Trustees, the noteholder secured by the Loan Documents, the Auctioneer, nor any of their respective agents, successors or assigns (collectively, the "Selling Parties") make any representations or warranties, express or implied, with respect to the Property, or any tenancies or parties in possession, including without limitation, the description, use, structural integrity, physical condition, construction, extent of construction, workmanship, materials, habitability, subdivision, zoning, environmental condition, compliance with building codes or other laws (such as Americans with Disabilities Act), ordinances or regulations, fitness for a particular purpose, or merchantability of all or any part of the Property. The purchaser waives and releases the Selling Parties from any and all claims the purchaser and/or the purchaser's successors and assigns may now have or may have in the future relating to the condition of the Property, including but not limited to the environmental condition thereof. The purchaser shall assume the risk of loss or damage to the Property after the time of the foreclosure sale. The property will be sold subject to any building or housing violations, easements, agreements, restrictions, terms, rights of way, covenants, conditions, rights of redemption, and all other encumbrances having priority over the Loan Documents, if any, affecting the property, whether or not of record, including but not limited to environmental conditions (including without limitation possible wetlands, riparian rights, critical or protected areas, and the presence of protected or endangered species) and all applicable federal, state and local laws, ordinances and regulations affecting the Property. The Property will not be sold subject to tenancies entered into subsequent to the recording of the Deed of Trust or otherwise subordinated to the Loan Documents unless set forth herein or announced at the time of sale. All interested bidders are encouraged to contact the appropriate governmental authorities prior to the sale date regarding the permitted uses of the Property.

A deposit will be required at the time of sale in the amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), such deposit to be in certified check, or in such other form as the Trustees may determine, in their sole discretion. Whenever the purchaser is also the noteholder secured by the Loan Documents, payment of the required deposit and the purchase price is made by crediting the amount thereof to the indebtedness. The Trustees reserve the right, in their sole discretion, to reject any or all bids, withdraw the property from sale, waive the deposit requirement, in whole or in part, and extend the period of time in which the purchaser is to complete settlement. The balance in cash or immediately available funds, with interest at twelve per centum (12%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement or the balance of the proceeds are received by the Trustees, whichever is later, payable within ten (10) days after final ratification of sale. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. The noteholder shall not be obligated to pay interest if it is the purchaser. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER.

Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter be assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, state and county/city transfer taxes, all other taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, water and sewer charges, including penalties, interest and tax sale redemption expenses, if any, ground rent arrears, if any, and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser. Conveyance of the Property shall be by Trustees' Deed, without convenant or warranty, express or implied, unless otherwise required by statute, court rule or the Loan Documents. In the event the Trustees are unable for any reason to convey title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be to request and receive a return of the deposit. Upon return of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Selling Parties.

Compliance with terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of sale at the office of the Trustees or the deposit shall be forfeited to the Trustees for application against all expenses, attorney's fees and the full commission on the sale price of the above-scheduled foreclosure sale. In the event of default, all expenses of this sale (including attorney's fees and the full commission on the gross sale price of this sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. The Trustees may then readvertise and resell the Property at the risk and cost of the defaultant purchaser; or, without reselling the Property, the Trustees may avail themselves of any legal or equitable remedies against the defaulting purchaser. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to receive the surplus, if any, even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulting purchaser and the defaulting purchaser shall be liable to the Selling Parties for attorney's fees and expenses incurred in connection with all litigation involving the Property or the proceeds of the resale. This advertisement, as amended or supplemented by any oral announcements during the conduct of the sale, constitutes the entire terms upon which the property shall be offered for sale.

OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
6098 Maryland Hwy.
Oakland, MD 21550

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust dated June 10, 2005, and recorded in Liber 1132, Folio 412 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, with an original principal balance of $116,000.00 and an original interest rate of 7.875% default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on

FEBRUARY 27, 2007, AT 3:00 PM

ALL THAT FEE-SIMPLE LOT OF GROUND, together with the buildings and improvements thereon situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust.

The property, which is improved by a dwelling, will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $12,000 in the form of cash or readily available funds acceptable to the Trustees required at the time of sale. Balance of the purchase price, together with interest on the unpaid purchase money at the current rate contained in the Deed of Trust Note from the date of sale to the date funds are received by the Trustees, payable in cash within ten days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER. Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter assumed by the purchaser. All past due property taxes paid by the purchaser. All other public charges or assessments, including water/sewer charges, ground rent, condo/HOA dues, whether incurred prior to or after the sale, and all other costs incident to settlement to be paid by the purchaser. All transfer taxes and settlement expenses shall be paid by the Purchaser. Purchaser is responsible for obtaining physical possession of the property, and assumes risk of loss or damage to the property from the date of sale. If ratification or settlement is delayed for any reason there shall be no abatement of interest. The sale is subject to post-sale audit of the status of the loan with the loan servicer including, but not limited to, determination of whether the borrower entered into any repayment agreement, reinstated or paid off the loan prior to the sale. In any such event, this sale shall be null and void, and the Purchaser's sole remedy, in law or equity, shall be the return of the deposit without interest. If Purchaser fails to settle within ten days of ratification, he agrees to pay attorneys' fees in the amount of $750.00, plus costs, if the Trustees have moved to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed in connection with such a motion on himself and/or any principal or corporate designee, and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper by regular mail directed to the address provided by said bidder at the time of the sale. If Purchaser defaults under these terms, deposit shall be forfeited. The Trustees may then resell the property at the risk and cost of the defaulting purchaser. The defaulted purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds resulting from said resale even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulted purchaser. If Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or marketable title, or if the sale is not ratified by the Circuit Court for any reason, the Purchaser's sole remedy, at law or equity, is the return of the deposit without interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $295.00 at settlement to the Seller's attorney for review of the settlement documents.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Northern Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full Resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Northern Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Highland Engineering & Surveying, Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Northern Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 7 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying north of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning for the same at a calculated point on a line of the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland and on the western limits of the US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits of US Route 219 North 32°00'47" East 1981.65 feet to a point, 588.57 feet along a curve to the left, said curve having a radius of 5699.58 feet and a long chord of North 29°03'17" East 588.31 feet to a point, North 26°05'47" East 1172.93 feet to a ½" capped rebar, set, hereinafter referred to as an IPS, thence four courses through lands of Glotfelty Farm Partnership (Liber 639, page 597) North 64° 23'52" West 492.43 feet to an IPS, North 25°36'08" East 225.00 feet to an IPS, North 64°23'52" West 505.70 feet to an IPS North 25°36'08" East 617.49 feet to an IPS on a line of lands of MD State of Game and Inland Fish Commission (Liber 197, page 436), thence with said lands North 56°23'26" East 543.07 feet to a 5/8" rebar found, hereinafter referred to as an IPF, thence two courses with lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 711, page 470) South 51°46'11" East 362.86 feet to an IPF, North 24°51'19" East 204.45 feet to an IPF, thence with other lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 555, page 371 and Liber 590, page 714) South 63°13'37" East, passing through an IPS on the western limits of said US Route 219 at 381.11, crossing said US Route 219 in all 441.11 feet to a point on the eastern limits of said US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits South 26°05'47" West 2598.62 feet to a point, 594.76 feet along a curve to the right, said curve having a radius of 5759.58 feet and a long chord South 29°03'17" West 594.50 feet to a point, South 32° 00'47" West 1885.84 feet to a point, thence with the aforementioned Corporate Limits. North 63°30'35" West 60.28 feet to the beginning, containing 33.795 acres, more or less, as shown on a Plat of Northern Annexation Surveyed for the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland dated December 2006 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Plat Case DKM 2.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONING

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 5th day of February 2007.

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 5th day of February 2007.

ROBERT E. WATSON
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, which shall include a public hearing on the zoning of the property, on the 19th day of March 2007, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Bernard Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Bernard Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Mountain View Engineering & Surveying Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Bernard Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying northwest of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a six-inch diameter concrete monument with a bronze disc stamped "TOWN OF OAKLAND, TOWN CORNER," found at the end of the twenty second line of the description of ROUTE 219 NORTH ANNEXATION (RESOULTION NO.: R99-02, AS CORRECTED IN RESOLUTION R99-09), filed and recorded June 17, 1999, by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, in the northwesterly right-of-way limits of US Route 219 at the southeasterly corner of an easement for Parcel 82 granted in Liber 774 at folio 587; thence, two courses with said limits of US Route 219, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, South 50°08'22" West, 83.34 feet to a PK Nail (set) in payment; thence, South 48° 39'43" West, 555.11 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser (Liber 513 at folio 425); thence, with the northeasterly lines of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser and Thomas D. & Nancy F. Kight (Liber 282 at folio 155), North 53°11'20" West, 190.23 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set); thence, North 21° 47'04" East, 325.39 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC (Liber 1087 at folio 414 and Liber 1040 at folio 279); thence, with the southeasterly lines of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, North 48° 49'52" East, 151.18 feet to a ½ inch rebar (found); thence, South 40°55'57" East, 85.77 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 44°44'14 East, 112.00 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 54°23'37" East, 81.51 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence South 51°20'00" East, 252.57 feet to the beginning, containing 4.03 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONED

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
633 WATER ST.
FRIENDSVILLE, MD 21531

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Walter Augustine and Katrina Glotfelty, dated February 6, 2004, and recorded in Liber 1026, folio 309 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on March 5, 2007, at 10:00 a.m.

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $8,000 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within 10 days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE. If purchaser fails to settle within the aforesaid ten (10) days of the ratification, the purchaser agrees to pay the Sub. Trustees' attorney fees of $750.00, plus all costs incurred, if the Sub. Trustees have filed the appropriate motion with the Court to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed with the Court in connection with such motion and any Show Cause Order issued by the Court and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper or Order by certified mail and regular mail sent to the address provided by the purchaser and as recorded on the documents executed by the purchaser at the time of the sale. Service shall be deemed effective upon the purchaser 3 days after postmarked by the United States Post Office. It is expressly agreed by the purchaser that actual receipt of the certified mail is not required for service to be effective. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sales price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid from the forfeited deposit. In the event of resale the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property regardless of any improvements made to the real property. Interest is to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate of 11.75% per annum from the date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event that the settlement is delayed for ANY REASON WHATSOEVER, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and or HOA dues and all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis including sanitary and metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted to the current year and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss from the date of sale forward. The sale is subject to post sale audit by the Noteholder to determine whether the borrower entered into any repayment/forbearance agreement, reinstated or paid off prior to the sale. In any such event the Purchaser agrees that upon notification by the Sub. Trustees of such event the sale is null and void and of no legal effect and the deposit returned without interest. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or good and marketable title, or the sale is not ratified for any reason by the Circuit Court including errors made by the Sub. Trustees, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without any interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 to the Seller's attorney at settlement for review of the settlement documents.

Notice to Residents of Mtn. Lake Park
NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Town of Mtn. Lake Park will conduct a second Public Hearing to obtain the views of citizens on COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT AND HOUSING NEEDS, and to offer citizens the opportunity to review an application for sewer collector improvements which the Town submitted to the State on or before the May 31, 2006, deadline for same. The hearing will be held at the Mtn. Lake Park Town Hall on March 1, 2007, beginning at 6 p.m.

Citizens will be furnished with information including but not limited to:

- the amount of CDBG funds expected to be made available for the current fiscal year;
- the range of activities that may be undertaken with CDBG funds;
- the estimated amount of the CDBG funds proposed to be used for activities that will meet the national objective of benefit to low and moderate income persons; and
- proposed CDBG activities likely to result in displacement and the unit of general local government's anti-displacement and relocation plans required under 24 CFR 42.325.

The Maryland Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program is a federally sponsored program designed to assist units of general local government with activities directed toward neighborhood and housing revitalization, economic development, and improved community facilities and services.

Maryland's CDBG Program is administered by the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), in close cooperation with the Department of Business and Economic Development (DBED).

The Maryland CDBG Program reflects the State's economic and community development priorities and provides public funds for activities which meet one of the following national objectives, in accordance with the Housing Community Development Act of 1974, as amended:

1. give maximum feasible priority to activities which will benefit low and moderate income persons and households having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 lower income limits established by HUD;
2. aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight;
3. meet other community development needs of an urgent nature, or that are an immediate threat to community health and welfare.

The State of Maryland's allocation of federal funds for the State fiscal year 2007 and the Federal fiscal year 2006 is estimated to be $8,085,834.00.

Efforts will be made to accommodate the disabled and non-English speaking residents with three (3) days' advance notice to Judy Paugh, Town Clerk, by calling 301-334-2250.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on March 13, 2007, at 11:00 a.m. in the County Commissioners' Meeting Room, Courthouse Annex, Oakland, MD. The purpose of the meeting is to receive public comments on a proposal submitted by Jonathan P. Kessler representing Cascade Creek Property Management LLC to amend the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance to allow the extension of certain zoning standards when a property in single ownership is split by a zoning district boundary. The specific proposal is as follows:

Amend Section 301.B of the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance to read:

"Where a zoning district boundary line as shown on the zoning map divides a lot or property which is in single ownership, the uses permitted thereof and the other district requirements applying to the least restrictive portion of such lot shall be deemed to extend over the entire lot, or for a distance of 50 feet from the district boundary line into the more restrictive portion of the lot, whichever distance is less."

All interested parties are welcome to attend or submit written testimony.

By Order of the Board

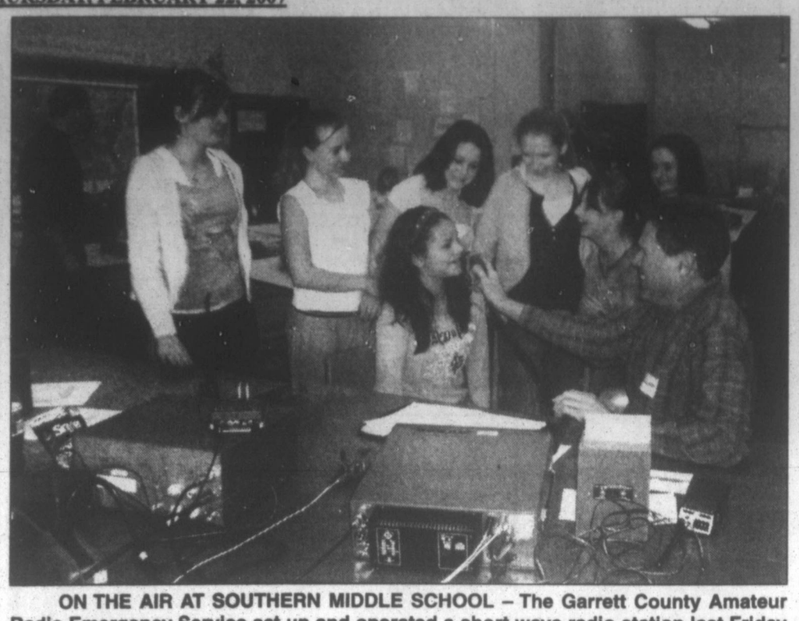
ARES Conducts "Radio Roundup" At Local School

Students at Southern Middle School had the opportunity to participate in a "radio roundup" last Friday, thanks to members of the Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service (ARES). The group set up and operated a short wave radio station at the school, using the call K3EE.

Six groups of students (sixth through eighth grades) participated in this on-the-air activity in Jason Shank's technical classes, with principal John Rickman's approval.

Students were briefed on the unique aspects of amateur radio, how radio waves travel around the Earth, the phonetic alphabet developed by the U.S. military to clarify the spoken word, and Morse code.

The students talked with young people at other schools and with amateur radio operators ("hams") as far away as California and the British Virgin Islands. Seventeen distant amateur radio stations were contacted during the five hours of operation.



ON THE AIR AT SOUTHERN MIDDLE SCHOOL – The Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service set up and operated a short wave radio station last Friday at Southern Middle School. Students participating in this on-the-air activity talked with young people at other schools and with radio "hams" as far away as California and the British Virgin Islands. Seventeen distant amateur radio stations were contacted during the five hours of operation. See story for details. Pictured is Brittany Knotts speaking to the Waggoner High School in Oklahoma while her seventh grade classmates – Kim Housley, Hailey Knotts, Cassie Pierce, Lauren Keefer, Brittany Burns, and Jena Hardesty – look and listen. Howard Reynolds, WA3EOQ, holds the microphone.

Some students practiced sending Morse code on a table set up with keys and a tone generator.

ARES members contributed time and equipment to this activity. Bea Crosco, N3SGL, provided coordination. Howard Reynolds, WA3EOQ, provided the ra-dio transmitter and operated the station. William Shomo, KB3FMJ, maintained the logbook of radio stations contacted and with Denise Moynahan, KD4UCP, helped the students answer questions.

Additionally, Pat Gormley, KK3F, provided standby VHF communications from Frostburg. Pam Viner, N3HFC, provided Morse code practice keys and equipment. Mark Moynahan, K3EE, built the antenna system, which will probably remain frozen in the ice until the spring thaw, noted an ARES spokesperson.

Licensed radio amateurs who would like to participate in future Garrett County ARES activities are encouraged to contact Bill Shomo, KB3FMJ, and to call in to the GC ARES net, which meets on the 146.805 repeater every Sunday evening at 8 p.m.

Individuals interested in studying for an amateur radio license should plan to attend the next ARES meeting on Monday, March 12, at 7 p.m. at the Red Cross office in Oakland.

A RECORD-BREAKING, ICY DUNK took place Saturday at Deep Creek Lake behind Uno's, with about 500 brave souls daring to take a quick dip in the frigid water, all for the sake of Special Olympics Maryland. More than $120,000 was brought in with this year's plunge, all of which helped to send many athletes and their families to the Wisp this week for the Special Olympics Winter Games. There were so many dunkers that they were organized into groups, with group after freezing cold group running into the open water where foot-thick ice had been cut away by volunteers with power saws earlier in the week. The Maryland State Police hosts the chilly event each year to boost the state's many special athletes. Photo by John McEwen.

Garrett Co., SHA To Improve Road, Hwy. Intersection

The Garrett County commissioners will partner with the State Highway Administration (SHA) on a project to improve the intersection of Spring Lick Road and state Route 495 for safety and visibility reasons. SHA calculated the total project cost at $514,468.

"I think it will be a great partnership between SHA and Garrett County," William Park, SHA assistant engineer for project development, told the commissions during a meeting on Tuesday at the courthouse.

The commissioners agreed with Park, as the county will only have to pay 17.7 percent of the cost, which is $110,688.

"I think this is certainly more than fair," said Commissioner Ernie Gregg. On other projects, the county has evenly split the cost with the state.

This new project involves relocating the Spring Lick Road intersection with Rt. 495 approximately 170 feet north of its current location. The adjustments will enable drivers stopped on the road at the intersection to better see oncoming traffic before they enter the highway.

SHA will pay for all the engineering, utility, and right-of-way costs, plus the construction on land where the state has a right of way. The state will also be responsible for managing the project, inspecting the work, and monitoring traffic during the construction.

Garrett County will only be responsible for the construction cost on land outside the state right of way, Park said.

The commissioners will send a letter to Robert Fisher, SHA district engineer, stating that they want to move ahead with the project. A memorandum of understanding between the county and SHA will then be drafted which will outline each entity's obligations.

"Once we get the okay," Park said, "then we'll kick into high gear and get ready for spring of next year." Construction could begin then, and the project should be finished by fall 2008.

Fred Polce, Garrett County Roads Department general superintendent, said his department would have $97,500 available in the fiscal year 2008 budget for the project. County officials

TAKING HIS OWN DUNK — This busy little river otter was going about his business in the Youghiogheny River last week when Suzie Fike, who lives on the banks of the Yough, spotted him, grabbed her camera, and took his picture. There are many such otters in Garrett County, and they can provide some true entertainment. They seem to be at play all the time, sliding on the ice and darting in and out of the water. Seeing the otters frolic in their natural habitat is just another benefit to living here in the Garrett County mountains.

Grant Awarded To Assist With Squads Staffing

Volunteer fire and rescue companies throughout Allegany and Garrett counties will receive assistance in the recruitment of new members and retention of current members thanks to a recent grant award.

The Assistance to Firefighters Grant Program recently awarded $294,980 under its Staffing for Adequate Fire and Emergency Response (SAFER) Act grant for recruitment and retention efforts in Allegany and Garrett counties.

The Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association was the leading supporter of submitting an application for the grant. "The idea of the grant is to add to the efforts that the Association's Recruitment and Retention Committee have concentrated on for several years. The problem has been that it is such a large undertaking that no volunteer has enough time to put toward this size of a project," said Robert Ritchie, the association's president.

The efforts will benefit all fire and rescue departments in the two counties, including those who do not belong to the Allegany-Garrett County Volunteer Fire and Rescue Association.

"This grant provides a wonderful opportunity to collectively work together across jurisdictional boundaries to recruit the next generation of fire and EMS providers in Western Maryland," stated Richard DeVore, chair of the Allegany County Fire and Rescue board and Emergency Management division chief.

The decline of volunteer firefighters and ambulance personnel, which leads to delayed and failed responses, has reportedly become a growing problem in

Residents Voice Concerns About Preserving County's Rural Areas

The Garrett County Planning Commission invited citizens to voice their concerns at a meeting Monday evening in the Garrett College auditorium about future growth and development in the county. And numerous people took the opportunity to do just that.

"Tonight's meeting is your meeting," said vice chair Troy Ellington, GC Planning Commission. "We're here to hear what you have to tell us to ensure that we will have a good comprehensive plan."

The county is in the process of updating its current Comprehensive Development Plan, which was adopted in 1995. Comprehensive development plans are the primary policy documents used by counties to ensure "healthy" future growth and development.

Twenty-one of the approximately 100 people who attended Monday's meeting presented their views on the plan and growth issues. Some presented detailed lists of suggestions and goals, while others gave impassioned pleas. Some were Garrett County natives. Others were new arrivals.

But the overall consensus could be summarized as: "Please preserve our agricultural, rural, and forested lands, and protect our environment, water sources, and natural resources from intrusive development."

Bittinger resident Kevin Dodge, representing the Allegheny Highlands Conservancy, noted the pros and cons of development, and said he was not at the meeting to demonize developers.

"But I suspect," he said, "that there is a silent majority in our area who are concerned about the changes in our county and the potential

DNR Meets With Constituents, Outlines Plan For Pending Issues At State Forest

Officials from the Maryland Department of Natural Resources met with constituents Tuesday at the New Germany State Park to address and resolve the outstanding issues regarding a controversial no-hunting zone that had been enacted in 2006 on the Savage River State Forest near the Savage River Lodge. This issue had originally been brought to the agency's attention during a meeting held at the Grantsville Public Library on Nov. 20.

Four major areas of public concern were outlined during the November meeting. The following summary explains those concerns and also indicates the steps that have been taken to assure their resolution:

1. The primary issue raised at the meeting was opposition to the "No Hunting, No (Loaded) Weapons" signs posted along Mt. Aetna Road and the Green Trail.

DNR's original reason for posting the signs centered on public safety concerns. DNR agreed to conduct a re-evaluation of the need for signs by Feb. 2007.

Based on the number and nature of law enforcement complaints that occurred on the tract during the 2006 rifle and muzzleloader hunting seasons, DNR agreed to remove the signs along Mt. Aetna Road and the Green Trail. However, the department will maintain a 150-yard safety zone around all occupied structures on the Savage River Lodge property, where standard safety zone signage will be posted.

Woman Receives Five Years For CDS Distribution

A 38-year-old Oakland woman was found guilty yesterday of conspiracy to distribute a controlled dangerous substance, specifically morphine, following a two-day jury trial. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Angela Yvonne Shafer to five years in the Division of Corrections.

Shafer was indicted by the grand jury last May after members heard evidence gathered by officers from the Garrett Bureau of Investigation and the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, who investigated the death of an Oakland area man the first weekend of April. Officers interviewed witnesses and suspects who provided information about the various controlled dangerous substances and prescription medications that had been consumed by the deceased, which the state Medical Examiner's Office reported resulted in the death.

Shafer was acquitted of charges related to distribution of cocaine that same weekend, as well as the actual distribution of the morphine and maintaining a common nuisance.

Three other persons in the case, two adults and one

Two Relief Funds Established To Help Local Family

Two accounts have been established to help the John and Crystal Hauser family of Bayard, W.Va., who lost their home and nearly lost their lives in a fire on Saturday.

Crystal, who is seven-months pregnant, and the couple's 3-year-old son J.J. were hospitalized at the Pittsburgh (Pa.) Burn Center following the fire at their trailer. They are listed in critical condition, according to a family member.

The Bayard Volunteer Fire Company and the Miners and Merchants Bank have set up the John and Crystal Hauser Family Relief Fund.

Persons who would like to help the family during this crisis may send checks, money orders, or cash to "The John and Crystal Hauser Family Relief Fund," c/o Bayard Volunteer Fire Co., P.O. Box 215, Bayard, WV 26707, or c/o Miners and Merchants Bank, P.O. Box 272, Bayard, WV 26707.

All monies will be deposited in the Miners and Merchants Bank under the fund, according to Bayard mayor Steven Durst. For more information, persons may call the bank at 304-693-7675.

ClearMountain Bank in Oakland has also set up an account. Persons may stop by the bank or mail contributions to "The J.J. Hauser and Family Fund," c/o ClearMountain Bank, 12599 Garrett Highway, Oakland, MD 21550.

ClearMountain is also accepting clothing donations for the family. Items may be dropped off at the Oakland branch. For more information, persons may call this bank at 301-533-2173.

DNR Reportedly Knew That Stocked Fish Were Diseased

by Glenn Tolbert

Diseased and highly contagious fish that some Department of Natural Resources biologists claim were knowingly dumped in Garrett County's watershed, including Deep Creek Lake and Bear Creek, are causing a major controversy within that organization and have already affected the county's tourism industry.

Known as whirling disease, because it causes fish, particularly trout, to swim in concentric circles, the history of the illness goes back years when some officials say it had long been known to have been thriving in both the "net pens" where trout are reared, and in some portions of the North Branch of the Potomac River.

For years precautions have been taken to avoid the spread of the devastating illness; until now.

"I know that some infected fish have been knowingly stocked in Deep Creek Lake, as well as in Bear Creek," said one DNR employee who asked not to be named. "It is just sloppy work."

That same employee said that any precautions to stop the spread of the disease "went out the door when we started carrying infected fish around in our trucks and dumping them as stock."

Robert Lunsfurd, head of freshwater fisheries in Maryland, said that there would be fewer fish this year for anglers because of measures taken at some hatcheries. Lunsfurd explained that a sample is

The Republican Marks 130th Yr. Of Publication

The publication of last week's issue of The Republican marked the 130th year of the weekly newspaper's existence. The Republican was launched in 1877 by Capt. James Hayden, a Civil War veteran who fought for the Union Army at Gettysburg, Pa., among other battles. The soldier named the paper in honor of his hero, Abraham Lincoln, who had been assassinated just 12 years prior to the paper's beginning.

Hayden actually purchased an already established newspaper and renamed it. It was previously titled The Gazette, according to local historians. So the actual age of the paper is more than 130 years, if the previous paper is considered GETTING READY FOR A GRAND OPENING – Garrett County Memorial Hospital's Loar Auxiliary will host the grand opening of the Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop on Friday, March 2, beginning at 10 a.m. The public is invited to stop in and browse the new merchandise in the shop's newly expanded location within the hospital. Coffee and cookies will be served to all attendees, who are also invited to take advantage of special savings and a prize drawing for a sapphire and diamond-accent bracelet. The Loar Auxiliary was founded nearly 55 years ago, and in 1976 expanded its services to include the operation of the Loar Auxiliary Gift Shop. "The gift shop is managed and operated by a core group of volunteers who devote countless hours to ensure the shop's success," said a hospital spokesperson. All proceeds from the gift shop and the Cup O' Joe snack bar will be used by the auxiliary to assist Garrett County Memorial Hospital. For more information about the Loar Auxiliary, persons may call the GCMH Volunteer Services Department at 301-533-4178. BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS – Charles Nolan, a decorated World War II Marine combat soldier, was buried in Arlington National Cemetery on Wednesday, Jan. 24, with 19 members of his family present. The six-man body bearer Marine Corps detail folds the flag that will be presented to the widow as the military chaplain salutes. Charles was buried in Arlington Cemetery because Chuck Nolan, Deer Park, one of his sons, made a commitment to fulfill his father's wish. See feature story on page A-20.

Phone Complaint Leads To Arrest Of Oakland Man

In responding to a phone complaint of a disturbance, the Oakland Police found and arrested a 26-year-old man on Crook Street in Oakland, and charged him with disturbing the peace, disorderly conduct, failure to obey a lawful order, and resisting arrest, the police said.

Johnny Lee Corby, Oakland, had been allegedly creating a disturbance at 310 Crook Street on Tuesday at 6 p.m. when an unknown caller phoned the police to complain of loud noises being made.

Corby was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

noted that the county has worked with SHA on other projects, including one to improve visibility at the Sky Valley Road/Rt. 495 intersection. Several accidents, including two fatalities, occurred at that intersection before improvements were made there.

Park said the SHA would like to work with the county on other initiatives, possibly one each fiscal year. Commissioner Fred Holliday suggested that the next project be improvements to the New Germany Road/Rt. 495 intersection.

"That's a dangerous intersection," said Commissioner Denny Glotfelty.

Gregg suggested that preliminary work begin immediately to see what costs would be involved with that project.

"I think it really would be a betterment for the area, safety wise," Park said about the possible improvements. He said SHA could start now and would probably have something in the concept stage by summer. As with the previous projects, the SHA would then present the county with various possible alignment/cost options from which to choose.

Polce noted that the New Germany/Rt. 495 intersection would be a bigger project to tackle than the Spring Lick/Rt. 495 one.

DNR Knew

taken from the hatchery and, if it proves positive for the disease, the entire causeway full of fish is destroyed.

"We're buying fish from other sources to try to make up the difference," he said.

The Department of Natural Resources tried to minimize the problem by issuing a press release last week in which it described how the disease was being handled, but the concern focused only on hatchery fish.

But now Lunsfurd admits that he is "hopefully concerned" that the problem has not reached Deep Creek Lake.

Talk of whirling disease has already reached the ears of fishermen nationwide. The members of the prestigious Angler's Club of New York had an annual trip to Deep Creek on their agenda. However, this year they are refusing to come for fear of picking up the disease on their fly-fishing equipment.

But the fear of what may happen to stocked trout is only a part of this outdoor saga. Ken Pavol, a retired DNR biologist, is now vice president of resources for Trout Unlimited.

"We have native brook trout here in Garrett County," he said. "In fact, the Savage River Forest is one of the only areas on the East Coast that is still pristine.

Our concern isn't so much for those fish that are raised to increase income for the DNR, but for the fish that have been here for countless eons. This could end their existence."

2. The "no parking" signs posted by the Savage River Lodge along Mt. Aetna Road were identified as a major public concern.

These signs posted by Savage River Lodge along Mt. Aetna Road have been removed. However, DNR will be placing state "no parking" signs along the road in the turn-out areas to prevent parking in those locations.

While parking along the road is not legally prohibited, it would be extremely difficult to park legally along this road. Because of the narrow width of the road, a vehicle would need to be parked completely off the road to avoid blocking traffic.

3. Concerns about the gates on the road and the "limited access road" signs were also addressed. DNR and the Savage River Lodge have a shared legal right of way (ROW) from Old Frostburg Road to the Savage River Lodge property line. As a state agency administering public lands, DNR's ROW is shared by the public and is available for public use.

Therefore, the "limited access" signs have been removed, and DNR will instruct Savage River Lodge to remove the gate placed across the road on state property. The gate on private land will remain in place and will be used to open and close the road.

Public access to the road will be adjusted seasonally, based on the public's need for access to the Mt. Aetna tract for legitimate recreational activities such as hiking, fishing, hunting, etc. DNR will determine gate openings and closures based on what is best for the tract. Due to the shared ROW legal status of the road, these determinations will be made in consultation with Savage River Lodge.

4. The public requested that DNR consider installing a new parking lot at the top of the hill to improve access to the Mt. Aetna tract and provide a turn-around area. DNR has conducted an interdisciplinary team review of this request. A final decision on whether or not to install an additional parking area on the tract is pending.

juvenile, have previously appeared in court and pleaded guilty. The adults are serving jail sentences, and the juvenile is on probation.

"The police will follow the information and evidence associated with every drug violation that is reported," said State's Attorney Lisa Thayer Welch. "When there is sufficient evidence to prosecute, my office will follow through. The case heard this week involved Ms. Shafer providing the last $4 that was needed to buy one morphine pill. There is evidence that that pill contributed to the death of a 24-year old man. It will not matter whether the charges involve using and possessing or manufacturing, dealing and financing. The only way to attack the drug problem is to treat every violation as serious."

CPR, First Aid Courses Slated By Red Cross

The American Red Cross has scheduled two cardiopulmonary resuscitation/basic first aid courses. The eight-hour class is designed specifically for lay responders, students, volunteers, or anyone interested in obtaining certification. There are no pre-requisites for this course.

The cost is $40 for new students and $35 for those who wish to recertify. This will cover the text, CPR kit, and two certification cards.

The first class is set for Wednesday, March 14, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Oakland ARC Office. The second is slated for Wednesday, March 28, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. also at the Oakland office.

The ARC also announced that there will be lifeguard training provided at Frostburg State University, April 19-22.

Advance registration and payment is required. For more information or to register for a course, persons may contact Lorri Wharton, Health Services Director, at 301-722-1760, ext. 105, or by e-mail at lkwitt@all-conet.org.

Garrett County Schools Receive $58,786 Grant

The State Farm Youth Advisory Board, in partnership with State Farm Insurance, announced that it will grant $58,786 to Garrett County schools for their efforts to educate students about financial literacy. The project is part of a $5 million allocation the Youth Advisory Board will administer on State Farm's behalf.

The Youth Advisory Board is a group of 30 youth, ages 17 to 20, who were chosen through a competitive process to lead and oversee this initiative.

"A working knowledge of financial matters makes it easier for consumers to save for major purchases such as buying a home or saving for a child's college education," stated Erin Bailey of State Farm.

"Currently, the majority of Americans use a line of credit to purchase goods or services and often are unaware of how interest rates are applied and the cycle of debt that can occur as a result."

Garrett County High schools, both Southern and Northern, will work with teams of students who will plan, organize, create, design, produce, and edit videos and accompanying activities addressing the issues of financial literacy.

Funded projects range from the creation of a community/family program to offer courses to youth and parents in low-income communities, to the creation of a program to help high school students teach elementary students about financial issues.

The grantees were selected from over 360 requests for proposals submitted to the advisory board. The board identified four topic areas for consideration: disaster preparedness, driver safety, access to college or closing the achievement gap, and financial literacy.

"We appreciate the support of State Farm and Rob Michael, who does so much to support the community," stated superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets. "This grant will be a great asset to the development of financial literacy to enhance our curriculum."

STATE FARM AWARDS GRANT TO GARRETT COUNTY SCHOOLS – State Farm Insurance and its Youth Advisory Board recently announced their plan to grant $58,786 to Garrett County schools for their efforts to educate students about financial literacy. "I'm happy to be able to support our county in this manner," stated Rob Michael, owner/agent of the Oakland office of state Farm. "It will benefit students from both ends of the county to help them meet their financial needs." The Board of Education was presented with a check from Michael. "I would like to convey my thanks to Mr. Rob Michael and State Farm Insurance for their support of our local school system," stated Kurt Lear, writer of the grant. Woman Arrested And Charged With Theft, Tampering

The Oakland Police arrested an Oakland woman and charged her with theft under $100 and tampering with a motor vehicle Friday at 12:30 p.m., according to the police.

The police detained Amy Hedrick near 7th Street in Oakland shortly after she allegedly removed a purse and fled from a car that was parked on 2nd Street. Hedrick matched the description the police received when investigating the theft.

Hedrick is currently being held in the Garrett County Detention Center awaiting a bond hearing.

Pickup Trucks Collide; Four People Injured

Two pickup trucks collided on ice-covered state Route 495 in Swanton, and the occupants in the vehicles were injured Sunday at approximately 12:35 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

Four people from the accident were transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by the Southern and Northern Garrett rescue squads, and were treated for minor injuries, the police said.

Alex Murray, 18, Oakland, was traveling north on Route 495 at Ross Savage Road when he lost control of his 1997 Ford pickup and slid across the ice-covered pavement, striking a 2002 Ford F-250 driven by Eli Hershberger, 58, Swanton, and pushing it into a guardrail on the south side of the roadway, the police said. Anna Hershberger and an unidentified 4-year-old boy were passengers.

Murray was charged with failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

The Maryland State Highway Administration and the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department also assisted the Maryland State Police at the scene of the accident.

Phone Pole Falls, Traps Two Men Inside Ford Truck

A single vehicle accident occurred on Bethlehem Road, a quarter mile west of Eagle Rock Road, Thursday afternoon.

A 17-year-old juvenile was traveling eastbound in a 1989 Ford Ranger, when he drove to the right shoulder of the road to make room for an oncoming vehicle. The ranger slid into the drainage ditch an struck and electric pole. The impact fractured the pole.

Shortly after the collision, Garry Richard Whitacre arrived at the scene operating a 2006 Ford truck. The juvenile got into Whitacre's vehicle to use his cell phone to contact authorities.

While both subjects were inside the truck, a gust of wind fractured the pole causing it to fall onto the Ford's bed.

Whitacre and the juvenile were trapped inside the vehicle until Allegheny Power could arrive on the scene to turn off the power to the power line.

Neither subject suffered injuries as a result of the incident, and no charges have been filed by sheriff's deputies.

Single Vehicle Accident Sends Four To GCMH

Sheriff's deputies responded to a single vehicle accident on North Hill Road on Saturday evening, Feb. 24.

Initial investigation revealed that a 1988 Suzuki vehicle was driven by a juvenile. There were three other passengers in the vehicle at the time of the accident.

All persons involved were from the Ellicott City area. They were all transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, with one person later being flown to Cumberland Memorial for further treatment.

Southern Rescue Squad and Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department also responded to the accident, which is still under investigation by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office.

Plans For Rural Enterprises Conf. Nearly Complete

Plans are nearing completion for the sixth annual Rural Enterprises Conference, organized by the Garrett-Preston Rural Development Coalition.

This year's forum, titled Growing Farms and Farmers for the Future, is slated for Saturday, March 17, from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at Preston High School, Kingwood, W.Va. It will include the MPWV Spring Meat Goat Conference.

"We have another exciting conference set for 2007," said Joyce Bishoff, RDC chairperson. "In addition to our regular seminars, we offer youth sessions that are top-notch. Kids ages 8-11 can learn about entrepreneurship, market research, and sales. The teen sessions will teach hands-on value-added activities to those 12-17 years old."

Among other topics scheduled, two sessions will deal with growing berries in the in the local area. Session 1 of Growing Summer Strawberries in the Mountains will be offered by Garrett County's Maryland Cooperative Extension educator Willie Lantz, along with Charles DeBerry of DeBerry Farm. In session 2, Lantz will offer information on fall-bearing raspberry production.

Other sessions planned will explore soil testing, honey production, web site design, master gardening, and managing pests and critters.

For more information on the conference or directions to Preston High School, persons may visit the RDC web site: www.morefarmmoney.org, or call Cheryl DeBerry of Garrett County Office of Economic Development at 301-334-6960.

"We are proud to have kept our registration fees affordable for families," Bishoff said, noting that early registration is $15 for the first adult family member and $10 for each additional adult, with a $5 fee for each child under age 18. Registration at the door is $20 for the first adult, $15 for each additional adult, and $5 per child.

Narcotics Task Force Arrests Local Man

Garrett County sheriff, Gary Berkebile, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, announced the arrest of a Mtn. Lake Park resident.

Members of the task force and Garrett County Sheriff's Office executed a search and seizure warrant at a private residence, owned by Geoffrey Hamill, 48, located on Pensinger Boulevard.

During the search of the residence, an active indoor marijuana growing operation was recovered. Approximately one pound of dried marijuana, 12 marijuana plants, and marijuana paraphernalia were recovered.

Also seized was a 2000 Toyota Echo, a computer system, and $198 in currency. The equipment that was used to grow the marijuana plants was also seized.

Hamill was taken into custody and criminally charged with manufacturing marijuana, possession of marijuana with intent, possession of marijuana, possession of marijuana paraphernalia, and maintaining a common nuisance.

He was incarcerated at the Garrett County Detention Center, pending a bond hearing.

Grant Awarded To Help Local Youth, Economic Devel.

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has approved a grant of $35,000 to the Maryland Department of Planning to add two sub grants to the Consolidated Technical Assistance Grant. The grants will provide Garrett County with the funds necessary to help at-risk high school students through the Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) and to increase tourism and economic development in the county and western Maryland.

"I am a strong supporter and advocate of the ARC," said Rep. Roscoe Bartlett. "This grant will help develop a therapeutic recreational treatment for at-risk high school students, and it will help ASCI make Garrett County a national destination for white water enthusiasts and competitions."

The ARC funds will be used to support two new mini-grants for the Age Youth Continuation Program and the ASCI Events Management Plan. The first grant will enable the Garrett County Health Department and the Adventure Sports Institute to extend a therapeutic recreation program, which is currently restricted to middle school students, to include high school students until a more permanent source of funding is developed.

Funding for the ASCI Events Management Plan will be used to help attract and host national competitions and activities.

The ASCI is bringing greater visibility to Garrett County and western Maryland. ASCI needs to professionally recruit, plan for, and manage national-level events, Bartlett noted. The grant will help assure that each event is successfully implemented, thus facilitating ASCI's continued recruitment of these events in the future, he said.

In addition to ARC funding, local sources will provide $35,000 to the effort, bringing the total project funding to $70,000, according to Bartlett.

THE OAKLAND BYPASS
It's YOUR business because it's your BUSINESS!
The Oakland Bypass is NOT a done deal!
If you live or work in Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, or on Rt. 219,
DO NOT let this issue pass you by.
OAKLAND BUSINESS OWNERS BE ADVISED:
- A study of 17 Kansas bypasses found once highway funds were taken away from original downtown roads, Main Street often fell into disrepair.
- Businesses didn't increase profits after bypasses were installed. Instead service businesses (convenience stores and gas stations) grew up outside the town center, drawing customers away from town.
- A Wisconsin DOT study showed the economies of smaller communities tend to be adversely impacted by a bypass.
- A Texas study of 23 bypassed towns found retail, restaurants, gas stations, and service industries in bypassed towns lost business.
Garrett County needs a BETTER PLAN!

APRIL 12, 2007 • 10 AM
County Commissioners/State Hwy Officials Meeting In The Commissioners' Meeting Room At GC Courthouse, Fourth St. Entrance Level

The proposed 219 Oakland Bypass is an inadequate plan!
- $42 Million of YOUR tax dollars will pay for an unnecessary and dangerous two-mile road through Oakland.
- The students going to Southern High, Southern Middle, Broad Ford Elementary, and Dennett Road Elementary will be at risk, having to navigate the new Dennett Road roundabout and the Memorial Drive intersection.
- [illegible] trucks passing the entrance of Northern High and Middle schools will endanger those students.
- Residents of Mtn. Lake Park will confront increased truck traffic on Rt. 135.
- Hundreds of additional trucks will negatively impact businesses and residences on Rt. 219 in Accident and through the Deep Creek Lake corridor, deterring tourists and customers.
- The lack of strategic planning for north-south transportation in Garrett County has resulted in Rt. 219 becoming the major truck route through the county. Why spend $42 million to encourage more truck traffic on Rt. 219?
There is still time to make a better plan.
A safer plan needs to be developed to relieve traffic congestion in Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, Accident and Deep Creek Lake with upgrades and better utilization of existing county and state roads.

Some Positive Ink...

It hasn't been that long ago that this column touted the outstanding accomplishments of many of Garrett County's young people. The achievements noted were primarily in the categories of intellect and athleticism.

Well, this week we want to pass along a positive note about an incident that focuses more on a third category, that being the character of our youth, which to many of us is the most important of the three.

Southern High School principal Tom Woods received a telephone call on Monday from a gentleman from Chesapeake, Va. The caller and his family were vacationing and happened to have stayed at the Comfort Inn in Hagerstown Friday night. It was the same hotel which was housing the Southern High wrestling team, in Hagerstown for the 1A/2A West Regional tournament that was hosted by North Hagerstown High School.

The purpose of the call was simply to tell Mr. Woods that he had never been around a more polite, respectful, considerate group of young men. He went on to say that the boys were quiet all night and sat at breakfast the next morning with total respect for those around them. As an aside, the principal told the caller that the boys had won the regional championship, to which the caller responded with little surprise.

The behavior of the boys obviously made a significant impression on this Virginia man, or he probably would not have made the effort to remember the name of the school, go to his computer, locate the web site for the school, the principal's name, and his telephone number, and then finally make the call.

So we extend our congratulations to Coach Dave Taylor, his staff, and particularly the Rams for winning the regional championship, but more importantly we send our appreciation and a sense of great pride in them for their representation of Garrett County in such a mature, dignified, courteous manner. The same goes to their parents, grandparents, educators, and anyone else who had a hand in developing the behavior and character of these young men.

It is fantastic that this kind of behavior seems to be more the norm than the exception for the youth of Garrett County – north, south, east, and west. Negative behavior by young people almost always "gets ink" in the press, and typically, positive behavior as just described does not. It gives us great pleasure to provide the ink to share this particular experience with our readers.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Last week's newspaper truly inspired me. How wonderful to see and read the accomplishments of a true rising star, David Higdon, on the front page. The drawing of the basketball player is evidence of the amazing skill and talent David has. I count myself truly blessed to have collaborated with David on multiple poetry/art projects. Disney has gained a great talent indeed.

I hope your paper will continue to keep David's fans abreast of his work. David, if you read this, we're proud of you.

Debra Jean Wolf

To the Editor:

The editorial in The Republican for last Thursday, February 22 is right on. This county has needed paid personnel on the rescue squads for a number of years. Training mandated by the state for these paramedics takes a lot of time and dedication, and you're right, there are not too many individuals committed to doing this. Hopefully, funding will be available for this to become a reality in the very near future and those hired for these positions will come from within our own county.

Just think of how much money would be available had our $30 gone to this endeavor rather than to the "flush tax."

Hopefully, the fire departments will eventually follow suit.

Pat Newhall
Oakland

To the Editor:

It has been 16 years since we moved to Garrett County. We enjoy the changing seasons and the beauty that comes with each season. We meet and have done business with many wonderful people who come to vacation at Deep Creek. We also treasure the friendships and acquaintances of many wonderful folks here in the county.

Our children have enjoyed the football, baseball and basketball programs that focused not only on winning but teaching the game and building character. We appreciate the many hours of work and effort on the part of the coaches and others who volunteered their time and talents to make this possible.

The services offered by this county are some of the best you will find anywhere, especially the roads department during this time of year. We appreciate the hard work that is done from the commissioners to the truck drivers on our behalf.

These are a few of the reasons we think Garrett County is a great place to live.

Reuben & Wanda Lapp Accident

To the Editor:

I was saddened this past week by the passing of Judge Fred A. Thayer. I had worked for 30 years with him when he was state's attorney and judge of the circuit court before I retired as clerk of the circuit court. He was a model of what a judge should be. There was always no question as to who was in charge in his courtroom. He ran a tight ship, but was always fair to all who appeared before him. He was a stickler for being on time and maintained a dignity and professionalism in the court.

Many tough cases were removed to Garrett County from larger metropolitan areas of Maryland on a change of venue because of TV publicity in their areas. Visiting attorneys were always impressed with our judge.

I had many conversations with Fred, especially during trial recesses or while waiting for juries to reach a verdict. He was probably one of the most intelligent persons I had the opportunity to meet.

Garrett County will certainly miss Judge Thayer.

Clifford C. DeWitt
Retired Clerk of Circuit Court

To the Editor:

The death of a colleague is occasion for reflection. The Maryland Judiciary, and particularly the citizens of western Maryland, have suffered a grievous loss in the untimely death of our colleague, Judge Frederick A. Thayer III.

The citizens of Garrett County were fortunate to have the public services of Judge Thayer for nearly 45 years. The highlight of his service was his tenure as judge of the circuit court from 1977 until his retirement in 1996 and thereafter as a recalled judge.

By appearance and demeanor, Fred was cast to be a judge. No trial judge in Maryland enjoyed a higher reputation. Judge Thayer was respected by the attorneys who practiced in his court and by his fellow judges. He managed trials with firmness and fairness. His rulings and decisions were concise and definitive, leaving no room for doubt or equivocation. Judge Thayer's reputation as a trial judge was the reason that many high-profile serious criminal cases were referred from other Maryland counties to Garrett County for trial.

in retirement, Judge Thayer continued to be involved in the judicial process. He presided as a specially assigned judge in both Garrett and Allegany counties, hearing cases regardless of the nature or complexity of the matter. He also served as a settlement judge, and engaged in private mediation. He had much yet to offer. We shall miss him, both professionally and personally.

To the Editor:

Recently Democrats in the House of Representatives led efforts to pass a non-binding resolution to undermine the tactics proposed by President Bush and his head general to win the war in Iraq. This resolution is the Democrats' first step at undercutting our troop funding without actually saying they plan to do so. However, Roy Blunt, House Republican whip and congressman from the seventh district in Missouri, stood up to the Democrats and voted no. He realizes the struggle against Islamic fundamentalists is a long-term fight and we must succeed.

Roy Blunt was acting majority leader in the 109th Congress and is minority whip in the 110th Congress. It is very important for all Americans to know that there are still a few people in Congress who are willing to take a stand. Roy Blunt is leading the way in Congress for our voices to be heard to continue to support our troops. So for those out there who feel that their voices have been stifled by the liberal left and the media, there is still leadership in the Republican party willing to stand up for our troops.

All Americans must realize that whether you supported the war in Iraq or not, our troops are the most important thing to remember as they defend our freedom, and we must support them and support those in Congress who support our troops. To those serving in our armed forces, I say thank you, and I hope Congress will continue to support you. I encourage all citizens to contact their representative and let them know we want to support our troops.

To the Editor:

The Garrett Countians for Smart Growth organization goes on record as opposed to the present alignment of the so-called Oakland 219 bypass. This abomination intersects three farms, one a century farm transversing for 2.2 miles, at a cost of $42,000,000. That's $4,000 per lineal foot.

We think there is a better way for truck traffic to access the Southern Industrial Park, and that alignment is Route 495, a present state highway from north Route 219 to Route 135, Swanton.

Oakland is a busy little town, and in addition to the work force of over 1,000 employees each day, there are tourists and visitors to the hospital, board of education, sheriff's office, banks, courthouse, and retail outlets.

There is an ongoing solution to the traffic congestion on Third Street in Oakland, and that is to press forward with the state program Streetscape to create holding and passing lanes and synchronize the traffic lights to keep traffic flowing.

In the distant future, this bypass, through limited access, will become a strip mall consisting of drive-in banks, more fast-food chains, retail outlets, office complexes, etc. When this occurs, downtown Oakland will resemble downtown Terra Alta, with numerous empty store fronts.

Thirty years ago, an irreversible mistake was made when our beautiful county courthouse was destroyed by building a jailhouse in the front yard. Don't compound one mistake by making another irreversible mistake. Scuttle this proposal now.

Respectfully yours, DeCorsey E. Bolden for Smart Growth

P.S. Readers who are likewise concerned about this are encouraged to attend a public meeting on April 12 at 10 a.m. in the Garrett County Commissioners' meeting room.

To the Editor:

I am sorry for those who [illegible] to attend the [illegible] Comp[illegible] meeting he[illegible] Monday at Garrett College. Hopefully, there will be additional meetings in the spring when the weather is more accommodating.

Citizens were invited by the commissioners to share their vision and suggestions for future development in our county, and many well-informed and concerned people did so, often very eloquently. I feel privileged to live in a democracy where people are invited in a public forum like this to guide their chosen officials.

The word "zoning" was not heard very much at the meeting, but most who spoke were seeking some common ground between those who want to safeguard property rights and those who hope to preserve the rural and wilderness quality of life in our county. Many speakers were concerned about uncontrolled development and the consequent deterioration of the landscape that is happening so rapidly here.

In response to persons fearful of the attempt to enact laws that would take away property rights (these sentiments were expressed in a letter to the editor of this newspaper, February 22), I would say that there seemed to be no movement on the part of any group to seize that freedom. However, the freedom of property rights is not the only freedom we have to protect, as unregulated freedom of any sort if misused can lead to unintended consequences.

In addition to the freedom to manage our own property, is the freedom of the community to enjoy a quality lifestyle: clean air and water, uncrowded landscapes, meadows and mountain ridges of natural beauty, and rural byways unspoiled by the clutter of strip malls and unplanned developments. When farms are mindlessly subdivided, and mansions of the rich go up in the middle of a farm field, we will have lost our choice to live a rural lifestyle. Who will want to come to our county then to spend time and money fishing, hunting or vacationing when we look the same as Carroll County? Where will our own children go to enjoy and to farm Garrett County's lands?

Creative solutions can be found to help farmers stay solvent, to maintain land equity, and to keep our county beautiful. Unlike other rural counties that are already ruined, we have an opportunity in Garrett County to get it right. I urge all to get informed and to go to the next meeting.

loss of our rural way of life. What I would like to emphasize is that it's not an 'us versus them' issue, it's a 'we' issue. The question is, then, What can we do to stem this wave of development or at least manage it in a desirable way?"

His group had several suggestions, which included offering financial incentives to developers to encourage them to design their projects in a more environmentally friendly manner.

Gary Love, representing the Youghiogheny River Watershed Association, also provided the commission with a list of ideas that his group believes are important to updating the plan. Those ideas included establishing impact fees on new development to help fund enforcement of water quality standards.

Oakland resident Jane Avery told officials: "Slow down and make conscientious decisions, good decisions that are going to impact the world of the future, not just the world of the next year or so."

She also suggested building "neighborhoods" instead of "cookie-cutter" housing units, "energizing" old buildings instead of tearing them down, and using land that has already been developed but is currently not being utilized.

Terri Rodeheaver, representing the 191 members of the Garrett County Farm Bureau, and Joyce Bishoff of the Garrett-Preston Rural Development Commission also expressed their groups' thoughts on preserving farm lands, density issues, and establishing minimum lot size requirements.

Chairman DeCorsey Bolden, Garrett Countians for Smart Growth, spoke against the current alignment for the proposed Oakland/Rt. 219 bypass. He said the $42 million project would cut through two farms, divide the towns of Mtn. Lake Park and Oakland, and draw businesses away from Oakland.

"Scuttle this proposal now!" Bolden said. His group suggested that a better "bypass" route for traffic, especially trucks headed to industrial parks in the southern end of the county, would be along Routes 219 and 135.

Dr. William Pope, Mtn. Lake Park, said the 1995 Comprehensive Development Plan was a "beautiful" one that also talked about preserving the environment and scenic vistas and included a heritage and sensitive areas plan.

"And yet the carrying through of the plan is a real problem in Garrett County," he said. "We just didn't have the will to carry out the regulations and to enforce them."

Madeleine Collins of McHenry concurred, noting that enforcement of regulations and having a plan "with some teeth to it" were vital.

Following Monday's meeting, Environmental Resources Management (ERM), the county's planning consultant, presented scientific data on Deep Creek Lake water quality issues Tuesday evening at Garrett College.

A copy of the ERM report, "Garrett County Deep Creek Lake Assessment of Water Quality Impacts from Potential Land Development," is available on the county's web site at co.garrett.md.us/PlanningLand/PlanningZoning/Planning.aspx.

Another Comprehensive Development Plan meeting will be held Tuesday, March 27, in the Southern High School cafeteria at 6 p.m. Rural growth and preservation issues will be addressed. Maps will be available for people to see what areas were designated as agricultural and rural resource preservation districts in the 1995 comprehensive plan, said John Nelson, director of Garrett County Department of Planning and Land Development.

"That will be a hands-on type of meeting," he said. "We encourage any and all to participate in that meeting."

Meetings are also slated for Friday, May 4, at 7 p.m. and Saturday, May 5, at 10 a.m. in the Garrett College auditorium to address McHenry area issues, such as pedestrian accessibility and traffic flow, Nelson said.

ERM is starting to put "ideas and words on paper" for the plan, said ERM consultant Clive Graham, so it is important that citizens express their views about it now. ERM hopes to have a full draft plan by this fall. A review process with formal public hearings on the plan will follow in early 2008, he said.

Va. Man Handed 60-Day Jail Term After Assault And High-Speed Chase

In recent District Court news, Jonathon Michael Fletcher, 21, Cross Junction, Va., pleaded guilty to second-degree assault and was handed a 60-day jail sentence. According to court records, the defendant was involved in a September incident in which he drove his vehicle directly at a Maryland State Police Officer, who had set up a roadblock on I-68 near Friendsville in an attempt to stop the defendant after he had been clocked for speeding. The defendant swerved around a stopped vehicle driving into the median, then drove his car directly at the officer, causing him to jump out of harm's way, and continued to travel west on I-68 at a high speed. Tfc. S. LeMay pursued the defendant, and when he pulled alongside the speeding car, Fletcher swerved at the officer, causing him to take evasive action. The defendant was later arrested in Morgantown, W.Va., and given appropriate citations.

Fletcher was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for a second count of second-degree assault.

In other court news, Kenneth Lee Roberts, 23, Morgantown, W.Va., pleaded guilty to the possession of heroin, a controlled dangerous substance (CDS). Judge Ralph Burnett handed the defendant a nine-month jail sentence for possession of cocaine along with a stet ruling for driving on a suspended out-of-state license.

The charges stemmed from a December traffic incident in which the defendant was stopped for speeding and subsequently arrested and charged for possession of cocaine, three counts of possession of paraphernalia, and three traffic citations, including driving a motor vehicle on a suspended out-of-state driver's license.

The state's attorney did not prosecute the defendant for the three counts of possession of paraphernalia and the two other traffic citations.

Bradley Joseph Ridder, 20, Oakland, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was given a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended except for time served, and two years of supervised probation. Ridder was arrested after Det. E.J. Geroski and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant at the defendant's residence and found cocaine, morphine, marijuana, and various paraphernalia devices.

The defendant was not prosecuted for the charges of possession of cocaine, possession of morphine, and three counts of possession of paraphernalia.

Nicholas Alan DeWitt, 18, Oakland, came before the court on cases stemming from two separate events. In the first case, the defendant pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and disorderly conduct and was handed a 30-day jail term for each offense, all of which was suspended except for two days, one year of supervised probation for each guilty plea, and a $200 fine for the possession charge. The judge ordered the sentences of both charges to be served consecutively. The violations stemmed from an October incident in which the defendant was arrested on Oakland Drive and charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia, disorderly conduct, disturbing the peace, driving under the influence (DUI), DUI per se, and driving while impaired by alcohol (DWI). The state's attorney did not prosecute the defendant for the charges of possession of paraphernalia, disturbing the peace, DUI, DUI per se, and DWI.

In the second case, DeWitt pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct and was handed a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended except for two days, one year of supervised probation, and a $100 fine. The defendant was found by the police with three other men behind the Vista Apartments in Oakland. Police investigators discovered that the victim, a resident of the apartment building, had asked the defendant numerous times to leave her residence. According to court records, the defendant was intoxicated, and the police found a bag of hashish in his pocket after receiving permission to do a body search. The defendant kept yelling even when the officers told him to quiet down.

DeWitt was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of trespassing on private property and failing to obey a reasonable, lawful request.

Bruce Bryan Opel pleaded guilty to trespassing on private property and was handed a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, and one year of unsupervised probation. The defendant had been warned numerous times by the owners to stay off their property, and when he continued to ignore their requests, they filed a charge of trespassing in October, according to court records.

The court issued stet rulings in the following cases:

Kyle Nelson Yost, 36, Washington, D.C., received a stet ruling for a charge of trespassing on posted property. The charge was filed by the caretaker of the Rock Lodge Trust property after she discovered the defendant on the grounds. The property was posted in a conspicuous manner.

Paul E. Wilhelm, 67, Grantsville, was handed a stet ruling for the charge of disorderly conduct and was told to have no contact with the victim. The charge stemmed from an incident in June at the Howe New Germany Store in which the defendant yelled at the victim and threatened to damage his vehicle, according to court records.

The following cases were not prosecuted by the state's attorney:

Sandra Layne Flockhart, 56, McHenry, was not prosecuted for the charges of operating a restaurant without a valid restaurant license and doing business without a trader's license.

Seth Brooks, 20, Jamaica, N.Y., and Daniel Gill, 21, Binghamton, N.Y., were not prosecuted for charges of possession of CDS marijuana and paraphernalia stemming from a July traffic stop in which the police seized two bags of marijuana, a smoking pipe, and a marijuana grinder.

Jeffrey Mark Priapi, 34, Grantsville, was not prosecuted for a charge of violating an ex parte court order that was served on Nov. 11 and violated the same day at a later time. The police later found the defendant walking from the house to a U-Haul truck, and arrested him.

Melissa Sines, 38, Oakland, was not prosecuted for a second-degree assault in which she allegedly threw a remote device at Priapi, hitting him below the eye after he allegedly called her a demeaning name numerous times.

Vivian Irene Padgett, 54, Oakland, was not prosecuted for charges of doing business without a trader's license and operating a restaurant without a license.

DUI AND DWI

Michael Paul Sliger, 36, Md., was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for charges of DUI and DWI.

Paul Edward Heck, 29, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and was handed a Probation before judgment (PBJ), a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, a $300 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation. Heck was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of DUI and DUI per se.

James Sebastian Metheny, 34, W.Va., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine, of which $100 was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and 30 hours of community service. Metheny was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of DUI.

David Scott Wilson, 40, Md., pleaded guilty to DWI and received a 60-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation. Wilson was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of DUI and DUI per se.

Donald Aaron Wilson, 41, Pa., failed to appear for his court date, and the court ordered a new $10,000 bond to be set for each of three charges — DUI, DUI per se, and DWI.

RELAY FOR LIFE CAPTAINS' MEETING SLATED, GOALS SET – The next team captains' meeting for the 2007 American Cancer Society Relay For Life for Garrett County will be held on Tuesday, March 6, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Continuing Education and Training Building at Garrett College in McHenry. (The snow date is March 13, same time and location.) The theme for this year's relay is "Carnival of Life," so team captains are encouraged to plan on-site fundraising activities with a carnival theme. David K. Martin is this year's honorary chairman of the event. Organizers are hoping to make the 2007 relay a record event, with the goal of reaching the million dollar donation level. Relay chairperson Donna Broadwater (left) and co-chair Linda Murr are pictured with the goal poster for the relay. All past team captains and relay participants are encouraged to attend the meeting. Persons who wish to participate but do not have a team may also attend the meeting to be placed with a group. For additional information, persons may call Broadwater at 301-334-6307 or Murr at 301-387-8027.

Thank You!

We would like to thank everyone who attended, participated or donated to the Walker Van Hauser Spaghetti Benefit Dinner. Once again our community came together to make this event a complete success. Thank you so much to our parents, family and many friends for their continuous support and love. Special thanks to Kim Sanders and her entire family, Misty San Julian, Heather Carr, Krystal Beckman and Theresa Browning, for their time and dedication in organizing this event and to all the local businesses for their many donations. To the very special individual who contributed the more than generous donation, yet wanted to remain anonymous, I wish we had the opportunity to thank you personally for your remarkable generosity. We will forever be thankful to each and every one of you who helped our family in our time of need. For those of you who were unable to attend the dinner, but would still like to help, you can send a donation to:

Letter to the Editor:

In the 1970s the idea for the Oakland Rt. 219 Bypass was proposed by the State Highway Administration (SHA). The Oakland Mayor and Town Council and the Oakland Business Association at that time were opposed to this road. The project required a vote of the three county commissioners, delegate, & state senator representing Garrett County to approve the project. The bypass was defeated by a 3-2 vote. The concern at the time was bypasses hurt downtown businesses. Businesses on Rt. 219 in Oakland and north of town were not doing well at that time. There were many vacant and dilapidated buildings. There were many vacant lots. The SHA told us we needed to get the traffic out of the town that did not want to be in Oakland or it would hurt business.

The bypass was not built and 25 years later we see a vibrant Rt. 219 through and north of Oakland with new businesses such as Burger King, BFS, Sheetz, two car washes, McDonald's, professional offices, Enterprise Rent-A-Car, Tomanetti's Pizza, Fox's Pizza, Pizza Hut, NAPA, CVS, Allen's Radio Shack, Luke's Liquors, 7-Eleven, Denny's Restaurant, Dollar Tree, Dollar General, Family Dollar, Wal-Mart. I can go on and on. Do you get the picture? Oakland did not die because of too much traffic. It flourished. There are many small towns in America that would love to be in Oakland's position. In addition, Second Street, Alder Street, Liberty Street and other streets with businesses are doing well. There are few business vacancies in Oakland.

There has been an increase in traffic in Oakland over the years, but the interesting thing is it still only takes 5-8 minutes to drive through Oakland from the DeBerry Farm Rt. 219 just north of the Wal-Mart entrance (site of the north end of the proposed bypass) through town to Burger King (site of the south end of the proposed bypass). This is the same amount of time it took 25 years ago.

Now, I want to talk about the bigger Garrett County highway and traffic picture. Because of the SHA upgrades to Rt. 219 over the years and largely ignoring Rt. 495, most of the heavy truck traffic and many motorists take Rt. 219 from I-68 to southern Garrett County (and vice versa). That means Accident, Deep Creek Lake, Oakland, and Mtn. Lake Park get traffic that could be using Rt. 495 and Rt. 135. The improvements to Rt. 495 to make it a viable road will take time and money. This will be a better way to distribute traffic throughout the county as opposed to having one north-south corridor (Rt. 219) through the county. The Southern industrial parks and many other businesses in the southern part of the county could have trucking companies use Rt. 495 and Rt. 135.

Oakland is already pursuing "Streetscape." This is an SHA program used effectively across Maryland when Main Street is a state highway. You only need to look at Frostburg and Hancock to see improvements in those towns brought about by Streetscape. Beautification and enhanced traffic flow.

The construction phase of the proposed bypass is to begin in 2010 and some say if we do not use the money it will be used downstate or the SHA will think ill of us and not appropriate money in the future for Garrett County highway projects. This road is not a done deal and can be stopped. Utilizing and upgrading existing roads will be better for the county than building a $42 million 2.2 mile road that intersects Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park.

In addition the folks that live on Memorial Drive, Oak Breeze Estates, Dennett Road, the streets off Dennett Road, Southern Pines, High Street, Highland Estates and other areas will see their property values decrease due to their proximity to the bypass.

If you are a resident or business owner in Oakland, Mtn. Lake Park, Deep Creek Lake, or Accident and see the big picture of transportation in Garrett County and that this is just not an Oakland issue, plan to attend our 3/8/07, Thursday, 7:00pm meeting at the Community Building located between the hospital and Garrett Medical Group.

Sincerely,

Von W. Johnson
Member of Garrett Countians for Smart Growth

REV. RUTH H. MAYFIELD

REV. RUTH H. MAYFIELD

Ruth Hephzibah Fitzwater Mayfield, 87, Corinth, W.Va., and Tulsa, Okla., went to be with the Lord on Wednesday Feb. 21, 2007.

Born on Oct. 1, 1919, in Swanton, she was a daughter of the late William Fitzwater Sr. and Estella (Reckner) Fitzwater. She was also preceded in death by her husband, Robert C. Mayfield Sr.; three sisters, Dorothy Fitzwater, Evelyn Peele, and Beulah Sink; and two brothers, Wayne Fitzwater and William Fitzwater Jr.

Ruth attended the Chadderton country school, Deer Park Elementary, and then graduated from Oakland High School at the age of 15 having skipped several grades. After high school she desired to serve God in a ministry capacity and graduated at age 19 from Zion Bible College in East Providence, R.I.

During the next nine years, Ruth held revival services for various churches in the western Maryland and West Virginia area. At a young age Ruth pastored churches at Horse Shoe Run, W.Va., Clarkesburg (Lambert's Run), W.Va., Ashland, Va., and Hertford, N.C. Ruth was the first pastor of a few of these young churches, which are still continuing today.

Ruth met her future husband, Navy corpsman Robert Mayfield of Brazil, Ind., at a Pentecostal church in Washington, D.C., and they were married there on June 20, 1948. Together Bob and Ruth graduated from Central Bible College in Springfield, Mo., and Bob became an ordained minister of the Assemblies of God.

The Mayfields pastored Indiana churches in Medaryville, Hedrick, and Chesterton. In 1971, they moved to Garrett County and began a pastorate of 15 years at Rocky Drean Assembly of God, Oakland. After retiring from that pastorate, the Mayfields became members of Crellin Assembly of God.

Ruth demonstrated an abiding faith in God since a childhood acceptance of Christ as Lord. She lived her life as a servant to others and a teacher to her children, church, and community.

Ruth is survived by her sister, Lorena Smith and husband Leo, Deer Park; sister-in-law Patience Fitzwater, Deer Park; brother-in-law Carter Sink, Lakeland, Fla.; three sons, David Mayfield, Tulsa, Robert Mayfield Jr., Tulsa, and John Mayfield, Tulsa; two daughters, Esther Harper and husband John, New Albany, Ohio, and Marilyn Krause and husband David, Lawrenceville, N.J.; four granddaughters, JaHannah Jamelarin and husband Jeb, Rachel Krause, Jennah Harper and Jannessah Harper; and two grandsons, Justin Harper and Benjamin Krause.

A service was held at the Crellin Assembly of God Church, Crellin, on Wednesday, Feb. 28.

Interment will be at Summit Lawn Cemetery, Brazil, Indiana.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations can be sent to The Rev. Robert and Rev. Ruth Mayfield Scholarship Fund, Evangel University, Office of Development, 1111 North Glenstone, Springfield, MO 65802.

The Mayfield family wishes to thank their many friends and family in the western Maryland area for their prayers and words of support. "Although Mom lived most of the last 11 years in Tulsa, her home and heart were always with the people in her community of Maryland and West Virginia."

New Web Site To Promote Healthy Living

The University of Maryland, College Park, and Maryland Cooperative Extension have created a new "healthy living" web site Eat Smart, Be Fit for families in Maryland.

This web site is for Maryland residents who want to learn more about eating healthy and being active. It also has ideas to save on food costs and information on healthy cooking, rearing healthy kids, and resources and events for all Maryland counties.

Interested persons may go to www.eatsmart.umd.edu. All services on the site are free with registration. Registration is required for the purposes of program evaluation.

This web site is part of a research study at the University of Maryland to improve community health for Maryland residents. This study is funded by the USDA Food Stamp Nutrition Education Program.

For more information, persons may contact the University of Maryland by e-mail at eatsmartmd@umd.edu., or the local University of Maryland Cooperative Extension registered dietitians, Abbi Kifer and Dr. Jennifer Thorn Bentlejewski, at 301-334-6960.

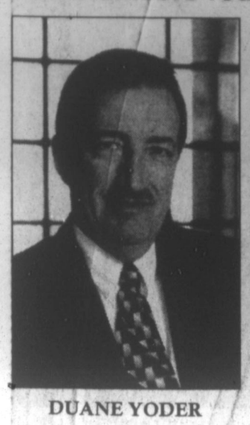
Garrett Board Of Trustees Welcomes New Members Yoder And Schroyer



DUANE YODER

DALE WADE SCHROYER

Duane Yoder and Dale Wade Schroyer are the newest members of the Garrett College board of trustees, and bring with them "a wealth of relevant professional and personal experience to meet the responsibilities of the job," according to chairperson Ruth Seib.

Since 1980, Yoder has served as president of the Garrett County Community Action Committee (GCCAC) in Oakland. Prior to 1980, he worked in southern and eastern Maryland in similar roles. His primary work focus has been on assisting low income persons to become more self-sufficient, and addressing the conditions and causes of poverty.

During his tenure as president, GCCAC has emerged as one of the most successful rural community development corporations in Maryland. Over the past 12 years GCCAC has developed or financed 1,000 units of affordable housing and developed 100,000 square feet of community and commercial facility space. GCCAC also provides a variety of services in early child education, childcare, transportation, senior citizen programs, emergency services, and housing. The non-profit organization has approximately 180 employees.

Yoder served as chair person of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Atlanta advisory council. He is past president of the Maryland Community Action Partnership, and served on the Maryland Commission on Housing Policy. He is a member of the Western Maryland Economic Development Commission. He serves on a numerous local boards involved in community development and human service issues. He is a 2002 graduate of Leadership Maryland.

Yoder has a bachelor's degree from Eastern Mennonite University and has completed graduate work at the Universities of Maryland and West Virginia.

Dale Wade Schroyer, of Friendsville, retired from the National Guard in 1997 as a brigadier general after serving for four years as chief of staff for the 29th Infantry Division. In July 2000, Schroyer became program manager of the Department of Juvenile Services (DJS) Youth Center – superintendent of the four youth centers in western Maryland as well as the Western Maryland Children's Center. In July 2005, as regional director of Region III, he became responsible for all the field and residential services that DJS provides in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, Frederick, Montgomery, Carroll, and Howard counties.

For the past six years, Schroyer has been working with Garrett College to provide educational opportunities for DJS youth. In December Schroyer saw 10 young men receive recognition for completing their first semester. Now he also will be working with the other trustees and college president Dr. Paul Dauphinais to make decisions about Garrett College's future.

"I and the rest of the members of the Garrett College board of trustees are delighted to work with Duane Yoder and Dale Shroyer as new board members," said Seib. "Each of them has a wealth of relevant professional and personal experience, but even more importantly, they're interested in helping Garrett College remain a vital asset to the Garrett County community."

Other members of the board of trustees are Doug Sites, Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Linda Sherbin and Vianne Bell. Garrett College president Dauphinais is an ex-officio member of the board and is the secretary-treasurer.

More information about the Garrett College board of trustees is available at www.garrettcollege.edu.

GC's Board Of Trustees January Report Reflects Steady Progress In All Areas

The Garrett College board of trustees met on Jan. 16, and the board members present were Vianne Bell, Dr. Lillian Mitchell, Dale Schroyer, Linda Sherbin, and Duane Yoder. Absent was Mr. Douglas Sites. Staff members present were Dr. Paul Dauphinais, Dean Michael Kilgus, Dean Ann Wellham, Dean Catherine Torok, Dean Lowell Bender, and Linda Fike. The following topics were addressed:

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Dr. Dauphinais reported that the Self-Study process is on track. Over 30 applications have been received for the dean of academic affairs position.

The search committee is evaluating the applications and will conduct telephone interviews in February. Dauphinais and Kilgus we're scheduled to attend the PACE reception in Annapolis. The Maryland Association of Community Colleges is working on a deferred maintenance budget to present at the next state budget cycle on behalf of the community colleges.

Student services has put together a "perform" team much like the one utilized by academics. This team is looking at the job description for a dean and a potential organization for student services. Once this process has been completed, student services will meet with academics and try to come together on an organizational structure. Dauphinais had estimated that the process would be complete in mid- to late-February.

Dauphinais reported that he had been selected as president-elect of the Grantsville Rotary. He may not be able to serve, however, due to potential conflicts. Dauphinais has been named to an MHEC committee regarding time to degree completion.

ACADEMIC REPORT

Wellham distributed the January faculty newsletter for the board's information. The Juvenile Justice Academic, Mission, and Purpose (AMP) program was a success this fall and culminated in the recognition of young men from Backbone Youth Detention Center on Dec. 15 for the completion of six credits. Wellham reported that Dauphinais and she were very pleased to be in attendance.

Wellham indicated that distance learning had been a large part of the jobs of Nancy Priselac and Linda May-Gerard. Academic affairs is taking over the program. Lindsey Secrest is taking on the role of coordinator of distance learning, and was recognized for her job performance. Wellham commented that the board should notice that there has been a facelift in many of the classrooms.

As part of Garrett's outcomes assessment efforts, it has successfully completed a pilot of eight courses for the fall semester that have incorporated four surveys. The college worked with Dr. Susan Hines, an e-media expert who owns her own distance learning and assessment company. All faculty will conduct two courses in the spring. The college will pilot eight courses in the fall, a major accomplishment for Garrett, Wellham noted.

Professor Ron Bertolina developed an Excel grade sheet program.

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES REPORT

Kilgus gave a construction update. The recreation center is going to be located on the McHenry campus beyond the baseball field. Garrett just received official approval from the department of budget and management for this change in location, and for the change in the size of the facility. This action positions the college for Dauphinais and Kilgus to make the necessary presentations at the state level. All agreements with DCD and RI have been officially terminated concerning the former location of the facility on Marsh Mountain.

The Learning Resource Center is on schedule with completion of the building expected by late March.

The new residence hall is ahead of schedule. All of the supplies and furniture have already been ordered. Torok is working with the appropriate companies on IT needs pertaining to this hall.

Kilgus reported that there has been a change in positions in the business office. Jason Groves, staff accountant, has resigned to take a position at Rodeheaver and Associates. Carrie Hackett, Garrett's accounting clerk, has moved into that position with permission from the cabinet. The accounting clerk position is now being advertised.

STUDENT DEVELOPMENT REPORT

Dauphinais presented the spring semester enrollment report. Headcount FTE is currently 219 compared to the final headcount FTE of 217.83 last year. This is considered a positive sign since it is FTE that brings in money for the college. Dauphinais stated that planning is under way for enrollment development visitations. To help bring students into the residence hall, Garrett will be getting names from SAT/ACT from within and outside Maryland for the signature programs. For marketing purposes, the college is looking at branding its information with the same color schemes that will be very identifiable with Garrett.

GENERAL REPORT

Regarding the student code of conduct, Garrett will be contracting with a local graduate student who is an intern from Appalachian State. She will be asked to make the language of the document easily understandable for freshman-level students, as requested by the board.

CONTINUING EDUCATION GENERAL REPORT

Bender reported that the auditor presented a negative figure at the last board meeting for FY06 Willy Wisp operation. Bender noted that some additional bookkeeping entries have been made since the audit report which indicate that Willy Wisp actually netted about $10,000. The FY07 report might not be as favorable, Bender stated, because the ski and play program was washed out on the Christmas, New Year's, and Martin Luther King holidays.

The Mountaintop Truck Driving Institute has run eight classes with 48 students. The goal for the year is 60 students, and seven more classes are still scheduled.

Bender also discussed the Garrett Information Enterprise Center (GIEC). The College first started discussing this concept in 1997, and the nearly 20,000 square-foot building opened in 2002 with 20 offices and six tenants. The building has been 60 to 70 percent occupied since it opened, and now has 12 tenants. Some changes to about 4,000 square feet of the building are currently being discussed. There had been some interest from other tenants for the space, but Garrett is holding off due to the proposed renovations.

Dauphinais then read a note that appeared in The Republican Newspaper concerning the good work being done by the Continuing Education Division.

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY REPORT

Torok gave a PowerPoint presentation on network remediation projects and COCO system implementation. She noted that the network remediation project has been going on for almost a year and that important progress has been made. Dauphinais expects the COCO conversion for all modules completed by June 30. Dauphinais believes the COCO conversion will save a lot of work and make the system more efficient. Students might even be able to do online registrations. Ruth Seib thanked Torok for her presentation and for all that she has accomplished.

PERSONNEL DIVISION REPORT

Fike stated that as previously mentioned, the dean of academic affair's search is currently under way. The college also has an opening for the staff accountant. The application deadline is Feb. 2.

FINANCIAL REPORT

FY 2007 Budget, Expenditures, and Encumbrances Report

Kilgus reviewed the report of Budget, Expenditures, and Encumbrances. Even spending at Jan. 5, 2007, should be 50 percent, and total actual spending was at 49.94 percent. Some areas are above even spending due primarily to full-year encumbrances.

FY 2007 Operating Cash Forecast

Kilgus reviewed the operating cash forecast. Cash projections, both operating and capital, are currently projected to be positive throughout the year.

NEW BUSINESS

Kilgus indicated that one of the first GIEC tenants was Sycamore and Associates. Sycamore works with the Pentagon, and has hired about 10 to 12 Garrett students. The firm does engineering work and writes software that allows Department of Defense satellites to communicate with each other. Sycamore needs a facility to handle sensitive material, and would like to utilize 25 percent of the GIEC rental space for its secure area.

The board received a draft of a proposed Memorandum of Understanding between the Garrett County Commissioners and Garrett College, was prepared by the county's attorney. With this document, the college is looking to be protected from expenses and liability. The county would like to invest in the renovation of the GIEC space for a secure area as one of its economic development initiatives.

The board approved the Memorandum of Understanding as presented.

The board discussed a number of items in closed session, including board attendance report for the calendar year 2006, request from county and tuition, fund balance analysis and revenue projections, and clarification regarding policy on award for outstanding contributions to Garrett College.

Thank You
The family of June Frazee would like to extend a very special thank you to the Terra Alta Ambulance Squad, the Terra Alta Volunteer Fire Department, and KAMP Ambulance Squad for the quick assistance affectionate care they provided out mother and grandmother on December 31, 2006. Each person, including, Rob & Belinda Kirk, Dave Price, Mike Hart, Jim Bennett, Justin Feather, Lisa Knotts, and Chuck Miller expressed nothing but the most exceptional and professional care and support. Terra Alta is extremely fortunate to have such devoted volunteers who spend time away from their families, dedicating their time to help those in the community who are in need. It is especially noted that these dedicated volunteers were giving their time on New Year's Eve. The family would also like to thank Garrett County Memorial Hospital, especially the kind 3rd floor acute care nurses, who made June and her family as comfortable as possible during a most difficult time. We would also like to thank Mark & Sonia from Arthur Wright Funeral Home for being extremely accommodating assisting the family in carrying out our wishes. We would also like to thank Katherine Burns and the Pine Grove Methodist Church for taking time away from their employment and providing a wonderful dinner. Finally, we would like to thank the community for its support and thoughtfulness— cards of encouragement during June's illness, food, flowers, visits, and especially your prayers.

ICE FOG AND SUPERCOOLING

by Dr. Stephen I. Parks

Guest columnist Steve Parks answers a question from a cross-country skier.

Q. I've heard of "ice fog," but never seen such a thing. Does it ever happen in our climate?

A. Ice fogs are not rare, but are rarely noticed because they happen in lousy weather when we all prefer to stay indoors. You know you have an ice fog if the bushes look ghostly and you see tiny knife-edges of ice forming on the upwind edges of stems. Around here they happen when fog (microscopic water droplets suspended in the air) forms in a valley at a temperature just above freezing, and the fog is then blown up the side of a mountain.

As the fog rises, the decrease of pressure cools the air below the freezing point. The microscopic water droplets in the fog lose their heat to the air and cool below freezing as well.

Now comes the interesting part. Just because water is cooled below freezing, that doesn't mean it turns to ice. Most pure liquids can be supercooled (that is, cooled a few degrees below their freezing point) without solidifying. Supercooling happens when there is no solid particle in the liquid upon which the initial ice crystal, the "seed," can form and grow. The formation of a seed crystal is called nucleation.

So now you have all these supercooled droplets being carried up the hill by the wind, looking for contact with a seed crystal. When the supercooled fog droplets hit a stem, they immediately crystallize into ice. Since most of them hit the upwind side of the stem, they accumulate on that side, forming a knife edge of ice.

Freezing rain is a similar phenomenon: Under certain weather conditions, you can have warm air rising above cold air. Rain forms in the warm air and falls through the cold air. As it falls, its temperature may drop below freezing, but the droplets remain liquid until they hit something solid: a tree branch, an electric wire, or the pavement. As soon as it hits, a portion of the droplet freezes to ice, giving up enough heat (heat of fusion) in the process to prevent the rest of the water in the droplet from freezing. The liquid portion drips away.

Supercooling has a twin concept: Superheating. Water can be heated above its boiling point without boiling, if no hard particles are suspended in the water to nucleate the first bubble of steam. We are all familiar with this: It causes grease to spatter in the frying pan if there is a little bit of water in the grease before we put it on the heat. When the water droplet finally nucleates, it goes with a bang, helped along by the extra heat in the nearby grease.

There are limits to supercooling and superheating. As the temperature gets farther from the natural freezing or boiling point, the liquid becomes ever less stable, until nucleation occurs spontaneously.

Dr. Sheahen is a physicist who was educated at MIT. He lives at Deep Creek Lake and has taught physics at Garrett College. Persons wishing to submit questions for this column may e-mail them to newsroom@therepublicannews.com*.*

AFTER-PROM

There will be an after-prom meeting of Monday, March 5, at 7 p.m. All parents, guardians, and community members are invited to attend this meeting to help make plans for the 2007 after-prom.

BEST BUDDIES

NHS Best Buddies will be traveling to University of Maryland for the Friendship Games on Saturday, March 3. Any student member interested in attending this event should see Ms. Harman or Jessica Harvey for permission form and information. Departure is 7 a.m. and return is 8 or 9 p.m.

CAREER TECHNOLOGY EDUCATION (CTE)

Electronics and automotive students at Northern High School are preparing to attend the EV (electric vehicle) Challenge in Raleigh, N.C., on March 23 and 24. This year's students have been removing and rewiring the original lighting system to better suit the design of the car. The auto students are responsible for redesigning the exterior in blue and gold, which are Northern's school colors. The electric vehicle project has allowed students to see first hand how an electric vehicle works. Many of the activities involved with the project at NHS and the EV Challenge help students understand the technology and need for alternative fuels. Competing in the EV Challenge is the culmination of a 3-year project for students and staff at Northern. For more information, persons should contact the Northern High School office at 301-746-8668.

FRESHMAN

Reminder to all freshman to pay their dues. A letter was given out last week for the freshman parents to remind them of class dues. A bulk sum of $30 may be paid now, or dues can be paid $10 per year. The money will be discounted on Prom and Senior Trip. For more information or those with questions persons may contact Shawn Nicklin at 301-746-8668.

STUDENTS AND STAFF

Paw Prints is recognizing students who improved their grades by 10% from the first to the second marking periods of the 2006-07 school year. Students from each grade were selected at random to receive McDonald's gift certificates as our sign of recognition for improving their second term grades. These students are: Bradley Rodeheaver, Helen Owens, Jason Wilburn and Dustin Arnold. These students should stop by the Counseling Center to pick up their rewards. To find out what other students achieved this goal, persons may stop by the Paw Prints bulletin board in the Main Lobby .

SENIORS

Garrett County Commissioners Scholarship forms are now available in the Counseling Center. Seniors planning on attending GC may stop in the Counseling Center to pick up a copy of this form and an informational brochure.

WIN A TRIP TO SPACE CAMP

Any student who is interested in science and space exploration is encouraged to write a 1,500-word essay about space to win a trip to Space Camp, held July 15 to 20 in Huntsville, Ala. Any student from grades 7 through 12 may go online to enter the Air Force Association Space Camp Essay Contest. Application may be revised and edited until the final submission deadline at 4 p.m. Pacific Time on March 30. Winners will be notified by May 15. To register online, persons may go to www.nimblenet.com/afa/public/profile.aspx?M=NU&NMBLRN=1; start a new application from the Action Menu; enter essay title; confirm school and add teacher's e-mail address. Applicants then must enter a 1,500 word essay on one of the two topics for his/her grade level, review, and then submit application. Students are then to print out a release form by returning to the Action Menu. After the release form is signed by student and parent, it is to be mailed or faxed.

WINS AWARD FROM YALE — Susan L. Peterson, Oakland, has been named a recipient of one of Yale University's Distinguished Music Educator Awards in recognition of her efforts as a music teacher at Southern Middle School. Her award will be presented in New Haven, Conn., at the International Symposium on Music in Public Schools at the end of May. Yale is providing accommodation, meals, and a travel grant to Peterson. The symposium and award are sponsored by the Yale College class of 1957 and the Yale School of Music. In addition to her teaching, Peterson has directed numerous local vocal and instrumental productions, is a flautist who performs with a number of local musical organizations, and serves as the choir director for St. Mark's Lutheran Church. She also worked for many years as a private instructor for piano and flute. She holds a music education degree from the College of Wooster and a master's degree from Walden University.

Auditions For The Crucible Slated At Our Town Theatre

The Crucible, a play by Arthur Miller, will be presented at Our Town Theatre in late April, and auditions for the show will be held on March 4 from 2 to 5 p.m. and on March 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. The auditions will take place in the basement of the theatre, which is located along Center Street in Oakland.

Twenty-one roles are available, according to Jane Avery, director, including five parts for young women in their teens or early 20s. There are also numerous roles for men and women ages 20 through 70.

For more information, persons may contact Avery at 301-334-5640, ext 3.

Planning Meeting Slated For Little Yough Concerts

A planning meeting for this year's Little Yough Summer Music Festival will be held on Tuesday, March 13, at the Oakland town hall, beginning at 5 p.m. This will be the 11th year for the series, and volunteers are being sought.

Volunteers are needed to assist in a variety of tasks, including fundraising, accommodations arrangements for performers, publicity and printing, distribution of marketing materials, sound, stage set-up and teardown, food vending, food for performers, transportation as necessary, press release writing, advertising, and others.

Organizers reported that fundraising is especially critical, as additional grant opportunities have been lost.

For more information, persons may contact Cherie Ross at 301-616-3026.

Creative Writing Class To Be Held At Garrett College

A course for aspiring writers and authors who want to learn more about the craft, as well as publication, will be held beginning in March at Garrett College. The class will be held March 6 through May 22 from 6 to 8 p.m. in the Continuing Education building.

The instructor, Thomas S. Pessini, has published his first novel, Traitor in the White House, which is currently in its third printing.

His class is designed to teach the craft of creative writing though a command and understanding of the elements of fiction. Students will delve into the development of plot, characterization, conflict, action, and suspense. In addition, the course will cover publication, agents, and query letters.

Students will be required to write two short stories and three chapters of a possible novel, as well as critique the work of their peers.

To register for this class, persons may call 301-387-3069.

GRACE AND GLORIE, a two-woman play by Tom Ziegler starring Kieran Cannistra (left) and Erin Peacock, will be staged at Our Town Theatre March 8 through 11. The play tells the story of a 90-year-old Appalachian woman and her younger Hospice volunteer, a "city-bred Yankee," Gloria. "Warm, funny, upbeat, and poignant, the play shows the connection between the two women, forged by their shared stories," said Lynne Elmlinger, who is directing the play. The show will begin at 8 p.m. on March 8-10, and 2 p.m. on March 11. Tickets are $5 for March 8 and 11, and $8 for March 9 and 10. Reservations are strongly encouraged, and may be made by calling the theatre at 301-334-5640. Photo by Richard Hill.

"ART IS ELEMENTARY" EXHIBIT ON DISPLAY AT GALLERY – An art exhibit displaying, in the words of Steve Schlosnagle, executive director of the Garrett County Arts Council, "an engaging celebration of color, design, and texture" is currently on display at the Gallery in Oakland. "A view of the world through the eyes of a child fires your imagination. It melts your heart and warms your soul," Schlosnagle said. The exhibit consists of 61 original works of art created by students attending 10 Garrett County elementary schools: Accident, Bloomington, Broad Ford, Dennett Road, Friendsville, Grantsville, Kitzmiller, Route 40, Swan Meadow, and Yough Glades. Pictured above is a work titled "Horse" by Elizabeth Warren, a first grade student at Dennett Road Elementary School, and shown below is "Hippo" by Noah Aiken, a kindergartner at Accident Elementary. The exhibit will be on display through March 3. Gallery hours are Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Additional information is available by calling the arts council at 301-334-6580 or by visiting the council's web site at www.garrettarts.com.

Barnstormers: Game 1

by Loren Long and Phil Bildner

c. 2007, Simon & Shuster Boods for Young Readers, $9.99, 135 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

What makes you feel lucky?

Is it a penny you keep in your pocket that you hold tight whenever you make a wish? Is it a sentence or rhyme you say when you need good things to happen? Maybe it's a plastic figure on your backpack or even a rabbit's foot on a keychain.

For the Payne children, holding an old, beat-up baseball makes them feel lucky, and in the new book Barnstormers: Game 1 by Loren Long and Phil Bildner, that old ball may hold more than just good fortune for them.

The baseball wasn't much. It was dirty and falling apart. It had a curious acorn-size hole in the center and there was something stuck inside, but to Griffith Payne, his sister Ruby, and their little brother Graham, the ratty old ball was worth all the gold in the world.

You see, just before he left to fight in the Spanish-American War, Griffith gave the ball to his father to carry with him. The baseball was in their father's pocket during the entire war, and just hours after their father's funeral, Uncle Owen gave the children back the ball.

Along with the baseball, Uncle Owen gave Griffith some words of warning. Danger was near, and Griffith needed to watch.

But danger is far from Griffith's mind as he, Ruby, and Graham watch the Barnstormers baseball team play against the Cincinnati Swine. The children's father used to be a Barnstormer, too, and the team members are good friends – almost family – to the Paynes. In fact, one member is family: The children's mother, Elizabeth, plays shortstop, even though women weren't really allowed to play baseball in the late 1800s.

So here it is, a fine afternoon for baseball and the Barnstormers are winning. But what's that? A train signal suddenly appears out of nowhere, followed by a rushing locomotive that only the Barnstormers and the children can see. The Swine and the crowd don't notice a thing.

Suddenly, the Barnstormers are losing the game, and with it, all the money from ticket sales. Where did the ghostly locomotive come from and why does the signal point in different directions? It's up to Griffith to figure it out, before the Barnstormers play Game 2 in Louisville.

Talk about your cliffhanger! Barnstormers: Game 1 ends almost with half a thought, and although I was frustrated by the abrupt ending, the story isn't really meant for grown-ups. Your young baseball fan is going to be on the edge of his bleachers, waiting for the next installment, and that sudden ending will only whet his appetite.

Barnstormers: Game 1 is also a bit of a lesson in baseball history, with game terms appropriate for the time in which the story is set, as well as some great illustrations that make this book a home run.

If you have a Little Leaguer in the house, or someone who's been counting the days 'til spring training, then pick up Barnstormers: Game 1. He'll feel pretty lucky with this book in his mitts.

FIFTH GRADER RECOGNIZED BY BOARD OF EDUCATION – Gabrielle Daniels, a fifth grader at Accident Elementary School, was recognized at February's Board of Education meeting and presented a plaque for her winning Christmas card. Gabrielle's design was chosen by the board and superintendent to be sent to Garrett County school employees, each Maryland superintendent, and various county and state agencies this past December. Pictured above, left to right, are: Charlotte Sebold, board president; Melinda Bishop, art teacher; Gabrielle; Karen DeVore, Accident principal; and Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent.

To Assist

both counties.

In an effort to analyze the problem, a year-long Strengths, Weakness, Opportunity and Threats (SWOT) study was performed in both counties, which concluded in May with several recommendations made to the local elected officials.

"This will coincide very nicely with the recommendations of the SWOT study and will be an excellent tool to assist in those efforts," stated David Ramsey of the Region 1 Office of the Maryland Institute for Emergency Medical Services Systems. Ramsey is responsible for writing the grant.

The Allegany County commissioners served as the submitting agency and will therefore administer the grant for the two county projects. "This is a 100% grant from the federal government and will not require any funding from local fire and rescue departments or county governments," said Steven Kesner. He is the EMS division chief for Allegany County and will serve as the grant administrator.

The grant provides funding for one full-time contractual person who will work at least 40 hours a week, including evenings and weekends, for four years.

"Recruitment and retention activities in Allegany and Garrett counties will be the only responsibility of this person," stated Kesner. This position will develop and distribute numerous types of media material such as brochures, billboards, theater ads, and print ads throughout both counties to be used for the recruitment and retention purpose.

The person in this position will visit schools, community groups and other locations where recruitment of new volunteers is possible. Efforts will be made to secure business discounts and other benefits to provide to volunteers for giving their time to the community.

Seminars designed to recruit and retain volunteers will be conducted throughout the region. "This is an excellent first step in the western region of addressing the critical emergency service needs and hopefully will lead to an emergency services system that is viable and sustainable for the future," stated Brad Frantz, Garrett County director of emergency management.

Volunteerism has seen a steady decline nationwide, and in the Allegany-Garrett County area. This grant will serve to stabilize this trend and to produce new growth of volunteerism in the field of public service.

CIVIC CLUB ANNOUNCES WINNING ARTWORKS – The GFWC/MFWC Western District of the Federation of Woman's Clubs sponsored a Western District Youth Art Show in LaVale Saturday, and the winning pieces from the Civic Club of Oakland's January youth art show were judged against those works created by students from Allegany and Frederick counties. The local youth participants fared well in the show, taking several awards. Four pieces winning awards are pictured above, displayed by Civic Club members. From left are Ellen Fritz holding the third place work in Class 1 (grades 6-8) titled Egyptian Cow God by Mercedes McClintock, Northern Middle School; Helen Earles holding the third place in Class 2 (grades 9-12) an untitled work by Laura Viar, Southern High School; Betty Ellington holding an honorable mention in Class 2 titled Potter's Wheel" by Danielle Daniels, Southern High School; and Dorothy Cathell holding the first place winner in Class 2 titled Leaving the Nest by Marie Lauver, Southern High School. Those works of art placing 1st, 2nd, or 3rd will be exhibited and judged with student art from around the state at the GFWC/MFWC State Convention in April.

Southern Knocks Off Beall; Advances To West Region, West Section Final

The top-seeded Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team had a late scare from fourth-ranked Beall, but held on to clinch a 48-41 win Tuesday evening and advance to the Class 1A West Region, West Section Championship game.

Southern's (18-3) semifinal victory over Beall, set up a third showdown with Allegany (18-5) for the West Region, West Section championship. The teams split their regular season games, each winning on its home court. Allegany took the first game 39-31, and Southern the second by 53-41. The championship game will be played tonight at Fort Hill at 7 p.m.

Southern took an early 14-6 first-quarter lead, and pulled ahead by 12 points for a 27-15 halftime margin. Beall surged back in the third quarter, and closed the gap to five, 35-30. But the Rams held on for the win, despite not having played a game in 10 days. "I was concerned at first because we haven't played in 10 days, and because of some unusual circumstances, we have played only three times in February. So I thought we might have been rusty, but we turned out all right."

Sarah Stephens led the Rams with 14 points, and Torie Bosley banged in 10, knocking down two three-pointers. Brittany Boyce finished with seven boards, six steals, and six points, and Adrienne Yoder and Shayna Sweitzer scored eight points apiece.

Kierstin Stevenson led Beall (13-11) with 14 points and Maura Jones added 11.

If Southern defeats Allegany Thursday night, it will play for West Region Championship this Saturday against the East Section Champion.

BEALL (41)
Jenna Delaney 2 4-8 8, Kierstin Stevenson 5 2-4 14, Laura Connor 2 0-2 4, Kelsey Nightingale 0 2-2 2, Maura Jones 4 3-4 11, Holly Fiorita 1 0-0 2. Totals 14 11-20 41.

SOUTHERN (48)
Sarah Stephens 6 2-4 14, Torie Bosley 3 2-2 10, Kerry Conroy 1 0-0 2, Brittany Boyce 3 0-1 6, Adrienne Yoder 2 4-6 8, Shayna Sweitzer 3 2-3 8. Totals 18 10-16 48.

Three-point goals - Beall 2 (Stevenson 2), Southern 2 (Bosley 2). Total fouls - Beall 16, Southern 15. Fouled out - none.

Northern Knocked Out Of Tourney After Defeating Westmar, 58-54

The Northern High School boys' varsity basketball team defeated Westmar in the opening round of the Class 1A West Region, West Section playoffs, and then were eliminated in the semifinals by top-ranked Fort Hill Monday night on the road.

In the first round, Kory Gibson scored a game-high 26 points, lifting Northern to a 58-48 win over Westmar Friday evening.

Westmar took a 15-13 first-quarter lead, and were up 33-31 at halftime. Northern closed the gap, outscoring Westmar 15-10 in the third quarter.

The Huskies held on to the lead in the fourth quarter by converting 10 of 12 foul shots down the stretch. Gibson hit 9 of 11 from the line, and Garrett Gulledge was a perfect 4 for 4.

Westmar was led by Jeremy Shingler's 15 points. Bobby Smith added 11.

In Monday night's game, top-ranked Fort Hill dismantled Northern 92-48 in a semifinal match-up that eliminated the Huskies from the Class 1A West Region, West Section Tournament.

Northern was led by Kory Gibson's team-high 23 points.

Jordan Brooks scored 29 points for the Sentinels (21-2), and Zach Blank added 24 points.

Fort Hill jumped to an early 23-13 first-quarter lead, but Northern fought back to close the gap to 41-25 at the half. Fort Hill stepped up the pressure in the fourth quarter, and clinched the runaway victory to end Northern's (10-13) season.

SOUTHERN GIRLS ADVANCE – The top-seeded Southern High School girls' varsity basketball team took another step toward the West Region championship as it defeated fourth-ranked Beall in a hard fought 48-41 win Tuesday night. Above, Brittany Boyce (#33), who finished with seven boards, six steals, and six points, looks for Adrienne Yoder (#40) for a possible play. Below left, senior Jessica Petrella (#10) prepares to launch a shot from the corner. Below right, Sarah Stephens, who scored a team-high 14 points, is fouled before she gets off her shot as Yoder watches from backcourt. The Rams will play Allegany for the West Region, West Section championship tonight at Fort Hill at 7 p.m. If they win, they will play for the West Region title against the winners of the East Section this Saturday. Time and place to be announced. Photos by John McEwen.

SMC Members In Competition At State College

Six members of the Southern Mat Club traveled to State College, Pa, Sunday to compete in a youth wrestling tournament hosted by Penn State University.

Winning first places in their respective age/weight classes were SMC members Coy Ozias, Lex Ozias, and Jakob Scheffel.

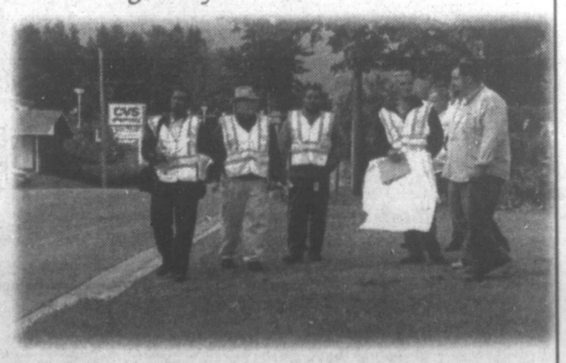
Coy Ozias was the champion in the age 9-10, 80-pound division; Lex Ozias in the 7-9, 100-pound division; and Scheffel in the 7-9, 110-pound division.

Club members awarded participation ribbons were Dalton Cooper, Scott Cooper, and Dakota Pritt.

The next match for the SMC will be in Chester, W.Va., on March 10.

CITIZENS OF OAKLAND,

It's certainly been hard not to be aware of the activity that has been occurring lately along the Route 219 corridor through the Town of Oakland. Over the last several months, you've probably noticed a number of State Highway Administration (SHA) officials walking along the streets with Town officials and other Oakland residents and friends, making notes, taking pictures and having lengthy discussions along the way.



The activity is in no way connected to the relocation of Route 219, which is in progress. The Town of Oakland has formed a Streetscape Task Force Committee to identify and examine issues that would need to be addressed in order to improve the experience and appearance of traveling through our Town, while ensuring increased safety of vehicular and pedestrian travel for everyone in the community.

Being a community-driven project, the Task Force is pleased to have the guidance and technical expertise of the SHA to assist in such an undertaking. The Task Force is currently at the phase where it will be developing firm project goals and expectations to have a concept of the project by June. The Committee has already identified concerns involving vehicle traffic, lighting, drainage, signage, and consistent sidewalks that are compliant with the Americans with Disabilities Act. We're certain to be leaping more hurdles along the way.

We're very excited about the project and are certain that residents and business owners will be too. As the project details become more solid, there will be opportunities for all to become informed on its progress. The objective of the Streetscape Task Force Committee is to attempt to refashion Oakland into an even more pleasant "Great Small Town!" Should you have any questions, please let us know. The Task Force Committee may be contacted at 301-334-2691.

Ram Matmen Win Regional; GC To Send Nine To States

Behind three individual titles, the Southern High School wrestling team defeated 20 other squads to capture the team championship in the Maryland Class 1A-2A West Region tournament, held Friday and Saturday at North Hagerstown High School.

The Northern High Huskies, on the strength of two individual titles, finished in third place as a team.

The Rams amassed 112 points, while Walkersville was a relatively distant second with 87 points, and Northern just two points behind in third place.

South Carroll and Smithsburg were tied for fourth with 82.5 points each, followed by Brunswick, Beall, Middletown, Winters Mill, Century, North Hagerstown, Fort Hill, Catoctin, Liberty, Frederick, Williamsport, Allegany, Francis Scott Key, South Hagerstown, Westmar, and Boonsboro.

Winning the titles in their respective weight divisions for the Rams were freshman George Scheffel in the 103-pound class, senior Daniel Carr in the 140-pound bout, and defending state champion Justin Ratliff, also a senior, in the 160-pound division.

Sean Sisler, a junior, was the runner-up in the 285-pound division, while senior Josh Armstrong also qualified for this weekend's Maryland State Championships by finishing third in the 125-pound division.

The top four finishers in each weight class advance to the state tournament.

Scheffel won his title bout via a 9-4 decision over Chad Strube of Middletown. Carr, who was a runner-up in last year's state tournament, recorded a 7-3 decision over North Hagerstown's Jim Eichelberger to win his title. Ratliff pinned Colten Eureka of Catoctin in his title match.

Sisler won every match but his final one, falling to Eddie Digman of Liberty on points, while Armstrong earned a close decision over Adam Dietrich of Frederick, 9-8, in the 125-pound consolation match.

Pacing the Northern Huskies were sophomore Dustin Stough, who defeated Catoctin's Sean Chilson on points, 6-3, in the title bout of the 145-pound class; and senior Brock Glotfelty, a current state runner-up, who pinned Frederick's Kurt Shea in the 215-pound division final.

Also qualifying for the state meet for the Huskies were sophomore Josh Duckworth, who pinned Brian Leatherman of Catoctin in the 112-pound division consolation match; and junior Andrew Ganoe, who finished fourth in the 152-pound consolation final, as he was edged 3-2 by Smithsburg's Justin Hovermale in overtime.

Beall's Noah DeVore was the champion in the 189-pound division.

This weekend's state tournament will be held at the University of Maryland's Cole Field House in College Park. Opening matches will begin at 2:30 p.m. on Friday, and Saturday's competition will get under way at 9:30 a.m.

The state tournament will be a double-elimination format, with the 1A/2A tournament and the 3A/4A tourney held simultaneously on eight mats. There will be 16 qualifiers in each weight division for each of the two tournaments.

The annual "Parade of Champions," during which the two finalists in each weight class will be introduced, will begin at approximately 6:15 Saturday evening just prior to the championship bouts.

Persons needing more information about the tournament, including directions, and ticket and parking info, can find it on the web site MPSSAA.org, clicking on "Fan Focus."

BEST IN THE WEST — Garrett County will be represented in the Maryland State 1A/2A Wrestling Championships this weekend at College Park by nine high school wrestlers, five from Southern and four from Northern, by virtue of their efforts at last weekend's 1A/2A West Region Championships, hosted by North Hagerstown High School. The Southern Rams defeated 20 other teams to take the team title, while the Huskies finished third. Among Southern's three individual champions was reigning state champion Justin Ratliff, pictured above left on his way to a pin victory in the title bout of the 160-pound division. Above right, Northern's Brock Glotfelty controls his opponent and ultimately pins him in the 285-pound final. Daniel Carr of Southern is pictured below left en route to a decision and claiming the 140-pound division crown. Glotfelty and Carr are both current runners-up in the state. Below right, Northern's Scott Stough takes care of business on his way to winning the title in the 145-pound division. Also winning a regional title was freshman George "Bubba" Scheffel of Southern, pictured left, third photo from the top, as he decisioned his opponent in the final of the 103-pound division. In the third photo from the top, right, Southern Ram Sean Sisler works his way to a second-place finish in the heavyweight division. In the bottom left photo, Josh Armstrong of Southern earns a spot in the state tourney by winning third place in the 125-pound division. Northern's Josh Duckworth, pictured bottom right, also finished in third place in the 112-pound division. Also qualifying for the state tournament was Andrew Ganoe of Northern, who placed fourth in the 152-pound division. Photos courtesy of Del Carpenter.

INSPECTION PROTECTION!

You've found the home of your dreams, and you're preparing to make your offer. As you consider price and terms, be sure to include one of the most critical components of the offer – a home inspection contingency. The contract should clearly identify how any reported problems will be rectified.

By including a satisfactory inspection in the terms of the contract, you give yourself two valuable options if repairs are needed. You can either a.) Request that the sellers complete the repairs before closing, or b.) Withdraw your offer without penalty. (Your professional real estate agent can help with your options.)

That last option isn't very appealing, especially if you really love the home. However, you must be prepared to walk away if the sellers are uncooperative or the numbers don't add up.

While the selling market was so hot these last few years, many buyers would forgo the inspection, just so their offer looked better than others, or to get the home before prices increased again. These days, however, cooler markets allow you to be more financially sensible and insist on the inspection.

If the inspection proves to be a deal breaker, don't sweat it, because there will be other comparable homes for your consideration. Chances are, though, that repairs will be minor and the sellers will be happy to cooperate.

If you'd like to buy or sell a home, but feel "out of touch" with what's happening in real estate, give me a call today!

Southern Rams Eliminated By Allegany In First Round Of West Region Tourney

The Southern High School boys' varsity basketball team was eliminated in the opening round of the Class 1A West Region, West Section playoffs, when it fell to Allegany 63-50 Friday evening.

All five of Allegany's starters scored in double figures, as the Campers jumped to an early 12-2 first-quarter lead. They outscored the Rams 18-11 in the second quarter, and took a robust 30-13 lead into the locker room at halftime.

"When you score two points in the first quarter and 13 points in the first half, you dig yourself into a hole," said Southern head coach Paul Pacella. "But our guys played hard and came back in the second half."

By chipping away at a 17-point deficit, Southern fought its way back into the game, outscoring Allegany 18-12 in the third period, and going into the fourth quarter trailing by 11 points, 42-31. At one point in the fourth quarter, the Rams cut the lead to eight points, but couldn't get over the hump, Pacella said.

Ryan DeWitt recorded a double double scoring 15 points and grabbing 11 rebounds. Jeff Stem added 13 points.

"Allegany played very well, and had five starters in double figures. You have to give them credit ... coach (Ted) Eirich does a nice job with them," said Pacella.

For the Campers, Tyler Wharton and Justin Fagan scored 14 apiece, Jeff Babich added 13, Travis Dordevic had 12, and Julian Gates had 10.

Southern finished with a record of 8-14. Although the season had its ups and downs, the up moments were memorable, as the Rams knocked off No. 1 Fort Hill, No. 3 Petersburg, and No. 5 Keyser.

ALLEGANY (63)
Julian Gates 3 3-4 10, Justin Fagan 3 7-11 14, Tyler Wharton 6 2-4 14, Jeff Babich 5 3-6 13, Travis Dordevic 6 0-4 12. Totals 23 15-29 63.

Garrett Defeats Cecil, Hagerstown, Before Losing Championship To PSC

The second-ranked Garrett College women's basketball team lost the Region XX championship to top-ranked Potomac State College on Sunday after having defeated Cecil Community College Friday night (no details of the game were received), and Hagerstown on Saturday in the Region XX tournament.

In Saturday's action, the defensive adjustments the Lakers made at halftime helped them rein in Hagerstown's outside shooters, and overcome a three-point halftime deficit to score a big 69-63 win over Hagerstown to earn the right to play nationally ranked Potomac State College for the Region XX championship on Sunday.

It was bombs away right from the start, as Hagerstown's Shavaughn McKenny and Samantha Cain came out firing threes, and keeping Garrett off balance throughout the first half. Cain with 22 points and McKenny with 17 combined for 11 three-point buckets and 39 points.

The defensive halftime adjustments allowed the Lakers to shut down Hagerstown's outside game and close the gap.

Offensively for the Lakers, Flodysha Peterson scored 22 points, grabbed 28 rebounds, blocked seven shots, copped five steals, and dished out four assists. Tegra Hillman finished with 18 points, five assists, and three steals. Yolanda Anthony scored 12 points, Mindy Sharp finished with nine points and 11 rebounds, and Shante Brickhouse hauled down 10 boards.

"They came out firing threes left and right early on and our defense wasn't responding well," said Lakers head coach Thea Garland. "At halftime we made the switch, and it took away their shooting to allow us back in the game."

The win allows Garrett to play Potomac State for the Region XX championship on Sunday.

In Sunday's action, five Garrett players scored in double figures but fell short in their attempt to win a trip to the NJCAA National Tournament by losing to top-ranked Potomac State College.

The Region XX Tournament Championship game on Sunday at Prince George's Community College was close throughout, but Potomac managed to come up with some big defensive stops in the last three minutes of the game to pull away for an 80-73 hard-fought win.

The Lakers were up by six points with three minutes to play when the momentum shifted, as Potomac began to make big plays. Nikkeia Daniels scored a game-high 28 points for the Catamounts, but it was her big three-pointer late in the game that jump-kicked Potomac's offense. Teammate Lauren Gilbert added 17 points, and her outside shooting kept Potomac in the game early on.

Flodysha Peterson led Garrett with 16 points. Brittney Jackson, Tegra Hillman and Yolanda Anthony had 12 apiece, and Mindy Sharp scored 10.

Garrett finished its season with a record of 24-4. The Catamounts (29-3) will travel to Phoenix to play in the NJCAA National Tournament for the second time ever.

Garrett Season Ends With Loss To MG In Tourney

The Garrett College men's basketball team finished its regular season with a 16-10 record, and defeated fifth-seeded Howard Community College 92-70 in the first round of the Maryland JUCO Conference Tournament last week at Howard.

However, Garrett's three-game winning streak came to a halt last Friday when it came up short against Montgomery-Germantown 87-83 in the quarter finals of the tournament. No further details of Garrett's last game were received.

WISP CUP WINNERS – Eric Recker and Cara Stough won top honors in the 2007 Wisp Cup Slalom race that was held on Squirrel Cage Sunday, Feb. 11, at Wisp Resort. The best male and female racers were awarded top honors based on their combined time of two runs. Recker, this year's male winner, is a former Deep Creek winter sports team coach and resides in McHenry. Stough, the top female winner, is a member of the Deep Creek Winter Sports Team and resides in Friendsville. The Wisp Cup is the second of the three races the Deep Creek Winter Sports Team hosts at Wisp each year. The team hosted the 2007 Maryland Governor's Cup last weekend with a slalom race on Saturday and a giant slalom on Sunday. All races are open to the public, and all skiers and snowboarders are welcome. For additional information regarding the Governor's Cup race, persons may contact Tonya Vernon at tonyav@procomnet.us.

Huskies Top Fort Hill, Then Lose To Allegany In West Region Playoffs

The Northern High School girls' varsity basketball team defeated Fort Hill in the first round of the Class 1A West Region, West Section playoffs Saturday evening, but lost to Allegany in the semifinals Tuesday night.

In Saturday's game, Megan Wiley scored a game-high 20 points in leading the Huskies to a decisive 61-32 win over the Fort Hill Sentinels. Brittany Stein chipped in 13 points, and Kasie Fratz and Amber Savage added six apiece. Sarah Voelkel and Wiley each copped seven steals, and Fratz grabbed a team-high 10 rebounds.

Lindsay Fischer led the Sentinels with 12 points, and Leann Griese put in seven points while grabbing a team-high nine rebounds. Fischer also had eight boards.

GC Manta Rays Swimming For The Sea Otters

Members of the Sea Otters swim team of Cumberland, among whom are a number of Garrett County youth, have become a significant force in the Chesapeake & Potomac Swim League (CPSL).

The CPSL consists of 18 teams representing four different states. Throughout the season, the teams compete in five dual meets, several invitational meets, a league championship meet, and district, regional, and national competitions. Certain race times must be recorded in order to qualify for the district, regional, and national meets.

Much of the growth of the Sea Otters team is because of the successful YMCA summer swim league, in which several area teams, including the Garrett County Manta Rays, participate in meets hosted by the Cumberland YMCA. The summer season consists of the four competitive stroke meets and one championship meet, all held at the YMCA pool.

This year the Sea Otters winter team has 30 swimmers, six of whom are members of the Manta Rays. Krista Hollingsworth, Courtney Strubin, Sydney Legeer, and Sierra Legeer have been swimming with the Sea Otters the past two years, while Kristen and Jillian Yant, Sam and Sara Jones, Alexandra Miske, and Zachery Thomas are participating on the team for the first time this season. All 10 Garrett participants travel an hour each way to attend weekly practices.

Over the course of the season, this group of 10 swimmers scored a total of 273.5 points for their team. Sierra Legeer scored the most points of her Garrett County peers with 53. Krista Hollingsworth scored 39 points.

The Sea Otters' last meet was their own Queen City Classic Invitational on January 27.

Winning a first place was Courtney Strubin in the 100-yard backstroke, and she was second in the 100 freestyle race. Sierra Legeer earned a second place in 50 back, and was third in the 50 breaststroke.

Strubin was also fourth in the 50 back, and fifth in the 50 breast, while Legeer placed fifth in the 50 butterfly.

Kristen Yant finished second in the 50 breast, and was fourth in the 100 breast, while Jillian Yant was third in the 50 breast.

Also earning third places were Garrett County's Zachary Thomas in the 100 back, and Alexandra Miske in the 100 breast. Miske was also fourth in the 50 breast, and Thomas placed fourth in the 200 individual medley.

GARRETT COUNTY'S SEA OTTERS — Ten Garrett County youth, several of whom have been members of the Garrett County Manta Rays swim team for a number of years, are now also members of the Sea Otters, a team sponsored by the Cumberland YMCA which competes virtually year-round. The Otters recently completed their regular winter season, and some of them have qualified for the district meet, to be held March 10-11 in Laurel. Pictured from left, front row, are: Zach Thomas, Alex Miske, Jillian Yant, Sierra Legeer, and Sam Jones. In the back are: Sara Jones, Kristen Yant, Krista Hollingsworth, Courtney Strubin, and Sydney Legeer.

Other Garrett County swimmers placing among the top 10 were Sara Jones, Sam Jones, and Sydney Legeer.

The next competition for the Sea Otters will be the district meet on March 10 and 11 in Laurel. The regional meet will be in North Carolina on March 16-18, and the national meet will be held in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., April 2-5. For more information about the Sea Otters, persons may contact head coach Jamie Miller, Cumberland YMCA, at 301-777-9622, or via email at cuy_seaotters@hotmail.com.

MANTA RAY TRYOUTS

The tryouts/sign-up for the Garrett County Manta Rays Summer Swim Team will be held Saturday, March 24, from 10 a.m. to noon in the conference room next to the pool at Alpine Resort in Terra Alta. For more information about the team, persons are invited to contact Bill Yant at 301-334-2225, or via e-mail at byant@comcast.net

Little Buddies Are Building For The Future

The Little Buddies Basketball League consisting of six co-ed teams of 10 members each, is the latest building block by the Service Club Basketball League, starting with the Dribbler's Club (now 1st and 2nd grade), the 3rd and 4th grade league, the 5th and 6th grade league and the 7th and 8th grade league.

The league was created to develop the talent and skills of young girls and boys who have a desire to play on one of Southern High School's basketball teams. The success of the program is based not only on the coaching staff and board of directors of the Service Club Basketball, but also the sponsors, volunteer coaches, volunteer referees and parents, all of whom contribute money and time to help develop the children's playing skills and knowledge.

Garrett Wins Pair To Open Baseball Season; Greg Beachy Hurls Shutout

The Garrett College baseball team, playing in the Virginia Sports Complex Tournament in Richmond, Va., swept Montgomery-Rockville 12-2 and 13-0 on Friday to open its season. Both games were called after five innings as the 10-run rule went into effect.

Adam Phillips and John Moreland combined to pitch a six-hitter, and Phillips struck out five in three innings in the first game of the double-header.

Eric Johnson smacked a solo home run and banged an RBI double to pace Garrett's eight-hit attack. Trey Stewart drove in two runs with a double and a single, and Chris Torrance hammered a two-run double.

In the second game, Greg Beachy, the ex-Husky and WMIL baseball player of 2006, combined with Jon Perigny to pitch a three-hit shutout. Beachy completed four innings, as Mike Dobre gave the ace right-hander a big lead, driving in four runs with a solo homer, a two-run double, and a sacrifice fly. Justin Weaver added two singles and two RBI, and Cory Bosley had two singles as well.

NWTF Chapter Schedules Annual Heritage Banquet

The local chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation (NWTF) will host its 2007 Spring Hunting Heritage Banquet on Friday, April 13, from 6 until 11 p.m. at the Oakland Elks Lodge.

"Winter will soon be coming to an end, and spring gobbler season is just around the corner," said a chapter spokesperson. "What better way to start off the 2007 season than attending a local NWTF Hunting Heritage Banquet."

Featured at this year's event will be a live and silent auction of limited edition wildlife prints, firearms, and collectables. Numerous raffles will also be conducted, including a progressive gun board raffle in which an additional firearm is added for every five players in the raffle.

A special youth raffle will also be held, featuring a youth turkey gun, a complete camouflage outfit (including a vest), a custom-made Dale Rohm box call, and a guided turkey hunt for one lucky winner during the 2007 spring gobbler season.

All youths 16 years and younger attending the banquet will be automatically entered in the raffle and will receive a free NWTF JAKES (Juniors Acquiring Knowledge, Ethics, and Sportsmanship) membership.

"Help support America's number one game bird and help continue our hunting heritage by taking a youth hunting on Maryland's 2007 Spring Junior Turkey Hunt Day," said the spokesperson.

The NWTF is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, wildlife conservation organization dedicated to the conservation of the wild turkey and the preservation of the nation's hunting heritage.

Funds raised at the spring banquet go to the Maryland state chapter Hunting Heritage Superfund and are used for wildlife projects throughout Maryland, including Garrett County.

For more information about the banquet, persons may call Ray Beard at 301-334-1404 or 301-616-1360.

For additional information about the NWTF, persons may visit its web site at nwtf.org or call 1-800-THE-NWTF.

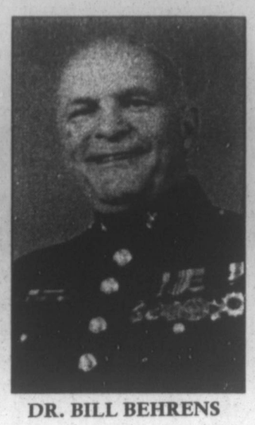
"God And Country Day" Slated At Mtn. Lake Baptist

TAM BOWMAN

The Mountain Lake Independent Baptist Church will host "God and Country Day" on Sunday, March 4, with events from 10 a.m. through noon. Two special guests will speak: Tam Bowman and Dr. Bill Behrens.

This is to be a patriotic service, featuring patriotic music, and gifts for all attending, including special items for all veterans and military men and women who are currently serving.

Tam Bowman will be speak of her family's rescue by the U.S. Navy after the fall of South Vietnam. She was born in Saigon. Her father was a captain in the South Vietnamese Army and worked with the United States Army. Her family narrowly escaped Vietnam the day after Saigon fell. The Pham family was sponsored into the United States and she was reared in the state of Louisiana. She said it is a joy for her to thank Vietnam veterans for their service.



DR. BILL BEHRENS

She and her husband have two sons, Isaiah and Elijah.

Dr. Bill Behrens, USMC Vietnam combat veteran, will be the featured speaker. After his graduation from high school, Behrens joined the United States Marine Corps, serving with the III Marine Amphibious Forces in Vietnam from 1967 to 1968, including the Tet Offensive of 1968.

Upon returning to the United States from Vietnam, Behrens served as a Marine Corps drill instructor in the Third Recruit Training Battalion at Parris Island, S.C., 1968-1969. Some of his decorations include the Combat Action Ribbon, Navy Unit Commendation, and Marine Corps Drill Instructor Ribbon.

His 30+ years of Christian ministry has included ministering to military personnel, educational administration, evangelistic meetings, and more.

For more information about Sunday's events, persons may contact Pastor Dennis Leatherman at 301-334-3234. Transportation is available. The church is located at 1005 Broadford Road, Mtn. Lake Park.

BPW To Present Nutrition Seminar

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women (BPW) will host an evening seminar highlighting USDA's "MyPyramid" on Thursday, March 8, at 7 p.m. at Garrett College.

USDA nutritionist Joan Lyon, RD, will conduct the seminar, which is being held in March to celebrate National Nutrition Month, a spokesperson said. Lyon said seminar participants will use MyPyramid's system of Internet-based tools to develop a personal eating plan.

"They can learn how to make smart choices from every food group, and balance their food and physical activity," Lyon said. A registered dietitian, Lyon works for United States Department of Agriculture's Center for Nutrition Policy and Promotion, and was on the MyPyramid development team.

Persons may purchase dinner in the Laker Café at Garrett College prior to the seminar. The café will offer one hot meal, one wrap, and one salad.

Since computer space is limited, reservations are required for the seminar. Anyone wanting to make a reservation or to request more information should call Lyon at 301-746-6423.

as part of the history.

Benjamin Hinkle ("B.H.") Sincell bought the newspaper company in 1890, publishing his first issue on his 20th birthday. It has remained in the Sincell family since that time, making it one of the oldest family-owned newspapers in the state of Maryland. B.H. passed the paper on to his son, Donald "Mose" Sincell, and his grandson, Robert B. Sincell. Mose's brother-in-law, George Hanst, served as the editor from the 1940s through the 1970s. Hanst died in 1991. Mose died in 1979 and Robert in 2003.

Currently the paper is owned by Donald and Suzanne Sincell and Mary and John McEwen. Donald (the editor of the paper since 1978) and Mary are the great-grandchildren of B.H. Sincell. Don and the McEwens work at the paper, as does Rachel Sincell, a great-great-grandchild of B.H. In all, the company employs 30.

The Sincell Publishing Company also includes a commercial printing shop, which has provided printing work for the county for more than 130 years. After Shirer's Tin Shop, Sincell Publishing is the second-oldest established business in Garrett County.

"We do take pride in the fact that over the past 130 years, there's never been a single week that The Republican has not rolled off our presses," editor Sincell said. "It's our pleasure to do our best to keep Garrett County residents and our surrounding neighbors informed of events and important information relevant to our lives here on the mountaintop."

West Virginia

News from Preston, Tucker, Grant and Mineral Counties.

TERRA ALTA NEWS

OFFICE FILING

Filing for the offices of mayor, recorder, and town council in the town of Terra Alta will be held from March 5 through 23. Applications are available at the city hall, which is open Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

TERRA ALTA FIRE DEPT.

A meal was hosted by the spouses of the Terra Alta firefighters on Sunday in honor of Ceci Brandner, who has been instrumental in raising money for the department over the past 20 years.

The department is looking for volunteers. Anyone interested is urged to call the department at 789-6660 or contact members by e-mail at info@TAVFD.org.

TWO CATS

Two black and white mature female cats (mother and daughter) that are spayed and used to living outdoors need a good home. The owner is moving and is unable to take them with him. Interested persons should contact Zeth Zajac at 304-492-4013 or zethz@hotmail.com.

TA, THEN AND NOW

Interested individuals will meet on Monday, Feb. 12, at 10 a.m. at Main Street Deli and Diner to discuss Terra Alta, then and now. This is to be an informal quest to see what details and information can be gathered to put in writing and pictures to be displayed for citizens.

LIBRARY NEWS

Carl and Joanne Schoolcraft hosted "Biscuit-Making and Sampling" at the library for anyone who wanted to come out and share the taste of homemade baking.

Joanne mixed, cut, and baked the biscuits while several guests had samples of them. Carl brought freezer jam, homemade apple butter, and blackberry and strawberry jam. Sausage gravy, sausage patties, coffee, and orange juice were also available.

They plan to come back soon to serve another meal. Details of the next event will be announced.

Milton Crum has donated several more books and an audio of Ken Follett, The Hammer of Eden. Ann Harris donated Eyes of Prey by John Sanford in audio form.

SCHOOL EVENTS

The Social Studies Fair will be held in March. It was to be earlier, but was moved because of the number of snow days.

GEAR-UP (Gaining Early Awareness and Readiness for Undergraduate Programs) at Terra Alta East Preston Middle School will present a speaker on Teen Issues on Wednesday, March 7, from 6 to 8 p.m.

The program is for parents only, and will focus on how to handle adolescents. There will be a question and answer period, as well as refreshments and door prizes.

FAMILY SAFETY DAY

A Family Safety Day will be hosted by the Terra Alta/East Preston Parent Teacher Organization (TA/EP PTO) on Saturday, March 17, from 1 to 3 p.m. This event will be held in the school commons area and cafeteria. There will be a variety of stations, including school/bus safety, internet safety, fingerprinting, fire safety, and health issues. This event is open to the public.

COUNTRY MARKET

A planning meeting for the Garden Fresh Country Market will be held on March 8, 7 p.m., at the Terra Alta town hall. The session will also involve training individuals how to accept senior coupons at the market.

All producers interested in participating or customers with comments are welcome.

BASEBALL SIGN-UP

The Terra Alta Youth League Baseball will soon hold registration for the season. There are divisions for boys ages 4 to 16 and girls ages 4 to 18. The cost is $25 for the first child, $20 for the second child in the household, and a maximum of $50 for a family. Sign-ups will be held at the town hall on Wednesday, Feb. 28, from 6 to 8 p.m.; Friday, March 2, from 6 to 8 p.m.; Thursday, March 8, from 6 to 8 p.m.; and Saturday, March 10, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Anyone interested in coaching or volunteering in any other role may also sign up at that time. Questions may be directed to JR at 789-5890 or Tony at 789-5303.

TERRA ALTA NEST

The Terra Alta Nest 298, Fraternal Order of Orioles, reported its activities of December. A Christmas dinner for members was held on Dec. 10, and Nest members gave hams, potatoes, green beans, and corn to 13 needy families for the holidays. The order also donated $400 to Project North Pole at the East Preston Middle School to benefit children in need.

The club donated $25 to the Aurora VFD in memory and honor of Kathy Hardesty, a recently deceased member. Ressie Conrad will serve as representative on the Heritage Days planning committee.

Members were asked to wear red during February for Heart Health Month. Heart-healthy ideas were discussed and vice president Ressie Conrad made and served heart-healthy muffins. The meeting closed with a reading by Gail Rose.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 20 at 1 p.m. at the Aurora Community Building. Ressie Conrad will be responsible for the lesson, Virginia Martin, the devotions, and Wilda Harsh, the special feature.

Buckwheat Cake Dinner Slated

A buckwheat cake and sausage dinner will be held Saturday, March 10, at Maple Spring Church from 3 until 8 p.m. The church is located south of Eglon along Rt. 24.

The cost of the dinner is $6 for adults, $4 for children under 10, and free for preschoolers.

AURORA/EGLON

LENTEN SERVICE

The Aurora United Methodist Church will be hosting the March 7 Union District Lenten services at 7:30 p.m. Scott Rush, pastor of the Brookside Church of the Brethren, will be the speaker. Everyone is invited to join in these services.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS SUNDAY

The Aurora Area Historical Society will have its quarterly meeting on March 4 at 2 p.m. in the Aurora Community Building. Carolyn Wotring will provide the program, telling of her trip to Ireland.

The Historical Society also wishes to announce that it has published a book containing pictures with names and some information of the Aurora graduating classes beginning in 1924 and continuing through 1977. Also included is a brief history of the school. The books will be available at the meeting at a cost of $20 plus $1.20 tax. Those who cannot come to the meeting may contact Jo-Ann Helton at 304-735-5832 to reserve a book. The cost of mailing is an additional $5.30.

BUCKWHEAT CAKE AND SAUSAGE DINNER

Another buckwheat cake and sausage dinner is scheduled for March 10 at the Maple Spring Church of the Brethren. Serving will he from 3 until 8 p.m., with a charge of $6 for adults, $4 for children under 10, and pre-schoolers may eat for free. The Family Life Center building committee of the church is sponsoring the dinner.

BIRTHDAYS NOTED

Marguerite Myers, formerly of Aurora, will be observing her birthday on March 6. She will enjoy receiving cards from friends and neighbors here. Her address is 501 S. Harmony Road, Apt. 6C, Newark, DE 19713-3338.

Celebrating her 94th birthday on Saturday, March 24, is Lorrayne Teets. She will also welcome cards sent to her at 300 Miller Road, Heartland, Room 107-1, Kingwood, WV 26537.

PERSONAL MENTION

Carolyn Harsh of Eglon was admitted Thursday to Ruby Memorial Hospital for heart catheterization and was scheduled for bypass surgery on Feb. 27.

Helen "Susie" Roth of Red House underwent heart bypass surgery last week in Cumberland and has returned home.

Roy "Bud" Lipscomb of Aurora returned Saturday to the home of his sister, Virginia Martin, after being hospitalized at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. His home had been damaged in a fire earlier this year and is being repaired.

Dale Gnegy of Gnegy Church underwent surgery on Feb. 23 at Cumberland and has returned to his home for recuperation.

Weir Roth of Gnegy Church was scheduled for heart surgery, but is a patient at Sacred Heart Hospital, reportedly with pneumonia.

Donavin Frantz will undergo surgery this week at an Alaska hospital, where his parents are stationed at Elmendorf Air Force Base.

Guest minister Sunday at Maple Spring Church was Dennis Harvey, who was accompanied by his wife Brenda.

Bradley and Robin Teets of Stroudsburg, Pa., were visitors here for the Feb. 23 funeral of his aunt, Naomi Teets.

A Thursday evening dinner at their home in Cash Valley was hosted by Jerry and Barbara Hauser, for the children and families of Naomi Teets: Alan and Mary Teets, Doyne and Bonnie Teets, Jack and Greta Weeks, also friends, grandchildren, and David and Leora Moon, the minister in charge of the funeral service.

Rebecca McCollum of Scottsville, Ky., was a guest of her parents, Claude and Jean Winters, Eglon.

Other than the above mentioned, some out-of-town visitors attending the Teets funeral were grandchildren Denise Lewis of Texas; and Jason Teets, his sister and family, Jennifer, Andy, and Kristie Weeks, and their friends, a nephew and wife, Brian and Beverly Holsopple, all of Virginia.

MILLER BABY

Jay and Melissa Miller of Parkersburg announce the birth of a son on Feb. 21. Named Cole Edward, the baby weighed 9 pounds, 2 ounces. His older sister is Madison.

Paternal grandparents are Mike and Brenda Miller of Parkersburg, and maternal grandparents are Robert and Bonnie Harsh of Eglon.

AURORA CEOS MEET

Aurora Educational Outreach Service (CEOS) met Feb. 20 at Melanie's Restaurant.

The Aurora club donated 13 Santa Tree gifts. On Dec. 3 it provided refreshments and participated with Aurora Pioneer 4-H in a tree lighting ceremony at the Aurora Community Building. CEOS members attending were Pat Stemple, Debris Slawter, Dean Sisler, Ressie Conrad, and Opal Myers.

Aurora will host the March 13 county Achievement Night at 6 p.m. at the United Methodist Memorial Building. The Relay for Life is set for June 23-24 at Rowlesburg Park. The Aurora CEOS will hold a garage sale June 1 and 2 at the Union Ambulance building, with proceeds from the sale going to the Relay for Life.

4-H Club News

RYAN'S GLADE
by Gary Allen Pritts, Reporter

The monthly meeting of the Ryan's Glade 4-H Club was held Tuesday, Feb. 20, at the Ryan's Glade community building.

The meeting was called to order by Andrea Steyer, president. Pledges were led by Dale Marple and Nolan Marple

Andrea and Jessica Steyer gave a talk on 2007 planned events and the club brochure as part of their leadership projects. Jennifer Steyer gave the secretary's report. Jessica Steyer gave the treasurer's report.

A report was given on the Livestock Association tubing/pizza party by Zachery Pritts. Also attending were Gary Pritts, Andrew Lucas, Dakota Pritt, Dale Marple, Tara Marple, Andrea Steyer, and Jessica Steyer.

A report was given on the officer training at Southern Middle School by Nolan Marple. Also attending were Gary Pritts, Zachary Pritts, Andrea Steyer, and Jessica Steyer.

A report was given by Andrew Lucas on the Shooting Sports held at the National Guard Armory. Also attending were Gary and Zachary Pritts.

The 2007 summary sheets and project record sheets were distributed. It was suggested that members should start on them.

We went over our yearly plan for 2007. Hoard's Dairyman cow judging contest papers were handed out to interested members.

The next regular meeting will be held March 20 at 7 p.m. at the Ryan's Glade community building. Anyone interested in joining 4-H may call the Garrett County Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

AURORA PIONEERS
by Daniel O'Connor, secretary

The meeting of the Aurora Pioneers 4-H Club on Feb. 11 was called to order by the Marissa Bachtel. The opening song, A Boy and a Girl in a Little Canoe, was led by Hunter Radford. Ryan Rocha and Wyatt Snyder led the pledges.

Members attending were: Amber Arnold, Marissa Bachtel, Samantha Ford, Lena Mersing, Daniel O'Connor, Michael O'Connor, Dylan Radford, Hunter Radford, Chelcee Rinker, Haley Rocha, Ryan Rocha, Trevor Schrock, Tyler Schrock, Emily Snyder, Wyatt Snyder, Amber Watts, and Sara Wiles.

The devotions were read by Michael O'Connor and Amber Arnold.

In old business, the photo and poster contest was discussed. The deadline has passed.

New Business: Dance Camp weekend will be held at Jackson's Mill from March 9 through 11. Five club members will be attending. 4-H Days will be in April, and Stacy encouraged everyone to participate and give talks on their 4-H projects.

The February game was led by Wyatt Snyder. The game was to guess the number of candy kisses in a jar. Sara Wiles was the winner.

Adorable Adoptables

LAP CAT NEEDS A NEW LAP – Available this week for adoption is this large, mature gray cat (left) that was given up by his owner who had to go into a nursing home. "He's very laid back and misses being a lap cat 24/7!" said a Humane Society spokesperson. Also at the shelter is a young longhaired cat looking for a good home where someone will faithfully brush her every night. She was picked up as a stray and has not been reclaimed. Two cats were adopted, one dog reclaimed, and one dog adopted this week. "This high number of adoptions in one week doesn't happen often at our local shelter," said the spokesperson. "The Garrett County Humane Society is giving $50 discount certificates to local residents in need of assistance to have their pets altered. Beginning today, you may pick one up at the county animal shelter. Certificates are first come, first served until they are all given out. They cannot be mailed out and must be used at either Pineview, Countryside, or Casselman veterinarian hospitals. Having your pet 'fixed' will protect its health, improve its temperament, and prevent more unwanted pets from being brought into our local shelter, which took in more than 1,200 animals last year." For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553.

Community Lenten Services Slated At St. Paul's UM

A series of community Lenten services is being held at St. Paul's Methodist Church on Wednesdays, with a light lunch served each week at noon, followed at 12:35 p.m. by a 10-minute Lenten meditation and worship, led by a different local pastor each week.

The schedule of speakers is as follows: March 7, Rev. Charlie Teets, retired pastor of the Crellin Church of the Brethren; March 14, Rev. Richard Hogg Jr., pastor of Bethel United Methodist, Mtn. Lake Park; March 21, Rev. C. Scott Robinson, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland; and March 28, Rev. Randy Nairn, pastor of the Accident Lutheran Parish. Herb Lambert, a certified lay speaker, led the service yesterday.

St. Paul's is located at 318 E. Oak Street in Oakland, and is pastored by Rev. Pat Kerr. The office phone number is 301-334-2391.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Two weeks ago I thought what a mess the dirty snow was along the roadsides. That only lasted a few days, and another snow delivered several inches of sparkling fluffy snow to cover the evidence of our pollution. Winter will not be winter in Bittinger without at least one ice storm. It came last Saturday night and caused Emmanuel Lutheran Church to cancel services Sunday morning. So far it has not caused any power outage, knock on wood!

My Claire was home last weekend, and she used her time wisely by hitting the slopes at the Wisp. The beautiful day made perfect skiing conditions and drew a very large crowd. The lift lines were very long, but the ride up the mountain was comfortable because it was not very cold.

Robbie and Blakely Glotfelty were home from the University of Maryland for the weekend. Robbie attended a recording session along with the rest of White Noise in Morgantown on Saturday. They returned to college early Sunday morning, as Rob had to join the pep band to root the Maryland Terps on to victory over North Carolina.

Really there is not much going on in Bittinger, as most people stay at home and enjoy watching the snowfall from their windows.

If the groundhog is right, we only will have another three weeks of winter and soon we can watch for service trees blooming. The way the white blossoms got their name in the olden days was that it was the only flower available for Easter Sunday church services. Easter Sunday this year will fall on April 8. I have seen many Easter snows.

Ruth DiPaolo was well enough to take a trip to Winchester, Va., last week to visit her friend Betty Sacra, who just returned home from Texas.

For the last few years we had a feral black calico female cat roaming along my stretch of Rock Lodge Road, where she visited various houses. She was as wild as the night wind. She was able to slip into my house one day and headed into my attic where she had several kittens. We were able to raise two who are now are beloved cats Tigger and Mr. Big Stuff. I tried very hard to tame Callie, buying her canned cat food so I could catch her while she was eating. I did hold her a couple times, but she continued to be wild. She died a lonely death in my basement last weekend. Rest in peace, Callie.

Some people think that a good way to get rid of unwanted pets is taking them out into the country and just turning them loose, thinking there are barns around and maybe it will find a home. "Out of sight, out of mind."

Like most Bittinger folks, my attention is pretty much close to home, because everywhere the roads are bad. So the only social news is that my big brother Rodney turned 55 years old on Monday. If my memory serves me correctly, Rodney's classmate Cindy Stanton had her birthday last week.

As far as I know, the only news in Bittinger is another layer of snow.

A correction from last week's news: It was Marvin Beckman from St. John's Lutheran Church, Meadow Mountain, who spoke at the soup and bread dinner at Bittinger. He spoke about his work in New Orleans with a relief group from the area to help with the repairs to some of the homes there.

Decorated World War II Veteran Laid To Rest In Arlington As Son Promised

by Leigh Clements

Charles Patrick Nolan, a decorated World War II U.S. Marine Corps combat veteran, wanted to go home one last time before he died. It was 1997 when he had suffered a heart attack. He had called his son, Chuck Nolan, bailiff of the Garrett County District Court and resident of Deer Park, and told him that he wanted to visit Trinidad, Colo., his birth place, the place where he had grown up; and he wanted to know if Chuck would take him.

Located in the southeastern part of the state on Interstate 25, astride the old Santa Fe Trail which separates the Colorado Rockies from the Great Plains, Trinidad is just across the New Mexico state border with easy access to Albuquerque, N.M., the city where the senior Nolan had made his home during the years he raised his family and lived out his life.

Chuck Nolan had flown out to Albuquerque on the first available flight, and it was on that trip that he made the commitment to honor one of his father's most important wishes.

"As we drove, we had talked about life, death, and the Marine Corps," Chuck said, "and I remember my father saying that he wanted to buried in Arlington National Cemetery, but he said that I'd never get him in. So he told me that when it came time to bury him, he wanted to be buried in a military cemetery. It was at that moment that I made a silent vow to myself that I would see to it that my dad would be buried in Arlington."

Charles Nolan was a 17-year-old boy in 1941 when he quit high school and lied about his age in order to enlist in the Marine Corps. He was scared to death he was going to miss the "big war," Chuck said.

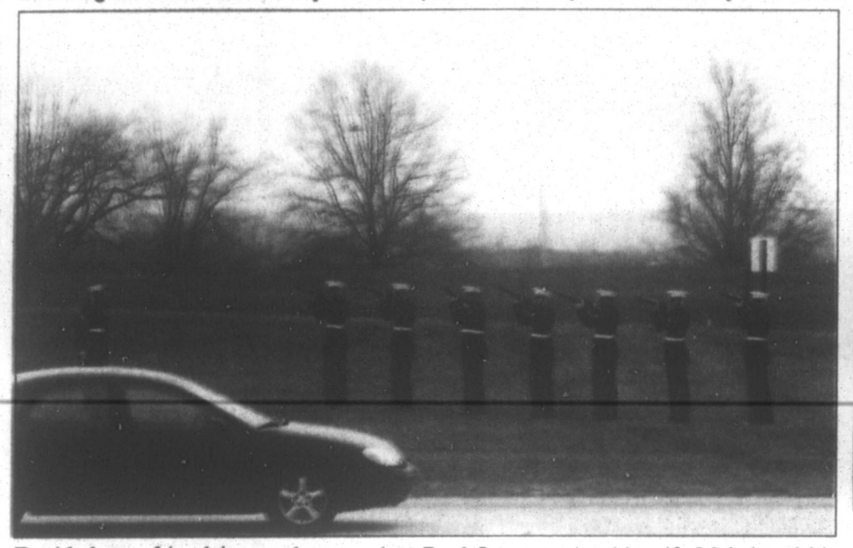
After being accepted into the Corps, Charles Nolan completed boot camp in San Diego, and was shipped to the Pacific Theater of Operations to join the 1st Marine Division, where he fought the Japanese under the command of General Douglas MacArthur, receiving two purple hearts for valor during his wartime field experience.

"My father was a Marine's Marine," Chuck said, "and I knew from day one that I, too, was going to be a Marine." Guided by this desire, Chuck joined the Marine Corps right after graduating from an Albuquerque high school in 1969, and spent the first two years of his military service in Asia and Vietnam.

He returned to the states, and was stationed at the Marine Corps barracks at 8th and I Streets SE, Washington, D.C., the home of the commandant of the Marine Corps, where he served for a short period as part of a team of body bearers that conducted burial ceremonies for veterans and their families at Arlington National Cemetery.

Nolan left his service as a body bearer when he was assigned to the White House staff during the Nixon administration. Later, he was appointed to the security detail at Camp David. It was during this detail at Camp David that a friend introduced him to Jane Garrett of Garrett County, who would become his future wife.

NOLAN'S MILITARY FUNERAL – The six-man Marine Corps body bearers unit (above left) folded the flag that was presented to Mabel Nolan at the funeral of her husband Charles Nolan, a decorated WW II Marine Corps combat soldier, at Arlington National Cemetery. Following the committal service the firing party (below left) was called to attention and fired a three-rifle volley. Above right, Chuck Nolan listens to an Arlington National Cemetery official explain to him why one of the body bearers in the Marine Corps detail broke rank during the ceremony, and saluted Chuck Nolan, a former Marine, who had also served as a body bearer. Pictured from left are the cemetery official, nephew John Lutton, daughter Jackie Weller, widow Mabel Nolan, Chuck Nolan, and his wife Jane Garrett Nolan, and Sean Nolan in the background in the dark coat. Below right, Charles Nolan's surviving children and wife hold the flag after the military burial ceremony. From left are daughter Kate Ingram, son Sean Nolan, daughter Maggie Lutton, widow Mabel Nolan, son Chuck Nolan, and daughter Jackie Weller.



After Vietnam, Chuck, like other veterans, had to deal with the memories of war. He remembers taking a road trip with his father, and asking him how he had dealt with the war's painful memories.

"Remember the good," his father had said. "The bad will stick with you the rest of your life." Like other World War II vets, Charles Nolan didn't talk much about his war experiences, although he did take pride in the fact that he was in the first amphibious landing of the war, and the last. Reflecting on his father's life and the life of other World War II veterans, Chuck said, "They knew that they were fighting for the freedom of the country, and the freedom of the world."

When the fight for freedom ended, Charles Nolan had returned to the states and eventually moved to Albuquerque, where he became a traveling salesman and raised his family. He was big on family loyalty, Chuck said.

When his father died in 2005, it was this same family loyalty that pushed Chuck to fulfill the commitment he had made to his dad on the trip to Trinidad. So on Dec. 12, 2005, the family had Charles Nolan's body was cremated, and Sean Nolan, Chuck's older brother, kept the ashes in Texas, while Chuck began the long and slow process of getting his father buried in Arlington Cemetery.

It wasn't easy, according to Chuck. It took him a year to get his father's records from the VA. When his efforts were bogged down, he turned to Brad Stewart, owner of Stewart Funeral Home in Oakland. "Brad offered to help me; he said he would try to speed things up, so I turned over all my father's records, all the paper work to him," Chuck said.

Stewart's help was invaluable, according to Chuck, and the process began to move forward. "We (the Nolan family) had the feeling, we knew that when it happened, it would come down quickly," Chuck said. And their feelings were right.

On Jan. 9, Arlington Cemetery confirmed the burial date — it was set for the 24th — giving everyone two weeks to make their arrangements and get to the funeral.

Veterans buried at Arlington Cemetery are afforded military honors at the request of the family, and the Nolan family wanted Charles to be buried with military honors.

Standard military honors are available to any enlisted service member or officer. According to military protocol, standard honors consist of a six-man body bearer detail, a firing party to fire a three-rifle volley (often confused as a 21-gun salute), and a bugler to play taps, as well as a chaplain. The body bearers carry the flag-draped casket to the grave and hold the flag over the casket while the chaplain speaks. Following the committal service the firing party is called to attention and fires a three-rifle volley. Then a bugler plays taps, and the body bearers fold the flag, which is then presented to the next of kin.

Charles Nolan was laid to rest on Wednesday, Jan. 24. with 19 members of his family present from all over the United States, including his wife Mabel and his surviving children, Chuck, Sean, Jackie, Maggie, and Kate, and their children.

Coincidentally, when the rifles were firing the three-round volley, 21 canons were firing in the background, an event that is reserved for the burial of presidents and dignitaries. Supposedly, the two events were unrelated. But the unusual did not stop there. One of the body bearers broke rank after the flag had been given to the Mabel Nolan, and presented himself before Chuck, and while standing at attention, saluted the former Marine, who had also served as a body bearer. Somehow, the Marine detail had been tipped off.

Because Chuck had persevered in his efforts to have his father buried with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery, his children, and grandchildren, and great-grandchildren can say that they have a relative buried with presidents, dignitaries, and soldiers — the heroes who died for our freedoms — in Arlington, Va., on hallowed ground. This is what makes Chuck Nolan happy when he thinks of his father now.

Read. Then Recycle.

Down-to-earth DALE

Unpretentious son of NASCAR legend not fazed by popularity

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Atlanta

Even as he goes about being the face of NASCAR and navigates an uneasy working relationship with his stepmother, Dale Earnhardt Jr. retains a reputation of being as humble and unassuming as a superstar can be.

He's not known for the kind of maneuvers on the track that earned his late father the nickname "Intimidator," and when he's out of the car, he tries to avoid controversy and often wonders aloud why so much fuss is being made over him.

"I really think Dale is a really good person," said fellow Nextel Cup driver Carl Edwards. "Honestly, he's surprised me several times at how level-headed he is for his position. It's amazing."

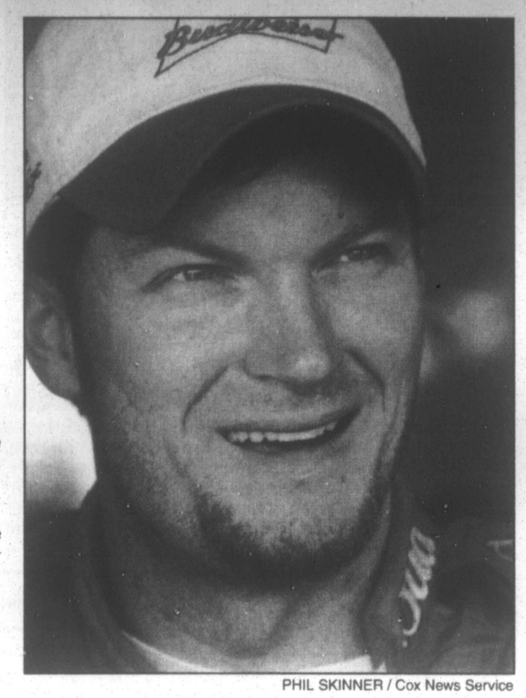
Lowe's Motor Speedway President H.A. "Humpy" Wheeler has known Dale Jr. since Junior was tagging along at the track with his father. Wheeler said Dale Jr. has picked up a lot of fans just because he's the son of the late icon Dale Earnhardt, but he also has attracted many others because of his own qualities.

"[Earnhardt Jr.] has a humility about him that people like," Wheeler said. "He's not puffed up. What you see is generally what you get, and people like that. And he doesn't over inflate himself. It doesn't get much better with a celebrity than that."

Wheeler credits the late Dale Earnhardt for instilling humility in his children. "His daddy was good about bringing people down to earth, particularly his kids," he said. "He never let them get their heads blown up."

But that doesn't mean that Earnhardt Jr. doesn't realize how popular he is. He knows, but he also makes a conscious effort to not let his celebrity status affect his performance as a driver, something he admits was a distraction when he first started racing in Nextel Cup.

"There was quite a bit of attention when we first came in, and I was pretty young and impressionable," he said. "Each year you gain more knowledge and gain more awareness and more ability and more understanding of what your person is capable of handling."



PHIL SKINNER / Cox News Service

Humble and unassuming, Dale Earnhardt Jr. cites the unwavering support from his legions of fans as one of the reasons for his success in NASCAR.

And one way he handles success is sharing it with his legions of fans.

"I'm very proud of what I've been able to accomplish, and I don't know if I would have enjoyed it as much without the core fan base we have," he said. "That's a good part of what makes it enjoyable. ... The reaction that we typically get really drives me and motivates me."

And, he said that even though he's universally known in NASCAR circles, that's not the case elsewhere.

He said he went to Vancouver, Canada, in the off season and drew little notice.

"I really don't have any trouble going anywhere," he said. "The fame that I have isn't really like celebrity fame. The recognition isn't really there when you're out in the public."

Rick Minter's OBSERVATIONS

Some key story lines following Sunday's race in California.

On a roll

It seems that one person can make a big difference in a multi-car NASCAR operation. Mark Martin moved from his longtime ride in Jack Roush's No. 6 Ford to the No. 01 of Ginn Racing during the winter and immediately the results have improved.

In his first two rides in the No. 01, Martin finished second by a few feet in the Daytona 500, then qualified third and finished fourth at California Speedway. And he did it in a car that finished 27th in the standings last year with just two top-10 finishes. Joe Nemechek drove the car last year.

Martin has worked similar magic with the Wood Brothers/JTG team in the Craftsman Truck Series. He contended for the victory at California last week only to be bumped from the lead in the closing laps while driving for a team that was winless last year.

Slow go

Toyota's much-heralded debut in Nextel Cup has been less than spectacular. At Daytona, only four of the eight entries made the cut for the Daytona 500, and one of those, the No. 55 of Michael Waltrip, spent race week mired in the controversy surrounding an improper fuel additive found in the car's manifold.

At California, Waltrip's car was one of three Toyotas that failed to make the race. Jeremy Mayfield and A.J. Allmendinger have missed the first two races and face long odds of moving into the top 35 in owner points, which assures starting spots for races.

Dale Jarrett, driving a Toyota owned by Waltrip, has had to rely on his past champion's provisional starting spot to make the field the first two weeks, and he can use that provisional just four more times this season.

In the races, the results have been subpar. The top Toyota at Daytona was the No. 44 of Jarrett, who finished 22nd.

Brian Vickers, who failed to qualify at Daytona, rebounded with a 10th-place run at California.

Dominating Busch

Even though fewer Nextel Cup drivers plan to run the full Busch Series schedule this year, the "Buschwhackers" have dominated the first two Busch Series races of 2007. At the Orbitz 300 at Daytona, the top 12 finishers were Cup regulars and the 13th-place driver, Scott Wimmer, is a former Cup driver now running for Richard Childress Racing, a Cup powerhouse. The best in the Busch class at Daytona went to Brent Sherman, who finished 21st driving for McGill Motorsports, which has no direct Cup affiliation.

Steve Wallace finished 22nd in the Stater Bros. 300 at California, best of the teams without direct connections to a full-time Cup effort.

Off weekend

This weekend is a rare off date for the Nextel Cup Series. But some Cup drivers, including Carl Edwards, will run the Busch race in Mexico City.

But for many drivers, it's a chance to spend a Saturday and Sunday like regular folks.

Kasey Kahne is going home to Enumclaw, Wash., to be in the wedding of his cousin, Kole Kahne, who also travels the Cup circuit as Kasey's spotter.

"I'm going [home] to spend four days there and enjoy his wedding and enjoy some family and have a good time," Kahne told reporters at California last week.

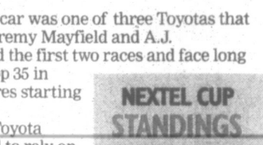
Clean sweep for Kenseth



NASCAR

Even without crew chief Robbie Reiser, Matt Kenseth swept the Busch and Cup (right) races at California. Kenseth gave Reiser much of the credit for the win, saying Reiser, who is serving a four-race suspension for rules violations at Daytona, played a key role in preparing the winning ride.

It's much the same situation as the start of last season, when eventual Cup champion Jimmie Johnson won two of the first four races while crew chief Chad Knaus was serving a suspension for a Daytona violation.

UP-AND-COMING

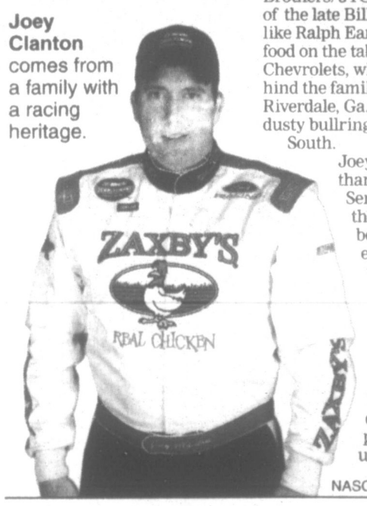
A look at one of the hot newcomers who could be on the cusp of stardom

Joey Clanton inherited passion for racing

By RICK MINTER
Cox News Service

Anyone who follows NASCAR knows the story of the Earnhardt family — how Dale Earnhardt grew up the son of a tough-as-nails dirt-track driver who fed his family with a car prepared in a shop behind the family home.

Joey Clanton can identify with that. Clanton, who is running for Rookie of the Year in the Craftsman Truck Series in a Wood Brothers/JTG Ford, is the son of the late Billy Clanton, who like Ralph Earnhardt, put food on the table with his Chevrolets, which he built behind the family home in Riverdale, Ga., and raced on dusty bullrings across the South.



NASCAR

Joey Clanton comes from a family with a racing heritage.

Joey, 34, is older than most Truck Series rookies and therefore remembers an earlier era in racing, when drivers like his father sometimes settled matters with their fists.

"He put a lot of effort into his cars and he didn't want people tearing them up," Clanton said. "He wouldn't take anything off anybody, but back then all the serious ones were tough. They liked to fight as much as they liked to race. All of them stood their ground."

Billy Clanton's three sons followed him into the sport.

Rusty has raced Late Model asphalt cars for years and is an ARCA crew chief. Shane is one of the nation's top dirt-track racers. They all exhibit many of their father's traits, including his work ethic and his drive to win.

"We all inherited a little bit of it — the stubbornness, the hard-headedness, the will to win," Joey said. "When racing is all you know and all you want to do and you work late every night getting your car ready, you take a lot of pride in it. You want to win, and it's tough not to."

Joey Clanton, who is sharing his ride with Stacy Compton, likely wouldn't be in NASCAR this year if not for some of that Clanton drive. His big-league career appeared to have ended in 2003, when he was released from his Busch Series ride with Brewco Motorsports after his rookie season.

Even though he quit driving for a time and built a successful restaurant business, the 2002 ASA champion and 18-time ASA winner still had unfulfilled racing aspirations.

Now he's back with a fresh outlook.

"Here's an opportunity to make the best of it, an opportunity to shine with the best of equipment," he said.

In his first ride in the No. 09 Ford — it was his first race of any kind in nearly three years — he came back from an early race spin and some slow pit stops to finish a strong sixth at Daytona.

He stalled the truck exiting the pits on two occasions, but otherwise showed few signs of the long layoff.

Clanton believes that his father, who died before any of his sons reached the top levels of the sport, would be proud.

"He missed out on what we've all accomplished, but we're where he always wanted us to be," Joey said.

Catching up with ... JIMMIE JOHNSON

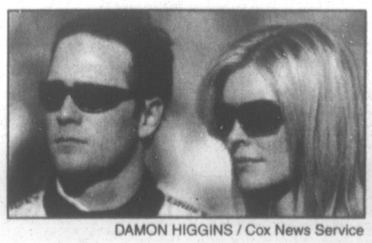
Reigning Nextel Cup champion Jimmie Johnson recently met with members of the media, including Rick Minter of Cox News Service, to talk about expectations that come with winning a championship.

On advice he might have gotten on how to be a repeat champion: "Nobody has offered [advice], and I really haven't thought about it all that much. I'm just looking at it as what we did last year worked. We looked at last year and recognized a lot of areas where we could have improved on, so I'm just looking into last year and the mindset that we had and trying to pick up in the areas where we didn't perform as well as we needed to."

On whether being in the title hunt for several years running will help him this year: "We've been close. We've been knocking on the door. I also look at it this year with all the changes and the Car of Tomorrow as a good year for the No. 48. Chad [Knaus, crew chief] and I do a good job of learning things on a fast pace. And with the resources we have at Hendrick [Motorsports], I think we can sort out the Car of Tomorrow in a short period of time and hopefully get things moving in the right direction."

On improving his performances on road courses: "I spent a lot of time testing in the 24 Hours [of Daytona], and we're going to try to run some other road-course races this year. And then our testing program for the road-course racing is being stepped up. So it's something I'm really focused on."

On his road-course tutors: "Max Papis has been very helpful. He has worked with me in our Cup cars. Marc Goossens was helping me a lot at the 24 Hours of Daytona. Andy Pilgrim, a GM Cadillac driver, was very helpful to me. It's nice to see these top-name guys so willing to help me out and give me advice."



DAMON HIGGINS / Cox News Service

Nextel Cup champion Jimmie Johnson and his wife Shandra listen to the national anthem before the start of last year's Ford 400 at Homestead-Miami Speedway.

On what his reaction would be if his teammate Jeff Gordon retired in five years: "I wouldn't be surprised. This is the start of his 16th year. ... I think 20 years of doing anything and you're probably looking for a change. I wouldn't be shocked with that."

On whether he and Gordon have talked about retirement: "No. The side I see of him is very focused on the coming year. I think he's got at least two or three more years on the contracts he has in place right now. Everything I hear is [about him] trying to win a fifth championship. So I haven't seen any side of when he may be thinking about hanging up the helmet."

On strange things that have happened to him inside the race car: "I've had the mirror fall off while driving around the race track. That was a little distracting. It fell in my lap."

On whether the newly reconfigured Las Vegas Motor Speedway is too fast: "I didn't have a sensation of going too fast, but the fact that we are going fast leads to the hard tire and to the things that make the car hard to set up. The track is surprisingly rough for a brand-new surface. I think that's great for us. It might be bad for other forms of racing, but for us, we already have the second, maybe third lane working around the track, which was a good sign for the race. There wasn't any drop-off in the tire."

Message from the President's Desk — Garrett College

by Dr. Paul Dauphinais

WE ARE ALL LEARNERS

Colleges all across America bill themselves as something; a great teaching institution, a world-class research institution; or something. I believe that Garrett College is a learning institution. Teaching or research isn't the objective, learning is the goal.

Learning is accomplished through trying and sometimes failing. Learning is putting into practice what is taught. Learning doesn't stop outside of the classroom. Learning is not regurgitating facts, but putting those facts to work for us for a larger purpose.

I have been at several colleges in areas such as Garrett County. What I've learned is that people in places like this want to do things for themselves through their own labor. There is no need for others to come in and do things for us. There is no entitlement mentality as in so many urban areas. This is what we all want to impart to young people. They are not entitled to a grade, they must work for it.

Education, in a true learning institution, is providing an opportunity, encouraging others to take it, and ensuring that for those who do take the opportunity that success can be had by meeting the challenge. There will be no growth, no real learning, without meeting a challenge.

Challenges come in many forms – new people, new exercises, new situations, no expectations. My staff is tired of hearing me say, "There are no challenges, only opportunities to excel."

As you know the Recreation Center is a new situation for the college and the county, and it is our collective opportunity to excel. I have learned that there are several misconceptions about the center and would like to address those matters in the remainder of this note.

First, there have apparently been concerns about the location of the center. As many know, the location has been moved to the college campus. This move was not done in a capricious manner. A great deal of consideration was put into the decision; cost being an important issue. The move to the campus will enable the building to be available to more people and have more amenities available to everyone.

Second, the quantity and quality of amenities will be vastly improved. The gym will be far superior to the current college gymnasium and have sufficient seating for high school and college tournaments to be held here. This will benefit the entire area when we do hold tournaments here by bringing more people to the county who will enhance the local economy. There has been considerable discussion about the size and type of pool that the center will have. While the issue is not a "done deal," it looks as though we will be able to have a pool configured to at least enable the local swim club to practice at the facility. If we are fortunate, we may be able to hold meets here as well.

Recently I have heard comments about the center not being here for the general population of the county and that it won't be available to everyone. As an institution, the college is dedicated to making all of its resources available to the community, and the recreation center is no exception. The name of the facility is the Garrett College Community Athletic and Recreation Center. The purpose is illustrated by the name. While the facility will be on the college campus, it will be a community resource. While issues of staffing and operating hours still need to be dealt with, there will be sufficient availability for every constituency in the county to use the recreation center.

We can make a greater impact on the legislature by working together to let our representatives know we are all behind this project. That should be something we all learned in our civics class. Take a moment to let our delegation know we all want this project to be funded by the state; send them an e-mail or a brief note. Let them know that you are a registered voter and want to have this type of facility in Garrett County. Let our local elected officials know your feelings toward the recreation center as well. Legislators and elected officials also learn. Based on the weather during February, it would have been great to have a building like this available to all of us.

There is an old saying that fortune favors the prepared mind. Let us learn what the center is all about and prepare the minds of others so that we can be fortunate and have a great facility in Garrett County.

TOWN OF OAKLAND ELECTION

Oakland Municipal Election
Monday, March 12, 2007

Polls open from 9:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

Three Council Members are to be elected.

Terms expire for: Frank Custer, Councilperson
Harvey Jay Moyer, Councilperson
Willard Ringer, Councilperson

Others now serving are:
Asa McCain, Mayor
Margaret Jamison, Councilperson
Sherwin Teagarden, Councilperson
Christopher Todd, Councilperson

Last day to file for office is Friday, March 2, 2007, at 4:00 p.m..

Any resident of Oakland age 18 or over may register to vote in the Municipal Election at Oakland City Hall during regular business hours until 4:30 p.m. on Friday, March 2, 2007. The Town of Oakland maintains a separate register of voters; however, if you have registered at the Board of Elections after January 1, 1990, and are a resident of Oakland, you are automatically qualified to vote in the Municipal Election.

Deadline for obtaining an application for Absentee Ballots is Monday, March 5, 2007, at 4:00 p.m.

KITZMILLER

CASH BASH

The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department will hold a Cash Bash on Saturday, March 17, at the Elks Lodge in Oakland. Ticket price is $25. Tickets are on sale now and may be purchased from Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department members. Persons may contact one of the KVFD chiefs to check availability of tickets. They are Shawn Nesselrodt at 301-453-3178, or Tom Davis at 301-453-3500.

EVANGELIST TO SPEAK

Rev. Lee Robertson invites everyone to come hear evangelist Gayle Brostowski speak at the Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church March 2,3, and 4, at 7 p.m. each evening. She will also be speaking at the Sunday morning worship service on March 4 at 11 a.m.

BENEFIT DINNER

Kitzmiller churches, the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department, and the Kitzmiller VFD's Ladies Auxiliary are holding a benefit dinner in support of Richard Armstrong, a member of the department, and his family. Armstrong was injured while serving in the U.S. Army years ago and recently had to undergo surgery related to that injury. He has been unable to work since June, is currently confined to a wheelchair, and does not know when he will be able to work again.

The dinner will be held Saturday, March 3, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the Kitzmiller fire hall. The menu will consist of ham, potatoes, soup beans, corn bread, dessert, and drink. The cost of the dinner will be $6 for adults and $3 for children 12 and under.

The community is urged by organizers to come out and support this fireman and veteran, as well as his family, during their time of need.

BIRTHDAYS

PRAYER MEETING

The next Harvestime prayer meeting will be at the Kitzmiller Assembly of God church next Tuesday, March 6, at 7 p.m.

SOUP DINNER

The ladies of the Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church will be having a soup and salad dinner on Saturday, March 24, at the community building from 4 to 7 p.m. They will also be providing Easter baskets to the shut-ins this year. As of this date there are 15.

The ladies group is also planning to sell calendars and are putting together a cookbook. They ask that anyone wishing to submit a recipe should send it to: Kitzmiller Assembly of God Ladies Group, Box 200, Kitzmiller, MD 21538.

The ladies group meets the second Tuesday of every month.

BIGGEST LOSER

The Kitzmiller Empowerment Group and the Garrett County Health Department have joined together to sponsor a "biggest loser" competition in Kitzmiller. Competitors recently met for their first weigh-in. Participants are grouped into groups of three and judged by total percentage lost. Points are given for pounds lost and miles walked. The winning group will receive $300.

RELAY 50/50 TOURNEY

There will be a 50/50 basketball tournament held March 24 at 2 p.m. in the Kitzmiller School gymnasium. The cost to participate is $10 per person, (may pay at the door). Participants must be at least 15 years old. There will be two players per team. Drinks will be provided. Winners will be awarded half the money made from the tournament, and the other half will go to Relay For Life. Persons with questions may call 301-453-3344.

SWANTON

The Swanton Community Center will host a buckwheat cake, pancake, and sausage dinner Saturday, March 10, beginning at 4 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

CHURCH

Church services were canceled at Otterbein U.M. Church on Sunday because of bad weather.

BIRTHDAYS, ANNIVERSARIES

Among those celebrating birthdays this week are Paranda Uber, Heather Custer, Doris Howell, Eli Ward, and Charles Coddington.

Celebrating wedding anniversaries this week are Mike and Heather Custer, and Glen and Lois Custer.

Area Agency On Aging To Honor GC Centenarians

Garrett County Community Action's Area Agency on Aging is seeking to identify local residents age 100 and older or those who will celebrate their 100th birthday by Dec. 31.

These individuals will be recognized during the agency's third annual Centenarian Luncheon to be held in May during Older Americans Month. The date and location are yet to be determined.

"Although the state hosts a luncheon each year in the Baltimore area to recognize and honor centenarians throughout the state, we found that was just too far for our folks to travel," said an agency spokesperson. "Therefore, we decided to host a local event."

Last year, eight individuals accompanied by their family members were honored for having reached the 100-year milestone in their lives. Also attending last year's event were local and state officials, including the secretary of the Maryland Department of Aging.

Centenarians, or their relatives and friends, are asked to call the Area Agency on Aging at 301-334-9431, ext. 140, to provide necessary information.

NHS NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY INDUCTS 14 – Students were recently inducted into the Northern Garrett High School chapter of the National Honor Society on Sunday, Jan. 28. A ceremony was held at Uno Restaurant for inductees, parents and family, current officers, principal Gary Reichenbecher, superintendent Wendell Teets, and members of the faculty at NHS. Julie Brenneman and Gayle Grimm, co-advisors of the National Honor Society, welcomed new members, and explained that the national criteria for acceptance is an 85% GPA, with Northern's policy as requiring a 90% GPA. In addition to high scholarship, each candidate must demonstrate good character, strong leadership skills, and service to the school and community. New members, pictured above, left to right are, first row: Kelli Wilhelm, Nicole Opel, Danielle Brenneman, Abby Sherrard, Nicole Espada, and Brooks DuBose. Second row: Emily Rosser, Ainsley Raley, Sarah Voelkel, Brittany Stein, Amanda Fazenbaker, Christopher Wood, and Ryan Bowser. Bethani Gillum was also inducted, but was unable to be at the ceremony.

Basic QuickBooks Course Scheduled

A two-session class, "QuickBooks – Beginner Level," will be offered on Monday and Wednesday, March 12 and March 14, from 6 to 8:30 p.m. at Garrett College.

This class will provide an introduction to the computer program for participants with little or no experience.

Topics to be covered include creating a new QuickBooks company, modifying the preset chart of accounts, adding information to company lists, opening and using registers for any QuickBooks balance sheet accounts, and reconciling a QuickBooks checking account.

For more information or to register, persons may contact Kista Wilt at 301-387-3069 or via e-mail at kwilt@garrettcollege.edu.

Boatman Receives Recognition For 20 Years Of Service

Residential coordinator Leigh Ann Boatman was recently recognized for 20 years of service at Appalachian Crossroads. During her tenure with the Oakland-based program that provides training and support services for adults with developmental disabilities, Boatman has assumed duties in all facets of client service.

"I just love my work here," Boatman said, after recounting the various aspects of her two decades of service, which she started on a part-time basis after college graduation.

She has provided personal care to clients, supervised a group residence, coordinated day program services, and worked with clients and trainees to establish life goals.

Setting outcome goals with clients, she explained, can include a vast array of options to help that person maximize physical, emotional and material well-being, interpersonal relationships, rights, self-determination, and personal development.

"Some time early on, this changed from being a job to being my calling," she said.

Microsoft Word Class Scheduled

A six-session course, Microsoft Word I, will be offered on Tuesdays, March 13 through April 17, from 7 to 9 p.m. at Garrett College.

This hands-on course will introduce the student to processing various types of documents: how to e assemble, format, sort, and save. The student will also learn how to create graphs and tables.

A prerequisite of introduction to computers or a working knowledge of the computer is required.

For more information or to register, persons may contact Kista Wilt at 301-387-3069 or via e-mail at kwilt@garrettcollege.edu.

The class is an offering of the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division of Garrett College.

Church Of Christ Cluster Schedules Lenten Services

The United Church of Christ (UCC) Mason Dixon Cluster has announced its Lenten service schedule. All services will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The location, dates, and themes of the events are as follows: Amity UCC, Meyersdale, Pa., March 7, "The Mouth of Christ – To Speak God's Word"; Trinity UCC, New Germany, March 14, "The Ears of Christ – To Hear Our Prayers"; Salem UCC, Frostburg, March 21, "The Eyes of Christ – To See Our Needs"; and Amity UCC, March 28, "The Heart of Christ – Beating With Love."

The first Lenten service was held yesterday evening at St. John's UCC in Salisbury, Pa. The theme was "The Hands of Christ – To Help and Heal."

For more information about the upcoming services, persons may call 814-662-2172.

Small-Business Workshop Slated

A free workshop on how to start a small business will be held next Tuesday, March 6, from 6 until 9 p.m. at Garrett College. Small business counselor Beverley Williams will facilitate the session.

Persons interested in starting a small business and unsure of where to begin are encouraged to participate.

Participants will take an assessment to determine their readiness to be in business, learn about local resources to help them along the way, identify financing options, discover the importance of a business plan, and more.

To register persons may call the college's Continuing Education and Workforce Development office at 301-387-3069.

Woman Cited For Failure To Control Speed

A motor vehicle collision involving a school bus occurred near the intersection of Memorial Drive and Harvey Winters Road Monday morning.

Carroll Lee Paugh Sr. was operating a school bus eastbound on Memorial Drive. The bus was loaded with 17 students being taken to Broad Ford Elementary School.

Erin Brooke Gambetta was operating a 1995 Ford Station Wagon westbound on Memorial Drive. Gambetta lost traction on the icy roadway and swiped the side of the school bus.

Minor damage was done to both vehicles, and no injuries resulted from the accident.

Gambetta was cited by Garrett County sheriff's deputies for failure to control speed to avoid a collision.

A smarter way to money.

*Annual Percentage Yield (APY) effective 02/22/07 and will be paid on eligible balance. The rate is based on the 13-Week T-Bill minus 0.75% adjusted weekly. This is a variable rate account and the rate may vary. As of 2/22/07, balance tiers and corresponding APYs are: $.01-$999.99 – 4.38%, $1,000-$4,999.99 – 4.38%, $5,000-$9,999.99 – 4.38%, $10,000-$24,999.99 – 4.38%, $25,000-$49,999.99 – 4.38%, $50,000+ – 4.38%. Minimum balance of $5,000 is required to obtain APY and to avoid a $21 monthly service fee. Fees could reduce earnings. Federal regulation limits total transactions paid (excluding unlimited "over the counter" withdrawals) to six per statement cycle, of which three may be by check, draft or debit card. Excess transactions will result in a per transaction fee and if repeated could cause the account to be changed to a non-interest bearing account. Terms subject to change. God's Good News

The sanctuary of a church is a big place to a small child. Imagine what it must feel like to be surrounded by silence in such a serious place – the place where the grown-ups go. When a little one is old enough to be "good" and leave the nursery she can sit with her parents through a service of worship.

How different from a regular day in a classroom or at the playground. Children can learn to worship God in their own special way and learn about Him as they hear the prayers and songs. It may not seem as if they are listening, and they may not be able to sit quietly the whole time, but they will hear and learn about God.

Do you remember what it was like to worship as a child? A child hears with innocent enthusiasm. God is big and wonderful! Take a new look at your house of worship this week; see it through eyes of a child and rejoice in God's good news! "Tell it to your children, and let your children tell it to their children, and their children to the next generation." (Joel 1:3)

REGARDING OTHERS

How do we interact with others who we associate with each day? Are we hospitable in our dealing with them or do we tend to be a little bit unfriendly? Oftentimes, we treat others in the same way that they treat us. If someone makes an unkind remark to us, it may seem only natural to say something unkind in return. Or in certain situations, if others don't react the way we think they should, we may become a little hostile and say something that is hurtful. Although it may seem contrary to our natural instinct, the Bible tells us that we should love our enemies, do good to those who hate us, bless those who curse us, and pray for those who abuse us. To him who strikes you on the cheek, offer the other also (Luke 6:27-28). When another person says or does something unkind to us, they are in a sense, striking us on the cheek. In these situations if we could stay calm and simply answer with something like, "I'm sorry you feel that way," we would be offering the other cheek, and perhaps the person would realize that they were out of line. And since it seems that nowadays most everyone is under more stress than ever with their daily routine, it is good to remember that cordiality and friendliness are always in style. Beloved, if God so loved us, we also ought to love one another.
R.S.V. 1 John 4:11

Medical Value of the Coleus Plant

Coleus forskohlii is a plant that is native to Nepal, Sri Lanka, Eastern Africa, and India. The coleus plant has been used as a traditional medicine in India to treat stomach disorders such as flatulence and indigestion. One of the active substances in coleus is forskolin, which was first extracted from the root of the plant in the 1970s. Forskolin causes several chemical reactions in the body by stimulating an enzyme called adenylate cyclase. This activity is thought to be responsible for coleus's effects on the heart and blood vessels. The leaves of the coleus plant also contain volatile oils, which are thought to be responsible for coleus's effects on stomach disorders. Several small research trials suggest the coleus may improve heart function in people with a condition known as cardiomyopathy; however, larger, well-designed studies are needed to confirm these findings.

Coleus has also been studied for the treatment of asthma and glaucoma; more studies are needed to confirm that coleus is safe and effective in the treatment of these conditions.

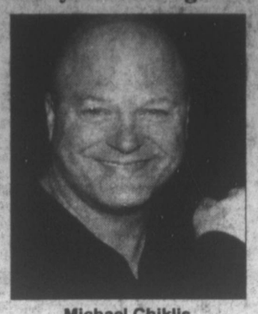
It's almost time to 'Shield' your view again

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it



Michael Chiklis

Q: My favorite show is "The Shield" on FX. When will it return? –Titia Knight, Flagler Beach, Fla.

A: The police drama's sixth year is set to start April 3 exactly one week after Courteney Cox's "Dirt" evacuates the time slot. Expect Vic Mackey (Michael Chiklis) to spend a lot of the new episodes seeking his comrade Lem's killer – who is much closer than Mackey suspects.

Forest Whitaker, who has had a great run on the film award circuit for "The Last King of Scotland," will return in some of the new stories. Final-season "Shield" installments are expected to begin production soon and begin turning up on FX early next year.

Q: Is the actress who plays Lindsay on "CSI: NY" leaving that show? –Leslie Bassini, Glen Cove, N.Y.

A: She's only gone temporarily. Anna Belknap took maternity leave to have her first child with actor husband Eric Siegel ("The Guardian"). They welcomed a baby girl Jan. 14, and while it's likely Belknap will return to her CBS show before it ends its current season, it's all but certain she'll be back come fall.

Q: I was wondering where "Friday Night Lights" is filmed. Do they come to Texas to get some of the outdoor shots? –Kyle Young, Garland, Texas

A: Actually, all of them, not to mention the indoor ones. The critically acclaimed NBC series prides itself on filming entirely on location in and around Austin.

Q: My wife and I recently watched the movie "Mercenary for Justice," and we certainly recognized Steven Seagal, but we can't agree on who the female lead was. I say Catherine Zeta-Jones, but my wife says she just looked like her. Can you confirm who played the role? –Larry Anderson, Columbus, Ohio

A: Your wife wins. It was Jacqueline Lord, a relative newcomer whose credits also include episodes of the series "Joey" and "Quintuplets."

Q: I enjoyed the series "Identity" that was on briefly in December. Will it be back anytime soon? –Carol Nicolai, Vancouver, Wash.

A: Yes, but at this writing, we can't tell you exactly when. NBC plans to bring it back in March, but the exact date and time hadn't been provided yet. Comedian-magician Penn Jillette will be back as host of the game show, which was launched over five consecutive nights and is sort of an expanded "To Tell the Truth," with players having to match each of a dozen people to clues that are provided – with more correct guesses meaning more money won. The top prize possible is $500,000.

RAM Notes

PARENTS NEEDED AT AFTER-PROM MEETINGS

The next After-Prom meeting for parents is March 7, at 7 p.m. in Lisa Bender's room. As many parents as possible are encouraged to attend.

JUNIOR CLASS RAFFLE

The junior class is raffling off one of the new video games, Wii. Tickets may be purchased from any member of the junior class. SHS logo clothing is still available for the class of 2008 and 2009 students and parents. Interested persons should contact Rhonda Tasker at 301-334-9447 to place an order.

TALENT SHOW TO FOR MARCH

Southern High School will host a talent show titled "Big Time" on Saturday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. on the school stage. The show features 16 high school acts, three judges, and two hosts. Families are also invited to the show. General admission is $5, with children 8 and under admitted free. Proceeds benefit the theatre program at Southern High.

GERMAN EXCHANGE FAMILY MEETING SLATED

There will be a meeting for all families involved in the SGHS/Germany Exchange on Wednesday, March 7, at 5 p.m. in Room 1236. Persons with questions may contact Mrs. Doyle at 301-334-9447.

SHS CELEBRATES ENTREPRENEURSHIP WEEK

In an effort to raise the nation's awareness about the impact of small businesses, Congress has established National Entrepreneurship Week, which takes place Feb. 24 through March 3. Academic institutions have been encouraged to celebrate contributions from entrepreneurs throughout our nation's history. The Southern High student body will view a student-produced documentary about the life and times of a local entrepreneur, A.D. Naylor, during mini-period as part of Entrepreneurship Week. This project was completed by marketing students in Lisa Bender's classroom during the 2005-06 school year.

PERFORMANCE SLATED FOR END OF MARCH

The School for Scandal by Richard Brinsley will be performed March 30 and 31 at 8 p.m. on the school stage. The plot of this restoration comedy centers on Lady Sneerwell, the town gossip, and her efforts to smudge the reputations of others. Admission is $5. This production is made possible through special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service Inc.

SGAA WINTER SPORTS ASSEMBLY

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association Winter Assembly will be held Monday, March 19, at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. All winter athletes and their parents are encouraged to attend.

PROM PREVIEW

Southern High School will host a Prom Preview featuring the gowns of Lennox East and the tuxedos of Marvin's Men's Wear and Burton's on March 24 at 7:30 p.m. Retailers from surrounding counties will be present to offer special coupons on prom services. A runway show of 50 high school students modeling scores of the latest prom gowns and tuxedos will be the focus of the event. Admission is $5, and proceeds help to fund the school musical.

UNDERCLASSMEN INVITED BY DELAWARE STATE UNIVERSITY

Delaware State University in Dover is offering a 20-day math and science enrichment program from July 8 to 28. Junior and sophomore girls who have completed biology and algebra II may apply. Applications must be received by March 19. Selected students will live on campus, and only 24 girls will be selected. This program is free, and participants will receive a small stipend for attending. Students may come to the Guidance Office for an application, or go to web site: http://gems.desu.edu.

THE RAMPAGE

Southern's creative arts magazine, The Rampage, will begin accepting submissions for the spring edition. Poetry, short stories, song lyrics, digital photography, artwork, and creative writing are acceptable to submit. For submission guidelines, persons may see Mrs. Henline in Room 1227.

YEARBOOK ORDER INFORMATION

Yearbook orders and payments are due by April 1. Payments may be made to Josten's or to Maria Zumpano, yearbook adviser. Any parent wishing to contact Josten's concerning his/her child's yearbook order should call 1-866-282-1516. A limited number of extra yearbooks will be available at time of distribution.

The yearbook staff needs photos of students and teachers in and out of school. Any student with photos for the yearbook are asked to upload them to the yearbook web site at: https://portal.jostens.com/login.asp with the login 1104175 and the password rams. Students may also save pictures to a CD and drop then off to Ms. Zumpano in Room 1250.

NEW RAM GEAR READY FOR PLAYOFFS

New Ram Gear will be available to help support athletes in the upcoming playoff games. The school store has new red Ram crewneck sweatshirts available for $23. If a new tee shirt is preferred, there are also white long-sleeve tees with a red Ram logo on sale for just $15.

BARTLETT ACADEMY NIGHT

U.S. Representative Roscoe Bartlett will be hosting an Academy Night on Tuesday, April 3, for students and their families to learn more about the academy nomination process and specifics about the five U.S. Service Academies. The event will be held in the Jack B. Kussmaul Theater at Frederick Community College, 7932 Opossumtown Pike, Frederick. Representative Bartlett will give brief opening remarks at 7 p.m., with the academy presentations to follow. A representative from the Air Force, Naval, Merchant Marine and Military, (West Point) Academy will be in attendance. A representative of the Coast Guard Academy will also be present, even though a Congressional nomination is not required for admission to that academy. The program will last for two hours, followed by an opportunity for those attending to ask specific questions and speak individually with the representatives. The program is open to all high school students interested in attending one of the five academies. Juniors especially should attend since the application process begins in the junior year of high school. Individuals wishing to attend or who have questions can contact Barb Calligan, acting academy coordinator, at 301-694-3030 or barb.calligan@mail.house.gov.

SHS RECOGNIZES STOCK MARKET WINNERS – Cathy Hughes, sophomore, and Aaron Garner, junior, finished in the top one percent of teams in the state while competing in the stock market academic competition. Of 1,638 teams that competed in Maryland, Cathy and Aaron's team finished in 17th place overall, and in first place in the Western Region competition, which included 163 teams from Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties. According to marketing teacher Lisa Bender, "If the game had ended one week earlier, Cathy and Aaron would have been in the top two teams in the state, but a 'bear market' during the last week of trading caused them to lose ground." Pictured above are Hughes and Garner seated, with PrimeVest consultant Rob Sharps, Bender, and principal Tom Woods standing behind.

SOUTHERN HIGH SCHOOL RECOGNIZES STUDENT – Chris Lynch was recently named the February Perkins Random Acts of Maturity Student of the Month for SHS. Lynch was nominated by teacher Melinda Lewis, guidance counselor Kelley Davis, and media specialist John Coffman for "the amazing turn around in maturity" shown by him this year. "Lynch has become a leader in practically every area of academics, socialization, and discipline," said principal Tom Woods. "He has become a model of what SGHS expects from its students. Congratulations to Chris on his leadership." Pictured above, left to right, are: Lewis, Davis, Lynch, Coffman, and Woods.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the mayor and town council will be next Tuesday, March 6, at 7 p.m. All scheduled meetings are open to the public.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Snow Emergency Parking Policy – Effective immediately, the town of Mountain Lake Park is implementing its prior policy (in effect during much of the 1970s and 1980s) of requiring residents and visitors who park within the town's rights of way (immediately adjacent to or on streets and alleys) to alternate parking from one side of the street to the other, as further explained below, during any "snow emergency" as declared by the Maryland State Police and/or the Maryland State Highway Administration. These policies are for the purpose of efficient and safe snow removal, and we request the cooperation of all who use our streets and alleys:

1. Residents and visitors are requested to not park vehicles on the town streets, roadways, or alleys during any declared snow emergency or significant snowfall. However, parking on town streets, alleys, and rights of way during any declared snow emergency is permitted if off-street parking is not available. Under these circumstances, vehicles must park on alternate sides of the street – on the even house-numbered side of the street on even-numbered days, and the odd house-numbered side of the street on odd-numbered days. (Note – There is no parking of any kind allowed on state and county roads within the town during snow emergencies. This includes Route 135, Route 560, Oakland Drive, Dennett Road, and Broadford Road.)

2. Do not place items on or adjacent to the streets as such items may interfere with or be damaged by plowing.

3. Do not allow children or others to build "snow forts" in snow piles which are in or adjacent to town streets and alleys, whether or not such piles are the result of plowing. Regionally and nationwide, this has resulted in injuries and fatalities, mostly among children, who have been crushed or buried during snowplowing activities.

4. Do not plow, shovel, blow, or remove snow from private property onto any public street, alley, crossing, or sidewalk (Nuisance Ordinance, Article 2, Section U.)

MDE Pre-Application for Funding of Sewer Rehabilitation Project (Phase III) – An application for grant funding in the amount of $850,000 for Phase III of the sewer project has been filed with MDE. Subject to funding availability, the design and engineering of Phase III will be completed during 2007, with the construction to be performed in 2008. This final phase of the project will replace approximately 11,400 lineal feet of line (and the associated appurtenances) and provide for the re-engineering and reconstruction of the Mary Drive pump station.

Town Council Meeting – The next regularly scheduled meeting of the mayor and town council will be held tonight, Thursday, March 1, at 6 p.m. in the meeting room at Mountain Lake Park Town Hall, located at 1007 Allegheny Drive.

LEGO LEAGUE TEAMS RECOGNIZED – Chuck Trautwein, along with a number of volunteer parents and teachers, led this year's LEGO teams through a successful season. One team will represent all of Maryland in the World Championships in Atlanta in April, with all other teams winning various awards. The Board of Education invited the teams to the February board meeting to be recognized. "We are all so proud of the efforts of our students, coaches, parents, school staff, and business and community support of our teams," stated superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets. Pictured above are all of the area LEGO teams, along with their coaches.

OAKLAND
by: Mayor Asa McCain

• The Oakland Town Election will be held on Monday, March 12, at Oakland Town Hall. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The last day to file for office is Friday, March 2, at 4 p.m. Three council members are to be elected. The incumbents seeking re-election are Frank Custer, Jay Moyer, and Willard Ringer. Terry Helbig, Jack Riley, and Aaron White have also filed.

• Three highway projects are well under way. They are as follows:

1. The Third Street Bridge over the CSX Railroad tracks. This project is finally ready to go to bid. It is scheduled to go to bid on Thursday, March 8, with a scheduled project completion date of Sept. 1, 2008.

2. The relocation of U.S. Route 219. This project is scheduled to be bid in the fall of 2008, with construction scheduled to be completed in 2010. The location was finalized in January 2000. The final public informational meeting was held on July 19, 2006.

3. The Route 219 Streetscape Safety Enhancement Project. This project will provide improvements to the current U.S. Route 219 through Oakland. The purpose of this project is to increase the public safety through Oakland and is scheduled for construction in 2012.

The Town of Oakland has formed a Streetscape Task Force Committee to identify improvements needed to enhance the experience of traveling to and through our town. Questions regarding these projects may be directed to Mayor McCain at Oakland City Hall, 301-334-2691.

• The town is currently taking reservations for pavilions at Broadford Park for the 2007 season. Interested persons may contact Oakland City Hall for information at 301-334-2691.

• The town is sponsoring "Community Awareness & Utility Day" at the Oakland Armory on Tuesday, April 3, from 4 to 8 p.m. Representatives from Verizon, Allegheny Power, Columbia Gas, and Cebridge Connections are scheduled to be on hand to discuss any utility concerns. In addition, representatives from Community Action will also be available.

• The town is still sponsoring Friday Recycling. Residents and businesses are reminded to place metal cans, newspapers, or cardboard out for pick-up by 7 a.m. on Friday mornings. The town encourages businesses to participate in recycling, particularly the recycling of corrugated cardboard. Bags for recycling are available for purchase at Oakland City Hall.

MARCH 5 MEETING AGENDA

The March town hall meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. at the town hall, with Kim Connaughton and others from the Garrett Charter School Initiative Inc. as guests at 7:30. The meeting will include utility bill adjustments with Les Bittinger, updates on the Memorial Drive project and codification, and the water leak in the industrial park.

TALENT SHOW TO FOR MARCH

Southern High School will host a talent show titled "Big Time" on Saturday, March 10, at 7:30 p.m. on the school stage. The show features 16 high school acts, three judges, and two hosts. Families are also invited to the show. General admission is $5, with children 8 and under admitted free. Proceeds benefit the theatre program at Southern High.

GERMAN EXCHANGE FAMILY MEETING SLATED

There will be a meeting for all families involved in the SGHS/Germany Exchange on Wednesday, March 7, at 5 p.m. in Room 1236. Persons with questions may contact Mrs. Doyle at 301-334-9447.

SHS CELEBRATES ENTREPRENEURSHIP WEEK

In an effort to raise the nation's awareness about the impact of small businesses, Congress has established National Entrepreneurship Week, which takes place Feb. 24 through March 3. Academic institutions have been encouraged to celebrate contributions from entrepreneurs throughout our nation's history. The Southern High student body will view a student-produced documentary about the life and times of a local entrepreneur, A.D. Naylor, during mini-period as part of Entrepreneurship Week. This project was completed by marketing students in Lisa Bender's classroom during the 2005-06 school year.

PERFORMANCE SLATED FOR END OF MARCH

The School for Scandal by Richard Brinsley will be performed March 30 and 31 at 8 p.m. on the school stage. The plot of this restoration comedy centers on Lady Sneerwell, the town gossip, and her efforts to smudge the reputations of others. Admission is $5. This production is made possible through special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service Inc.

SGAA WINTER SPORTS ASSEMBLY

The Southern Garrett Athletic Association Winter Assembly will be held Monday, March 19, at 7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. All winter athletes and their parents are encouraged to attend.

PROM PREVIEW

Southern High School will host a Prom Preview featuring the gowns of Lennox East and the tuxedos of Marvin's Men's Wear and Burton's on March 24 at 7:30 p.m. Retailers from surrounding counties will be present to offer special coupons on prom services. A runway show of 50 high school students modeling scores of the latest prom gowns and tuxedos will be the focus of the event. Admission is $5, and proceeds help to fund the school musical.

UNDERCLASSMEN INVITED BY DELAWARE STATE UNIVERSITY

Delaware State University in Dover is offering a 20-day math and science enrichment program from July 8 to 28. Junior and sophomore girls who have completed biology and algebra II may apply. Applications must be received by March 19. Selected students will live on campus, and only 24 girls will be selected. This program is free, and participants will receive a small stipend for attending. Students may come to the Guidance Office for an application, or go to web site: http://gems.desu.edu.

THE RAMPAGE

Southern's creative arts magazine, The Rampage, will begin accepting submissions for the spring edition. Poetry, short stories, song lyrics, digital photography, artwork, and creative writing are acceptable to submit. For submission guidelines, persons may see Mrs. Henline in Room 1227.

YEARBOOK ORDER INFORMATION

Yearbook orders and payments are due by April 1. Payments may be made to Josten's or to Maria Zumpano, yearbook adviser. Any parent wishing to contact Josten's concerning his/her child's yearbook order should call 1-866-282-1516. A limited number of extra yearbooks will be available at time of distribution.

The yearbook staff needs photos of students and teachers in and out of school. Any student with photos for the yearbook are asked to upload them to the yearbook web site at: https://portal.jostens.com/login.asp with the login 1104175 and the password rams. Students may also save pictures to a CD and drop then off to Ms. Zumpano in Room 1250.

NEW RAM GEAR READY FOR PLAYOFFS

New Ram Gear will be available to help support athletes in the upcoming playoff games. The school store has new red Ram crewneck sweatshirts available for $23. If a new tee shirt is preferred, there are also white long-sleeve tees with a red Ram logo on sale for just $15.

BARTLETT ACADEMY NIGHT

U.S. Representative Roscoe Bartlett will be hosting an Academy Night on Tuesday, April 3, for students and their families to learn more about the academy nomination process and specifics about the five U.S. Service Academies. The event will be held in the Jack B. Kussmaul Theater at Frederick Community College, 7932 Opossumtown Pike, Frederick. Representative Bartlett will give brief opening remarks at 7 p.m., with the academy presentations to follow. A representative from the Air Force, Naval, Merchant Marine and Military, (West Point) Academy will be in attendance. A representative of the Coast Guard Academy will also be present, even though a Congressional nomination is not required for admission to that academy. The program will last for two hours, followed by an opportunity for those attending to ask specific questions and speak individually with the representatives. The program is open to all high school students interested in attending one of the five academies. Juniors especially should attend since the application process begins in the junior year of high school. Individuals wishing to attend or who have questions can contact Barb Calligan, acting academy coordinator, at 301-694-3030 or barb.calligan@mail.house.gov.

SHS RECOGNIZES STOCK MARKET WINNERS – Cathy Hughes, sophomore, and Aaron Garner, junior, finished in the top one percent of teams in the state while competing in the stock market academic competition. Of 1,638 teams that competed in Maryland, Cathy and Aaron's team finished in 17th place overall, and in first place in the Western Region competition, which included 163 teams from Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties. According to marketing teacher Lisa Bender, "If the game had ended one week earlier, Cathy and Aaron would have been in the top two teams in the state, but a 'bear market' during the last week of trading caused them to lose ground." Pictured above are Hughes and Garner seated, with PrimeVest consultant Rob Sharps, Bender, and principal Tom Woods standing behind.

SOUTHERN HIGH SCHOOL RECOGNIZES STUDENT – Chris Lynch was recently named the February Perkins Random Acts of Maturity Student of the Month for SHS. Lynch was nominated by teacher Melinda Lewis, guidance counselor Kelley Davis, and media specialist John Coffman for "the amazing turn around in maturity" shown by him this year. "Lynch has become a leader in practically every area of academics, socialization, and discipline," said principal Tom Woods. "He has become a model of what SGHS expects from its students. Congratulations to Chris on his leadership." Pictured above, left to right, are: Lewis, Davis, Lynch, Coffman, and Woods.

The next regularly scheduled meeting of the mayor and town council will be next Tuesday, March 6, at 7 p.m. All scheduled meetings are open to the public.

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK

Snow Emergency Parking Policy – Effective immediately, the town of Mountain Lake Park is implementing its prior policy (in effect during much of the 1970s and 1980s) of requiring residents and visitors who park within the town's rights of way (immediately adjacent to or on streets and alleys) to alternate parking from one side of the street to the other, as further explained below, during any "snow emergency" as declared by the Maryland State Police and/or the Maryland State Highway Administration. These policies are for the purpose of efficient and safe snow removal, and we request the cooperation of all who use our streets and alleys:

1. Residents and visitors are requested to not park vehicles on the town streets, roadways, or alleys during any declared snow emergency or significant snowfall. However, parking on town streets, alleys, and rights of way during any declared snow emergency is permitted if off-street parking is not available. Under these circumstances, vehicles must park on alternate sides of the street – on the even house-numbered side of the street on even-numbered days, and the odd house-numbered side of the street on odd-numbered days. (Note – There is no parking of any kind allowed on state and county roads within the town during snow emergencies. This includes Route 135, Route 560, Oakland Drive, Dennett Road, and Broadford Road.)

2. Do not place items on or adjacent to the streets as such items may interfere with or be damaged by plowing.

3. Do not allow children or others to build "snow forts" in snow piles which are in or adjacent to town streets and alleys, whether or not such piles are the result of plowing. Regionally and nationwide, this has resulted in injuries and fatalities, mostly among children, who have been crushed or buried during snowplowing activities.

4. Do not plow, shovel, blow, or remove snow from private property onto any public street, alley, crossing, or sidewalk (Nuisance Ordinance, Article 2, Section U.)

MDE Pre-Application for Funding of Sewer Rehabilitation Project (Phase III) – An application for grant funding in the amount of $850,000 for Phase III of the sewer project has been filed with MDE. Subject to funding availability, the design and engineering of Phase III will be completed during 2007, with the construction to be performed in 2008. This final phase of the project will replace approximately 11,400 lineal feet of line (and the associated appurtenances) and provide for the re-engineering and reconstruction of the Mary Drive pump station.

Town Council Meeting – The next regularly scheduled meeting of the mayor and town council will be held tonight, Thursday, March 1, at 6 p.m. in the meeting room at Mountain Lake Park Town Hall, located at 1007 Allegheny Drive.

Looking Back
by Karen Wooddell

October 8, 1886 – "Superintendent Davis was instructed to get rocks and logs to repair the dam at the lake. It was agreed to pay Dr. VanMeter's bill for expenses of $21.50, Br. Baldwin's of $5.50, and stationery and advertising ex-penses to D. VanMeter of $6."

LEGO LEAGUE TEAMS RECOGNIZED – Chuck Trautwein, along with a number of volunteer parents and teachers, led this year's LEGO teams through a successful season. One team will represent all of Maryland in the World Championships in Atlanta in April, with all other teams winning various awards. The Board of Education invited the teams to the February board meeting to be recognized. "We are all so proud of the efforts of our students, coaches, parents, school staff, and business and community support of our teams," stated superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets. Pictured above are all of the area LEGO teams, along with their coaches.

OAKLAND
by: Mayor Asa McCain

• The Oakland Town Election will be held on Monday, March 12, at Oakland Town Hall. The polls will be open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The last day to file for office is Friday, March 2, at 4 p.m. Three council members are to be elected. The incumbents seeking re-election are Frank Custer, Jay Moyer, and Willard Ringer. Terry Helbig, Jack Riley, and Aaron White have also filed.

• Three highway projects are well under way. They are as follows:

1. The Third Street Bridge over the CSX Railroad tracks. This project is finally ready to go to bid. It is scheduled to go to bid on Thursday, March 8, with a scheduled project completion date of Sept. 1, 2008.

2. The relocation of U.S. Route 219. This project is scheduled to be bid in the fall of 2008, with construction scheduled to be completed in 2010. The location was finalized in January 2000. The final public informational meeting was held on July 19, 2006.

3. The Route 219 Streetscape Safety Enhancement Project. This project will provide improvements to the current U.S. Route 219 through Oakland. The purpose of this project is to increase the public safety through Oakland and is scheduled for construction in 2012.

The Town of Oakland has formed a Streetscape Task Force Committee to identify improvements needed to enhance the experience of traveling to and through our town. Questions regarding these projects may be directed to Mayor McCain at Oakland City Hall, 301-334-2691.

• The town is currently taking reservations for pavilions at Broadford Park for the 2007 season. Interested persons may contact Oakland City Hall for information at 301-334-2691.

• The town is sponsoring "Community Awareness & Utility Day" at the Oakland Armory on Tuesday, April 3, from 4 to 8 p.m. Representatives from Verizon, Allegheny Power, Columbia Gas, and Cebridge Connections are scheduled to be on hand to discuss any utility concerns. In addition, representatives from Community Action will also be available.

• The town is still sponsoring Friday Recycling. Residents and businesses are reminded to place metal cans, newspapers, or cardboard out for pick-up by 7 a.m. on Friday mornings. The town encourages businesses to participate in recycling, particularly the recycling of corrugated cardboard. Bags for recycling are available for purchase at Oakland City Hall.

MARCH 5 MEETING AGENDA

The March town hall meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. at the town hall, with Kim Connaughton and others from the Garrett Charter School Initiative Inc. as guests at 7:30. The meeting will include utility bill adjustments with Les Bittinger, updates on the Memorial Drive project and codification, and the water leak in the industrial park.

MARCH 2007

March Designated Spay, Neuter Awareness Month In Garrett Co.

This March marks the seventh year that the Garrett County Humane Society (GCHS) has sponsored Garrett County's Spay/Neuter Awareness Month. This event is a branch-off of the original Spay Day USA formed by the Doris Day Animal League in 1995. Now part of the Humane Society of the United States, Spay Day USA is the first and only day of action to promote the spaying and neutering of pets, according to the local humane society.

Veterinarians, animal shelters, business owners, and citizens join forces nationwide to provide spay/neuter services and to promote the procedures as an essential part of good pet health care, as well as an effective and humane way to decrease the euthanasia of homeless pets in shelters.

As in past years, discount certificates will be available to Garrett County citizens to help reduce the cost of having their dog or cat "altered."

A GCHS volunteer will be at the Garrett County Animal Shelter today, March 1, and tomorrow, March 2, to hand out a limited number of certificates from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on a first-come, first-served basis. If more vouchers are available, they will be handed out on Monday, March 5.

Recipients must be Garrett County residents, and they must pick up the certificates in person. The vouchers cannot be mailed.

For more information, persons may call the animal shelter at 301-334-3553.

Donations collected from area businesses and individuals are used to fund the certificates. Persons interested in contributing to this program may mail their donations to the GCHS, 1124 Mary Drive, Oakland, MD 21550.

The Garrett County Humane Society is a non-profit, volunteer organization that helps neglected, abused, and homeless animals in this county.

"Our main mission is to promote spaying and neutering to prevent the birth of more unwanted animals," said Lisa Baker, GCHS president. "Many people think we are the animal shelter, but we are not. The shelter is owned and operated by the county government, but we provide supportive services there and work together on programs such as Spay/Neuter Awareness Month."

Even with continued efforts by the Humane Society and PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare and Safety) last year more than 300 kittens were brought into the shelter, plus many puppies came in late fall, Baker noted.

"The fact that people don't take the time and money to have their pets altered causes many problems," she said.

One such situation existed at a local farm where up to 50 cats were living in a dairy barn (the above photo shows 10 of them). With that large a population, there was not enough food to go around, and many of the cats had upper respiratory problems. One cat had a tumor. Two felines had eye injuries, and many suffered from parasite infestation, according to Baker.

"The farmer was just renting the farm, so he said they were there when he arrived," she said. "Obviously overwhelmed by the thought of having to get them all spayed/neutered, he allowed the Humane Society to come in and help him to thin them out to a healthy population."

The kittens were collected and taken to the shelter to be adopted. But many of them had to be euthanized because of poor health. Many others were spayed or neutered, Baker noted.

"When a cat population gets too large for a barn/home to support it, many cats will then move on to another neighborhood or farm, making more problems for other people, since many of these cats have had no vaccinations," Baker said.

"When you consider that an unspayed cat can give birth to 18 kittens each year, and an unspayed dog can give birth to 20 puppies each year, it is clear that pet owners need to have their pets altered to prevent even more unwanted animals from flooding our shelter or being given away in parking lots, sporting events, and yard sales," she added. "Do the desperate owners even consider what kind of home or care the kitten will receive? It is not the best way to get rid of kittens or puppies. The responsible thing to do would be to have your pet spayed/neutered so that you don't have unwanted litters."

TOO MANY CATS TO COUNT? These 10 felines are just a portion of a large colony of about 50 that were recently found living in a local barn. Many of the them were in poor health and had to be euthanized. Others were taken to the Garrett County Animal Shelter for adoption. To help prevent situations like this, the Garrett County Humane Society is sponsoring Spay/Neuter Awareness Month. See story for details.

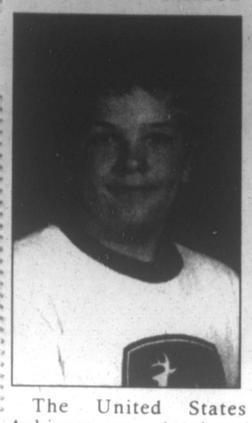
Named USAA Award Winner



The United States Achievement Academy (USAA) recently announced that Nathan Tichnell, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. He will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Nathan, a student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, leadership qualities, and citizenship.

Nathan is the son of Randy and Lori Tichnell.

Kidney Disease Conference Set At Allegany College

The Independent Dialysis Foundation and Allegany College of Maryland will host a conference on kidney disease featuring nationally known specialist Dr. John Sadler. The event will take place at Allegany College of Maryland on Thursday, March 29, at Allegany College of Maryland's Continuing Education Center.

Dr. Sadler currently is the chairman emeritus of and an associate professor of medicine in the Division of Nephrology at University of Maryland. A nephrologist, he is an honorary life member of the Renal Physicians Association, a recipient of the FDA Commissioner's Award, a fellow in the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh, and a winner of the Beneficiary Services Certificate of Merit.

He chaired the Maryland Commission on Kidney Disease from 1981 to 1990 and has served on numerous other health boards and panels for the Food and Drug Administration, the National Academy of Science, and the University of Maryland.

Sadler will provide a "renal refresher" at the morning session for health care professionals. Sheila Young, RN, BS, and director of clinical/transplant services for Mid-Atlantic Nephrology Services of Baltimore, will speak on anemia management.

Susan Scarpelli, RD, CST, LN, will discuss dietary management of kidney disease. There will be a modest fee for this session.

A free afternoon session from noon until 4 p.m. for patients and caregivers will feature local board certified nephrologist Dr. Joseph Kariyil, medical director for I.D.F.'s Allegany dialysis center. He serves on the staff of I.D.F.'s Lions Center dialysis center and the Western Maryland Health System. Dr. Kariyil is also board certified in internal medicine and is an associate professor at the George Washington School of Medicine. He was formerly the director of the dialysis unit of the Washington, D.C., Veterans Administration Center. He will be available to answer individual questions after the session.

Scarpelli will present information about eating healthfully with kidney disease, and Mary Ann Reinhard, a licensed clinical social worker, will speak about resources to pay for dialysis and other health care needs, as well as how to maintain a happy lifestyle.

The National Kidney Foundation of Maryland will be at the conference from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. to provide free kidney screenings. There is no charge for this session.

For more information or to register for the conference, persons may contact the Center for Continuing Education at Allegany College of Maryland at 301-784-5341. Four continuing education units are offered for registered dietitians, social workers, and nurses for the morning session.

State Parks To Host Maple Syrup Making Demo

A demonstration of the boiling of maple sap into maple syrup will take place at two local state parks over the next few weeks.

A demo will be held at Swallow Falls State Park on Saturday, March 10, from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. The Steyer Brothers, a local sugar camp operator, will be on hand to answer questions and to demonstrate the use of an evaporator in the syrup-making process. Maple products will be available for purchase during the demonstration.

Another demonstration will be held at Herrington Manor State Park on Sunday, March 11, from 8 a.m. until 2 p.m. In addition to the demonstration, there will be a pancake breakfast. Pancakes, buckwheat cakes, pure maple syrup, sausage, orange juice, and coffee will be served. Tickets are $3 for children under 12 and $6 for all others.

For more information, persons may contact the park at 301-334-9180.

Treatment For Seasonal Affective Disorder

Seasonal Affective Disorder (SAD) is a type of mild to moderate depression that often begins in North America in the fall and lasts until the spring. This condition tends to be more common in places farther away from the equator. Although this condition is not severe, persons with this condition may still experience significant impairment in their daily lives. Seasonal Affective Disorder is characterized by feelings of sluggishness, decreased motivation and decreased productivity occurring during the winter months. Persons with this condition may also feel that they are not able to get enough sleep and may gain weight during the winter months. The cause of SAD is not known; however, it is thought that the shortened amount of daylight may be related to a change in the levels of melatonin secreted by the body, as well as a change in natural serotonin activity. It is not known why certain persons are more likely to be affected by this condition than others.

The standard treatment for Seasonal Affective Disorder is therapeutic light. Antidepressants are also helpful in the treatment of SAD. Wellbutrin XL (bupropion hydrochloride extended-release tablets) received approval by the FDA in 2006 for the treatment of recurrent major depressive episodes with the SAD pattern.

Named USAA Award Winner

The United States Achievement Academy (USAA) recently announced that Cain Sturm, Oakland, has been named a U.S. National Award winner in science. He will appear in the USAA's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

Cain, a student at Southern Middle School, was nominated by William Janoske, a teacher at the school.

Fewer than 10 percent of all American middle school students are recognized for this honor, according to the USAA. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, leadership qualities, and citizenship.

Cain is the son of Lowell and Tonya Sturm.

March Schedule Of Bloodmobile Is Announced

The American Red Cross bloodmobile will make four visits to Garrett County during the month of March, the first of which will be this Friday, March 2, at the American Legion hall in Oakland. Donors will be welcomed there from noon to 6 p.m.

The next local visit will be at the Friendsville fire hall on Friday, March 16, from 1:30 to 6:30 p.m.

The American Legion in Oakland will again host a visit on Saturday, March 17, from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

The bloodmobile will be at Northern High School on Wednesday, March 21, collecting units of blood from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

The ARC announced this week that there is a shortage of blood in the region right now, primarily because bad weather conditions have reduced donor response to the visits. Those who are at least 17 years of age, weight at least 105 pounds, and are in generally good health are typically eligible to donate a unit of blood every eight weeks.

Persons desiring more information about the ARC blood services program may telephone the Western Potomac Chapter at 301-334-3810 (Oakland) or 301-722-1760 (Cumberland). Donors may also call 1-800-448-3543 to schedule an appointment for a particular visit.

Swanton Center To Serve Dinner

The Swanton Community Center will serve a buckwheat cake and sausage supper on Saturday, March 10, with serving to being at 4 p.m. The menu will also include pancakes.

The cost of the meal is $6 for adults and $3 for children. Proceeds are used to support the various community projects of the center.

ARMED SERVICES REVIEW

U.S. Army Pfc. Matthew P. Shaffer has deployed to the Iraqi theater of operations to support the mission of Operation Iraqi Freedom. The soldier is a member of the 1st Battalion, 28th Infantry, the "Black Lions," 4th Infantry Combat Brigade, 1st Infantry Division based at Fort Riley, Junction City, Kan.

The Black Lions, activated in 2006, are one of the Army's newest modular infantry brigade combat teams. In preparation toward the Black Lions' deployment to a combat environment, the battalion soldiers completed a demanding four-week collective training density at Fort Irwin, Calif.

Operation Iraqi Freedom is the official name given to military operations involving members of the U.S. armed forces and coalition forces participating in efforts to free and secure Iraq. Mission objectives focus on force protection, peacekeeping, stabilization, security, and counter-insurgency operations as the Iraqi transitional governing bodies assume full sovereign powers to govern the peoples of Iraq.

Pfc. Shaffer is a mortarman with one year of military service. The son of Randy and Sheila Shaffer of Oakland, he is a 2004 graduate of Southern High School.

SUBSTITUTE TRUSTEES' SALE
OF IMPROVED REAL PROPERTY
633 WATER ST.
FRIENDSVILLE, MD 21531

Under a power of sale contained in a certain Deed of Trust from Walter Augustine and Katrina Glotfelty, dated February 6, 2004, and recorded in Liber 1026, folio 309 among the Land Records of Garrett Co., MD, default having occurred under the terms thereof, the Sub. Trustees will sell at public auction at the Circuit Court for Garrett Co., at the Court House Door, Oakland, on March 5, 2007, at 10:00 a.m.

ALL THAT fee-simple LOT OF GROUND AND THE IMPROVEMENTS THEREON situated in Garrett Co., MD, and more fully described in the aforesaid Deed of Trust. The property is improved by a dwelling.

The property will be sold in an "as is" condition and subject to conditions, restrictions and agreements of record affecting the same, if any, and with no warranty of any kind.

Terms of Sale: A deposit of $8,000 by cash, or certified check. Balance of the purchase price to be paid in cash within 10 days of final ratification of the sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett Co. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE. If purchaser fails to settle within the aforesaid ten (10) days of the ratification, the purchaser agrees to pay the Sub. Trustees' attorney fees of $750.00, plus all costs incurred, if the Sub. Trustees have filed the appropriate motion with the Court to resell the property. Purchaser waives personal service of any paper filed with the Court in connection with such motion and any Show Cause Order issued by the Court and expressly agrees to accept service of any such paper or Order by certified mail and regular mail sent to the address provided by the purchaser and as recorded on the documents executed by the purchaser at the time of the sale. Service shall be deemed effective upon the purchaser 3 days after postmarked by the United States Post Office. It is expressly agreed by the purchaser that actual receipt of the certified mail is not required for service to be effective. If the purchaser fails to go to settlement the deposit shall be forfeited to the Sub. Trustees and all expenses of this sale (including attorney fees and full commission on the gross sales price of the sale) shall be charged against and paid from the forfeited deposit. In the event of resale the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to any surplus proceeds or profits resulting from any resale of the property regardless of any improvements made to the real property. Interest is to be paid on the unpaid purchase money at the rate of 11.75% per annum from the date of sale to the date the funds are received in the office of the Sub. Trustees. In the event that the settlement is delayed for ANY REASON WHATSOEVER, there shall be no abatement of interest. Taxes, ground rent, water rent, condominium fees and or HOA dues and all public charges/assessments payable on an annual basis including sanitary and metropolitan district charges, if applicable, to be adjusted to the current year and assumed thereafter by the purchaser. Purchaser shall be responsible for physical possession of the property. Purchaser assumes the risk of loss from the date of sale forward. The sale is subject to post sale audit by the Noteholder to determine whether the borrower entered into any repayment/forbearance agreement, reinstated or paid off prior to the sale. In any such event the Purchaser agrees that upon notification by the Sub. Trustees of such event the sale is null and void and of no legal effect and the deposit returned without interest. If the Sub. Trustees are unable to convey either insurable or good and marketable title, or the sale is not ratified for any reason by the Circuit Court including errors made by the Sub. Trustees, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be limited to a refund of the deposit without any interest. Purchaser agrees to pay $275.00 to the Seller's attorney at settlement for review of the settlement documents.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Northern Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full Resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Northern Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Highland Engineering & Surveying, Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Northern Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 7 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying north of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning for the same at a calculated point on a line of the corporate limits of the Town of Oakland and on the western limits of the US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits of US Route 219 North 32°00'47" East 1981.65 feet to a point, 588.57 feet along a curve to the left, said curve having a radius of 5699.58 feet and a long chord of North 29°03'17" East 588.31 feet to a point, North 26°05'47" East 1172.93 feet to a ½" capped rebar, set, hereinafter referred to as an IPS, thence four courses through lands of Glotfelty Farm Partnership (Liber 639, page 597) North 64° 23'52" West 492.43 feet to an IPS, North 25°36'08" East 225.00 feet to an IPS, North 64°23'52" West 505.70 feet to an IPS North 25°36'08" East 617.49 feet to an IPS on a line of lands of MD State of Game and Inland Fish Commission (Liber 197, page 436), thence with said lands North 56°23'26" East 543.07 feet to a 5/8" rebar found, hereinafter referred to as an IPF, thence two courses with lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 711, page 470) South 51°46'11" East 362.86 feet to an IPF, North 24°51'19" East 204.45 feet to an IPF, thence with other lands of Michael W. Trickett (Liber 555, page 371 and Liber 590, page 714) South 63°13'37" East, passing through an IPS on the western limits of said US Route 219 at 381.11, crossing said US Route 219 in all 441.11 feet to a point on the eastern limits of said US Route 219, thence three courses with said limits South 26°05'47" West 2598.62 feet to a point, 594.76 feet along a curve to the right, said curve having a radius of 5759.58 feet and a long chord South 29°03'17" West 594.50 feet to a point, South 32° 00'47" West 1885.84 feet to a point, thence with the aforementioned Corporate Limits. North 63°30'35" West 60.28 feet to the beginning, containing 33.795 acres, more or less, as shown on a Plat of Northern Annexation Surveyed for the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland dated December 2006 and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland in Plat Case DKM 2.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONING

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 5th day of February 2007.

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 5th day of February 2007.

ROBERT E. WATSON
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, which shall include a public hearing on the zoning of the property, on the 19th day of March 2007, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

By the Authority of
Mayor and Town Council of Oakland
By its Town Attorney, Robert E. Watson

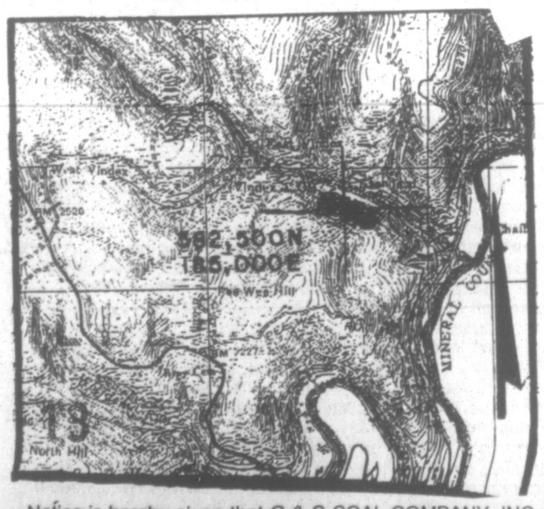
NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR STRIP MINE PERMIT



Notice is hereby given that G & S COAL COMPANY, INC. 21557 Maryland Highway, Bloomington, Maryland 21523 has submitted an application to the Maryland Bureau of Mines for a surface coal mine operations permit. The operation is to be located near Swanton, Maryland. The proposed operation occupies a 46 acre tract on the east side of Maryland Route 38, 2.0 miles north of Kitzmiller, Election District 13, Garrett County; 582,500 N / 185,000 E. Access to the site is from Pee Wee Road, 1.0 mile east of the intersection with Maryland Route 38.

Surface and mineral of the area to be mined is owned by Luke Paper Company, 300 Pratt Street, Luke, Maryland 21540. The permit area is located within the US Geologic Survey Kitzmiller, MD 7.5 minute quadrangle, the boundaries being as shown on the attached sketch.

The application includes plans to construct 2 ponds to control sediment and stormwater on the mining area. In addition to a surface coal mining permit the construction of the pond will require a separate small pond approval from the Bureau of Mines.

A copy of the application, which includes the pond plans for the small pond approval, is available for public review at the Maryland Department of the Environment (Bureau of Mines) Office, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532 during normal office hours. Questions concerning any aspect of the application may be directed to: Robert L. Dugan Jr., DUGAN ASSOCIATES, 301-689-1568 or the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Permit Section 301-689-6405. A public hearing will not be held on this activity unless requested. Written comments, requests for a public hearing, and requests to be included on the interested persons list regarding this application, will be received until April 1,2007 by the Director, Maryland Bureau of Mines, 160 South Water Street, Frostburg, Maryland 21532.
Attention: OPA-06-93

Future notices about this application will be provided by mail to those persons that submit comments, request a public hearing or request to be included on the list of interested persons.

175 Red Run Road, Oakland, MD 21550-7800

By virtue of the power and authority contained in a Deed of Trust from Louis Wesley Strosnider III to Angela Blythe, Trustees, bearing the date of October 19, 2004, and recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, in Liber 1073, folio 352, and at the request of the party secured thereby, default having occurred in the terms and conditions thereof, one of the Substitute Trustees having been substituted for the Trustees named in said Deed of Trust, will sell at public auction in front of the premises known as Red Run Lodge located at 175 Red Run Road, Oakland, Maryland, on March 9, 2007, at 11:00 a.m., all the property described in said Deed of Trust, the Loan Agreement dated October 19, 2004, the Security Agreements dated October 19, 2004, and the UCC Financing Statements, recorded among the aforesaid Land Records in Liber 1073, folio 587 and in Liber 0479, folio 2264 (collectively, the "Loan Documents").

The property, which includes all of the right, title and interest, if any, of Louis Wesley Strosnider III, or those claiming under the aforesaid grantor(s), in and to the land and all buildings and improvements thereon, and all fixtures, machinery, furniture, equipment, tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances and other property interests, and all personalty used in connection with the land of every kind and nature whatsoever, and owned by the aforesaid grantor(s) as may be located in, on or about the land on the date of the sale and that are subject to the Loan Documents (collectively, the "Property").

The real estate is identified as follows: Tax Parcel I.D. Nos. 18-034379. The real estate is improved by a commercial restaurant, bar, and bed and breakfast with eight bedrooms on the shores of Deep Creek Lake.

Terms of Sale

The Property will be sold in "AS IS, WHERE IS" condition, without recourse. Neither the Trustees, the noteholder secured by the Loan Documents, the Auctioneer, nor any of their respective agents, successors or assigns (collectively, the "Selling Parties") make any representations or warranties, express or implied, with respect to the Property, or any tenancies or parties in possession, including without limitation, the description, use, structural integrity, physical condition, construction, extent of construction, workmanship, materials, habitability, subdivision, zoning, environmental condition, compliance with building codes or other laws (such as Americans with Disabilities Act), ordinances or regulations, fitness for a particular purpose, or merchantability of all or any part of the Property. The purchaser waives and releases the Selling Parties from any and all claims the purchaser and/or the purchaser's successors and assigns may now have or may have in the future relating to the condition of the Property, including but not limited to the environmental condition thereof. The purchaser shall assume the risk of loss or damage to the Property after the time of the foreclosure sale. The property will be sold subject to any building or housing violations, easements, agreements, restrictions, terms, rights of way, covenants, conditions, rights of redemption, and all other encumbrances having priority over the Loan Documents, if any, affecting the property, whether or not of record, including but not limited to environmental conditions (including without limitation possible wetlands, riparian rights, critical or protected areas, and the presence of protected or endangered species) and all applicable federal, state and local laws, ordinances and regulations affecting the Property. The Property will not be sold subject to tenancies entered into subsequent to the recording of the Deed of Trust or otherwise subordinated to the Loan Documents unless set forth herein or announced at the time of sale. All interested bidders are encouraged to contact the appropriate governmental authorities prior to the sale date regarding the permitted uses of the Property.

A deposit will be required at the time of sale in the amount of One Hundred Thousand Dollars ($100,000.00), such deposit to be in certified check, or in such other form as the Trustees may determine, in their sole discretion. Whenever the purchaser is also the noteholder secured by the Loan Documents, payment of the required deposit and the purchase price is made by crediting the amount thereof to the indebtedness. The Trustees reserve the right, in their sole discretion, to reject any or all bids, withdraw the property from sale, waive the deposit requirement, in whole or in part, and extend the period of time in which the purchaser is to complete settlement. The balance in cash or immediately available funds, with interest at twelve per centum (12%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of settlement or the balance of the proceeds are received by the Trustees, whichever is later, payable within ten (10) days after final ratification of sale. There will be no abatement of interest due from the purchaser in the event additional funds are tendered before settlement or if settlement is delayed for any reason. The noteholder shall not be obligated to pay interest if it is the purchaser. TIME IS OF THE ESSENCE FOR THE PURCHASER.

Adjustment of current year real property taxes will be made as of the date of sale and thereafter be assumed by the purchaser. Title examination, conveyancing, state revenue stamps, state and county/city transfer taxes, all other taxes, public charges and special or regular assessments, water and sewer charges, including penalties, interest and tax sale redemption expenses, if any, ground rent arrears, if any, and all other costs incident to settlement are to be paid by the purchaser. Conveyance of the Property shall be by Trustees' Deed, without convenant or warranty, express or implied, unless otherwise required by statute, court rule or the Loan Documents. In the event the Trustees are unable for any reason to convey title, the purchaser's sole remedy at law or in equity shall be to request and receive a return of the deposit. Upon return of the deposit, this sale shall be void and of no effect and the purchaser shall have no further claim against the Selling Parties.

Compliance with terms of sale shall be made within ten (10) days after final ratification of sale at the office of the Trustees or the deposit shall be forfeited to the Trustees for application against all expenses, attorney's fees and the full commission on the sale price of the above-scheduled foreclosure sale. In the event of default, all expenses of this sale (including attorney's fees and the full commission on the gross sale price of this sale) shall be charged against and paid out of the forfeited deposit. The Trustees may then readvertise and resell the Property at the risk and cost of the defaultant purchaser; or, without reselling the Property, the Trustees may avail themselves of any legal or equitable remedies against the defaulting purchaser. In the event of a resale, the defaulting purchaser shall not be entitled to receive the surplus, if any, even if such surplus results from improvements to the property by said defaulting purchaser and the defaulting purchaser shall be liable to the Selling Parties for attorney's fees and expenses incurred in connection with all litigation involving the Property or the proceeds of the resale. This advertisement, as amended or supplemented by any oral announcements during the conduct of the sale, constitutes the entire terms upon which the property shall be offered for sale.

PUBLIC NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, on the 5th day of February 2007, introduced an Annexation Resolution, in accordance with the provisions of Article 23A, Section 19 of the Annotated Code of Maryland, for the annexation of the area known as the "Bernard Annexation," and providing that the area to be annexed shall be zoned as "Town Center" (TC), a zoning category defined by the Oakland Zoning Ordinance, a copy of which is available at Town Hall. The full resolution as introduced is as follows:

BEFORE THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND

"WHEREAS, pursuant to Section 19(b) of Article 23A of the Annotated Code of Maryland, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has initiated this Resolution to enlarge the corporate boundaries of the Town by annexation of land adjoining and contiguous to the existing corporate boundaries, being the area known as the Bernard Annexation Area, as is depicted in detail on a Plat dated December 2006, prepared by Mountain View Engineering & Surveying Inc., surveyor; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Town Council has caused to be made a verification of the fact that the said annexation has been consented to by not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the persons who reside in the area to be annexed, and who are registered as voters in county elections (there being no residents in the area to be annexed), and from the owners of not less than twenty-five percent (25%) of the assessed valuation of the real property located in the area to be annexed, as evidenced by the signatures of said persons on writings establishing their consent.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND, MARYLAND, THAT ALL THE LAND LYING WITHIN THE BOUNDARIES OF THE HEREINAFTER DESCRIBED PARCEL OR PARCELS SHALL BE ANNEXED TO AND BECOME PART OF THE MUNICIPAL CORPORATION KNOWN AS THE TOWN OF OAKLAND:

ALL THAT AREA KNOWN as Bernard Annexation Area, situate, lying and being in Election District No. 14 of Garrett County, Maryland, lying northwest of the existing boundary line of the municipality and adjacent to US Route 219, more particularly described as follows:

Beginning at a six-inch diameter concrete monument with a bronze disc stamped "TOWN OF OAKLAND, TOWN CORNER," found at the end of the twenty second line of the description of ROUTE 219 NORTH ANNEXATION (RESOULTION NO.: R99-02, AS CORRECTED IN RESOLUTION R99-09), filed and recorded June 17, 1999, by the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland, Maryland, in the northwesterly right-of-way limits of US Route 219 at the southeasterly corner of an easement for Parcel 82 granted in Liber 774 at folio 587; thence, two courses with said limits of US Route 219, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, South 50°08'22" West, 83.34 feet to a PK Nail (set) in payment; thence, South 48° 39'43" West, 555.11 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser (Liber 513 at folio 425); thence, with the northeasterly lines of Eric L. Tribbey and Margaret A. Kaiser and Thomas D. & Nancy F. Kight (Liber 282 at folio 155), North 53°11'20" West, 190.23 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set); thence, North 21° 47'04" East, 325.39 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (set) at the southeasterly corner of property of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC (Liber 1087 at folio 414 and Liber 1040 at folio 279); thence, with the southeasterly lines of Lakeside Commercial Properties, LLC, and the existing Oakland Corporate Limits as adopted in the aforesaid resolution, reversed, North 48° 49'52" East, 151.18 feet to a ½ inch rebar (found); thence, South 40°55'57" East, 85.77 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 44°44'14 East, 112.00 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence, North 54°23'37" East, 81.51 feet to a 5/8 inch rebar (found); thence South 51°20'00" East, 252.57 feet to the beginning, containing 4.03 acres, more or less.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that from and after the effective date of this resolution, all persons residing in the area to be annexed shall be and become citizens of the Town of Oakland, and shall be subject to the provisions of the charter of said town, and any amendments thereto, and that all real property so annexed and the personal property thereon shall be subject to the municipal property taxes to be levied by said town, and that all of the said property, real and personal, will be taxed as all other property within the Town of Oakland unless otherwise agreed upon, at the tax rate legally set by the Mayor and Town Council thereof.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland shall extend such services to the residents to be annexed hereby, as are extended to other residents of the Town of Oakland, where available. The extension of town services is more fully described and detailed on the Annexation Plan, prepared by the Mayor and Town Council pursuant to the requirements of Article 23A §19(o), said plan being currently available for review at the Oakland Town Hall; the Annexation Plan will also be available for review and discussion at a hearing on this resolution as provided for herein.

ZONED

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that, inasmuch as the area to be annexed is designated in the Garrett County Development Plan as "Suburban Residential" and that at this time there is no county-wide zoning, and no Zoning Ordinance adopted by the County Commissioners of Garrett County which affects the area to be annexed, and consequently no specific land use definitions therefore, and inasmuch as the Zoning Ordinance for the Town of Oakland contains a land use category designated as "Town Center," and inasmuch as other adjacent areas are zoned "Town Center," and include a number of businesses as well as residential uses, and inasmuch as the "Town Center" zoning category as defined by the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland allows residential uses such as the "Suburban Residential" use for which this property is designated on the County's Development Plan, the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland has determined that the annexed area shall be zoned "Town Center" (TC) under the provisions and requirements of the Zoning Ordinance of the Town of Oakland, as adopted on December 2, 2002, and as subsequently amended, and the said area shall be designated as such on the official Zoning Map for the Town of Oakland as the said category is most compatible with the character of both the area to be annexed and with the adjacent area.

NOTICE, HEARING AND ADOPTION

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that at the time the Mayor and Town Council conducts a public hearing on this Resolution of Annexation, it shall also, simultaneously, conduct a public hearing on the zoning of the property to be annexed as "Town Center," and the Mayor and Town Council shall give notice of the said Zoning Hearing in accordance with the requirements of the Oakland Zoning Ordinance and Article 66B of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that Notice of this Resolution shall be published in a newspaper with general circulation within the Town of Oakland and Garrett County, giving notice that the public hearing on this Resolution shall be held in the Council Room at the Oakland Town Hall on the 19th day of March 2007, which date shall not be less than fifteen (15) days after the fourth (4th) publication of said Notice as provided for herein.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this Resolution shall become effective on the forty-sixth (46th) day following its final enactment.

INTRODUCED this 5th day of February 2007.

APPROVED as to form and legal sufficiency this 6th day of February 2007.

ROBERT E. WATSON
Town Attorney

The Mayor and Town Council shall hold a public hearing on this Resolution, which shall include a public hearing on the zoning of the property, on the 19th day of March 2007, in the Oakland Town Hall located at 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland 21550, at 7:00 p.m.

By the Authority of
Mayor and Town Council of Oakland
By its Town Attorney, Robert E. Watson

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing on March 13, 2007, at 11:00 a.m. in the County Commissioners' Meeting Room, Courthouse Annex, Oakland, MD. The purpose of the meeting is to receive public comments on a proposal submitted by Jonathan P. Kessler representing Cascade Creek Property Management LLC to amend the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance to allow the extension of certain zoning standards when a property in single ownership is split by a zoning district boundary. The specific proposal is as follows:

Amend Section 301.B of the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance to read:

"Where a zoning district boundary line as shown on the zoning map divides a lot or property which is in single ownership, the uses permitted thereof and the other district requirements applying to the least restrictive portion of such lot shall be deemed to extend over the entire lot, or for a distance of 50 feet from the district boundary line into the more restrictive portion of the lot, whichever distance is less."

All interested parties are welcome to attend or submit written testimony.

Students Of The Month Named At Southern High

Southern High School recently announced the Students of the Month winners for January, as chosen by the school faculty. The students named are Katie Gindlesberger, English; Heather Wolf, math; Jennifer Teter, science; Brittney Scheffel, social studies; Tim Reams, C.T.E.-drafting; Natalie Rohrbaugh, Web design; Lacy Liller, choral music.

Katie, a freshman, is the daughter of Patricia and Robert Gindlesberger, Oakland. She is a member of the indoor track team and the United States Achievement Academy. She enjoys skiing and is involved in the Relay for Life. After graduating high school, she plans to go to college and decide what she would like to do from there.

Heather, a sophomore, is the daughter of Mark and Tracy Wolf, Oakland. She was Miss Cinderella Teen of Cumberland and is a member of the Crissettes Twirling and Dance Group. After graduation, she plans to attend Marshall University to be a diagnostic technician.

Jennifer, a sophomore, is the daughter of Robert and Donna Teter, Oakland. She is a member of the Southern High Chorus. She plays the piano and is a member of the Fairview Church of the Brethren Youth Group. She hopes to attend college and major in the medical and computer fields.

Brittney, a junior, is the daughter of George and Anita Scheffel, Oakland. She is a member of the girls' varsity soccer team, indoor soccer team, and tennis team, and is a past member of the girls' basketball team. She has won numerous awards for indoor track and won Minds in Motion. She has helped out with Southern Mat Club wrestling and helps out teachers when needed. She plans to go to college and decide what she would like to do.

Tim, a senior, is the son of Henry Reams and Gloria Woods, Oakland. He is a member of the varsity basketball team and has been playing for many years. He has won numerous basketball awards and was nominated for Who's Who. Outside school, he helps with the Dribblers' Club every Saturday morning. After graduation, he would like to attend Garrett College for two years and then continue to an undecided school to study architecture.

Natalie, a senior, is the daughter of Allen and Diane Rohrbaugh, Oakland. She is a peer counselor and a member of the National Honor Society. She also helped with the special education group in art as a junior. Outside school, she helps with the Brown Bag program and is a member of the Bethel United Methodist Church. She also works part time at the Wisp. She hopes to attend college, but is undecided about a major.

Lacy, a senior, is the daughter of Connie and Wayne Liller, Oakland. She is a member of the Southern cheerleading squad and works in her free time. She plans to attend college for massage therapy.

March Designated Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month

"Next to lung cancer, colorectal cancer claims the lives of more Maryland residents than any other form of cancer," said Dr. William Pope, deputy health officer for the Garrett County Health Department, who noted that the month of March is designated as Colorectal Cancer Awareness Month.

"In fact, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Maryland's death rate from colorectal cancer was 24th highest in the United States in 2003 (the most recent available data)," Pope said. "There-fore, it is important to remind the public that early screening is the most valuable form of protection against colorectal cancer."

Despite the benefits of early screening, Dr. Pope said that many people who should be screened for colorectal cancer never get the test(s) that can identify the cancer in its early and curable stages.

"The public should know that colorectal cancer rates can be reduced by early screening," he said.

One form of screening is colonoscopy, during which the physican can remove polyps, also called adenomas, before they turn into cancer in the large intestines.

The American Cancer Society recommends screening for people beginning at age 50. However, people with a personal or family history of colorectal cancer or adenomatous polyps, in-dividuals with history of inflammatory bowel disease (ulcerative colitis, Crohn's colitis), and women with cancer of the ovary or endometrium should start screening before they are 50 years old.

"Health care providers, particularly primary care providers, play an important role in reducing colorectal cancer," Dr. Pope said. "According to the Maryland Cancer Survey, of the people who reported that their providers recommended colorectal cancer screening, 86% of them got screened, and of those whose providers did not recommend screening, only 13% got screened."

For more information about colorectal cancer and the availability of colorectal cancer screening for qualifying individuals, persons may contact the Garrett County Health Department at 301-334-7770 or 301-895-3111.

PreKindergarten Registration Slated To Start In March

The Garrett County Board of Education will be accepting applications for its prekindergarten program beginning March 1 and ending May 1.

To be eligible for this program a child must have been born between Sept. 2, 2002, and Sept. 1, 2003.

Interested parents must complete and submit the Pre-kindergarten Program Questionnaire. These forms can be obtained from the nearest elementary school of from the Office of Pupil Services at the Board of Education office in Oakland.

The packet includes the Notification of Interest form, a parent letter, eligibility criteria, and a Prekindergarten Program Questionnaire. These forms will need to be completed and returned as soon as possible to the Office of Pupil Services.

For more information on the enrollment process, persons should contact Liz Lewis, administrative secretary, Office of Pupil Services, at 301-334-8939.

FIRST CROWS, NOW BEAVERS – The town of Oakland is battling Mother Nature again this week. After struggling all winter with too many crows, officials now are contending with the consequences of beavers. The industrious animals apparently gathered up mown grass last summer, mixed it with wood, and made a nearly impervious material that they used to clog up a discharge pipe in the flood control dam located along Memorial Drive. The blockage has caused Wilson Run to overflow its banks, as well as to spill across Fourth Street, as shown above in this photo taken Tuesday afternoon. The road has been blocked since Friday. A more dire effect of the blockage is the pressure in the flood pond behind Garrett Memorial Hospital, where the "danger gauge" (a colored pole) is submerged up to the red zone, prompting town, county, and state officials to move into flood preparation mode. However, town officials have stressed that the danger is very slight, and nearby residents have no reason to be alarmed. They are working today to pump some of the water out of the pond. See story. Photo by John McEwen.

Beavers Clog Dam Control Pipe, Wilson Run Floods; Officials Striving To Rectify

After dealing all winter with an influx of thousands of crows, the town of Oakland is now struggling with yet another problem caused by wildlife. Beavers have apparently clogged a discharge pipe in the flood control dam located near Memorial Drive, behind Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The animals stuffed the pipe with a mixture of wood and grass sometime last summer, according to Jay Moyer, town councilman.

The clog has caused Wilson Run to back up, flooding Fourth Street behind the Shaffer Ford company, and forcing officials to close that road. It has been blocked since Friday.

The standing floodwaters have prompted concern from county and state officials from agencies such as Soil Conservancy, Garrett County Emergency Management, Maryland Emergency Management Administration (MEMA), and many others. The danger of the dam failing has been at the top of the priority list of concerns, but Mayor Asa McCain and Moyer both asserted that the danger of that event is extremely

Crellin Man Charged With Sex Offense

A Crellin man was arrested by Garrett Bureau of Investigation detectives on Thursday, March 1, for a felony sex offense and assault of a minor.

Michael John Collins, 56, was arrested at his residence after GBI detectives conducted a search and seizure on a Dodge van owned by the suspect.

In early February, Collins allegedly gave a 17-year-old female a ride from Friendsville to Crellin, but along the way stopped in a parking lot in Oakland. While parked, Collins allegedly committed sex offenses on the juvenile against her will.

Collins is charged with third degree felony sex offense, fourth degree sex offense, and second degree assault. He is being held at the Garrett County Jail awaiting a bond hearing.

New Attire To Be Issued To GC Inmates

The Garrett County Detention Center is announcing a change in inmate attire. For several years inmates, including those who participate on road and community work crews, have been wearing jail issued orange attire.

The reason for the issued clothing is to assure public safety by making an inmate readily recognizable to the community. State highway workers, deer hunters, and other non-inmates also frequently wear the "Day-Glo" orange, which is very similar to jail issued clothing,

Bill Introduced To Legalize Outdoor Wood Burners

Delegate Wendell R. Beitzel (R, District 1A) recently introduced House Bill 811: Environment – Outdoor Wood Burning Furnaces – Requirements, a bill which seeks to regulate the use of outdoor wood burning furnaces in the state of Maryland.

"People can currently buy an outdoor wood burner in the state of Maryland, but it may not be legal to use them," Beitzel said. "This bill not only makes them legal to use in certain situations, but it also provides some regulations that minimize the negative adverse effects for the neighboring people living in the vicinity of those who use the stoves."

The bill mirrors legislation that has already been passed in the states of Vermont, Connecticut, and Wisconsin, he noted. The bill, as proposed, would require that the chimney stacks be taller than the roof line of the dwelling that it services. It also requires that the furnace be located at least 200 feet from an occupied dwelling that is not serviced by the furnace.

"We tried to make sure that the bill not only provided protection for the neighbors, but also protection for those who have bought or are thinking about purchasing a wood burning furnace," Beitzel said.

The bill has provisions that exempt individuals who have or would have

THE NEXT SPEAKER for the spring semester Colloquium series of the Adventuresports Institute of Garrett College will be Jeff Snyder of Accident, who has been featured in numerous publications, as well as national and international video/television segments on "extreme" boating. He is the inventor of a paddling technique referred to as "striding," or negotiating whitewater while standing in an inflatable kayak and employing the use of an extended, two-bladed (kayak) paddle. He and his brother Jim are known as the "fathers of squirt boating." Snyder is also the designer/maker of highly sought-after handcrafted wooden kayak helmets. His presentation will be next Tuesday, March 13, from 7 to 8 p.m. in Room 224 of the Continuing Education building at GC's campus in McHenry. A 6:30 reception for the speaker will precede the presentation. The programs are open to the public, free of charge.

Commissioners Voice Concerns About Bay Bill

The Garrett County commissioners expressed their concerns Tuesday about the Chesapeake Bay Green Fund bill in a letter to Sen. Joan Conway, chair of the Senate Education, Health, and Environmental Affairs Committee. Copies were sent to the Senate Budget and Taxation Committee, Senate President Thomas V. Mike Miller, and Gov. Martin O'Malley.

The proposed legislation (SB901/HB1220) would assess a 25-cent per square foot fee in priority funding areas (PFAs) and a $2 per square foot charge in places outside PFAs on all new construction projects involving impervious surfaces – such as homes, roads, parking lots, and driveways. Developers and individuals would have to pay the fee before their jurisdictions could issue them a grading or building permit.

If parking lots are made more porous and other certain measures are taken to lessen the environmental impact of projects, builders could have the fee reduced by up to 25 percent.

"While the county supports the creation of a fund to enhance and restore the water quality of the Chesapeake Bay, the proposed legislation unduly penalizes rural jurisdictions, and unintentionally places a disproportional share of the burden on less developed jurisdictions," the commissioners wrote to Conway, one of the bill sponsors.

The officials noted that less than 3 percent of Garrett County's land qualifies for PFA designation and that two thirds of the county lies outside the Chesapeake Bay Watershed.

"The remaining one third of the county's land area that is in the Chesapeake Bay Watershed consists primarily of permanentaly protected state forest lands," the commissioners added. "Less than 0.1 percent of this area within the watershed is impervious."

They also noted that the total impervious land area in the county is approximately 1.5 percent, according to the Garrett County

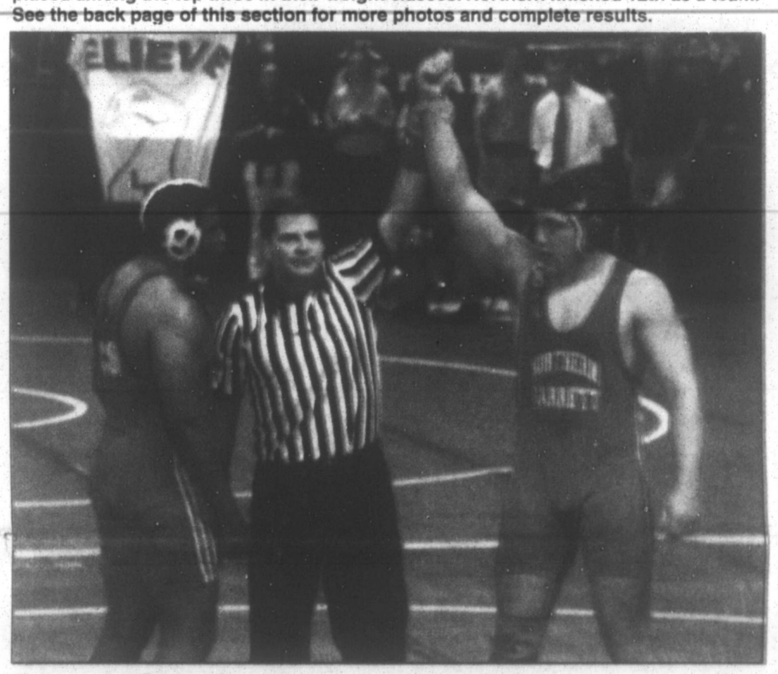
MAKING GARRETT COUNTY SPORTS HISTORY at the Maryland State 1A/2A High School Wrestling Championships at College Park this past weekend were two high school wrestlers – one from Southern High School and one from Northern High. Pictured above is Southern's George "Brutus" Scheffel, who won the state title in the 103-pound division, making him the first-ever wrestler from Garrett County to win a state championship as a freshman. Pictured below right is Northern's Brock Glotfelty, a senior, who won the title in the 215-pound division, not only by pinning all four of his opponents, but also not allowing a single point to be scored against him in the process. In fact, he did not allow a point to be scored against him in his final nine matches of the season. The Southern Rams also finished second among 66 teams in the state, as all five of the team's wrestlers placed among the top three in their weight classes. Northern finished 12th as a team. See the back page of this section for more photos and complete results.



Edwards Submits Bill To Help Local Family Doctors

Sen. George C. Edwards (R-Dist. 1) has introduced Senate Bill 651, legislation that would provide financial relief for Garrett County family practitioners who perform obstetrical/gynecological (ob/gyn) services.

Of the 23 counties in Maryland, Garrett County is the only one that does not have an official ob/gyn physician. As a result, four family practitioners have been providing the services to residents so that the estimated 300 babies born an-

Pa. Man Identified As Homicide Victim Found In Rural Area Of Garrett County

The Maryland State Police have named Vincent R. Spadaro, 51, of the 3700 block of Wood Street in West Mifflin, Pa., as the homicide victim whose body was discovered in a remote area of northern Garrett County on Saturday afternoon.

Forensic experts at the Office of the State Medical Examiner notified the Maryland State Police on Wednesday that a positive dental records match had been made.

Maryland State Police at the McHenry Barracks had received a 9-1-1 call at 4 p.m. on Saturday from the occupants of a passenger vehicle who discovered the unoccupied 2007 Saturn with Pennsylvania tags on a rural road in northern Garrett County. The Saturn was blocking passage on Guard Road in Friendsville, a snow-covered gravel road off Frazee Ridge Road. As they attempted to leave the area, the three men observed the victim's body lying in the snow in the woods approximately 30 feet from the roadway, the police said.

THERE IS SERENITY today following yesterday's winter storm which brought close to a foot of snow to the county, forcing the closing of schools, various offices, and some businesses, and creating some havoc on local roadways. The snow will likely begin to disappear soon, however, as the long-range forecast is calling for spring-like temperatures for the next 10 days or so. In fact, the mercury is expected to reach into the 60s by the middle of next week. This picturesque photo of the Ron and Rachael Miller farm in Pleasant Valley was captured by a neighbor, Susie Hinton.

Chamber Of Commerce Opposed To Green Fund Bill In Its Present Form

The executive committee of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously on Tuesday to oppose the Chesapeake Bay Foundation-authored "Green Fund" bill in its present form.

House Bill 1220/Senate Bill 901 disproportionately burdens rural areas with the cost to clean up the Chesapeake Bay, according to local authorities.

"This bill targets driveways, new buildings, roads, and parking lots. This alone harms the more rural parts of the state that are just beginning to develop," said Charlie Ross. president and CEO of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce. "Although cleaning the bay is a noble goal, the chamber board members do not feel the heaviest burden should be placed on the backs of rural Maryland."

Also Smart Growth areas or those areas within a priority funding area (PFA) will pay 25 cents per square foot of impervious surface, while those outside the Smart Growth areas will pay $2. Garrett County and other rural areas have low percentages of PFAs. Only 3 percent of Garrett County land area is classified as PFAs.

"That says that since the more developed areas of the state have already paved everywhere, causing damage to the bay, those areas do not have to pay as much as most rural areas to clean up the mess they have created," explained Ross. "The burden is being passed off to rural areas that may be developing land in ways that do not harm the bay the way past development 'down east' did."

A major effect of the bill will be to increase home costs. Builders will pass along the extra fee to the home buyer. It is estimated that a home on a quarter acre lot could be charged $750 in an urban area, but as much as $6,000 outside the PFAs or Smart Growth areas. This action may keep more low and middle income families from realizing their dream of owning their own home. It is believed that all rural affordable housing efforts would cease under the bill's impact.

"This bill will have even more of an impact on Garrett County and other rural areas than the controversial Flush Tax," said Ross, who also is chairman of the Rural Maryland Council, whose members represent the 18 rural counties of the state on rural development policies. He also is chair of the Regional Response to Optimal Growth Work Group of the Greater Cumberland Committee.

The board members, Ross added, also dislike the fact that the bill makes it the responsibility of local governments to collect and report the fees associated with the fund, instead of the state.

Garrett County has voluntarily participated in efforts in the past to clean up the Chesapeake Bay, but residents are beginning to resent the requirements being placed on the county where much of its water does not go into the bay. A bill to authorize a panoramic license plate for Mountain Maryland with proceeds of its sale to go to the agriculture and bay funds equally was killed earlier this session in the committee chaired by the chief sponsor of the Green Fund bill. "We have proposed this license plate to brand market our region, to show our pride and to benefit the state at absolutely no cost to taxpayers — for the benefit of the bay and farmers," Ross said. "Yet our proposal — positive and beneficial and no burden — was ignored."

Ross recommends citizens inform their representatives of their personal opinions concerning this new tax and its impact on rural areas.

Bill Meagher, chair of the Chamber's Civic Involvement Committee, said Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wendell Beitzel are already against this legislation. He recommends calling or e-mailing Baltimore City Delegate Maggie McIntosh, chair of the Environmental Matters Committee, at Maggie.mcintosh-@house.state.md.us.

Anyone wanting contact information for other members of that committee may contact the Chamber of Commerce at 301-387-4386.

Icy Conditions On Glendale Rd. Cause Accident

A Pennsylvania man lost control of his car on an ice-covered road, then struck a second car, causing it to hit a tree on Sunday, March 4, at approximately 5 p.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

Jimmie Rach, 32, and his passenger Brian Rach, 35, of Bethel Park, Pa., were traveling west on Glendale Road when his 2000 Ford Explorer started to slide on the icy roadway, before crossing the centerline and striking a 2003 Ford driven by April Fleming, 30, Swanton. The collision caused Fleming's car to crash into a tree.

One of the victims was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital, and another was transported to Cumberland Memorial Hospital. No injuries were reported and no charges were filed.

BPW Funds POS, Broad Ford School To Receive Money

Gov. Martin O'Malley recently announced the Board of Public Works (BPW) approval of $1.2 million in Program Open Space (POS) funds, of which nearly $90,000 has been allocated for Garrett County's Broad Ford Elementary School.

The $89,925 that the school will receive will be used to purchase new equipment for its playground.

Program Open Space is funded by the state and is allocated to counties each year, with the monies appropriated by the fiscal authorities. The funds are to be used to renovate existing Open Space facilities or to buy new property for Open Space use. All of the projects except land acquisition require 10 percent local match.

Since 1969, Program Open Space has provided funding for acquisition of nearly 292,000 acres for Open Space and recreation areas. Most Maryland residents live within 15 minutes of an Open Space or recreational area funded by this program.

Presentation On Local Scholarship Program Slated

by Jo Donaldson

Garrett County students and their parents can learn more about the Commissioners' Scholarship Program on Tuesday, March 13, in the Garrett College Art Gallery from 5 to 7 p.m.

"This program will update the status of the Commissioners' Scholarship Program for both new applicants and current recipients," said Alan D. Batchelor, director of financial aid for Garrett College. "More than 130 students were eligible for the commissioners' scholarship last year. Approximately 50 of those were students dual enrolled."

Last year the Garrett County commissioners approved a scholarship program that would make attendance at Garrett College tuition free for the county's graduating high school seniors from either the public, private, or home school sector. The program began with the fall 2006 semester.

The increased education will result in a more skilled workforce in the county and better opportunities.

"We are gearing up for the second year of the program," said Batchelor. "This is an excellent opportunity for local students to attend Garrett College tuition free and either receive an associate's degree or prepare to transfer to a four-year institution to receive their bachelor's degree."

This scholarship initiative will provide more opportunity for county students to pursue higher education and improve their future potential. Attending a community college cuts the cost of secondary education considerably, allows time for students to decide which career path is right for them, and lowers student loan bills.

Because high school programs offered jointly between the Garrett County Board of Education and Garrett College are included in the scholarship program, a significant percentage of high school graduates are expected to enter college with college credits, reducing the time to earn a degree.

Garrett College had a tremendous impact on the county after it was started 35 years ago, with many of its former students active in county businesses, education, and government. Garrett College administers the program, with oversight by the county's Department of Economic Development.

Anyone with questions about the program can contact the Garrett College Office of Financial Aid at 301-387-3057.

ARC Awards Grant To Tri-County Council

The Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) has awarded the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland $10,000 for the Allegany Garrett County Community Foundation (AGCF) project, Senators Barbara A. Mikulski and Benjamin L. Cardin announced Tuesday.

In addition to ARC funds, local sources will provide $10,000, bringing the total project funding to $20,000, according to the senators.

This funding will support technical assistance – such as web site development and materials to increase public awareness – in the development of the foundation.

The AGCF is a joint community foundation that Allegany and Garrett County stakeholders have come together to develop. The Tri-County Council will administer the project, which is expected to bolster awareness for this civic entrepreneurship initiative by increasing donations and benefits to the community. Washington County is also part of the council.

The grant is expected to help the AGCF increase its donor base by $250,000. In the short term, this will make $12,500 available for community reinvestment, the senators noted. In the long term, the AGCF will provide a venue for residents to contribute donations that can be used to address critical community issues.

"This funding is a federal investment in western Maryland communities today and tomorrow," said Mikulski. "I'm so proud that Garrett and Allegany counties will be able to use these funds to foster growth and development in the region. I will continue to fight to keep western Maryland a priority in the federal checkbook."

The ARC is a federal-state partnership that works with the people of Appalachia to create opportunities for self-sustaining economic development and improved quality of life.

"This federal grant is a tribute to the tremendous efforts of the Tri-County Council of Western Maryland to improve economic conditions for the citizens of Allegany and Garrett counties," said Cardin. "This grant will enhance communications, which will help the community meet future regional development needs."

Three Charged After Monthlong Investigation

Garrett County sheriff Gary Berkebile, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, announced the arrests of three individuals for drug charges.

After a monthlong investigation, investigators with the task force obtained arrest warrants for Stephanie Hutzel, 21, Boynton, Pa., Amy Jerin, 20, Salisbury, Pa., and David Ohler, 21, Grantsville.

On February 28, members of the task force located suspects Hutzel and Jerin in the Grantsville area, and they were taken into custody on the strength of the arrest warrants. During the arrests, Hutzel was found to be in possession of morphine pills.

A 2006 Suzuki passenger vehicle was also seized during the arrest, which was used during the drug transactions. Both suspects were incarcerated at the Garrett County Detention Center, with Hutzel on a $5,000 bond and Jerin on a $6,000 bond.

On March 1, suspect David Ohler was arrested by Warren County Sheriff's Department, Virginia, on the strength on the arrest warrant obtained by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force. He was incarcerated at the Warren County Detention Center pending extradition back to Garrett County.

Hutzel is criminally charged with two counts of distribution of heroin, one count of distribution of suboxone, four counts of conspiracy to distribute heroin and suboxone, possession of heroin and suboxone, and maintaining a common nuisance.

Jerin is criminally charged with one count distribution of heroin, one count of distribution of suboxone, two counts of conspiracy to distribute heroin and suboxone, and possession of heroin and suboxone.

Ohler is criminally charged with one count of distribution of heroin, two counts of conspiracy to distribute heroin and suboxone, and possession of heroin and suboxone.

During this investigation, assistance was received from members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Maryland State Police, McHenry Barrack.

Oakland Police Make Separate DUI Arrests

The Oakland Police Department made two separate arrests this weekend.

Early Saturday morning, police stopped Brandon Allan Dewitt, 20, Swanton, on Rt. 219, Oakland, for an equipment violation. After further investigation, police administered field sobriety tests, which Dewitt did not perform to satisfaction.

Dewitt was charged with driving under the influence, DUI per se, driving while intoxicated, and violating a license restriction. He was later released.

In an unrelated incident, Oakland Police were called to 4 S. 5th Street early Sunday morning for a report of a vehicle that had driven into the yard of the residence. When police arrived, they found the driver asleep behind the wheel of the vehicle.

Ryan Heath Orgl, 35, Vienna, W.Va., was arrested and charged with DUI, DWI, and displaying an expired registration. He was taken to the Garrett County Detention Center to await a bond hearing.

Garrett County Municipalities Inc. "Opens World Of Possibilities" For Local Towns

by Don Sincell

"A community of communities" is how Mtn. Lake Park mayor Leo Martin describes an innovative and relatively new organization called Garrett County Municipalities Inc. (GCM), an organization that is drawing attention not only from many parts of Maryland, but also from beyond the state's borders.

The members of the GCM board of directors are primarily the mayors of Garrett County's eight municipalities, plus a few others, and the purpose of its founding is based upon the simple concept that there is strength in numbers.

It was in 2004 that Duane Yoder, president of Garrett County Community Action Committee Inc., created an initiative called the Municipal Assistance Program (MAP), designed to provide a monthly forum for the eight mayors to discuss a wide range of issues of common interest to their towns, and to continue to seek funds for various projects that were of benefit to some or all of the municipalities. Through this effort, the towns were able to secure Community Legacy monies each year since 2004.

At about the same time that MAP was formed, the town of Mtn. Lake Park was in the process of amending its existing ordinances, changing violations of those ordinances from misdemeanors to municipal infractions. The town then decided to hire its own code enforcement officer on a part-time basis in September 2004.

Soon afterward, MAP secured grants funds to enable Mtn. Lake Park's code officer to go to full time, and also to cover not just Mtn. Lake Park, but all eight of the towns, which have also recently amended their own ordinances to facilitate code enforcement.

This single cooperative effort led to the mayors deciding to change the informal MAP group into an incorporated, tax-exempt entity, and on May 2 of last year, the Articles of Incorporation of Garrett County Municipalities Inc. were filed with the Maryland Department of Assessments and Taxation. Federal and state approval of its tax-exempt status was received just this month.

Mayor Martin, who was elected the first president of GCM, further explained the benefit of the new organization.

"While we were still operating under the MAP program, it became apparent that there were a multitude of benefits to be gained by creating a formal, unifying organization," he said. "MAP did not really have any formal structure or legal identity. We realized that the creation of a new, formal corporation would be a serious, positive commitment to all of our towns."

Martin explained that MAP "opens up a whole new world of possibilities" for the towns, providing a variety of opportunities that are not available, and often times not affordable, for an individual town.

"We've been discussing the possibility of a shared municipal police force, and in-house refuse collection and recycling," he said, "things that are needed, but difficult or impossible for a small, individual municipality to justify or be able to fund."

The mayors recently submitted a list of needed equipment, from which a master list was created and priorities identified. The top-rated items in terms of need were a towable wood chipper, a paving/patching machine, a towable articulating boom lift, a tractor with a side-mount boom mower, and a walk-behind asphalt saw. The first item on that list – a 15-inch towable wood chipper – has now been purchased and will be shared by the towns.

Another joint effort of GCM that has just recently come to fruition is securing funding to hire an agency that will guide the updating of the municipalities' individual comprehensive plans. Bids have already been secured, and that contract will be awarded imminently.

Securing funding for equipment via state and federal grants is generally easier when all eight towns make application as one formal entity, Martin explained.

Further, having an incorporated, non-profit organization provides opportunities for private sector charitable giving revenues, in addition to government grants and loans.

As logical as it seems for municipalities in a county to unite in this way, the practice of actually doing so is apparently quite rare, so GCM is drawing a lot of attention from around the state of Maryland, as well as neighboring states, such as West Virginia.

"Many agencies and organizations have shown interest in and have been supportive of our efforts," Martin said, including the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Maryland Municipal League, the Maryland Code Enforcement and Zoning Officials Association, and the University of Maryland's Institute for Governmental Service.

Jim Waters, business and community program director for the USDA's Rural Development Program for the states of Maryland and Delaware, is enthusiastic about GCM.

"I think our agency will get a lot of bang for its buck helping these small towns to acquire shared public works equipment," Waters said. "It helps to optimize our investment because equipment will be in circulation more and parked less."

Tom Reynolds, manager of research and information for the Maryland Municipal League, said that the formation of GCM makes Garrett County a leader in the state when it comes to this kind of cooperation and collaboration among municipalities.

"We here at MML are advocates for this kind of collaborative approach, and have conducted workshops on how to begin the process," Reynolds said. "But Garrett County has been very ambitious, put together a well coordinated plan, and has been successful in getting everyone – not just a few – to buy into the idea. And already it's really beginning to pay off.

"The average population of municipalities throughout Maryland is only about 1,500, which places a serious limit on what they can do in terms of providing services," he continued. "So it only makes sense to try to work together."

Reynolds said that one of the earliest examples of this kind of effort took place several years ago in Prince George's County, where four municipalities pooled their funds to purchase one street sweeper.

"None of the towns could individually afford the machine, and each one only needed it for limited number of days each year," he said, "so the combined effort yielded the purchase of a machine, and that machine was used more than just a few days each year."

He said that coordination and regular communication are crucial to making organizations like GCM successful, again using the PG County effort as an example.

"After the street sweeper was purchased, one of the towns expressed a complaint that it was not getting its fair share of the use of it," he said. "But they talked about it and worked it out."

Other members of the GCM board of directors besides Mayor Martin are: Kitzmiller mayor James Browning, Grantsville mayor Paul Edwards, Accident mayor Richard Carlson, Friendsville mayor Spencer Schlosnagle, Oakland mayor Asa McCain, Loch Lynn Heights mayor Larry Friend, Deer Park mayor Donald Dawson, GCCAC president Duane Yoder, Garrett County Chamber of Commerce president Charlie Ross, and Loch Lynn council vice president Carolyn Corley.

Mayor Martin concluded that there is a benefit of GCM that goes beyond the saving of money for each of the member towns.

"The main rationale for GCM is the provision of quality services to our communities and cost savings for our towns and their residents, but frankly, for me one of the most gratifying rewards has been the extraordinarily high levels of cooperation between the towns," he said.

"ALL FOR ONE, AND ONE FOR ALL" is the philosophy behind the formation of a new non-profit organization called Garrett County Municipalities Inc., the board of which consists mostly of the mayors of the county's eight municipalities. Its purpose is to allow for collaboration and cooperation among the towns, yielding shared programs and equipment that will ultimately bring new, needed services to each town in an affordable way. GCM is now considered a model program by many agencies throughout the state and beyond. Pictured from left above are: Oakland mayor Asa McCain, Deer Park mayor Donald Dawson, Grantsville town council member Joe McRobie (representing Grantsville mayor Paul Edwards), Friendsville mayor Spenser Schlosnagle, Loch Lynn Heights mayor Larry Friend, Mtn. Bad, Bad Ideas...

There are at least two pieces of legislation that Garrett County residents – all Maryland residents, for that matter – should vehemently oppose by sending letters and e-mails, and making telephone calls to Delegate Wendell Beitzel and Senator George Edwards. Fortunately, both of them are already working to stop passage of them.

One bill would allow developers of wind-power turbines to no longer require the approval of the Public Service Commission before proceeding with their installation. It would also eliminate environmental reviews which look at the potential impact on wildlife, endangered species, and forest fragmentation, which are currently part of the approval pro cess used by the PSC. Obviously this is an attempt to totally circumvent those who have been protesting erection of the turbines in Garrett County.

If this bill passes, not only will the proposed 17 wind turbines go up on Garrett County's Appalachian mountain ridge, but there would be almost no stopping the erection of scores more of these monsters. The turbine floodgate will be opened, and local residents who must live under them and have to look at them every time they step outside would be virtually helpless in attempts to close that gate.

Another bill that would result in a financial travesty for homeowners and business owners is one that would establish what is being called the "Green Fund," the use of which would be to clean up the Chesapeake Bay. If passed, this bill would assess an impact tax on "impervious surfaces," or surfaces such as roads, parking lots, and driveways that prevent rain water from soaking into the ground. It would be assessed on a per-square-foot basis and – get this – at a rate of $2 per square foot for 97% of Garrett County, and at a rate of 25 cents per square foot for urban property!

Remember, too, that two-thirds of Garrett County's runoff water does not even go into the Chesapeake Bay, which is why so many local folks are still angry about the now infamous "flush tax." There is no question that the health of the bay is crucial to the entire state, including Garrett County. The flush tax, relatively speaking, does not seem all that excessive. But this proposed Green Fund tax would mean a couple thousand dollars' expense to a new homeowner, and could be in the hundreds of thousands for businesses. Talk about a deterrent to attracting new businesses to Garrett County!

More details of this particular bill can be found in a story on the front page, and don't need to be entirely rehashed here. But once again, it is important that residents take the time, make the effort, to loudly oppose these two pieces of - - - -... legislation. They are bad, bad ideas.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Garrett Countians for Smart Growth are meeting this evening to discuss alternatives to the proposed Oakland bypass. The meeting is set for 7 p.m. in the Community Building located between Garrett Hospital and Garrett Medical Group.

This proposed bypass impacts residents, businesses, and towns along Rt. 219 from I-68 to Oakland, and is just not an Oakland issue. It also negatively impacts Mtn. Lake Park.

There was a report in last week's Republican that the proposed bypass would be completed in 2010. In fact, the construction of the road is not slated to begin until 2010, and this project can still be stopped.

There will be an extremely important meeting on Thursday, April 12, with the Garrett County commissioners and the State Highway Administration at 10 a.m. at the commissioners' office. The purpose of the meeting is for them to receive public input on the bypass proposal. The public is encouraged to attend tonight's meeting, and especially the meeting on April 12.

Sincerely,
Von W. Johnson

For numerous years, I've been dealing with misconceptions. False accusations have exceeded past controversy into private homes. I've gradually seen how damaging this world's become. I've watched my precious life slip away into distorted minds ready to banish me. People are too easy and fast to judge. Rumors are the be-all, end-all with their crushing fate. My web site is new, improved, and waiting to be seen. This is a "tell-all" journal about private affairs. If curiosity kills then may this help you relax. If you're into juicy gossip then this will pacify. Pass this on to society! There are mountains and molehills. Straight down the middle lies the "in between." The confusion is astonishing. A grudge is a crutch in this world of political debate. This site is my method to end all disorder.

For further interest, enter Google on the Internet and type in "namromur." The lessons learned are to remain calm, silence is a virtue, and God's forever watching us! Remember, all men are created equal to their fair share of life's mistakes. Get the message straight! Read on and enjoy.

To the Editor:

The legislators in Annapolis have again come up with a new concept. Tax all new areas covered by a new building and parking area at the rate of $2 per square foot!

This means if you build a small 1,000-square-foot house and cover a driveway and parking area with another 1,000 square feet, you will pay (in addition to all other taxes and inspections) $4,000.

My neighbors and friends, the only way you can stop this insanity is to contact every legislator you can.

This will, again, raise the cost of those youngsters trying to build a house. Help!

Between our local wasteful spending and the wasteful spending in Washington, and the giveaway by our officials in Washington, our once great country will soon be subject to foreign dictators. Our substance in this country is being eaten out. Those in Washington seek only to get elected, and get pensions, and in the process they are selling us down the river to slavery. There are very few in Washington who have allegiance to America, starting with the chief dictator.

Note too, these "officials" are eliminating our ability to reach them by e-mail (in Washington). They don't want to hear from you.

To the Editor:

Just when you think you've heard everything about the way state government can tax us, they come up with a new scheme!

There is now a bill working its way through legislative committees that would levy a $2 per square foot fee on all new building permits based on all surfaces that shed water. That means not just your roof area, but driveways, parking areas, and, the way I read it, porches, decks, sidewalks, and probably more.

Any area of Maryland that is not in a so-called "smart growth" zone would be subjected to this new tax. This money will then be thrown into a new black hole called the Chesapeake Bay Green Fund.

The year before last it was the "flush tax." No real public uprising happened, so they're back again!

I urge everyone to contact your state representatives immediately and let your voice be heard. There are also toll-free numbers in the phone book for the governor's office and both legislative branches.

I predict that if this bill becomes law they'll be after existing property next. My question is, how much will the taxpayers of Maryland put up with before they stand up and say: "No More!"?

To the Editor:

Winter in Garrett Co. can be very challenging, but it also brings us angels. That was our experience en route to the hospital one blizzardy morning. A combination of bad road conditions and a passing semi caused us to careen totally out of control. We had barely come to a stop, hugging an embankment, when two guys pulled over to offer their assistance and cell phones, unfalteringly braving the cold for our sakes. Another truck with flashing lights alerted traffic, and called the police.

You all were wonderful, and have our heartfelt gratitude and thanks. To Trooper Moore, who stopped on your way to work to see if we were okay, you deserve a gold medal! For a trooper to provide transportation so a mother and daughter could meet a surgery appointment was incredible. And then to go the second mile and carry everything that was needed all the way up to surgery, and make sure we were taken care of. You are a man of the finest caliber, and we'll never forget what you did for us in our time of need. Thank you for being a heaven-sent answer to prayer. May the Lord bless ya'll real good for reaching out.

To Papa God, thank you for the miracles and angels of that day. Thank you for carrying us until I could be reunited with my husband, after our daughter was in the OR. What could have been a fatal tragedy was instead a miracle of a family still together – all because of You and your everlasting love.

Grateful parents,

To the Editor:

The sponsors of House Bill 1078 and Senate Bill 566 should be ashamed of their attempt to allow wind developers to circumvent the Public Service Commission's (PSC) review process. If enacted, the people most affected by these massive developments would effectively lose their rights of notification and the opportunity to be heard. Environmental, historic, economic, and other such reviews would no longer be required.

Beyond the blatant disregard for public participation and regulatory review of industrial development are the following sleaze factors: The bills were quietly introduced at the last moment; hearings were held simultaneously, potentially diluting opposition; Wayne Rogers, former chair of the Maryland Democratic Central Committee, seeks to profit personally from the measures as a wind developer; and Senate President Mike Miller and prominent wind lobbyist Cas Taylor are long-time political associates. Moreover, the new governor has named Wayne Rogers to head his energy transition team, aware that Rogers has a personal financial state in wind energy – and thus, a conflict of interest.

All this, despite being aware of the fact that industrial wind technology will do nothing to replace conventional generation and virtually nothing to avoid carbon emissions.

The stench from this is palpable, drifting all the way to Garrett County. Thanks to Senator Edwards and Delegate Beitzel, who have both gone on record as opposing these putrid bills.

Sincerely,
Kimberly A. Connaughton

To the Editor:

This week (March 4 – 10) is National Patient Safety Awareness Week, during which hospitals, health care providers, consumers, and others are working together to raise awareness about the many efforts taking place to improve the safety of care for patients.

In Maryland, our hospitals are working together to improve patient safety and enhance the quality of health care individually and collectively through the Maryland Patient Safety Center. The center, which was established by the Legislature in 2004, brings Maryland hospitals together to study the causes of unsafe practices and implement practical improvements to prevent errors.

Through the Maryland Patient Safety Center, more than 4,500 health care professionals have been engaged in education about evidence-based strategies for patient safety, and every Maryland hospital is participating in education, research, data collection, special projects, and safety culture collaboratives. In fact, through the center's first safety culture collaborative that focused on intensive care units, 37 hospitals and 52 ICU teams, working with national experts, reduced ventilator-associated pneumonia by 20% and reduced catheter-associated blood stream infections by 36%.

Hospitals throughout Maryland are making great strides in ensuring high quality, and delivering, safe patient care. Patients and community members can also play a role in patient safety. Take a look at the Maryland Patient Safety Center's Web site, www.marylandpatientsafetycenter.org, for a list of resources and organizations to help you be an active partner in your care.

To the Editor:

Rural Maryland is under attack once again. House Bill 1220/SB 911 is an attempt to squeeze more money out of the people of Garrett and Allegany counties. This bill, titled the Chesapeake Bay Green Fund, establishes a fee on the construction of new buildings, dwelling units, roads, parking lots, driveways, and sizable additions onto pre-existing structures.

The more outrageous thing is that there are different fees for rural and urban areas in the state. This is done through the establishment of Priority Growth Areas. Rural Maryland has an incredibly low percentage of these areas. For example, only 3% of Garrett County is classified as a Priority Funding Area.

As a result, the majority of construction in rural areas will have a $2 per square foot fee on all impervious surfaces. Many places in urban areas, conversely, will only have to pay 25 cents for the same surfaces.

Home construction costs in Maryland have the potential to go through the roof, and sadly, many low- and middle-income families may be shut out from the dream of home ownership. An example of this was recently reported in the Annapolis Capital newspaper. The article states, "A typical single-family home on a quarter-acre lot would be charged about $750 inside a growth area, or $6,000 outside a growth area."

If this legislation passes through the General Assembly, Garrett and Allegany counties will be greatly affected. I am opposing this bill for all of the reasons stated above, and believe that it is the duty of all people from Garrett and Allegany to voice their concerns.

In seeking election for the position of delegate from Garrett and Allegany counties, I encountered many who were caught by surprise when they all of a sudden had to pay a "flush tax" fee. That is why I am addressing you today. Please contact the chairs of the House Environmental Matters Committee and the Senate Education, Health, and Environment Committee.

Though cleaning the bay is a noble goal, we cannot do it predominately on the backs of rural Marylanders.

Sincerely,
Wendell R. Beitzel
Delegate Garrett and Allegany counties

nually in Garrett County are delivered safely, Edwards said.

As a result, each of these four doctors has seen his medical liability insurance increase from approximately $14,000 a year to $111,000 a year, according to the senator.

"They can't pay these rates forever," Edwards said. "If we don't do something, the docs may have to close up shop in Garrett County."

Garrett County Memorial Hospital has been paying the difference for the past two years in order to provide obstetrical services. The hospital is now seeking help from the state to offset the costs of medical malpractice insurance.

The bill, which was heard by the Senate Finance Committee on Tuesday, seeks to subsidize up to 75 percent of the difference of the cost of insurance rates over the next three years.

"This bill is important," Edwards told the committee. "Without it, people would have to be faced with the alternative of driving to Morgantown, W.Va. A Garrett County road in the middle of winter is no place to have a baby."

The bill has received broad support from the Maryland Hospital Association, Med Chi (Maryland State Medical Society), and Med Mutual Insurance Company, according to Edwards

The Senate Finance Committee has given the bill a favorable report, and it is scheduled to be voted out of the Senate as early as today.

This bill was also filed in the House by Del. Wendell R. Beitzel (R-Dist. 1A). The bill has been heard in front of the House Economic Matters Committee. It has not been brought to a vote by that committee as of this morning.

purchased an outdoor wood burning furnace before Oct. 1, 2007, from the 200 feet requirement. The bill also requires a commercial seller of the furnace to notify any potential buyer of the requirements of use in the state of Maryland, as well as exempting a person from any nuisance claim if an individual constructs a new dwelling within 200 feet of an existing furnace.

"With the expected utility rate increases and higher prices for heating oil, more people may opt to install outdoor wood boilers," stated a report issued by the Maryland Department of the Environment in August 2006.

House Bill 811's companion bill, Senate Bill 694, is sponsored by Senator George C. Edwards (R, District 1). A public hearing was held on SB 694 by the Education, Health and Environmental Affairs Committee last Tuesday. The Environmental Matters Committee reviewed HB 811 yesterday.

Oakland Man To Spend 30 Days In Jail After Guilty Plea To Property Damage

In recent District Court news, Jonathan Michael Stem, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty to malicious destruction of property and received a probation before judgment (PBJ), a 60-day jail sentence of which 30 days were suspended, and one year of supervised probation. Judge Ralph Burnett also ordered the defendant to reimburse the Winner's Circle Convenience Store $394.

Stem's conviction was the result of a November burglary that occurred at the Winner's Circle in Mtn. Lake Park, in which Stem was charged for malicious damage after he broke into the store. An off-duty deputy sheriff was in the apartment above the store when the break-in and burglary were in process, and the offenders fled the scene when the officer went to investigate the crime.

Stem was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of fourth-degree burglary.

In other court news, Charles Markwood Madigan, 42, Swanton, pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 60-day jail term of which 53 days were suspended, and one year of supervised probation. Sgt. R.E. Corley of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office found Madigan sitting naked on his couch after being called to the defendant's home for a possible domestic dispute. Madigan was arrested when the officer noticed a smoking pipe containing burnt marijuana on a nearby table. The defendant was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of possession of paraphernalia.

Clay Conrad Fazenbaker Jr., 18, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to possession of paraphernalia and was given a PBJ, three months of unsupervised probation, and a $500 fine, of which $400 was suspended. Fazenbaker was arrested and charged after members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force and Northern High School officials scanned student lockers and student cars in the parking lot with a certified K-9 detection dog, and found two bags containing traces of marijuana, one bag containing marijuana, and one metal bowl from a smoking pipe containing the burnt residue of marijuana in the defendant's car. Fazenbaker was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of possession of marijuana.

James Sebastian Metheny, 34, Masontown, W.Va., pleaded guilty to possession of paraphernalia and driving while impaired by alcohol (DWI). For the possession of paraphernalia conviction, he received a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, a $500 fine of which $100 was suspended, and one day of unsupervised probation. For the DWI conviction, he received a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, all of which was suspended, a $500 fine of which $100 was suspended, and one year of unsupervised probation.

Metheny had been stopped in November for speeding, and was subsequently arrested for driving while under the influence of alcohol (DUI), after which the police found a smoking pipe containing the burnt residue of marijuana in his pants pocket. The defendant was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of possession of marijuana, DUI, and speeding.

Justin Michael Bland, 24, Weston, W.Va., Rebecca Dawn Williams, 19, Jane Lew, W.Va., and Julia Ann Riffle, 25, Weston, pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct. Bland was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail sentence, all of which was suspended, and one year of unsupervised probation, and he was ordered to pay $78 in restitution to the owner of the Bumble Bee Campground. Williams was handed a PBJ, and one day of unsupervised probation, and also had to pay $78 in restitution to the owner of the campground. Riffle was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charge of disorderly conduct; however, after she was arrested for the disorderly conduct charge, a duty officer at the Garrett County Detention Center found a smoking pipe containing the burnt residue of marijuana in her purse. She subsequently pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and received a 30-day jail sentence of which 28 days were suspended, a $100 fine, and one year of unsupervised probation.

The defendants were arrested after they were found to be acting in a disorderly manner at the Bumble Bee Campground last August.

Bostick Yehonahton, 22, Philadelphia, Pa., pleaded guilty to the possession of marijuana and was handed a PBJ, a 30-day jail term, one year of unsupervised probation, and a $100 fine. The defendant was stopped on I-68 and Amish Road in July for speeding, and was subsequently arrested and charged after police found a burnt rolled marijuana cigarette and two white strips of LSD in the vehicle. The defendant was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of possession of paraphernalia and LSD.

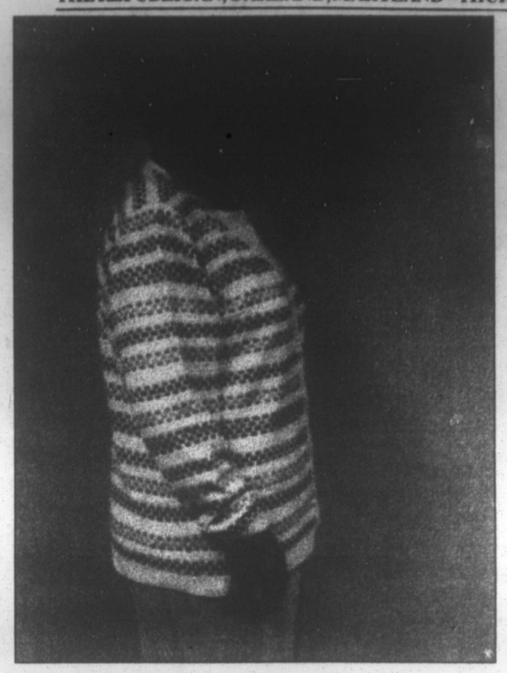
Michael Andrew Clemons, 23, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to theft of less than $100 worth of property and was handed a 10-day jail term, all of which was suspended, one year of unsupervised probation, and a $100 fine.

Clemons was arrested after he attempted to steal a $20 bottle of Bicardi 151 from Midway Discount Liquors. A deputy sheriff, who was on the scene when the theft occurred, placed the defendant under arrest.

In the following case, the state's attorney did not prosecute Charles Lee Wolfe, 24, Mount Storm, W.Va., for 11 counts of violating an ex parte court order, one count of telephone misuse, and one count of harassment. According to the court records, Wolfe failed to comply with a September court order by allegedly violating its directive 10 times on the night of Oct. 4. The other alleged offenses occurred during the same period, according to court records.

DUI AND DWI

Jesse Noel Rawley, 23, Md., pleaded guilty to DUI per se, and Judge Edward A. Malloy Jr. handed him a 60-day jail term but suspended all except four days, 18 months of supervised probation, and a $243 fine. Rawley was not prosecuted by the state's attorney for the charges of DUI and DWI.



AN AMAZING ACCOMPLISHMENT! – Pictured in these "before" and "after" photos is local registered nurse Bonnie Snyder, who is known by many in this area for assisting with infant deliveries in the obstetrical unit at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Snyder has been attending TOPS #379, Oakland, for nearly three years. TOPS stands for Take Off Pounds Sensibly. She recently was recognized for achieving her weight loss goal and reaching KOPS (Keep Pounds Off Sensibly) status. Snyder has lost an amazing 113 pounds since joining the support group. Meetings are held Monday evenings at the Mountain Glade Adult Day Services, 375 Pythian Avenue, located directly behind the hospital. A weight recorder is present at 5:30 p.m., and the meeting starts at 6:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Bloodmobile To Visit Grantsville

There will be a visit of the American Red Cross bloodmobile to the Maranatha Assembly of God Church in Grantsville on Monday, March 19. Donors will be welcomed there from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Persons who are at least 17 years of age (16 with parental consent), weigh at least 105 pounds, and in generally good health are typically eligible to donate a unit of blood every eight weeks.

Woman Arrested After Police Stop To Give Assistance

A Maryland State Police officer stopped to assist a motorist on Route 219 and subsequently arrested and charged her with driving while under the influence of alcohol (DUI), possession of marijuana, and possession of paraphernalia Sunday at 2 a.m., according to a police report.

Tfc. Byrnes stopped to assist Trinity Shawn Claycomb on Route 219 near Mayhew Inn Road and subsequently arrested her for DUI. In a search subsequent to the arrest, the officer found and seized a small amount of marijuana in the vehicle, along with $8,329 in U.S. currency.

On Dean's List

The Hood College provost's office announced last week that Tessa Folk of Grantsville qualified for the fall 2006 dean's list.

Both full-time students, enrolled in at least 12 credit hours, and part-time students, enrolled in at least six credit hours, who have no outstanding incomplete grades and have earned at least a 3.5 grade point average are eligible for the dean's list.

THIS LETTER IS IN RESPONSE TO LEO MARTIN'S LETTER OF JANUARY 25

Total Biz Fulfillment, an established company in northern Garrett County, is building additional facilities in the Southern Industrial Park. This expansion will happen in phases and will create 150 local jobs when completed. The truck traffic that Mr. Martin refers to will go in and out of the area using a variety of routes, including state Route 135 east and west, U.S. Rte. 219 north and south, Rte. 560, north and south, and state Route 495 north and south. As indicated in Mayor Martin's letter, Mountain Lake Park did support the relocation of Rte. 219, around Oakland. Changing that support now will not stop the traffic, it is coming anyway. Oakland had the vision to see the future highway need in the 1970's Mountain Lake Park needs to support the county effort for job creation and back the transportation plans, like upgrading Rte. 495.

The Rte. 219 relocation has been in the works since prior to 1974. Various proposals were studied extensively, and in the year 2000, after considerable public input, planners settled on the current route. It was the shortest route, thus the least expensive. It could be controlled by Oakland's zoning and is eligible for Priority Funding and will complement Oakland's businesses separating through traffic from local, visitor, and business traffic. This will enhance the business climate in town. As a result, using this route, only four houses needed to be removed from the right of way and only two homes were lost. In addition, the final design contains only two intersections with other roads and no business or residential driveways to contend with.

The present Rte. 219 project cost of 42 million dollars includes studies (historic, environmental, etc.), land acquisition, design, utility location, private right of way for existing properties, and actual construction. Of that amount, approximately 3 million dollars has already been spent. Cost estimates are in line with other state projects. The state highway, at the request of Oakland, moved other projects of greater urgency ahead of this one. They included the runaway truck ramp on state Route 135 and the climbing lanes on state Route 42.

Mr. Martin mentioned, as an "independent opinion,"Roads to Ruin," which can be found on the Internet. It is a part of the supposed 50 Most Wasteful Road Projects in the United States, according to an advocacy group that apparently has never found a highway project it liked.

Upon casual inspection, you can see that its Rte. 219 reference is actually a 1999 article relating to an old, long-abandoned proposal, which called for upgrading 36 miles of Rte. 219, as part of a Canada to Florida highway, known as Corridor One. As everybody knows, that proposed project through Garrett County was discarded long ago, by all parties concerned.

Corridor One will now follow 1-68 east to Route 220, near Cumberland, south to West Virginia's Corridor H, and then east to 1-81 south. On the same web page, you will notice the reference at the bottom, regarding contacting George Falter, a well-known opponent of the old Corridor One routing.

Thus, "Roads to Ruin" has absolutely nothing to do with the 2.4 mile relocating of Rte. 219 around Oakland that is presently under way to relieve downtown Oakland traffic, improve road safety, and enhance economic development.

At present, the intersection of Oakland Drive and Rte. 135 requires cars going west to blindly cross a congested lane of traffic, whether they are merging to continue west to Oakland or want to turn south to utilize Rte. 219, towards Red House. It is arguably the most dangerous and harrowing intersection in all of Oakland and relief has been urgently needed for a number of years. Requiring traffic to use the light at Weber Road and Rte. 135 has long been recognized as the appropriate solution. It is purely coincidental that the work will be done at the same time all the heavy equipment is in town for the relocation of Rte. 219.

Southern High, Dennett Road Elementary, Southern Middle and Broad Ford Elementary Schools will all benefit from the improved traffic pattern of the Rte. 219 relocation design. State Highway Administration engineers and officials have determined that a roundabout is the safest way to transition traffic at Dennett Road. The Board of Education transportation department studied the Rte. 219 plans and felt the design would improve the flow of traffic, plus it increases the options for travel in the area providing quicker access for rescue vehicles to town, the schools and the hospital.

Relocating Rte. 219 around Oakland will smooth the access to and from Deep Creek Lake from the south.

Oakland was recognized by the Glendening Administration, originator of the term "Smart Growth," for its foresight in revitalizing Oakland and its business area. We did not sit back and let the naysayers doom our Town. We worked hard to make Oakland a "Great Small Town." With the support of the majority of the community, we continue to improve Oakland's residential and business climate. It doesn't happen automatically.

It takes a dedicated Mayor and Town Council, a strong business association, and most of all a great group of volunteers to make our Town prosper. We became a state and national Main Street Community, joined the Maryland Downtown Development Association, both of which sent in retail specialists from which came the changes in the town. We learned that relocating U.S. 219 along a close parallel route will be an asset. No businesses will need to move from downtown Oakland because the relocated portion of Rte. 219 is zoned residential.

Oakland's traffic congestion cannot be "drastically reduced" through "Streetscape," as Mr. Martin claimed, because such a result is not the purpose of the Streetscape program. We are now designing, under the Streetscape program, an inviting main street along the current U.S. 219 which will be completed at the about the same time as the relocation of Rte. 219. Keep in mind that Oakland, as the county seat, is a destination community with most people seeking its businesses, arts, services, churches and quaint atmosphere.

Also, keep in mind that State Route 495 already exists and does not change what is happening in Oakland. Making changes to Rte. 495 will not ease Oakland's traffic congestion nor further economic development and the creation of new jobs, any more than it already has.

"So, what can we do?" Truly support smart growth, through the relocation of Rte. 219, and get involved in all the positive opportunities that make Oakland special.

Workshop Slated To Discuss Local Gypsy Moth Info

Some parts of Garrett County have experienced an outbreak of gypsy moth caterpillars in 2006, and will likely see damage in 2007.

According to Willie Lantz of the Extension Office, the Maryland Department of Agriculture is planning a spray program for certain areas of the county.

The Garrett County Extension Office is also planning to coordinate a local spray program for landowners who are not part of the Department of Agriculture program.

For those who are interested in learning more about the gypsy moth and its damage, the Garrett County Forestry Board and the Extension Office have teamed up to present a program to provide information on gypsy moth damage and the options that are currently available.

The worshop is scheduled for Saturday, March 24.

Dr. Kurt Gottschalk of the USDA Forest Service will discuss various aspects of gypsy moth damage from the ecological impact to silviculture practices that a person can do to minimize the overall impact of the damage. Silviculture refers to the art and science of controlling the establishment, growth, composition, health, and quality of forests to meet diverse needs and values of landowners and society.

After lunch, participants will have the option to attend a field session which will cover identifying egg masses and discuss silviculture practices.

The workshop will begin at 9 a.m. at the Lake House in New Germany State Park. The cost for the workshop is $10, which includes lunch.

To sign up for the workshop or ask questions, persons may call 301-334-6960.

Registration will remain open until Friday, March 23, at noon.

New Date Noted Of Weed Control Update Meeting

The weed control update and nutrient management training meeting planned for this week has been rescheduled for Wednesday, March 14.

The speaker will be Dr. Ron Ritter, weed extension specialist from the University of Maryland.

The group will meet from 12:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Eastern Garrett fire hall in Finzel and from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Pleasant Valley Community Building south of Oakland.

A light meal will be served at each location. Registration is required, and a $5 fee per meeting will be charged at the door.

To register, persons may contact the Extension Office at 301-334-6960.

Rural Enterprises Conference Noted

The 2007 Rural Enterprises Conference will be held on Saturday, March 17, at Preston High School in Kingwood, W.Va.

Youth and teen programs are planned, in addition to several adult tracks focusing on helping people develop profitable farming businesses.

Planned topics include beekeeping, meat goats, vegetable production and marketing, fruit production and marketing, and estate planning, among others.

As in years past, commercial and educational exhibits will be displayed by vendors.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-6960.

Nat'l Ag Week Scheduled For March 17 To 23

The week of March 17 to 23 will be observed as National Agriculture Week in the United States.

"The U.S. industry featured in the annual event has a worldwide scope," said Dann Stuart of the public affairs staff at the Farm Service Agency. "As you know, U.S. agriculture is important throughout the world, because the productivity of our nation's farmers provides food and fiber to millions of people around the globe."

According to Stuart, the U.S. farmers' productivity and efficiency result in major benefits in the United States as well. For example, U.S. consumers spend only about 9 percent of their income on food, compared with 11 percent in the United Kingdom, 17 percent in Japan, 27 percent in South Africa, and 53 percent in India.

Things I Don't Remember

by Terri Rodeheaver

The flurry of activity around possible revisions to Garrett County's Comprehensive Plan continues. I attended the public meeting conducted February 26 to both make, and listen to, comments being offered up on the subject. I must say that I wasn't really surprised by anything I heard.

Generally, everyone present was concerned about the seemingly unchecked local development that has occurred over the last several years. Related to the rapid pace of development are concerns about water quality and the change in the rural landscape – all very legitimate concerns from my perspective. I personally part ways with the majority opinion when it comes to deciding what the solution looks like.

With only two exceptions, every group or individual that commented on the minimum lot size (which determines the potential development density on a piece of property) is advocating that the lot size stipulated for rural or agricultural land be increased from the current 3 acres to, in most cases, 10 acres. Not only are most advocating for an increase in the minimum lot size (and hence reduced density), many are also advocating that additional land be designated as rural or agricultural land so that more acres will be impacted by an increase in the minimum lot size.

I listened to person after person comment that they don't want to see the family farm disappear. I agree. But increasing the minimum lot size (and consequently reducing development density) will not save the family farm – open space maybe, but not the family farming enterprise. As someone who was born and raised on a farm, and as someone whose family continues to be actively engaged in a farming operation, I will admit that I am more than mildly irritated at how easily the suggestion to increase the minimum lot size was tossed about. My irritation exists on several levels, the most basic of which is that I do not appreciate being asked, or expected, to have my rights as a land owner negatively impacted in order to be the solution to the development crisis in the county when farmers had little, if any, part in creating the situation. I suspect lots of other farmers and agricultural landowners have similar feelings, and from my perspective, we are all entitled to those strong feelings. We have earned the right to be offended, if not to be downright angry. My sense of entitlement is based, in part, on lots of things I don't remember. Here are a few of those things:

•I don't remember anyone else being there at 4 a.m. every morning, when it was time to milk the cows.

•I don't remember anyone else being there when the combine was destroyed by fire at the height of the grain harvest.

•I don't remember anyone else being there when our 3-year-old daughter showed us how her Pap had taught her to lead the 2000-pound Belgium mare to water all by herself.

•I don't remember seeing anyone else there when the barn roof collapsed under the weight of a heavy winter snow and the insurance company wouldn't cover the loss.

•I don't remember anyone else being there to see the look on our 7-year-old son's face when we gave him his first real tractor.

•I don't remember anyone else being there when an unexpected rain ruined thousands of dollars of prime alfalfa hay in the course of a few short hours.

•I don't remember anyone else being there when we learned the tractor engine would require a $13,000 overhaul.

•I don't remember anyone else being in the barn at 10 at night helping the vet perform a C-section on a cow, with wind chills outside at 30 degrees below zero.

Every farmer in Garrett County could make his own list of things he doesn't remember which, at least in part, fuels the fire that burns within us when we talk about property owner rights. Fellow farmers and agricultural/rural land owners, make your feelings known while the window of opportunity is still open. Don't let your silence be interpreted as a lack of concern regarding your rights as a property owner.

KITZMILLER

CASH BASH

The Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department will hold a Cash Bash on Saturday, March 17, at the Elks Lodge in Oakland. Ticket price is $25. Tickets are on sale now and may be purchased from Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Department members. Persons may contact one of the KVFD chiefs to check availability of tickets. They are Shawn Nesselrodt at 301-453-3178, or Tom Davis at 301-453-3500.

SOUP DINNER

The ladies of the Kitzmiller Assembly of God Church will be having a soup and salad dinner on Saturday, March 24, at the community building from 4 to 7 p.m. They will also be providing Easter baskets to the shut-ins this year. As of this date there are 15.

The ladies group is also planning to sell calendars and are putting together a cookbook. They ask that anyone wishing to submit a recipe should send it to: Kitzmiller Assembly of God Ladies Group, Box 200, Kitzmiller, MD 21538.

The ladies group meets the second Tuesday of every month.

BIGGEST LOSER

The Kitzmiller Empowerment Group and the Garrett County Health Department have joined together to sponsor a "biggest loser" competition in Kitzmiller. Competitors recently met for their first weigh-in. Participants are grouped into groups of three and judged by total percentage lost. Points are given for pounds lost and miles walked. The winning group will receive $300.

RELAY 50/50 TOURNEY

There will be a 50/50 basketball tournament held March 24 at 2 p.m. in the Kitzmiller School gymnasium. The cost to participate is $10 per person, (may pay at the door). Participants must be at least 15 years old. There will be two players per team. Drinks will be provided. Winners will be awarded half the money made from the tournament, and the other half will go to Relay For Life. Persons with questions may call 301-453-3344.

BIRTHDAYS

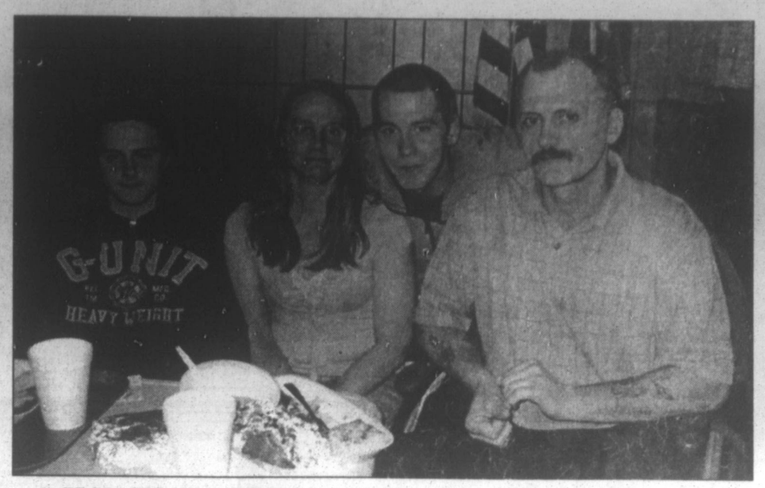
LITTLE LEAGUE

Registration for the 2007 season of the Kitzmiller Garden Little League are scheduled for next Monday, March 12, from 6 to 8 p.m. at the Kitzmiller fire hall. There will be wiffle ball for boys and girls ages 3 and 4, T-ball for those ages 5 to 8, and youth league for those ages 9 to 13. Tryouts are not part of the registration process. There is a $10 registration fee. Coaches are also needed. Persons desiring more information may telephone Ken Hardesty at 301-334-2017.



PROCEEDS OF A DINNER held in Kitzmiller on Saturday went to assist the family of Rick Armstrong Sr., who recently had to undergo surgery from an injury he received while serving in the U.S. Army a number of years ago. Armstrong has been unable to work since last summer and is currently confined to a wheelchair. Pictured from left are son Lawrence, wife Terri, son Rick Jr., and Rick Sr. Members of the family noted their appreciation to the organizers of the dinner, held at the Kitzmiller fire hall, and to all of those who attended. Armstrong is also a member of the Kitzmiller VFD.

Humane Society Gives Numerous Discount Vouchers

The Garrett County Humane Society announced this week that another 115 animals will not be having litters of puppies or kittens this year. Beginning last Thursday, $50 discount vouchers were given out at the Garrett County Animal Shelter as part of Spay/Neuter Awareness month.

The Garrett County Humane Society used its funds, plus donations from various businesses and individuals, to provide the 115 vouchers for residents who needed to have their pets spayed or neutered.

"All the vouchers were given out by Tuesday morning, and the phone calls have continued to come in from those who would like to have assistance," said Lisa Baker, Humane Society president.

The cost to have pets spayed or neutered can range from $60 to $100 depending on the sex and size of the animal, plus the cost of certain vaccinations.

"It seems expensive, but it's worth the cost just to prevent an unwanted litter," said Baker. There are also health and temperament benefits for the pets.

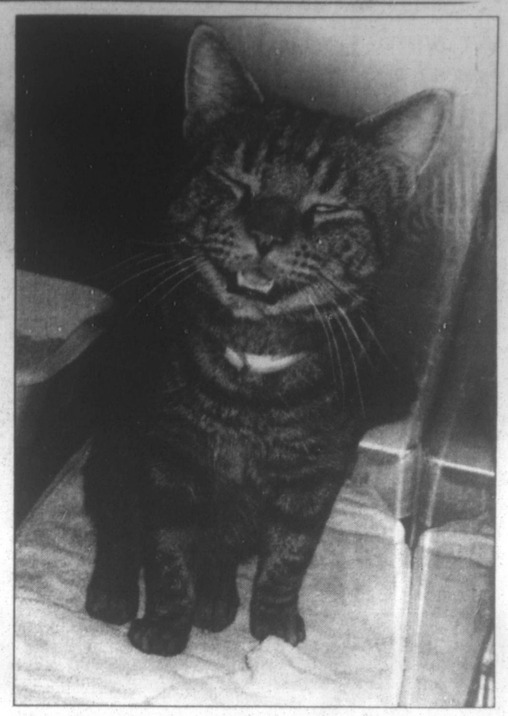
"The animal shelter often has whole or partial litters brought in from people who could not find homes for them, yet they still don't have their pets altered, mostly due to the expense," said Baker. "That is where we can help. The vouchers were worth $50 off your bill."

Those still needing assistance to have their pets altered can also contact PAWS (Partners for Animal Welfare & Safety) at 301-616-1704.

"One more note to clarify a statement in last week's 'March Designated Spay, Neuter Awareness Month In Garrett County' story about the 50 barn cats and kittens," said Baker.

The article stated that many of the kittens were euthanized. "But many of kittens were not euthanized," Baker said. "I meant to say that many of the adult cats were euthanized because of serious health issues or aggressiveness.

"The bottom line is that all over this county there are feral cats having litter after litter of kittens that are too wild to catch and that are flooding nearby farms and neighborhoods," Baker added. "Remember if you have a pet, it is your responsibility."



SOMETHING TO SMILE ABOUT – This young feline seems happy that the Garrett County Humane Society was able to hand out 115 discount vouchers to help pet owners get their pets spayed and neutered. That means that 115 pets will not be having unwanted litters of puppies and kittens. See story for details.

Women To Be Inducted Into Hall Of Fame

Three of the area's "most outstanding women" will be inducted into the Garrett County Commission for Women's Hall of Fame at a breakfast to be held at Will O' the Wisp on Saturday, March 24, at 9:30 a.m.

Those selected for induction are Patience Grant (posthumously), Helen Kahl, and Sheryl MacLane.

The Honorable Susan J. Crawford, convening authority for military tribunals, will be the guest speaker.

Tickets for the Women's Hall of Fame breakfast are $12 for adults and $6 for children 12 and younger.

Reservations can be made by calling Peggy Nelson at 301-387-0033 or Beverly Beard at 301-334-5987. The deadline for reservations is Friday, March 16.

Dr. John Rathgeb Joins Dr. Tuel

Dr. John Rathgeb, shown above right, will be joining the staff of Dr. David Tuel, M.D., this month. Tuel, an orthopedic surgeon, operates an orthopedic surgery office in Oakland.

A native of Greensburg, Pa., and most recently from the Baltimore area, Dr. Rathgeb and his wife Brenda have had a cabin at Deep Creek Lake for 25 years. They and their five children and nine grandchildren are familiar with Garrett County.

In addition to his medical career, Rathgeb and his wife are the proprietors of the Oak & Apple Bed & Breakdfast in Oakland, which they reopened in July of last year.

Rathgeb earned his undergraduate and medical degrees from Georgetown University in Washington. D.C. He interned at Mercy Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., and completed his adult orthopedic residency at Geisinger Medical Center in Danville, Pa. He also completed a year of pediatric orthopedics at the A. I. DuPont Institute in Wilmington, Del.

Rathgeb was in private practice in orthopedics in Greensburg, where he was also the assistant medical director of Westmoreland Hospital.

In 1992, he was recruited by Kaiser Permanente to establish its orthopedic department in Baltimore. In 1998, he was named chief of orthopedics at the Greater Baltimore Medical Center. After retiring from Kaiser Permanente, he began working part-time with the Johns Hopkins Orthopedic Group and is currently continuing in that role.

Dr. Rathgeb is a board member of the Mountain Laurel Health Center in Oakland. He was recently named a finalist for the 2007 Health Care Heroes in Maryland.

Three Escape Serious Injury After Collision

Three passengers in a 2002 Jeep Liberty escaped serious injury after colliding with a tractor truck on Route 219 near Bear Creek Road Wednesday at approximately 9:30 a.m., according to the Maryland State Police.

The Jeep, driven by Emily Lauren Dice, 21, Norfolk, Va., was traveling north on Route 219 when it slid on the snow-covered road directly in front of an oncoming 2007 International truck operated by James Edward Boyce, 53, Fredonia, Va.

The truck, towing a flatbed trailer load of cement, struck the passenger side of the Jeep, and then hit a ditch. The impact broke the front axle and damaged the rear axle of the truck and trapped two of the Jeep's passengers in the wreck, the police said.

Members of the Accident Volunteer Fire Department and Northern Garrett Rescue Squad quickly freed April Lynn Shannon, 27, and Jonathan Mark Plante, 26, of Chesapeake, from the wreckage.

The Northern Garrett Rescue Squad transported Shannon and Plante to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where Plante was treated and released. Shannon remained in the hospital overnight for observation. Dice and Boyce were not injured. Route 219 was closed for 30 minutes as SHA crews worked to reopen the highway.

Dice was charged with failure to control speed to avoid collision.

Changes Made To Amateur Radio Exams

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) has made a major change in its licensing requirements for amateur radio. Effective immediately, the FCC will no longer require demonstration of Morse code proficiency for any class of amateur radio license.

Morse code will remain authorized for all "ham" bands, and may still be used by amateurs at all license levels, as specified by the FCC but not now required to obtain a license.

In response to this change, the Garrett County Amateur Radio Emergency Service will assist new members in obtaining an amateur radio license or in upgrading their existing licenses to a higher class.

Interested individuals are encouraged to attend the March meeting of the Garrett County ARES on Monday, March 12, at the Red Cross building in Oakland (next to Pizza Hut) at 7 p.m.

A DVD will be shown at the event. Last year a group of radio amateurs traveled to Kure Atoll, a remote, uninhabited island in the Pacific Ocean. They set up and operated a radio station there under the call K7C. Garrett County hams contacted this expedition, and they now have a DVD movie of the island and of the radio activities of the amateurs there.

Garrett County ARES members are reminded that the on-the-air net meeting is this and every Sunday night at 8 p.m. on the 146.805 mHz repeater and the Outback Repeater Network.
